WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

TAKE CARE!!

AVOID

IMPOSITION!

Most druggists are conscientious in their dealings, but there are a few who are not. A number of cases have been reported to us recently, where druggists for the purpose of gaining a small additional profit, have sought to impose upon customers by offering their cheap and worthless imitations of BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER in place of the genuine, or have tried to sell them the common porous plaster when Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster was asked for, falsely claiming that the common article possessed equal merit. We therefore caution all buyers of Benson's Capcine Plaster to see that the word CAPCINE is correctly spelled,—that each plaster has the word C-A-P-C-I-N-E cut through it. By this simple precaution, imposition may be avoided.

EN SON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTERS,

POSITIVELY THE BEST.

The valuable qualities of the ordinary porous plaster are in this article increased ten-fold by new and scientific medication.

The manufacturers were awarded the highest and only medals given rubber plasters, at both the Centennial and Paris Expositions. Widely and favorably known among physicians as a great improvement on the ordinary porous plaster.

ASK ANY PHYSICIAN

In Your own Vicinity about it, and you will be convinced that it is so far superior to common porous plasters, liniments, and the so-called cheap electrical appliances, that it cannot be compared with them. Therefore do not take a common or interior plaster at the same or less price. ASK FOR and insist on getting it. Observe caution in buying.

Benson's Capcine Porous Plaster,

THIS ARTICLE IS SPECIALLY RECOMMENDED For Lame and Weak Back, Coughs, Weak Lungs, Kidney and Spinal Complaints, and all Local Aches and Pains.

Sold by all Druggists. Price 25cts.

THE MAPLE.

All hail to the broad leafed maple,
With its fair and changeful dress—
A type of our youthful country
In its pride and loveliness;
Whether in Spring or Summer,
Or in the dreary Fall,
'Mid Nature's forest children,
She's fairest of them all.

Down sunny slopes and valleys,
Her graceful form is seen,
Her wide umbrageous branches
The sun-burnt reapers screen.
'Mid dark-browed firs and cedars,
Her livelier colors shine,
Like the dawn of a brighter future
On the settlers of pine,

She crowns the pleasant hill-top,
Whispers on breezy downs,
And casts refreshing shadows
O'er the streets of our busy towns;
She gladdens the aching eye-ball,
Shelters the weary head,
And scatters her crimson glories
On the graves of the silent dead.

When the winter frosts are yielding
To the sun's returning sway,
And merry groups are speeding
To sugar-woods away.
The sweet and welling juices
Which forms their welcome spoil,
Tell of the teeming plenty
Which here waits harvest toil.

When sweet-voiced Spring, soft breathing
Breaks Nature's icy sleep,
And the forest boughs are swaying
Like the green waves of the deep;
In her fair and budding beauty,
A fitting emblem she
Of this our land of promise
Of hope, of liberty.

And when her leaves, all crimson,
Droop silently and fall,
Like drops of life-blood welling
From a warrior brave and tall,
They tell how fast and freely
Would her children's blood be shed,
'Ere the soil of our faith and freedom
Should echo a foeman's tread.

Scientific and Curious.

Prof. Daniel Wilson is of the opinion that there is a very liberal infusion of Indian blood in the French Canadian. In the neighborhood of Quebec and Montreal and in the Ottawa Valley, there is, he believes, hardly a family descended from the original settlers that has not some traces of Indian blood.

The subject of fire-damp in mines and other kindred questions are to be submitted to a royal commission in England, of which Messrs. Warrington, Smyth, F. A. Abel and Prof. Tyndall are the principal members.

Prof. Grant Allen, in the Popular Science Monthly, relates a case of "suspended animation." He says that an Egyptian desert snail was received at the British Museum on March 25, 1846. The animal was not known to be alive, as it had withdrawn into its shell, and the specimen was accordingly gummed, mouth downward, on to a tablet, duly labeled and dated, and left to its fate. Instead of starving, this contented gasteropod simply went to sleep in a quiet way, and never woke up again for four years. The tablet was then placed in tepid water, and the shell loosened, when the dormant snail suddenly resuscitated himself, began walking about the basin, and finally sat for his portrait, which may be seen of life-size in Mr. Woodward's "Manual of the Mollusca." Now, during those four years the snail had never eaten a mouthful of any food, yet he was quite as well and flourishing at the end of the period as he had been at its beginning.

In the course of some curious experiments made by Prof. Charcot in Paris, a patient was thrown into a state of catalepsy by looking steadily at the electric light. To produce a state of lethargy or somnambulism on one side at the same time, it is said to be sufficient to close the corresponding eye, or to cut off the light with a screen. The two states of catalepsy and lethargy are then co-existent on both sides of the body.

M. Bohn has invented a new light lamp, described in a recent number of Nature, which indicates the hour by the combustion of the oil. From the oil reservoir rise two vertical glass tubes; one contains oil and is graduated for the hours; the other contains the wick, saturated with oil, and giving the light. The construction is such that one hour is required to consume the quantity of oil between the graduations of the first mentioned tube. A reflector placed under the flame, at the side, throws a luminous beam across the graduated tube. During the night, one can thus see at what height the oil stands in the tube, and read the corresponding hour.

Recent investigations appear to prove that at one time the Sea of Azov was in direct communication with the Caspian. Some of the proofs of this are the occurrence of cockle and other marine shells in the sands intermediate between the two seas.

The cost of the proposed canal across the Isthmus of Darien is estimated at $53,000,000, but wise men consider it well to count the actual cost at double the estimate.

According to the statistics of Prof. Newman Spallart, the capital invested in all the railroads of the world exceeds $15,500,000,000, their roads require 62,000 locomotives, 112,000 passenger carriages, and 1,500,000 goods trucks. Annually 1,600,000,000 tons of merchandise and 1,500,000,000 passengers are conveyed by these means of transit.

M Dode proposes the following plan to protect iron from rust: He coats the surface with a thin film of borate of lead, in which some oxide of copper has been dissolved, and some scales of precipitated platinum held in suspension, by means of a brush or a bath. He then heats the composition until it is fused. The result is a thin, glassy coating, which will withstand the action of sewer-gases, dilute acids, or alkalies, and the heat of a kitchen fire.

It is asserted that from the summit of Mount Etna the circle of vision has the enormous radius of 150·7 miles. The habitable zone of the mountain is very fertile and sustains a dense population—1,424 to the square mile. Rodwell says the gigantic chestnut trees are no myths, but sober realities. He asserts that the diameter of the trunk of one of them is twenty-five feet, and that a public road passes through the much decayed trunk of the largest, the Castagno di Cento Cavalli.

Mr. W. Kent, in Van Nostrand's Magazines, calls attention to the important practical fact that the process of compressing metal while in the liquid condition has been found to cause a great increase of strength, and is likely to be extensively adopted in the manufacture of steel. The process of cold-rolling has been found to increase the strength of bar iron in some cases as much as 100 per cent.

It is a curious fact that no attempts have been made to tame and utilize the African elephant for draft purposes. It is now proposed to import trained Indian elephants and experiment with a herd of wild elephants which are now in the neighborhood of Port Natal.

Diving for amber is an occupation requiring strong constitutions. A recent writer gives the following description of the work: The diver's costume consists of a woollen garment covering the body, which is then encased in an india-rubber dress, made in one piece, but differing in shape from the old-fashioned diving dress, and allowing the diver to lie at full length. The helmet also is of a novel construction. Firmly fastened to it, and resting on the shoulders, is a small air-chest, made of sheet iron. This chest is connected with the air pump in the boat above by an india-rubber tubing, forty feet long, and with the diver's lungs by another india-rubber tube, the mouthpiece of which is held by the diver between his teeth; the whole apparatus being scientifically arranged so as to admit a sufficient supply of pure air from above, and means of exit for the expired breath. The helmet is provided with three openings covered with glass, and protected by wire, for the use of the eyes and mouth. When this contrivance has been screwed on to the person of the diver, a rope tied round his waist, and half a hundred of lead attached to his feet, shoulders, and helmet, he is all ready for his plunge. Down fathoms deep, he descends into the amber world. He stays there—maybe for five hours at a time—hooking, dragging, tearing the amber from its bed with his heavy two-pronged fork. Often it resists his utmost efforts. However cold the weather may be, these men of iron strength will come up from their submarine labors streaming with prespiration. The overseer stands in the boat to receive the amber from their pockets. In case he should wish to ascend before the usual time, the diver has to close his mouth, and breathe five or six times through his nostrils, by this means filling the apparatus with air, which will bring him to the surface without other assistance. The diving boats are manned by eight men each, two divers, two pairs of men, who work the air pumps alternately, with their eyes fixed on a dial-plate, by which the supply of air is nicely regulated, one man to hold the safety rope attached round the diver's body and haul him up at the slightest sign from below and the overseer.

The Only Way.

The only way to cure catarrh is by the use of a cleansing and healing lotion, applied to the inflamed and diseased membrane. Snuffs and fumigators, while affording temporary relief, irritate the affected parts and excite a more extended inflammation. Besides, no outward applications alone can cure catarrh. The disease originates in a vitiated state of the blood, and a thorough alterative course of treatment is necessary to remove it from the system. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has long been know as an efficient standard remedy for this disease, but, to insure a radical and permanent cure, it should be used in conjunction with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the best vegetable alterative yet discovered. The Discovery cleanses the vitiated blood, while the Catarrh Remedy allays the inflammation and heals the diseased tissues.

"PULMONARY CONSUMPTION arises from a decline or deficience of vitality in the natural bioplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting or atrophy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, long-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaing the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus providing for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

ORIGIN OF PETROLEUM.—It has been a puzzle to geologists to account for the origin of petroleum. One of the most recent hypotheses is that advanced by M. Mendelejeff. Starting with the nebular hypothesis, he regards the interior of the earth as metallic, doubtless composed largely of iron and carbides of iron; through rents made by earthquakes, water gained access to these bodies at a high temperature and under great pressure, and by their mutual chemical action, chemical oxides and saturated hydrocarbons resulted. It is these latter, according to M. Mendelejeff, that, carried by watery vapor, have made their way through the overlying rocks.

Cetewayo, the Zulu King, according to the correspondents, is as merciless as he is bloodthirsty, and when he meets with his deserts civilization will have cause to rejoice at the discomfiture of as perfect a specimen of a savage tyrant as the world ever gazed upon. "I have known him," says one correspondent, "to kill fifty women and children to feed his golden eagles. As brave as a lion, he will fight until he dies; and if he only sees a scratch on one of his warriors' backs when they return home he is put to death, as Cetewayo thinks he must have turned from the enemy and have thus received the wound."

A New York lady who is passing the winter in Florence, recently gave a grand ball, which was attended by a very large and distinguished company. A surprise figure in the cotillion excited much sensation by its novelty. A large tree was brought in, from which was hung paper baskets, that on being pulled divided into halves and gave escape to numbers of little birds that flew about the ball room until let out of the window or rescued by some fair hand to be taken home and cared for.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 1.

The Ontario Finances.

The coming elections for the Ontario Legislature are already beginning to excite a considerable amount of public attention, despite the prolonged and spirited discussion of the tariff. The Mail has commenced the publication of a series of interesting and instructive campaign articles, from one of which we make the following extract, which shows the rapid increase of expenditure under "Reform" rule, as contrasted with the economical administration of the Sandfield McDonald Government:—"On the question of the expenditure, both parties are on the record. The Reformers retain nothing of their party but the name; and those independent men who voted for them because of their strenuous professions of economy while in opposition, cannot do so again and be consistent. In 1868 the cost of civil government was $92,000, and in 1871, $108,000, being an increase in four years of 17 per cent. In 1878 the cost was, $159,000, showing an increase in the seven years of Reform rule of over 41 per cent. In 1868, the cost of legislation was $86,000, and in 1871, $94,000, being an increase in the four years of 9 per cent. In 1878 the cost was $126,000, showing an increase in the seven years of Reform of 34 per cent. In 1868 the cost of the administration of justice was $173,000, and in 1871, $183,000, being an increase in the four years of 6 per cent. In 1878 it was $259,000, showing an increase in the seven Reform years of no less than 61 per cent! In 1868 the cost of education was $301,000, and in 1871, $351,000, being an increase in the four years of 16 per cent. In 1878 it was $556,000, showing an increase in the seven Reform years of 57 per cent. Thus, in those branches of the expenditure which more than any others are within the control of ministers, the increase under Reform have been out of all proportion greater than the increases they condemned under their predecessors. A comparison of the salaries of 1871 and 1878 is instructive as showing how enormously the cost of the machinery of government at headquarters is increasing:

	1871.	1878.
Lieut.-Governor's office	$ 1,496	$ 2,400
Atty.-General and executive council	7,640	11,660
Treasury	11,495	12,300
Secretary and registrar	9,495	11,900
Registrar-General	5,005	9,100
Agriculture and public works	10,365	18,654
Inspection of asylums, registry offices, etc	7,683	9,741
Crown Lands	29,885	41,780
Queen's Printer and Gazette	4,534	5,716
	$87,598	$123,251

The contingencies are as follows:—

	1871.	1878.
Government House	$ 4,503	$ 5,205
Lieut.-Governor's office	306	950
Executive Council and Attorney-General	2,602	3,271
Treasury	2,264	2,423
East wing	Nil	3,218
Secretary and registrar	4,675	5,120
Agriculture and public works	3,496	3,036
Inspection of asylums, etc	715	2,126
Crown lands	8,454	10,120
	$27,015	$35,460

In other words, while the salaries and contingencies of civil government in 1871 amounted to $114,613, they amounted last year to $158,710, an increase of 40 per cent. The cost of legislation, omitting the cost of the general elections in 1871, is as follows:

	1871.	1878.
Salaries	$ 8,725	$ 11,300
Sessional writers, &c	4,212	8,044
Postages and post office	2,426	3,256
Indemnity	37,809	71,171
Stationery, etc	11,412	18.729
Printing and binding	1,847	1,838
Library	731	2,867
Contingencies	7,510	9,258
	$74,672	$126,463

To sum up, Civil Government and Legislation—the two branches of the service which are under the noses of ministers and subject entirely to their control—cost in 1871 $189,285, and in 1878 $285,183, or an increase of over 50 per cent.

Imports and Exports.—The goods exported from the Dominion for the month of February were: Produce of the Mine, $4,731.00; produce of the Forest, $101,656 00; Animals and their produce, $605,131.00; Agricultural products, $836,132.00; Manufactures, $155,566; miscellaneous articles, $24, 459.00.: total produce of Canada. $1,968,610; coin and bullion, $10,730.00; goods not the produce of Canada, $69,853.00; grand total $2,049,193.00.

New Allan Steamer.—The new Allan steamer now building, it is said, will be the largest steel vessel in the world. She is to be 4,000 tons gross, and is to carry cattle and other heavy merchandise between Liverpool and Canada and the River Platte. She will be novel in many respects, being riveted with steel rivets, and having steel boilers; 385 feet in length, and will have a double bottom from end to end, which will add greatly to her safety, and will allow her to be ballasted at will.

CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, March 31.

A special meeting of Council in reference to the Harbor dues was held to-night.

Present—His Worship the Mayor, Messrs. Wallbridge, Patterson, St. Charles, Proctor, Lingham, Dickson, Panter, McIninch, Geen, Hayne, Farley, Doyle, Robertson, Hambly, Holden, Jellett, Sherwood, Hulme, and Petrie.

The Mayor related the result of the visit of the deputation to Ottawa, and stated that a meeting concerning a compromise had been proposed between Mr. Rathbun and the civic deputation, but he had considered it better to have the matter discussed by the Council, and an agreement come to, if possible.

Mr. Rathbun was, on motion, asked to lay his views before the Council. He stated that the lumbermen simply desired a modification of the tariff of harbor dues, not the repeal of the Act. At the time the rate was fixed it was fair, because the logs were large, but the decrease in the size of the logs and the fall in their value was so great as to render the tariff burdensome to-day. The logs did not average half as much in contents now as nine years ago. The idea of a reduction of the tariff was originated by Mr. Flint, who, being aware that some lumbermen cut smaller logs than others, felt that the tariff bore unequally, and propose a rate on the standard. The system would ensure a correct return, and would be permanent, as no matter how small the logs were the charge would be the same proportionately. He did not know why the rate was imposed on cedar 14 ft. long, as cedar was not cut of that length, and what the lumbermen asked was to allow stuff of 16 to 17 feet, to wit two posts or two ties, to be passed at the rate now charged for 14 feet. The lumbermen considered the tariff on timber and floats fair; that on ties too high, and that on posts burdensome. He claimed that but little debris was deposited from the logs, which do not lie in the harbor for two or three years, as formerly, or in the river for a year. The piers and booms were in a bad condition. They had been built by the lumbermen, and taken by the Town without consideration. Hence they asked for a reduction of tolls, and a larger grant to put the piers and booms in a safe condition. Mr. Gilmour had been asked to be present, but found it impossible to attend, but he was represented by Mr. John Bell, his counsel. He explained that the extra length of cedar over 16 feet was of no merchantable value.

Mr. Bell was also, on motion, heard, and stated that lumbermen having large logs pay less proportionately than those who have small logs under the present system. Gilmours take out a large class of logs, and do not feel aggrieved by the present tariff, but they are getting out cedar posts, on which the tariff, as explained by Mr. Rathbun, was too high. Although it would not benefit Messrs. Gilmour, they were willing to have the rate by the standard, which would obviate the necessity of keeping a talley man on the boom. The Government returns, made out under oath, would fully guarantee the correctness of the lumbermen's returns. He said that Mr. Brown's letter stating that the lumbermen's bill was to come before the Private Bills Committee on Friday, was an error, and Mr. Brown ought to pay the expense of the last trip of the deputation to Ottawa. It had been agreed between the representatives of the lumbermen and the civic deputation at their former visit that the bill should be brought up only after the Council had taken action, and the lumbermen had net been informed of the action of the Council. He was about to leave Ottawa, having concluded other business, when the deputation arrived on Friday last. He recalled the fact of his having asked in the first place a compromise, and as a citizen he did not think we should quarrel with the lumbermen. He contended that if the rate on logs, &c., was fair now, it must have been too low when first imposed, and if fair when fixed, it certainly was too high now. Messrs. Gilmour & Co., had for some years paid the dues under protest, as being too high. Mr. Bell concluded by advising the consideration of the matter in a fair and amicable spirit.

Ald. Robertson said he was informed that Mr. Rathbun was about to remove his machinery from Mill Island, and he asked did Mr. Rathbun contemplate establishing the mill on the island here. If so, he had no doubt the Council would deal liberally him.

Mr. Rathbun replied that the purchase of Baker's Island was so recent that he had not had time to consider the question, though he would probably remove his machinery.

Ald. Robertson moved, seconded by Ald. Holden, to the effect that the whole subject of the reduction or readjustment of the tariff of of harbor dues, be left to the Committee already appointed, to report at the next meeting.

In answer to Ald. Jellett,

Mr. Bell stated that the lumbermen wished the matter decided with all convenient speed, but were willing to allow the bill to stand until after the next meeting of Council. Further legislation in regard to the harbor was needed, and the lumbermen were willing, if a compromise were effected, to allow the City to take their bill, on which fees were paid amounting to $200, and mould it into what shape they wished.

Ald. Jellett simply wished that no action should be taken until the Council had decided.

Mr. Bell agreed that the Bill should stand as was desired.

Mr. Rathbun stated as to ties, that when the tariff was fixed, ties were worth 50 cents each; now they were worth 20 cents. The Government had formerly levied dues of 4 cts. each on ties, and had reduced the rate to 2 cents, thus endorsing the position of the lumbermen. Much stuff had been prevented from coming down the Moira by the high tariff, and he believed Belleville had lost revenue by it.

In answer to Ald. Lingham,

Mr. Rathbun said that posts are not now worth as much as formerly, being almost unsaleable, and that very little cedar got out for posts was cut into shingle bolts.

Ald. Dickson said the effect of the reduction of the rate on cedar would be to reduce the rates on ties to one-eighth of a cent each.

Mr. Bell said said unless the rate was low, the ties would be taken out at Reed's Bridge and shipped over the Grand Junction.

Ald. Dickson said it was a question whether our tariff was not too low, as other places charged much higher. However, he was disposed to deal fairly with the subject, but in any case they must have the consent of the Government before it could be amended or reduced. There was a decided objection to having the rate on the standard, in fact the Council was almost unanimous on the point.

Ald. St. Charles moved to add the names of Ald. Holden and Robertson to the special Committee.

Ald. Holden objected, as he had not had the opportunity of so thoroughly informing himself on the subject as the Aldermen composing the deputation. He asked could it be ascertained accurately and definitely down what river the logs would come?

Mr. Rathbun said that Mr. Aylsworth, who managed that branch of his business, could answer.

Mr. Aylsworth, being heard, said it could be definitely ascertained down what stream or creek the logs would come. The Government returns show on what waters the logs are landed, and he had never known of transfers in these parts from one stream to another. The license holders had to pay the duties, whether the timber was cut by trespassers or by themselves.

Ald. Lingham—What as to logs cut on private property?

Mr. Aylsworth said he could only speak for one concern, which made the same returns, only on different forms.

The Mayor asked how many logs of the present average would make a standard?

Mr. Rathbun said his logs would be about two and one-quarter to the standard.

Mr. Bell stated that not so many of Messrs. Gilmour's logs, which are larger, would be required.

The Mayor said that as there were but two members of the Council, besides himself, on the Committee he should like to have the gentlemen named added.

Ald. Geen thought the subject properly belonged to the Harbor Committee, to which the deputation might be added.

Ald. Holden considered that it would be best to leave the matter to the Special Committee, a report from whom could be discussed at their next meeting.

Ald. Sherwood—Add the Printing Committee.

Ald. Patterson favored the addition to the Special Committee, and moved the further addition of Ald. St. Charles to the Committee.

Ald. McIninch wished Ald. Wallbridge added; Ald. Jellett wished Ald. Lingham added to make an odd number; and Ald. Sherwood wished Ald. Farley added.

By consent the mover of the original motion agreed to add the names of Ald. Holden, St. Charles, Wallbridge, Lingham and Farley.

The motion was carried and the Council adjourned.

Reinforcements for South Africa.—The Government in the house of Commons on Monday announced that they had received advices of the safe arrival at Cape Colony of a considerable number of the reinforcements which had been sent out, and that it it was hoped these would speedily enable communication to be opened with Col. Pearson, whose isolated condition has for some days been a source of considerable anxiety and apprehension. The statement was received with applause. The condition of affairs in Zululand continues to be serious, and there is a strong feeling that negotiations should precede any further hostile acts on a large scale.

Fiendish Revenge.—The fireman injured by the Railway accident near West Creek Station, G. T. Railway, on Saturday night, has since died, and it is said the engineer cannot recover. A despatch says:—"As soon as possible arrangements were made for the comfort of the passengers, and the men set about ascertaining the cause of the disaster. It was found that two rails had been removed from the track, and the tools used by the miscreants who perpetrated the deed were found near by. Detectives from Toronto and Detroit were sent forward, and two men are now in jail on suspicion of having been the perpetrators of the act. It was found that the men who drew the bolts and lifted the rails must have understood their business thoroughly. They must, also, have known the premises, as the tools used had been stolen from the cabin of one of the section men. It is hinted that the dastardly act must have been prompted by a desire for revenge against the Company for some real or fancied injury to the perpetrators."

The Burmah Massacre.—The Mandalay correspondent of the Calcutta Englishman thus describes the recent massacre of the royal family of Burmah by order of the King: "A council was held by the King and his young advisers, and the conclusion come to was that extermination was the only means whereby he could obtain safety. The immediate execution was, therefore, ordered of every one in prison. Executioners were easily obtained, and with darkness commenced the scene of slaughter. It being, however, found inconvenient to get through the job in one night, a division was made, and some twenty were chosen. These were severely beaten and kicked, the women being shamefully treated. When lifeless they were hurled into a large well in the garden. Children were torn to pieces before their parents' eyes, and the parents put to death. The Meckra Prince was made a witness of the most atrocious conduct towards his wife and children, and saw his aged mother beaten senseless to the ground and then dragged to the well and tumbled in. Thongya's family fared the same, as also the two Menghees, the Myodawlar, his two sons, and the Phawoon. The Princes, instead of being put in along with their families, were killed last and thrown into the river."

Obituary.—The Montreal Gazette has the following notice of the death of one of Montreal's principal merchants, and one who was well known to many of our citizens:—"We regret to announce the death of Mr. Jas. Jack, which occurred at his residence in this city, on Sunday morning, after a protracted illness. Mr. Jack was born at Greenock, Scotland, in 1831 and came to Canada with his parents in 1833, taking up his residence in the County of Chateauguay. From 1849 to 1860 he was engaged in mercantile pursuits, representing one of the leading hardware firms of Montreal, and in 1862 he entered into partnership with Mr. David Sinclair in the wholesale grocery business, which he conducted up to the time of his death. By his industry and attention to business Mr. Jack became one of the leading merchants of Montreal and earned for himself the respect of the whole community and the friendship of those with whom he was more intimately connected. He was a man of genial disposition and a large heart, dispensing charity with a liberal hand, and his demise at the comparatively early age of 48 years, will be regretted by all who knew him. For several months past Mr. Jack has been in poor health and a change of climate produced no mitigation of the disease from which he suffered, and his death deprives Montreal of one of its most energetic and successful merchants, and his friends of a kindly, genial and warm-hearted friend."

The Queen's Own are negotiating for transportation with the Grand Trunk authorities, and the Militia authorities are reckoning the cost of transportation. The proposed torchlight procession on the day the factory is opened, is understood to be in the hands of the men who have been engaged to work in the factory.

The Burmese Situation.—News from Calcutta respecting the threatened war with Burmah is disquieting. King Theebo is said to remain in a constant state of inebriety, but this has not prevented him taking very energetic war measures. He has constructed a number of forts and mounted them with artillery. He has called out his soldiers and is having them well drilled, and has sent summons to the Burmese inhabitants of Rangoon to return to their own country. He warns them that he will execute all the members of their families if they remain absent.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 1.

City and Vicinity.

Police.—Five tramps and two prisoners occupied the cells last night.

Albert College.—The Hilary term of Albert College will close on Wednesday, April 2nd, with the Matriculants' Exhibition in the evening at 7:30 o'clock, An attractive programme is promised.

Visit to Kingston.—The Whig says that it is informed that the Marquis and Princess will be at Kingston on the 29th, as visitors to the city; the Marquis will lay the corner stone of Queen's College on the 30th.

Election.—The election for the Reeveship of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe, rendered vacant by the unseating of Mr. William Wiggins, is to take place on Monday next. The candidates are Messrs. Daniel Thompson, and James Tuttle.

Personal.—Mr. James A. Orr, of the Madoc Review, is in town, having been drawn on the Grand Jury. He reports the roads between Belleville and Madoc to be in an awful condition. The journey down yesterday occupied nine very unpleasant hours.

Opera House.—The good ship "Pinafore" will arrive to-night, freighted with musical gems of rare excellence. Don't fail to see and hear the reigning sensation, which has won the greatest degree of favor in England and the United States of any musical or dramatic production of late years.

Personal.—Mr. George H. Pope, who has been on a trip to England in charge of cattle for Mr. Lingham, returned last night and was warmly received by his many friends to-day. Mr. Pope reports pleasant voyages each way, and that of 280 cattle of which he was in charge, but one died on the passage.

Canadian Press Association.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Press Association will be held at Kingston on the 22d of July. Visits will be made to all the public institutions of the limestone City; to the Thousand Islands, the famous sandbanks, and a trip enjoyed on the Kingston & Pembroke Railway. The details have yet to be arranged.

Histrionic Association.—Lovers of the drama are reminded that the first performance of the Belleville Amateur Histrionic Association will be given to-morrow night, when an excellent drama and an amusing farce will be presented. It is now some years since local amateurs made their appearance on the stage, and no doubt there will be a rush to see them.

Pedestrianism. — The long distance walking fever is spreading rapidly in this city. Scarcely anything else is talked of by the rising generation at the present time but comfortable walks to Trenton and other places, at the average rate of five miles an hour or so. Walking is an excellent and healthy amusement, but the danger is that it may be overdone.

True.—A writer who evidently knows of what he discourses, says:—"Newspaper advertising promotes trade, for even in the dullest times, advertisers secure by far the largest share of what is being done. People are quite apt to go where their attention is called, and, if they find things as represented, will purchase there in preference to spending their time in seeking elsewhere."

The Harbor Dues.—After the adjournment of Council last night, the special committee met to consider the representations of the lumbermen as to reducing or readjusting the tariff of harbor dues. After a long discussion, it was resolved to make the following alterations:

	Old rate.	New rate.
Ties, each	½c	¼c
Saw logs, each	¾c	½c
Cedar, 14 ft.	¼c	—
" over 14 ft.	1c	—
" 8 ft.	—	¼c
" 8 to 17 ft.	—	½c
" over 17 ft.		1c

This conclusion, which was dissented from by some of the members, will be reported to the Council.

"All Fools' Day."—Why the first day of April is so designated is thus explained in an old London newspaper:—"This is said to have begun from the mistake of Noah in sending the dove out of the ark before the waters had abated, on the first day of the month among the Hebrews which answers to the 1st of April; and to perpetuate the memory of this deliverance it was thought proper whoever forgot so remarkable a circumstance to punish them by sending them upon some senseless message similar to that ineffectual message upon which the bird was sent by the Patriarch. The custom appears to be of great antiquity and to have been derived by the Romans from some of the Eastern nations."

Police Record.—During the month ending 31st March, 1879, 24 persons were arrested by the Police, charged with being guilty of the following offences:—Breaking windows, 2; Commitment, 1; Drunk, 4; Drunk and disorderly, 4; Disorderly conduct, 1; Fighting on public streets, 1; Larceny, 2; Threatening, 1; Vagrancy, 8. 17 persons were summoned to appear before the Court to answer to the following complaints: Assault, 13; Abusive language, 1; Fighting, 2; Wages, 1. 144 persons (tramps) applied for and received protection in the Police cells. Total number of arrests made in 1879, 24; do. in 1878, 40; decrease in 1879, 16. Total number of persons summoned in March 1879, 17; do. in March 1878, 14; Increase in 1879, 3. Tramps in March 1879, 144; do. in March 1878, 76; Increase in March 1879, 68.

Arrived.—The Allan steamship Polynesian, arrived at Halifax at 1:45 this afternoon.

Opening Day.—It will be seen by advertisement that Mr. R. Costello will have his Opening Day on Thursday next.

McGill College.—Amongst the students of McGill College, Montreal, who received the degree of M. D., at the annual convocation on the 31st of March, was Mr. B. F. Butler, of Stirling.

Inland Revenue.—The duties of Excise collected within the Inland Revenue Division of Belleville during the month of March, 1879, were as follows: Spirits, $3,612.20; Malt, $263.46; Tobacco, $1,186.80. Total, $5,062.48. Corresponding month last year, $4,158.38, Increase, $904.10.

EUROPEAN.

The Afghan Campaign.

Waiting for an Answer from the New Ameer.

Defeat of an Afghan Force—Negotiations with Yakoob Khan Uncompleted—A Policy of Delay.

Lahore, March 31.—A small force under Major Humphrey was attacked on the 27th March in the Pishin Valley by 2,000 Afghans. The enemy were defeated with a loss of 60 killed. There were no casualities among the British.

Major Cavagnari, who arrived on Wednesday to confer with the Viceroy, still remains. The negotiations with Yakoob Khan have been continued, but hitherto it has perhaps not been the Government's policy to press Yakoob to a final decision for the reason that if his decision prove unacceptable a prompt advance on Cabul may be our proper course, and at present, while the snow covers the passes, such a step would be impracticable. It will not be surprising if, in the absence of pressure, Yakoob holds out for more favorable terms than the Viceroy has indicated. Doubtless the terms offered are such as Yakoob could accept without dishonor, and would, if accepted, make him the strongest monarch Afghanistan has had for many years. But it is possible Yakoob may prefer to save his honor by suffering the loss of a battle before he submits to the inevitable. Doubtless a march on Cabul is the last thing the Government desires, though it is quite prepared to accept it as a necessity.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Omaha, April 1.—The Ponchas held a council with Gen. Crook, and protested against being sent to the Indian territory, but acknowledged that they must obey and go. They only asked money to bury those who must die en route of fatigue and heat. Crook said their sad story was known in Washington, and all help must come from there. He could only furnish them rations. Five Ponchas are already ill.

Cincinnati, April 1.—The Gazette publishes reports from the iron regions of Ohio and adjoining states. All speak of reviving business but low prices.

Philadelphia, April 1.—The loss by the fire at Belmont Oil Works yesterday was over $100,000. The fire was caused by a leak in one of the stills. The Superintendent instantly ordered the fire drawn, when the oil leaked into the fire and an explosion followed. Two workmen were burned to death, and another cannot live.

New York, April 1.—The World's New Orleans special says that the negro exodus will reach 10,000. The reduction of wages, owing to the low price of cotton, is the main cause. The lack of laborers will be keenly felt in the cotton parishes.

The Herald's Tashkend says that Kaufman received a letter from the chief of the last Afghan Embassy announcing that perfect order reigns in Afghanistan. Yakoob Khan has decided to carry out the intentions of his father, and will prosecute war against the English to the last extremity.

Washington specials:

The Tribune says a prominent Democrat states that the Republicans need not be surprised if the legislation of the last eighteen years should now be revised by the present majority in Congress.

The Herald says Congressman King will offer a resolution asking if Sitting Bull obtained his arms in Canada.

New York, April 1.—A heavy snow storm blocked the railways on Long Island yesterday.

Rowell, the pedestrian, sails for England to-morrow.

The Tribune says that Elizabeth, N.J., will default on $166,000 payable to-day. The debt, $6,000,000, was incurred for suburban improvements and burdens the city.

It is reported that the treasury of Jersey city is empty and that it cannot meet the debts due to-day. The municipal debt is sixteen million and the city valuation is $80,000,000.

Arrived, the Helvetia from Liverpool.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Oswego, N. Y., April 1. — Hogaman's "Premium" flour mills, leased to N. A. Wright, were burned to-day. Loss about $15,000.

Providence, R. I., April 1. — A small schooner is reported sunk in Mackerel Cove. It is feared the crew are drowned. The streets this morning were blocked with snow.

Berlin, April 1.—The appearance of diphtheria in the household of the Crown Prince has induced the departure of his family for Wiesbaden.

St. Petersburg, April 1.—Gen. Melikoff has completed the burning of infested houses in Wetlianaka.

London, April 1.—Catharine Webster, arrested for murdering her mistress, Mrs. Thomas, was arranged yesterday, and asserted that Mrs. Thomas was murdered by a man named Church during the prisoner's absence, and on her return Church compelled her to help him in disposing of the body and removing the valuables. Everything but the furniture had been taken from the house when the landlady next door enquired where Mrs. Thomas was, thereupon the prisoner decamped. Church is keeper of a beer house at Hammersmith, and heretofore of good character. He had given the police all the information he possessed about the prisoner's whereabouts. Circumstances indicate the charge against Church to be false.

Prince Amadeo of Italy, and two Aides-de-camp, paid a half hour's visit to Queen Victoria at Baveno yesterday.

London, April 1.—In the House of Lords last night, on motion of the Duke of Somerset a compilation was ordered of the return of the quantities of meat imported monthly from the United States from February, 1878, to January, 1879.

The Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London and China report that they are unable to pay any further dividend for 1878, and that the whole reserve, amounting to £151,560, will be absorbed. There is considerable depreciation in the shares of the eastern banks.

The Times commenting on the announcement that the next call on the City of Glasgow Bank shareholders will be at least £2,250 per share, fears this portends ruin to nearly every shareholder. The Times recommends the creditors to accept 15 shillings on the £.

Beaconsfield will receive on Friday a deputation from the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce on the silver question.

Paris, April 1.—A battalion of Zouaves and skirmishers on their way from Aumale to Beghar, in Algeria, were caught between Sonakia and Soukeltela on the 28th of March in a snow storm. Nineteen perished of cold and fatigue, and fourteen are in the hospital.

Boston, April 1.—The night express from Bangor on the Eastern road, with two locomotives, was thrown from the track at North Beverly. The locomotives, express and mail cars were wrecked. Damage $25,000.

Washington. April 1.—Public debt increased in March, $872,724.17.

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 1.—Jas. Bell's stable, containing four horses, was burned last night. David Pulver was burned to death while trying to save the horses.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, April 1.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, increasing southwesterly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy to cloudy weather with light showers of rain or snow in some localities. For the St. Lawrence, brisk to high westerly winds, cloudy weather with areas of snow. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh to brisk easterly winds, followed by brisk to high northwest to westerly winds, rain turning to snow in northern portion.

Washington, April 1.—Indications:—Increasing cloudiness, rain areas and warmer.

Ottawa, March 20th, 1879.

To the Electors of
NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN :—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers ; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals : Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

Making a Newspaper.

MR. BUNBY TRIES TO EXPLAIN TO MRS. B. THE INNER MYSTERIES OF A PRINTING OFFICE.

It was an exceedingly cold night and Mr. and Mrs. Bunby hugged the stove closely, he passing the time reading a paper, and she sitting looking into the fire.

Without any preface whatever she dropped the poker. With so much force did it strike the hearth that Mr. Bunby stopped his reading abruptly, and looked over the top of his spectacles inquiringly.

Mrs. B. had a happy thought; quickly it was transmitted to Mr. B.

"John," said she, "you remember some time ago you promised to tell me how newspapers are made."

"Yes, yes; but some other time love."

"No, now, please, John."

Again he tried to content her with a promise, but it was of no avail; she wanted to know, then, just "how papers are put together."

He hesitated. The longer he hesitated the more impatient she grew, and he felt it. Seeing that a postponement was of no avail, he heaved a long sigh, laid aside his paper and reluctantly began to unravel for his wife's edification the "inner life of a newspaper."

"In the first place," said he, "the copy is sent to the composing room—"

"Where does the copy come from ?" she inquired.

"From the editors and reporters, of course."

"Oh, I see."

"Then it is given to the type setters ——"

"What do they do ; sit on it ?"

"No—thunder, no ; they are the compositors who set it up."

"Oh, they compose the copy, and then set it up. But how does it sit ?"

He drew another long sigh and calmly replied :

"The editors compose the copy, then send it to the composition-room, and the type-setters put it in type."

"What ! the copy ?"

"Yes ; they set the types up so that they will read as the copy reads."

"Oh, I see."

A pause ensued.

"John," said Mrs. Bunby, "you stopped at the compositors setting the type. What do they set the type in ?"

"In a stick."

"A stick ! What kind of a stick ?"

"On, a stick is a device that is just the width of the columns of the paper, and holds seventeen lines of brevier."

"And what is brevier !"

"A kind of type that is pleasing to the eye and easily read."

"Oh, I see."

"When the printers get a stick full," he went on, "they empty——"

"Are the printers different from compositors ?"

"No!" he replied, a little out of temper, "they are one and the same."

"Oh, I see."

"When they get a stick full of type, as I was about to say, they empty it on a galley"—

"And in throwing it upon a galley don't it go all apart ?"

"No, they lift it from the stick, and place it gently, very gently, on a galley"—

"And what's a galley ?"

"A long article made of brass, in which the matter is proved"—

"What kind of matter, and how do they prove it ?"

"Will you wait a moment ? if so, I will try and explain—but give me time," he said, nettled a little at her cross-examination.

"All right, go on."

"Type, when it is set up, is called 'matter,' and when the first impression of it is taken, they call it"—

"Impression of what ?"

"Oh, bother—the type ! when it is first printed on the galley, that is called a proof, and they call it 'proving the matter.'"

"Oh, I see. Does the galley print it ?"

"No, the 'devil !'"

"Oh ! John !" she cried in tones of reproach. "Why will you use such words ?"

"I was not swearing. The apprentice around a printing office is known as 'the devil.'"

"Oh !"

"The proof sheet which he makes after going to the proofreader, is returned to the printers and the corrections are made."

"Corrections made in what ?"

"The matter, my dear. It is then given to the foreman."

"What, the proof ?"

"No, the matter."

"And what does he do with it ?"

"Will you wait a minute ?"

"The foreman takes the matter and places it in the form."

"What kind of a form ?"

"An iron chase, which, when it has all the news in it which is in type, and it is locked up, is called a form."

"Locked up ! How ?"

"With quoins and side-sticks."

"Sticks and coins—ha, ha, ha—what kind of coins ?"

"Not coins, but quoins, q-u-o-i-n-s."

"And what are they ?"

"Goodness gracious, any more questions ? A quoin," he resumed, "is a small block, and is wedged in between the chase and side-sticks with a 'shooting stick.'"

"A shooting-stick ! How does it shoot ?"

"Shoots the quoins into place with the aid of a mallet."

She did not quite understand, but saw by the white of his eye that it would not be well to question him too much, so she bided her time and he went on.

"Sometimes the matter is 'pied'—"

"How's that ?"

"Why, when some type is knocked over or dropped on the floor, it is useless, and is called by the fraternity 'pi.'"

He thought he had gotten through, but the irrepressible wife continued :

"Where do they make the form up ?"

"On 'the stone,'" was the rejoinder.

"What kind of a stone—a round one ?"

"No, a flat one—a piece of level marble."

"Oh, I see."

"Well, when the form is made up it is put on the printing machine and the edition goes to press."

"What do they press the papers for ?"

"They don't press the papers ; press means printing ; and after they are printed, are circulated throughout the city."

"Oh, I see." After waiting some little time for him to continue, Mrs. Bunby asked, "Is that all ?"

"Thank heaven, yes !" he grumbled from behind the paper he had resumed. Silence followed. He read on undisturbed for fully an hour. His wife having gained her hold on the poker, was occupied in twirling it, at the same time murmuring, while looking intently at the ashes : "Types, matter, galley, proofs, devils, coins, presses."

A Witty Frenchman !

Old Mayor Quincey, of Boston, U. S., was the officer deputed to extend the civilities of that city to General Lafayette in 1824. He tells the following anecdote of the General : The cortege had stopped in Tremont street near the Common, to allow the Frenchmen to shake hands with the General. Many greeted him and for everyone he had a kind word. One old man grasped his hand and told him that he was the father of a dozen living children. The General patted him on the back and said, "Happy fellow ! Happy fellow !" The next man said : "General, I never married and have no children to incumber me." "Jolly dog ! Jolly dog !" replied Lafayette in his urbane manner. He was always ready with his replies. If Lafayette were alive he might say to the man who assured him that he was always well "Happy fellow !" and to him who had been very sick and was cured by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR-COATED PILLS, "Jolly dog." It is jolly to take these pills, they are so palatable. In all stomachic complaints, they are absolutely without a rival, and their extensive sales attest their popularity.

REMARKABLE CURE of an inflamed tear-duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large and extensive confectionery and candy store at No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflammation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Giles' Liniment, rubbed in carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflammation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was, through this power, able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the Liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine-glass of water.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION
PURE COD LIVER OIL
WITH
HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

Aquatics in England.

A Meeting Between Hanlan and Hawdon.

LONDON, March 31.—The Sportsman of the twenty-ninth says the weather at the Tyneside yesterday was a great improvement on that experienced during the past week. Both Hanlan and Hawdon put in some strong work. The latter was the first to show afloat in the forenoon. After sculling steadily up to Lettington Point, he turned and came back at a fair pace to the head of the meadows, and on his way back met Hanlan. The pair having met on the river for the first time, had a good, square look at each other. Hawdon threw out a kind of challenge to his opponent by quickening his stroke to 38, making his boat move in beautiful style. Not to be outdone, Hanlan gave retort by quickening his stroke, and considerably moved away from the Delaval sculler. Hanlan continued down to the Meadows, Hawdon substituted walking for rowing in the afternoon, but the Canadian put off at half-past three, in company with John Bright, of the "Mushroom." The pair journeyed down to Elswick Ferry landing, where they wheeled about and rowed back to the Suspension Bridge, Hanlan striking 30 to 32 to the minute.

The Sportsman of to-day says :—"It was magnificent weather at the Tyneside on Saturday. Both Hanlan and Hawdon took full advantage, putting off at ten o'clock in the morning, by which time, however, a strong westerly breeze was astir, rendering labor very hard on one hand. Hanlan, although somewhat better, has still a cold, and complains of stiff neck. He looks tolerably well. however. Accompanied by Bright he sculled leisurely against the ebb, taking their way through the New Cut, and, returning, at a swinging pace, having both tide and wind in their favor. Bright appeared to get quicker away, but directly Hanlan settled to his work he was rowing a long easy stroke of thirty to the minute. He exhibited superior form, and kept up this rate until he had covered about four miles. There was a large company at Scotswood yesterday morning. At 11 o'clock both men got afloat. Hanlan at once broke away on a strong ebb tide and rowed down to Redheugh Bridge without varying his stroke from thirty. Here he turned and went back to Scotswood. Hawdon went up as far as the New Cut, sculling at a racing speed down to the head of the Meadows. Neither of the men turned out in the afternoon."

Saving the Colors.

TWO BRITISH OFFICERS CARRYING THEM FROM THE BATTLE-FIELD.

(From the London Telegraph.)

The regimental colors of the Twenty-fourth are saved, though stained with honest blood; there is silence again on the battle-field of Isandula; the noble little garrison at Rorke's Drift has been relieved; but the names of certain brave Englishmen are already familiar to the lips that repeat the story of the camp that was defended, and the tale of the colors that were won. When the struggle was almost at an end, and the strength of the men well-nigh spent, when Pulleine and Durnford, at last beaten back and hopelessly surrounded, were attacked in rear and front, when the ammunition was exhausted and the deadly assegais were cruelly stabbing among the ranks of the Twenty-fourth, we seem to realize the dramatic picture that culminated in that ghastly struggle. When all was well-nigh over, and it was requisite to "do or die," we seem to see Lieut. Smith Dorrien swift of foot, and trusting to the powers that had won him University renown at many an athletic contest, dashing headlong and desperate, through the cruel ranks of the enemy, determined to seek assistance or perish in the attempt. Close at hand is Capt. Stewart Smith, who has given up all for lost, whose life is not worth an instant's purchase, but who will not die before he had spiked the gun he can no longer defend, and who does not receive his mortal wound before he has spoiled the means of dealing death to his comrades. No soldier ever fell more gloriously. But he had missed the Victoria Cross; and now comes the time when the colors must be saved. It was all but over. The battle is lost; but the Twenty-fourth Regiment must be true to its flag.

At the mess-room table, and round the fire in the barrack-room, they have told with pride the story of the old colors of the corps, which for ten years past have hung a trophy in St. Mary's Church, Warwick. Every private soldier and young lieutenant in the regiment had read about the battle of Chillianwallah in 1849, and has been fired with enthusiasm at that record of the regimental flag, which was carried off the field by four officers in succession, all of whom died defending it, until at last the stout flag-staff was shot away and the colors were left deserted on the ground from which the regiment were compelled to retreat. Then came the turn of Private Richard Perry, a "Warwick man," who, when he heard what had happened, rushed back in the face of the advancing Sikhs, and found poor young Pennycuick in the agony of death. From his faithful grasp he took the colors, and then, returning triumphant with his prize—receiving a bullet through his hat, a second on his pouch, and a third riddling his haversack—he was hailed with a cheer by his anxious and expectant comrades.

With this brave precedent as an example it was not likely that the colors of the twenty-fourth would drop without a struggle on the savage field of Isandula. The sacred charge was entrusted to Lieuts. Melville and Cogwill, and no knights of old more faithfully did their duty. At the last moment when the disaster was complete, horses were got out, and these heroic gentlemen started off with the treasured flag. Cutting their way with desperate energy, the colours folded around young Meleville's heart, they pierced the Zulu ranks. The feat was not accomplished without serious efforts, and an officer, who had managed to escape, reports that he saw Cogwill slashing right and left in spite of a severe wound. But the friends stuck to the saddle and reached the camp at Rorke's Drift to find it surrounded by the 4,000 Zulus who were held at bay by Lieuts. Bromhead and Chard inside the encampment. It would have been madness once more to charge the enemy, but although again attacked and fatally wounded, away they raced, and gained the Buffalo River. They had strength enough to swim their horses across; but once safe on English ground, and 300 yards from the stream, the brave fellows fell down to die. Cogwill wounded to death, dropped from his saddle, and his comrade dismounted to assist him to close his eyes. One moment more and the heroic deed would have been accomplished; but the tyrant death would not have it so. Melville struggled to remount, but he fell back by the faithful side of his brother officer, and there they found him with the colors still wrapped around his heart crimson with his life blood. Who will not regret that no posthumous honor like the Victoria cross can gild the memory of their noble fidelity?

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

MONDAY, March 31.

A number of private bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. KEELER moved for orders-in-Council relating to the last survey and proposed sale of free grant of lands on Presqu' Isle peninsula and High Bluff, in the East Riding of the County of Northumberland, Ont. He explained that, when previously in Parliament, he had made application on behalf of the squatters for a grant of the land by the Dominion Government. The reply he received was that the Government could only grant a lease. When he happened to be a candidate at the late elections, these people were promised the grants, and, in order to make them believe that such would be done, a surveyor was sent down, who examined the lands at a cost of $400 or $500. He submitted the motion in order to ascertain whether such acts could be done by the party in power in order to obtain votes.

Mr. KEELER moved for copies of instructions to solicitors under which proceedings in Chancery were instituted against Wm. Mason and others for trespass on lands of the Crown on Presqu' Isle peninsula, in the East Riding of the County of Northumberland, Ont. He said that a number of settlers who squatted on Crown lands had supported him at previous elections. Shortly before the late elections they all received writs in Chancery from a solicitor in Picton for trespass, subsequently his opponent (Mr. Biggar) went to them and represented that if they would not oppose him he would have the writs suspended or withdrawn. He was handed a letter by a voter which had been written by the Deputy Minister of Marine to Mr. Biggar, stating that at his request a writ was temporarily withdrawn. He desired to ascertain whether such acts could be committed in this country for political purposes.

Sir ALBERT SMITH said there had been difficulties in connection with the cutting of timber on the peninsula. Certain persons had been proceeded against in order to prevent the recurrence of these trespasses, but they were brought a long time before the election. Mr. Biggar, the late member, was anxious to have the suits prosecuted, but they were abandoned, the parties promising not to trespass again, and the trespasses being small, a survey of the lands was made and it would be found in the department.

The motion was carried.

Mr. PLUMB moved for copies of reports and papers relative to the dredging of the Kaministiquia river, and the practicability of forming a harbor accessible to the larger classes of lake shipping at the point selected as the Pacific railway terminus on that river.

Mr. DAWSON explained the different character of delta and drift bars at mouths of rivers, and stated that the obstruction at the mouth of the Kaministiquia belonged to the former class. Under the system of dredging adopted it was impossible to deepen the channel of the river. Dredging had been continued during five seasons without producing any benefit, and the river channel had not been a foot deeper. During two years the water of Lake Superior had stood at an unusually high level, but it has now fallen to its normal height and the water in the Kaministiquia was no deeper than before the dredging operations were commenced. Similar results had followed operations on the dredging of the delta of the Rhine, on which $1,000,000 were expended with the result of reducing the depth of water from 7 to 5 feet. The dredging operations of the drift bar at the mouth of the Danube had been successful. The Kaministiquia was both delta and drift bar, and he believed no Government engineer had recommended the adoption of the present mode of dredging. It was utterly impossible to make a harbour of the Kaministiquia under the existing system.

The motion was carried, also one regarding the merits of Prince Arthur's landing as a harbor, Mr. Dawson stating that the harbor is much safer and later in freezing than the Kaministiquia.

A large number of other returns were moved for.

Mr. Robertson's bill regarding pool selling, after being debated, was opposed by Sir John Macdonald on the ground that there had been no general agitation in its favor, and it received the three months hoist on motion of Mr. Cameron (Huron.)

Mr. McCarthy's bill regarding controverted elections was read a second time and referred to a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Baker, Brecken, Laurier, Smith, Boultbee, Cameron (Victoria), Cameron (Huron), Caron, Casey, Guthrie, Kirkpatrick, Mousseau, Rykert, Ryan (Marquette), Richey, McCarthy, White (Hastings), and Girouard (Jaques Cartier.)

Mr. Casey moved the second reading of his bill to amend the election law, the debate on which was adjourned.

The House adjourned at 11:35 p. m.

"PULMONARY CONSUMPTION arises from a decline or deficience of vitality in the natural bioplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting or atrophy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, long-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaing the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus providing for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 2.

Dr. Boulter in North Hastings.

One of the assertions — insinuations rather, for they dare not openly state it—made by those who oppose Dr. Boulter in the pending contest in North Hastings, is that he has not done so much as he ought to have done for the constituency, and upon this expression of opinion is founded the further insinuation that the gentleman who has so long represented the Riding is deficient in ability and influence. This very specious mode of endeavoring to alienate his former supporters from the Conservative candidate is, however, not likely to prove very successful, as it lacks one great essential element—that of truth—without which the objections are valueless.

As to the charge of having done but little, let us look into the subject. It is argued by some persons that politics should have no place in the Provincial Legislature, which is merely a County Council on a large scale. But what is the fact? Every reader of the public journals knows, or ought to know, that in no legislative body in this country—probably in no other in the world—does political feeling, on the part of the "Liberal" party at least, run higher than in the Ontario Legislature. Look at the action of the Government in providing, by statutory enactment, pabulum for their supporters in the press at the expense of the municipalities and of private parties. Is it not notorious that almost every resolution proposed by the Conservative minority in the Legislature, no matter what its nature, has been tortured into a motion of want of confidence and voted down by a servile majority, ever ready to carry out the instructions of their party leaders? And is it not equally true that many really valuable measures have been voted down by the Government tools simply and solely because they emanated from members of the Opposition? The facts cannot be truthfully denied, for they are as well known as that the Legislature is in existence. Cases in point are many, but one instance will suffice, namely that the Government refused to allow the passage of a most beneficial measure respecting cheese factories, which was introduced by Mr. Wills, and this year coolly appropriated the vital portion of the bill and passed it as their own. So petty and mean, in fact, has been the partizan spirit of Mr. Frazer in particular, and so well has he been seconded during the last five years, that it has been only with the utmost difficulty that the Opposition was able to check the flood of extravagance and correct the crude and in many cases mischievous legislation of the majority at all, whilst many most objectionable measures have been forced through the house by sheer weight of numbers, despite the most earnest efforts of the minority. Under such circumstances it is greatly to the credit of Dr. Boulter, and is a strong testimony to his zeal, ability and influence that he has been able to secure what he has done—and that is not a little—for his constituents.

As to the ability of Dr. Boulter or of any other gentleman who has been a representative of the people in any legislative body, it is a question upon which opinions may differ very greatly ; but the best test is, perhaps, the amount of work which a representative has performed on behalf of his constituents. As will be seen by a perusal of his address, Dr. Boulter has done a great deal for his constituency, in the face of circumstances of the most adverse character. True, he has not succeeded in securing all that he asked for, but now that the return to power of the Conservative party seems certain, he will, in such event, be in a better position to obtain a full measure of justice for the North Riding and this part of the country generally. That Dr. Boulter has attained to a prominent position amongst the Conservative members of the Legislature, by whom he is much respected and esteemed, is another strong testimony to his ability and worth, and that amongst even the members on the opposite side of the House he is popular because of his courtesy and geniality is also true. But there is equally good evidence on the point afforded by the Globe, which in its issue of the 1st instant devotes a leading article of a column and a quarter in length to the Doctor's address. As the chief organ of the Ontario Government does not waste its space in attacking nonentities, and as it has become a practice born of experience amongst Conservatives to honor those whom the Globe would fain defeat and to oppose those whom that journal recommends for election, Dr. Boulter has reason to thank the Globe for its opposition to him, whilst Mr. Wood ought not to feel very grateful for the pat on the back which the Grit organ gives him. By the dishonest omission of the letter "s" in the word "Governments" in the commenting on paragraph of Dr. Boulter's address, in which he refers to the matters which he has successfully pressed upon the attention of the "Governments of the day," the Globe makes that gentleman give credit to the "Government of the day" for all that he has secured for North Hastings, and so it goes on to charge the Conservative nominee with inconsistency in opposing the Mowat Governmet and asserts that he "for all practical purposes declares himself a supporter" of the powers that be, with all their sins of omission and commission. Supposing for one moment that this claim were well founded, how does the Globe justify itself in opposing the candidate whom it makes out to be the most favorably disposed towards the present Government of the two now before the people in North Hastings, and supporting Mr. Wood, who declares his intention of acting generally with the Conservative party? The absurdity of the position of our contemporary is apparent. But it knows full well that, by leaving out the one letter in a word in Dr. Boulter's address it perverts his statement and misrepresents his position most unfairly and dishonestly.

We are quite content to leave these considerations to the electors of North Hastings, who cannot be deceived as to the position of their representative, and who, very easily perceiving that the insinuations against him are groundless, will but the more heartily and unitedly support him in consequence. The twelve years' faithful service which Dr. Boulter has given his constituents, the experience which he has gained, and the position and reputation which he has won in the Legislature are not to be lightly regarded, and we believe the people of North Hastings will fully and fairly take all these considerations into account and return the trusted nominee of the Conservative Convention by a very large majority.

Put His Foot in It.

Sir Albert J. Smith, who was Mr. Mackenzie's Minister of Marine and Fisheries, seems to be one of the most blundering individuals in Parliament. His record during the current session has been one long unbroken series of blunders and misstatements, the result of which has been that he has received some of the most severe castigations which any public man ever had to undergo at the hands of his opponents. The most of these occurrences are so recent in their date that it would be a waste of space to particularize them again, but the latest of the unfortunate Knight's mistakes, which we have not previously recorded, is thus narrated and commented upon by the Ottawa Citizen :—"It was recently stated that a report on the steamer Glendon by Mr. William M. Smith, Inspector of Steamboats for the Maritime Provinces, condemning the steamer Glendon as unseaworthy, was missing from the Marine and Fisheries Department. Oppositionists denied that any such report had ever existed. Unfortunately for the ex-Minister of Marine and Fisheries, the missing report has been found. It is the joint report of Samuel Risley, William M. Smith and Joseph Samson, the Board of Steamboat inspection, who reported that the hull is a bad model, is unseaworthy, and is already strained ; also, that the engine and boiler are too small to make her a serviceable boat in bad weather. Altogether, they believe the vessel to be unfit for her present employment. There is also an unfavorable report from Wm. Simons, Surveyor at Quebec for Bureau Veritas, who closes his report with the words, "I, therefore, do not consider her a suitable vessel for the Gulf service," but he thought she would do for inland or river navigation. There is also an interesting report by Captain Lavoie, who commanded the Glendon, and who describes one of his trips in the Gulf, of which he says, "It is through the mercy of God we were not all lost." He also says, "In spite of my anxiety to find some good in the bargain of the Department, it is impossible to do anything useful with her ; this steamer will certainly be the grave of her crew." Capt. Lavoie is very emphatic in describing the vessel's unfitness for the service, and as the captain was a thorough Grit partisan, he was not likely to overdraw the picture. It will therefore be seen that the evidence is at hand to stamp this purchase by the late Government as one of the worst pieces of jobbery that has yet come under public notice."

THE CASTLETON TRAGEDY.—Marvin Welton convicted at the Cobourg assizes of assisting in procuring miscarriage in the Castleton tragedy, has been sentenced to four years imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

CHANGE IN SHEEP RAISING.—Those who understand the trade asserts it as their belief that the change in the tariff will bring about a change in sheep raising in Canada. According to their opinion, in order to produce the quantity of clothing in wool which the increase in manufacture will bring about, the farmers will be required to raise more of the Southdown and Leceister crossed, with probably a sprinkling of Lincolns. The Merinoes will be raised very sparingly, if at all. The quantity of clothing wool now held by dealers is extremely limited, and it is thought that a supply will have to be obtained either from the United States or the Eastern townships.

FOR MANITOBA.—Patterson's party for Manitoba left Paris on the 1st of April and was without doubt the largest that ever left Ontario, requiring two monster special trains of sixteen passenger coaches, two baggage and thirty freight cars. The emigrants were all from points on the main line of the Great Western between Hamilton and London, and the Wellington, Grey & Bruce division. The number of full tickets sold was a few over five hundred, and the cost for transportation of the entire party and effects was over fifteen thousand dollars. They are destined for no particular settlement, but scatter over the entire province and the North-West on their arrival at Winnipeg. It is computed that the capital at the disposal of this party amounts to over a quarter of a million dollars.

The Fishery Award.

On the 31st ult., a copy of the correspondence between the Local Government of Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick, in regard to the Fishery Award was presented to the House of Commons. The Government of Prince Edward Island claim that they are entitled to one million of dollars, the amount allowed Newfoundland, after speaking of the importance of the mackerel fisheries within the three mile limit on the coast of the Island, and contending that witnesses on both sides had proved their great value. The correspondence goes on to show that the Province had not surrendered its rights when the terms of Union were agreed upon, and that the only question to be considered was what proportion of the award they were entitled to. It is claimed that the ratification of the Washington Treaty, under which the award was made, was enacted by the Government of Prince Edward Island before Confederation, and that the authority to legislate upon their fisheries vested in the Dominion, by the British North America Act, did not imply a right to sell or rent them. The sale or rental of them to the Americans was not, so far as the Island is concerned, made by the Dominion, and the purchase money or rental paid by the Americans for the right to fish therein for twelve years had never been assigned away from the province. The Local Government do not wish to have their portion expended in the construction of Public Works, but ask that the amount be funded by the Dominion Government, the interest to be paid annually. The New Brunswick correspondence is brief, and merely requests that no apportionment take place until the Local Government has an opportunity of presenting its claim.

THE ZULU WAR.—A cable special from London says:—"Public feeling over the debate in the House of Commons respecting the Zulu war is much divided, and there is a great deal of exasperation felt among both parties. There is entertained at the War Office a feeling of great anxiety respecting Col. Pearson's command. He is known to be completely hemmed in, and all attempts to open communication with him have failed. His provisions have by this time been entirely exhausted, and unless the expedition which is being fitted out for his relief, reached him on or before yesterday, he will be compelled to surrender or attempt to fight his way out, and either alternative would probably result in the death of himself and all his men. A large number of members of the House were absent when the vote was taken last night, and the comparatively small majority obtained by the Government is accounted for in that way."

ON THE TYNE.

The Canadian Champion at Practice.

Discourteous Conduct of the Local Scullers — Testing Their Own Skill and Trying Hanlan's Metal

LONDON, April 1.—A strong westerly breeze was blowing on the Tyne yesterday. Both Hanlan and Hawdon pushed forward their work of preparation. They were afloat by ten o'clock in the morning, and had a long pull in the afternoon. Hanlan came down the river on purpose to have a row over the course, and commenced at a steady good pace Entering the south side of the Meadows, he was striking 30. At the head of the Meadows, when he was going at 28, a sculler who had been hanging about in light racing costume, began to honor the Canadian with his company, and continued to do so for about a quarter of a mile, when Hanlan eased up, but the sculler kept with Hanlan at a stroke of 36. He appeared to manage the sculls in a superior style, but, the Sportsman thinks, perhaps, it would be much more magnanimous, seeing Hanlan is an entire stranger, if these local scullers would not indulge in this kind of business. Hanlan finished his row at the suspension bridge.

Prairie Fires in Dakota.

A Harrowing Tale of Destruction—Farm Houses, Churches, and School-Houses Burned — Numbers of Homeless Families.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, March 31.—The Journal has startling reports of the ravages of prairie fires up the Big Sioux Valley and throughout southern Dakota. The fires on Saturday were of unusual force and destructive beyond precedent. The poles on the telegraph line on the Sioux City and Pembina railway were burned, so the line has been down, and reports from that quarter are not full. A merchant of Eden tells a harrowing tale in that quarter. On Saturday, from his stoor door, he counted thirteen farm houses in flames, and he says more than forty famililies in that vicinity lost everything. The flames travelled with such rapidity that people were unable to save anything. The stricken people are dazed by the terrible blow that has fallen on them. A large Norwegian church five miles from Eden has been burned. Several people were dangerously burned and some fatally in the vicinity of Portlandville. It is said tha twenty families lost their hay, grain, etc., west of Elk Point. E. Richardson lost a large amount of grain. A school house with all its contents was also burned. At White Swan the telegraph office was burned. At the same place the Government stables was burned. Altogether, immense damage has been done, and the hardship to settlers is particularly severe. The grass grew very rank last year, and a protracted dry spell made it powerful food for the fire.

SIOUX FALLS, Dakota, April 1.—The prairie fires have reached the suburbs of the town, and are only checked by great exertions. The wife of John Forbion, farmer, was burned to death in attempting to save a barn.

Tariff Notes.

COMPILED FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Messrs. Copp Bros., Hamilton, expect to largely exceed their last year's total shipment of ploughs and other agricultural implements this season. An extensive Lower Province trade is anticipated, as well as a brisk demand from the northwest.

Messrs. Laidlaw, Bowes & Co., Hamilton, received an order from an English firm for a consignment of cooking stoves.

Streetsville capitalists talk of having a beet sugar factory.

Messrs. Thomas Bowes and George Ross are starting an extensive implement manufactory in Chatham.

The Goderich Founding and Manufacturing Co. are to employ from 80 to 100 men.

Ayr Agricultural Works have made a second shipment of machinery to Genoa, Italy.

RUSSIA IN ASIA.—A despatch from St. Petersburgh states that the announcement that the Russian advance upon Merv has been suspended, causes gratification in Government circles, and this changed action of the Russian Government is attributed to the influence which Lord Dufferin has exerted at St. Petersburg. The expedition consisted of 20,000 men who were being conveyed across the Caspian Sea in order to operate against the Turkomans in the Attrek region, and to open up a road to Merv. It appears that ever since the occupation of Khiva the Russian Government has kept steadily in view the importance of the occupation of Merv—a step which the English Government has repeatedly informed Russia it would consider as thoroughly hostile to British interests, and to be resisted at all costs. The opinion in Government circles is that Russia will now either abandon her intention of occupying Merv, or, as a compromise, propose that England shall occupy and fortify Herat.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

WE have been aware for some time that it is exceedingly distasteful to many ladies to have what they intend wearing in Millinery exposed to the view of the whole public, and handled, by they know not whom, and often copied by their next door neighbor before it is worn.

Accordingly we have determined hereafter not to make a public show of our newest imported styles and finer goods in this department, and further we find it necessary to adopt this course on account of our unusually large assortment this season, particularly in the richer descriptions of these goods, and prices have been made so moderate that we cannot afford to lose anything by indiscriminate handling, through which much fine work is destroyed, and the designs frequently copied and so made common. On and after

Tuesday, the 8th of April,

we shall be prepared to show in this department whatever may be enquired for, and our lady customers when suited may be assured that copies will not be made in any case without their consent.

In the Mantle Department will be found some very choice goods in the newest styles.

We beg here to state that all the other departments are now full and complete for the season, while prices are exceedingly moderate.

Ladies will please accept this intimation, as we do not purpose making further announcement.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENTS.—The Oddfellows' band had a social entertainment, at which there was a considerable attendance, in the Hall of the Holy Cross Temperance Association, last night.

LICENSE APPLICATIONS.—The number of applications for tavern and shop licenses in West Hastings is as follows: Belleville—Tavern 28; Shop 8; Wholesale 3. Trenton—Tavern 8; Shop 2. Sidney—Tavern 4.

OPERA HOUSE.—First appearance of the Amateur Histrionic Association to-night in the play of the "White Horse of the Peppers" and the farce "Lend me Five Shillings."

SAILORS' WAGES.—The Kingston News says:—"Crews are being engaged by Kingston captains at $18 and $20 a month. A good many hands have been already taken."

SPRING OPENINGS.—The fashionable world is now on the qui vive for the annual display of the latest styles in mantles, costumes, bonnets, feathers &c., at the various dry goods and millinery establishments, several of which make their announcements in our advertising columns.

CHANGEABLE.—The weather continues as changeable as usual at this season of the year, with frost usually night and morning and bright sunshine and rapid thawing during the day. Last night and to-day there has been a variation in the programme, the temperature having fallen very materially. Thus an arrest in the breaking up of the ice on the river has been caused, which will give the Public Works Committee an opportunity to get the channel cleared by blasting.

EXTENSION OF BUSINESS.—Messrs. Bartman & Sintzel, the well-known clothiers and merchant tailors, whose spring announcement appears in other columns, have of late been extending their previously very large business. With this object they have made important alterations in their business premises, both in the store and in the manufacturing department, whereby much superior facilities are afforded. They have also laid in a very heavy stock of goods of the latest style, and advertise to sell at exceedingly low rates. See the advertisement.

GRAND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.—Our citizens will have a rare treat given them to-morrow evening in the Metropolitan Hall, when "The Pilgrim Fathers," Root's celebrated Cantata in two parts, will be rendered. It illustrates the history of the Pilgrim Fathers from a short time previous to their embarkation on the "Mayflower" to their famous treaty with Massassoit. There will be a chorus of upwards of forty voices, comprising some of the best musical talent in the city, including a few charming solos. Mr. Stanistreet is the organist, and Miss Alport the pianist, the whole to be under the direction of Prof. Coleman. Proceeds in aid of John Street Presbyterian Church. Those who attend may be certain of enjoying a pleasant evening's entertainment. See advertisement and programme.

BOARD OF HEALTH.—By advertisement which appears in another column, it will be seen that the medical officers of the Board of Health are prepared to vaccinate poor persons, residents of the city, free of charge, on presentation of an order from the Chairman of the Poor and Sanitary Committee, with pure vaccine lymph fresh from the cow. All other persons will be charged one dollar for the operation. One of the medical officers of the Board will attend at the City Hall on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, in each week for the above purpose. The Board have also given notice that all yards and premises must be cleansed by the 30th inst., after which date the law will be resorted to in the case of delinquents.

"H. M. S. PINAFORE."—The production of Messrs. Sullivan and Gilbert's famous operatic satire "H. M. S. Pinafore" drew a large audience to the Opera House last night, and proved to be all that was anticipated in excellence. It is without doubt one of the cleverest compositions in the line of comic opera which the present generation has witnessed. With all the sparkle of the French opera bouffe—with light, taking airs, pleasing duets, trios and choruses, and a dialogue witty and pointed without vulgarity and questionable inuendo—the work is well fitted to amuse and please, even where the allusions which it contains are but dimly comprehended and in some cases probably not understood. Unfortunately the company which presented this gem of musical and literary composition for the first time before a Belleville audience was, as a whole, sadly beneath the requirements of the occasion. The management—wisely, perhaps—did not distribute programmes amongst the audience, so that the stage names of the "artists" remained unknown. This was unjust to the representatives of the First Lord and the Captain's daughter whose acting and singing were excellent, but to the remainder of the cast it was a kindness, their vocal deficiencies being remarkable, and their acting little better. Some of the choruses were well sung, but otherwise the performance was not up to the mark. Enough was gathered of the opera to render the public anxious to hear it again, and when a really good company presents it in this city they will without doubt have a crowded house.

TRAMPS.—The number of tramps on the move at the present time is very much greater than at the same time last year, the cells having been crowded nightly of late with itinerants. Last night ten were given lodgings, that number being about the nightly average of late.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

TUESDAY, April 1.

A special meeting of the Board was held to-night.

PRESENT.—Messrs. W. A. Shepard (Chairman), Glass, Tennant, Peterson, Peck, James Macoun and John Macoun.

The Chairman stated that the meeting had been called for the purpose of authorizing the Finance Committee to raise by note funds in order to pay the teachers, as the City Council was unable to provide funds at present.

Moved by Mr. Wills, seconded by Mr. Peck, That the Chairman and Secretary-Treasurer be and are hereby authorized to make and issue a promissory note of the Board of Education and affix the seal thereto, for the sum of two thousand nine hundred dollars to be applied for the payment of the Teachers, Salaries for the past quarter.—Carried.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—In your report of the proceedings of the Council on Monday evening last, and also in that of the Daily Ontario, I am made to say that the Gilmours do not feel aggrieved by the present tariff on saw logs charged by the city. What I thought I said and what I intended to say was this, that by the standard was the proper way to charge the harbor dues on saw logs, because Flint & Holton and Rathbun & Son bring down logs of a much smaller size than the Gilmours do. That large logs make more lumber than the small ones; therefore if you charge per piece instead of per standard you make the charge per thousand feet of lumber to those having small logs greater than to those having the larger logs. That as regards the logs, the Gilmours had less to complain of than the others, but that as regards cedar they were all on the same footing. I also stated that every year since, and including the last year of the late Mr. Cumming's life, the dues charged Gilmours had been paid under protest, and I claimed and as I still claim, that owing to the depression in the price of lumber a toll which was fair years ago when better prices were obtained, was and is unfair now.

Kindly insert and oblige,

Your obed't. serv't.,

JOHN BELL.

Belleville, April 2nd, 1879.

England Learning.

Herepath's Railway Journal, a paper of well deserved repute in commercial circles, had the following, which many serve to show the bent of public feelings among the more thoughtful of the mercantile classes in England:—

"Rather than touch a single particle of the idol of free trade some of our out and out liberal politicians would sacrifice the county, and bid its starving people emigrate to America. More sensible and less prejudiced people, however, though free traders at heart, are anxious for enquiry into the matter in order to see whether or not free trade is at the bottom of our trouble. Certain it is that those countries, such as America, France, Spain, &c., which have thrown off free trade, are prospering, while we who stick to free trade are suffering; and whilst the greatest and most intense protectionist of modern times, to wit America, had sent Mr. Richard Cobden's views to the winds, they (the Americans) are more anxious that we should continue to hold them and act upon them. If the Americans were born fools one could understand such a course on their part, but as they are at least our match in powers of thought, their contrary action ought to suggest to us that we should carefully reconsider our position—at least enquire whether we are in the right course under the right course under the altered circumstances. It may be (and we believe so) that free trade is a good thing when all leading countries adopt it but a prejudicial thing when only one adheres to it, and all others resort to the opposite principles of protection. During the week a great meeting has been held in London in support of enquiry. The great question is whether, as other countries have taken to Protection, we must not go to Reciprocity? Whether we must do as they do?"

WELLAND CANAL.—From a return laid before the Commons on the 1st April it appears that the amount expended to repair damage on the Welland canal to the 18th March was $7,619.39; and the amount of claims by private parties is $3,495.94, of which $282.10 has been paid, leaving $3,213.84 still unpaid. The claimants are as follows:—Hutchinson & Clarke, $149.69. J. C. Graham, $120; D. Lyons & Son, $282.10 Capt. Osborne, $139; P. Larkin, $2,808.15. The paid claim was that of Lyons & Son, $282.10.

In a little village in the North of Ireland lived two old inhabitants, known by the names of Darby and Pat, each in his own way rather eccentric, and always ready with a witty answer. The former was one day taking his usual walk, when he met his friend Pat, and asked, "What time might it be now?" Pat having a short stick in his hand, gave Darby a sharp crack over the head with it, and said, "It's just sthruck wan." Darby looked a little surprised, but always ready, said "Troth, but it's lucky I wasn't here an hour sooner."

MORNING DESPATCHES.

CINCINNATI, April 2.—Archbishop Purcell's health is fast failing. The best posted see little hope for the payment of his creditors for years to come.

CHICAGO, April 2.—At the city elections yesterday 68 precincts out of 108 give Harrison (Republican), 15,208; Wright (Democrat and Greenbacker), 12,985; Schmit (Socialist), probably 8,000 to 10,000.

MILWAUKEE, April 2.—Reports from the interior towns show great Republican gains over last year. Cole (Republican), is undoubtedly elected Judge of the Supreme Court. In Milwaukee city the Republicans will control the City Council for the first time.

NEW YORK, April 2.—The Herald's Tashkerd special says that Kaufman has received despatches from the Governor of Samarcand announcing that the English Government means to place Wali Mahomet, cousin of the late Ameer, on the Afghan throne. Wali has always favored the English. It is also stated that the tribe of the Afridees recently captured on the road from Peshawur to Jellalabad seven hundred English soldiers, who were ransomed for $150,000 by the Viceroy. The Governor of Samarcand also announces that Yakoob Khan is about to send a fresh embassy to Tashkend.

WASHINGTON, April 2nd.—In the Oliver-Cameron case the jury stood, 3 for plaintiff and 9 for defendant; and on a second vote, 1 for plaintiff and 11 for defendant. It took two hours and a half to convince this one juror.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Washington specials: The Tribune says, in an informal conversation last evening, the President said that the present political struggle seemed only to be a new form of a long standing contest between people who believe the United States to be a nation and those who hold to State rights. The question at issue is not sectional,—it is fundamental, and is the same which was in controversy between the two great parties before the war, and was involved in the war itself.

The Times says that a national convention of the friends of freedmen is contemplated, to aid them in gaining new homes.

The Herald says: On February 27th, in Executive session, the Senate passed a resolution favouring an early termination of the Fisheries and Customs arrangements between the United States and Great Britain. Evarts thereupon immediately began a correspondence with the British Government looking to the prompt abrogation of the treaty. Minister Welsh was instructed accordingly, and was notified that this Government holds that free fish and fish oil would be more than equivalent for the Provincial fisheries, and that it would be better to surrender the enjoyment of the fishing privilege of article 18 for the remaining six years of the 12 upon a resumption by this Government of the control of our own market for this unexpired period. In reply Lord Salisbury on November 7th reiterated his opinion that free fish and fish oil were a totally inadequate return for Canadian concessions to our fishermen.

NEW YORK, April 2.—Great excitement exists in the Custom house over the proposed revolution in the organization of collectors, appraisers, and naval officers, which goes into effect to-day.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LIVERPOOL, April 2.—The cotton circular of Smith, Edwards & Co. says that the visible supply of cotton is 350,000 bales below that of last year.

BERLIN, April 2.—The Emperor is improving and is expected to be out doors soon.

Bismarck received countless congratulations on his birthday event. Liberal papers publish complimentary articles.

LONDON, April, 2.—David McIvor, one of the proprietors of the Cunard line of steamers and a member of Parliament, writes to the Times declaring from personal experience he does not know of any nation whose trade prospects are so gloomy as Great Britain's. British exports to the United States are comparatively nothing. British food exportations are steadily increasing, but the balance of trade is so overwhelming against Great Britain that he sees nothing but ruin for home industries if the present state of things are allowed to continue. The export trade from Liverpool to the United States is so small that whenever the restrictions on the importation of United States cattle are removed gentlemen who are prepared to put additional steamers into the trade deliberately intend to make outward voyages with water ballast alone.

The Times says, the budget will show a surplus of £2,792,000 on ordinary expenditures, out of which it will be necessary to provide for the supplementary estimates, and do something towards decreasing an accumulated deficit of £5,000,000 caused by the extraordinary expenditure, in consequence of Eastern affairs. The country has really been paying its way, as it has whilst the deficit was accumulating, and has devoted more than £3,000,000 annually to reduction of the debt.

The Blackburn cotton operatives have decided to submit to a reduction unconditionally, but declared their intention to insist upon a restoration of the prices paid previous to to last years' reduction when trade revives.

ST. LOUIS, April 2.—The Democrats elected all their Councilmen yesterday, which gives them one majority. The Democrats also have the House of Delegates by a small majority.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—An official report of the case of Fitz John Porter gives a narrative of events which gave rise to the charges against Porter. This narrative covers the main portion of the report concerning the charge of which Porter was found guilty of not having moved his command in obedience to Pope's order. The Board report that it was a manifest physicial impossibility to march over that road that night and nothing would have been gained by an attempt, and that it would have been wiser if Porter had delayed the attempt still longer than he did, that he exercised the very ordinary discretion of corps commander, and that it was his plain duty to so exercise it.

CAPE HATTERAS, April 2.—The small craft 'Wybroke" left on Sunday for Newberne, was found bottom up. The Captain and four passengers are supposed to be lost.

CHICAGO, April 2.—In the whole city the Democratic ticket, was elected from 3,500 to 4,500

EUROPEAN.

The Afghan Campaign.

LONDON, April 1.—The Viceroy of India telegraphs that General Sandeman reached Thull on the 27th March, and Major Cavagnari started for Jellalabad.

A Lahore despatch says that though the negotiations have not nominally been broken off, Yakoob Khan's letter is still unanswered. The Viceroy announces that small forces have been sent to Futtehabad and Carbagh in advance of Jellalabad to overawe the marauding tribes. The correspondent says the best informed people think the movement is really a demonstration in reply to Yakoob Khan's evasive letter.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Indications:—Colder, clear or partly cloudy.

A British Disease.

The most marked peculiarity that will impress the American traveller when he walks the streets of London for the first time, is the great number of excessively fat people whom he everywhere meets. He at first supposes these persons to belong to the nobility, on the same principle that he would pronounce them aldermen or bankers if seen in Boston or New York. In brief, he labors under the popular though mistaken impression, that obesity is invariably the combined result of laziness and high living; while in reality it is a constitutional disease. Until very recently there was no known remedy for this uncomfortable disease, and its victims were obliged to submit to the vexation and not infrequent mortification that it occasions. Allan's Anti-Fat is the only remedy for this disease, and removes the abnormal condition by purely natural means. Ask your druggist for it.

Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

MANHATTAN ECHOES—NOTED BANK BURGLARS TRACED—THE COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES—CHEAP TELEGRAPHING—THE NEXT WORLD'S FAIR—KIND HEARTED ACTORS, &C., &C.

(From our regular correspondent.)

NEW YORK, March, 29, 1879.

Much excitement was created the other day at police headquarters and the Manhattan bank, which was robbed of $2,800,000 in securities and money, by information received from Washington that in a package that came from a London banker were found three $1,000 bonds, five twenties, of July, 1865, being part of the bonds stolen from the Manhattan Bank. It is believed that the discovery will afford an important clue to the persons who disposed of the proceeds of the bank burglary. The burglary, it is now known, was committed by Abe Coakley, Jimmy and Johnny Hope, Oscar Decker, Jimmy Dunlop and two others. The bank loses $250,000 in coupon bonds and cash, and the special depositors lose about $85,000. The robbery was planned by Tom alias Shang Draper, and George Leonias Leslie, alias Howard, alias Herbert. Of the robbers Coakley and Johnny Hope have been arrested. Coakley induced the police to release him under pretext that he would work with them to discover the robbers.

I am in receipt of the report of the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics on the commerce and navigation of the United States, which is an interesting and valuable document. That portion relating to the exportation of breadstuffs has peculiar interest, representing, as it does, the enormous increase there has been in that direction. In the year ending June 30, 1860, the total exports of bread and breadstuffs from the United States were $24,422,316. In 1863 they had reached $98,743,151; the next year they jumped up to $161,198,864, and then, with slight fluctuations they advanced to $181,777,841 in the year ending June 30, 1878. These figures disclose a wonderful development, but a few years hence, it is safe to predict, they will appear comparatively small. Over eighty per cent. of this great volume was produced in the region lying north of the Ohio River, and west of the Atlantic seaboard States, embracing the States of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska. The resources of these great commonwealths are as yet but dimly understood. In the one State of Minnesota alone there is a territory still unsurveyed that is almost equal in area to the whole of the New England States. When these great States of the northwest obtain the population that is bound to come to them in time, and their riches come to be fairly tested, we shall have an end to talk about a "solid South" and a "solid North," for there will be the guiding power. This region, with an almost illimitable capacity for agricultural production, is being developed by the railroads, and accordingly the transportation question is the all-absorbing one. In breadstuffs our trade is bound to be of a commanding nature. Every year will witness its increase, for the capacity of the West is as yet but little suspected. In the meantime, as has been heretofore noted, there has also been a remarkable increase in the provision trade, the exports of which have increased from $16,622,443 in 1860 to $123,556,323 in the last fiscal year. There is improvement everywhere. In the year ending June 30, 1850, the value of the exports of commodities of domestic manufacture was $15,617,730. In the year ending June 30, 1877, they had gone up to $144,824,625.

Within the last month a new telegraph company has been organized in this city under the title of the American Rapid Telegraph Company. Its officers are Edwin Reed, ex-Mayor of Bath, Me., President, and Major L. S. Hapgood, of Boston, Treasurer. The company is said to have a capital of $3,000,000, and it intends immediately to construct a line of double telegraph wires connecting Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis. The wires will be of cast steel, plated with copper, and are the invention of Professor Moses G. Farmer, of Newport. The company controls a number of other novel inventions in telegraphy, which will enable it, as claimed, to transmit 1,000 words per minute over its own patent wires and half that number over ordinary wires. The company also intends to establish press bureaus in the principal cities. In building the lines the post roads and highways will be followed, as a United States law passed in 1866, is understood to give free right of way over these routes. It is designed to have the lines completed and in working order by January 1st, 1885.

At a meeting on Thursday of the executive committee in charge of the arrangements for the world's fair proposed to be held in New York, Mr. Vancy reported from the committee appointed to select a site in favor of Central Park. He said that in connection with Manhattan square there were 130 acres which could be devoted to the purpose. Buildings could be constructed and used there without interfering with the public drives or walks. Buildings could be so constructed and located that a large part of them may remain for permanent public use. The main structure could be used like the great palace at Sydenham. The picture and art galleries would exist as noble relics of the great fair, and be devoted to permanent public exhibitions. The report was adopted, and the committee instructed to consult with the park commissioners with a view of obtaining the proposed site. A resolution was adopted providing that a committee of five be appointed to prepare an act of incorporation, and apply to Congress for its enactment, and that the committee have power to consult with the representatives of the German empire in regard to the time proposed for holding an industrial exhibition at Berlin in 1883. The committee are Abram S. Hewitt, Samuel P. Babcock, Orestes Cleveland, Daniel F. Appleton and Horace Porter.

The shooting of Porter and Barrymore, of the unfortunate Diplomacy party, the meetings of actors to raise funds for the family of poor Porter, the comments of the press and of professionals, the arrival of Porter's body in New York, and the funeral yesterday at the Little Church Round the Corner, have been the leading topics of the week. The actors have shown themselves the most practical people after all. They have set to work to defray the funeral expenses of poor Porter, and to raise a fund for his bereaved wife, mother and niece. Next come the good citizens of Texas, who offer the Diplomacy troupe complimentary benefits for as many nights as they like to stay. Jim Currie was a drunken ruffian who, swaggering into the neat little refreshment room at Marshall, and being refused more liquor by the landlord (who is a very respectable man, well known to most travelling professionals), threw a coarse word at a lady, got into a quarrel with Barrymore and Porter, and shot at them, not because they were actors, or because they were in Texas, but because he was a drunken ruffian and carried pistols.

The walking business is now on its last legs. The fag end of the furore drags itself wearily around at Gilmore's in the shape of eighteen females reduced by poverty to the necessity of subjecting themselves to the insulting gaze and comment of the crowd. This last development will probably close the female walking, but the spectacle to any person of sensitiveness and refinement is simply painful.

A Valuable Discovery.

The discoverer of a process for making Cod Liver Oil palatable is certainly a public benefactor. The manufacturers of SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL have found this process. They not only make it perfectly palatable, but increase its highly esteemed virtues, and by the addition of the HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, which is a splendid brain and nerve tonic, present the most wonderful remedy for Consumption, Scrofula, and all Wasting Diseases, that has ever been discovered.

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES will not only supply the waste going on in the brain, but will enable the mind to endure a greater tax than before. It will impart vigor and promote clear conceptions to the intellect. It will strengthen the nerves and give power to all involuntary as well as the voluntary muscles of the body.

A Witty Frenchman!

Old Mayor Quincey, of Boston, U. S., was the officer deputed to extend the civilities of that city to General Lafayette in 1824. He tells the following anecdote of the General: The cortege had stopped in Tremont street near the Common, to allow the Frenchmen to shake hands with the General. Many greeted him and for everyone he had a kind word. One old man grasped his hand and told him that he was the father of a dozen living children. The General patted him on the back and said, "Happy fellow! Happy fellow!" The next man said: "General, I never married and have no children to incumber me." "Jolly dog! Jolly dog!" replied Lafayette in his urbane manner. He was always ready with his replies. If Lafayette were alive he might say to the man who assured him that he was always well "Happy fellow!" and to him who had been very sick and was cured by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR-COATED PILLS, "Jolly dog." It is jolly to take these pills, they are so palatable. In all stomachic complaints, they are absolutely without a rival, and their extensive sales attest their popularity.

REMARKABLE CURE of an inflamed tear-duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large and extensive confectionery and candy store at No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflammation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Giles' Liniment, rubbed in carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflammation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was, through this power, able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the Liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine-glass of water.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

The Gatling Gun Abroad.

The London Daily Telegraph, Feb. 22 says : "In consequence of the statement in the latest news from the seat of war that the Gatling gun did useful work, it is determined to send out more of those remarkable weapons in one of the ships now under orders. There are many of them in store at the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich, where, in a recent trial, one of them fired upwards of 500 bullets in the space of a single minute. The bullets are propelled from rifled barrels as accurately as from the infantry small arm, and as the gun can be traversed to the right or left at will, or elevated to any practicable range during the operation of firing, a continuous stream of ounce balls can be poured upon the spots where the enemy is thickest, swept along a line of troops, or scattered over the field like a jet of water from a fire hose." In a previous issue, Feb. 19, it says of the inspection of troops for the Zulu war, at Aldershot : ......"A little way off, horsed by a splendid team of chestnuts which would have done credit to any drag in London, was a Gatling gun, on a high wheeled carriage, specially suitable for the long grass-covered lands of Cafraria. Horse artillery men tended this polished and gleaming little weapon ; and so smart altogether was the complete turn out that the eyes of the spectators were all directed towards it. Very naturally the Duke of Cambridge was attracted by its appearance. So workmanlike a machine was well worthy of notice, and presently the Gatling was seen to be unlimbered, while its making and manipulation were explained to the Field Marshal and his staff. It was not stated whether the horse artillerymen would accompany the guns or not, but as they were on parade it is to be inferred they will. Be this as it may, however, no doubt the handy little weapon will be well worked, and tend somewhat to open the eyes of Cetewayo and his warriors with regard to scientific warfare. Capable of throwing many scores of large bullets every minute upon a widely spread area at a long distance, and keeping up the deadly discharge for any length of time, it was admirably adapted for bush fighting, being just the description of weapon which will make long grass an extremely precarious hiding place, and deal out tremendous destruction to hordes of savages. Very light and strong, it will be able to go where heavy artillery cannot be taken, while its effect upon an enemy unprovided with guns will be simply appalling." The London Daily News' special telegram from Pietermaritzburg, Africa, reports that "the Gatling guns did great execution among the enemy," and The Army and Navy Gazette adds that "the Gatling guns landed with the naval contingent from the Active and Tenedes have astonished the Zulus, who have been trying an engagement with our blue jackets. naval force has had the satisfaction of carrying more than one contested position. It is a pity that Gatlings are not plentiful in Lord Chelmsford's army. The Naval Brigade have got some, but the artillery has none. If there had been a couple of Gatlings with the force annihilated the other day the result of the fight might have been different, for the Gatlings are the best of all engines of war to deal with the rush of a dense crowd."

The Approaching Restoration of the Jews.

The Springfield Daily Republican says : "There is an increasing discussion abroad of the restoration of the Jews, according to their own prophets and traditions, in America." Illustrative of this statement, there is a report in the same paper, of a speech delivered by General Butler at a Hebrew fair in Boston. In the course of that speech, he said that the preservation of the Jews as a nation must come from the pre-ordination of the Almighty that they would return again to their land after many ceturies wandering. He continued : "That time, which has been the dream of the Hebrew philosopher, the topic and prophecy of the Hebrew prophet, the hope of the Hebrew statesman, seems about to be fulfilled ; for under the lead of the man who to-day is the most powerful on earth—a single man standing out the central figure of Europe—the man whose fame has prevaded even the shool boy's mind so that it is said that when a question was put to one of them, 'How is is the map of Europe divided ?' he replied—'By Beaconsfield.' (Shouts of laughter : cries of good ! good ! and applause), Under the lead of him the greatest man now living, and of your race, protectorate over Jerusalem was established, with him at the head of it. Would it not seem that the dream, the thought, the hope of the Hebrew statesman poet, philosopher and prophet are about to be realized ? And supremely over all, over nobles and kings and emperors, stand the family whose leave is required by the kings and emperors before they can go to war or before they can make peace. Their assent must be asked to the terms proposed. No great route for commerce between Europe and Asia can be opened without the consent of that family who have amassed money—not for the sake of money alone—for their accumulations are past all dreams of avarice; but they are the accumulations of power which has made them greater than all. Need I call the name of the family of the Rothschilds to show the most powerful family on earth belonging to the race of people I see before me ? (Prolonged applause.) What, then, is the destiny for you and yours, wherever you may roam ? For what you are reserved belongs to the future. It is in the womb of time, and can be known only to your great Law-giver. He who in His providence has preserved your people for some wise purpose unknown to mankind and is only to be guessed from the great results that have already come from His chosen people. These thoughts crowd upon me, and I cannot see how any man of your race can feel otherwise than that he is the equal of the princes and the nobles of the earth (applause); and here in America you have that equality with all other men, and the opportunity of making yourselves what you are—a leading power in the state and the country—for the power of your people is felt and known here, and the highest offices in the United States Senate and house of Representatives have been filled by representatives of your people, few in comparison with the others though you may be."

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

TUESDAY, April 1.

Mr. HOUDE resumed the debate on the tariff.

At the close Mr. Houde read an extract from Mr. Mackenzie's Sarnia speech, in which Mr. Mackenzie set out the fact that Canada had now arrived at the dignity of a nation, and that our aims should be national; and dwelling on this, Mr. Houde pointed out with telling force how completely the Opposition were falsifying that speech and attempting to denationalize this country. At the close Mr. Houde was congratulated with rounds of cheers, and the Finance Minister took occasion to go and personally congratulate him, as did other members.

Dr. ORTON next took the floor and spoke for an hour or two. It is needless to attempt to characterize the speech of a gentleman who has been for years a well known representative speaker on protection, especially from the agricultural point of view.

Mr. MILLS in a two hours' speech discussed the whole question of protection from a revenue tariff standpoint. He denied that the manufacturing interests of Great Britain were being destroyed under free trade, and that universal prosperity was the heritage of the United States under a protective policy. He quoted statistics relative to the exports and imports of Great Britain, and contrasted the same with similar statistics respecting the United States.

Mr. ROSS (Dundas) spoke favorably to the tariff.

Mr. HESSON, argued that the tariff was very popular, and denied that the Government had been elected on false pretences. He advocated the issue of paper currency for the construction of public works.

The debate was adjourned, and the House rose at 12:30 a. m.

How the Grits Say it Will Work.

As we gather from the Grit press the evils which will result from protection are principally these :

The prices of manufactured goods will be so enormously advanced that the consumers will be utterly ruined.

Ruinous home competition among manufacturers will so cut down prices that successful manufacturing will be an impossibility.

The bread of the poor will be taxed for the benefit of greedy millers and already sufficiently wealthy farmers.

The protection on breadstuffs is a hollow mockery and will be absolutely of no benefit to farmers and millers, but, on the contrary, as it will close the doors of other nations against us, the prices of breadstuffs will be ruinously lowered.

The forced manufacturing activity incident to protection, will cause a rush of the unemployed of all countries, and our own workmen will be thrown out of work.

As it will be found to be impossible to manufacture under the new tariff, the artizans now employed will be thrown idle, and it will be impossible to induce immigrants to

The tariff being hostile to the United States it will provoke hostility in the republic and the Yankees will retaliate.

The tariff is hostile to Great Britain and unduly favors the States, it is therefore at once disloyal and annexationist

It proposes to tax the manufacturers of Great Britain and is therefore calculated to bring about disruption of the empire.

The consumer always pays the duty and therefore on our people and not on the foreign manufacturer will fall the burden.

It will tax the coal of the people of Ontario, who already pay more than their fair share of taxes, for the benefit of the Nova Scotians. While the duty on breadstuffs will not benefit Ontario.

The duty on coal will not benefit Nova Scotia, while the tax on breadstuffs for the benefit of Ontario will press with insupportable severity on the people of Nova Scotia, and will in time lead to the disruption of the Union.

The Government have surrendered to the manufacturers, and their interests are alone considered, those of the vast body of consumers being entirely lost sight of.

The Government have utterly failed to keep their promises to the manufacturers, who are justly indignant at their shameful betrayal, and threaten revenge on the first opportunity.

Manufacturers complain, and justly, that under the new tariff they will be utterly unable to manufacture for export.

The introduction of the iniquitous drawback system, in order to give the manufacturers a chance to export to foreign markets, advantageously, is a palpable fraud, as it amounts to bonusing them at the expense of the rest of the community.

At first glance some of these statements may appear to contradict each other. But of course that cannot be, for the Grit press are all honest, and thoroughly understand political economy.—National.

England Needs Protection.

The third volume of the reports on the Philadelphia International Exhibition is issued by the Education Department. We are told in one of them that the classes comprising cotton yarns and fabrics showed in a striking manner the wonderful progress made by the cotton industry of the United States and the remarkable degree of perfection which has already been attained. Those are matters of considerable interest to the manufacturers and operatives engaged in the cotton trade in this country, and too much attention cannot be given to them. There was a comparatively meagre collection of cotton fabrics sent by England, and this is attributed chiefly to excessive protective tariffs, which still prevail in the United States. It will not surprise many people, in this country at all events, to learn that the general excellence, and, in some cases, the superiority, of the English display left no doubt upon the mind of the reporter that the English manufacturers have nothing to fear "whenever they can meet on equal terms, with a fair field and no favor." It would appear from this, however, that so long as the United States chooses to continue the protective system English manufacturers, whose ports are freely open to the competition of the whole world, will have to meet their rivals on unequal and unfair terms, and that they will, therefore, necessarily have something to fear. That we shall be unable to hold our own, even under such circumstances, remains to be seen, though it is obvious that if English manufacturers were placed upon an equal footing with their rivals abroad they would be able to extend their trade and achieve successes the existing state of things renders impossible.—Manchester Courier.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 3.

The Engineer and the Senator.

"Mr. Marcus Smith is a gentleman who thinks more of giving an honest opinion on engineering questions than of making his evidence agreeable to the great personages who may be trying to extract some information from him damaging to their political opponents." The foregoing paragraph, heading and all, is extracted from the Globe of the 2nd inst. It forms the commencement of an editorial on the subject of some replies to questions asked Mr. Smith by the Hon. D. L. Macpherson two days previously in the Senate Committee on the Pacific Railway, and which answers the Grit mouth piece considers were not acceptable to Mr. Macpherson. We have no knowledge of Mr. Smith further than that he is a civil engineer of good repute in his profession, but accepting the Globe's estimate of his character as correct—and we are aware of no reason why it should not be so accepted—the following extract from the evidence given by Mr. Smith before the Committee on the 1st inst., which appears amongst the telegraphic news in the same issue of the Globe from which the above extract is taken, must be anything but comforting to the friends of the late Government:—

The examination of Mr. Marcus Smith, Deputy Chief Engineer, was resumed. He said that the original estimate for contract No. 16, Mr. Whitehead, was $1,594,055. The amount of work executed so for was $1,279,972, the work still necessary to be done $1,245,128, the total cost $2,535,000. The increase is due to a change in the character of the work recommended by the contractor and reported on favorably by Mr. Fleming, prompted by a report of Mr. Rowan, the district engineer. The object of the change was to do away with considerable trestle in the cost with a prospective saving in the future.

To Senator Scott—I admit that the change would cause the construction of a better road, but it is a question of policy.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—It is not a question of policy at all. It is one as to the advisibility of constructing a permanent road, instead of considerable trestle work, liable to be swept away at any time by the alarmingly frequent fires.

Mr. SMITH—I cannot answer without giving the matter some consideration.

Senator SCOTT—Oh, you know all about the matter. Answer whether you would or not have acted under the circumstances as Mr. Fleming did.

Mr. SMITH—It all depends on the circumstances.

Mr. SCOTT—Why was the change made? was it not for the purpose of making a permanent roadway?

Mr. SMITH—It was done by the Government on the recommendation of Mr. Whitehead, the contractor.

Mr. SCOTT—Such is not the case. The Government never did so on the recommendation of Mr. Whitehead.

Mr. SMITH—The letter says so.

Mr. SCOTT—No letter ever said so.

Mr. SMITH—Yes, it does; there is the letter.

Mr. SCOTT (reading the letter)—It says nothing of the kind. It simply shows that Mr. Whitehead suggested that this be done. Your remarks cannot be actuated by a proper spirit, when you say that the Government ordered this to be done on the recommendation of Mr. Whitehead, a contractor, whereas there is evidence that two reports making such a recommendation were made to the Government by officers of the Department.

Mr. SMITH (jumping to his feet in a fit of rage)—then you say I cannot read English. I will not remain here to be insulted by being told that I am not giving evidence in a proper spirit.

Mr. SCOTT—You have sought to charge the late Government with having changed the character of the work on the recommendation of a contractor.

Mr. SMITH—Well, then, I will withdraw the word recommendation, and substitute "suggestion."

Mr. SCOTT—The Government did not even adopt the course on the suggestion of Mr. Whitehead, but on the recommendation of its paid engineers.

Mr. SMITH—Well, Mr. Whitehead suggested the change to the engineers first. I will withdraw the word recommendation.

Mr. Smith also went on to state that "The change in the character of the work "was undertaken on the supposition that "the increase would be $258,000. Whereas in fact the estimated increase now is "$930,000."

Now we have it on the authority of this witness, who, the Globe assures the public, "thinks more of giving an honest opinion "on engineering questions than of making "his evidence agreeable to the great personages who may be trying to extract "some information from him," that on the suggestion of a contractor the late Government, whether acting on the advice of their engineers or not, so altered the line of the Pacific Railway as to cause an increase expenditure of $930,000, whereas they had supposed that the increase to be caused by the change in the character of the work would be but $258,000. Mr. Smith asserts that the location was changed by the Government on the recommendation of the contractor, whilst Mr. Scott asserts that the Government passed their action on the report of the engineers. Mr. Smith knows, we believe, more about the matter than does Mr. Scott, and the latter is besides interested in defending the action of his colleagues. But apart from these considerations, the fact remains that the line was changed at the instance of the contractor, and that the alteration was an enormously expensive affair is equally certain.

Taking the most charitable view of the case, the late Minister of Public Works, whose ability, forethought and attention to details his organs were never tired of dilating upon, committed a most serious blunder in this matter, the cost of which to the country will be $672,000. Such criminal carelessness of the public funds has only once been exceeded, and that by Mr. Mackenzie himself, in the case of the notorious steel rails. It will be a long time before the people can be induced to return to their confidence such men as Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues, almost every action of whom appears to have been either a blunder or a job. The only satisfaction is that they have been displaced from the positions which they so unfaithfully filled, and that competent and honest men have taken their places.

Tariff Notes.

Says the Peterborough Review:—"The Globe is now circulating another falsehood in reference to the tariff, that there is no good marble in Canada. Any one who will take a stroll in our beautiful cemetery may see for himself how false this is as he observes the numerous monuments of Armprior marble, which is both handsome and appropriate for such a purpose, and for those who prefer white marble we have in this country alone quarries of excellent white marble, enough to supply the wants of the whole Dominion. We hope that one of these quarries will be worked, now that an additional duty has been placed on imported marble." We may add that the Bridgewater marble is another beautiful and valuable product of the country, as can be seen by looking at the front of the well-known "Marble Hall" in this city; also that in the Lower Provinces there is an abundance of very fine marble. The native productions are very little if any inferior to the famous Vermont article.

The Review also says:—"We weighed one dozen of Harper's Bazar, and found their weight to be half an ounce less than two pounds. At two pounds the duty is exactly a cent a number, or fifty-two cents a year, a sum which the American publishers will much rather pay themselves than abandon their Canadian circulation."

EAST TORONTO.—The Hon. Alexander Morris has been renominated for the Local Legislature by the Conservatives of East Toronto.

LOCOMOTIVES.—The Kingston News says: "The Canadian Engine and Machinery Co. are building four locomotives at present, three for the North Shore Railway, and one for Mr. Foster, of St. Hyacinthe."

THE LETELLIER AFFAIR.—It is probable, says an Ottawa telegram, that the next issue of the Canada Gazette will contain the announcement of the dismissal of Letellier. The sanction of the Governor-General is all that is waited for.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE.—It has been erroneously announced, says the [illegible] foundation stone of the new building for Queen's College. The proper date is the 29th of May.

CANADIANS IN ZULULAND.—Major John Russell Dartnell, who has displayed such gallantry under Lord Chelmsford, was born in London, Ontario. He is a relation of Judge Dartnell, of Whitby. Serving under him is Major Bentree, of Uxbridge, Ontario, and nephew of Mr. Hanning, C.E., of that town.

RESULTS OF THE NATIONAL POLICY.—As a result of the National Policy the Cornwall Manufacturing Company has resumed the manufacture of blankets. The Hamilton Clock Company purposes to build a factory in Montreal or vicinity, which will employ between 200 and 300 men, provided sufficient inducement is held out to the promoters of the scheme.

THE DUNKIN ACT.—Mr. McCuaig's Bill to amend the Dunkin Act provides that the clause which stipulates that after a by-law has been repealed the repeal shall not take effect until the 1st of March following shall be struck out. His action is mainly based on the state of matters in Prince Edward County, where the by-law was repealed on the 15th March, and it is desired that an immediate return should be made to the license system.

THE TRENT RIVER WORKS.—The discussion which arose on the 2nd inst., on the transfer of the Trent navigation works to the Ontario Government deserves the attention of the public, and especially of the people of Ontario. It shows that for some purpose not fully defined, but fully suspected, that Mr. Mackenzie, after his defeat, transferred to the Ontario Government the Trent navigation works. As will appear from the debate, Mr. Mackenzie declared that the works were really only an expense to the Dominion, and that the Province consequently would have more to lose than gain by the transaction. It is true that the Province as a whole may lose by the transaction, but one has a shrewd suspicion that Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Fraser intended some little gain to their party when they concluded this very interesting arrangement at a time so suggestive of haste and necessity.

FEMALE FREEMASONS.—We see it stated that only two females were ever initiated into a Freemason's lodge, one a Mrs. Aldsworth, in North Carolina, and the other a Mrs. J. B. Babington, in Kentucky. We opine this is a mistake, for tradition has it that during the war of 1812, or thereabouts, a Miss Hathaway was initiated into one of the lodges on the northern frontier of Vermont. The lodge was held in an upper room, which was lathed, but not plastered overhead, and Miss Hathaway, with the curiosity peculiar to her sex, determined to find out the secrets of Masonry, and so, previous to the opening of the lodge, quietly ascended into the attic of the lodge room, to take advantage of the crevices to listen to and observe the scenes enacting below. Whether frightened by the antics of the goat, or horrified at the hot gridiron application, or not, we are not informed, but by some mishap she missed her foothold, and came down through the lathing in the midst of the ceremonies, to the utter astonishment and dismay of the actors. Deeming discretion the better part of valor, they thought it wise to shut her mouth by a solemn obligation which she kept to the close of her life.—Montpelier (Vt.) Argus.

The Bank of Commerce's New Premises.

As the premises in Mr. Ashley's fine new block on Front Street, which have been specially prepared for the Canadian Bank of Commerce, will be completed within a few days, and will probably be occupied next week, the present is deemed a fitting occasion to refer to them at greater length and in more detail, than was done in these columns a few months ago.

The location is on the east side of Front Street, nearly opposite to the Anglo-American Hotel, and is very convenient for business men, the new bank being in the very heart of the principal business portion of the city. As a matter of course, the banking offices are on the ground floor, being situated in the south end of the building, and even from an outside view present a very handsome appearance. Light is supplied by two very large windows of plate glass, measuring 7 ft. by 12 ft., and behind these will be placed neatly designed wire screens, on which the name of the bank will be prominently inscribed. The front door, which affords a wide and easy entrance, is supplied with plate glass fan-lights, combination lock, and other ample and secure fastenings. It is nicely grained in ash and walnut. Just within it is a large vestibule, the sides of which are of solid ash and walnut, and the door opening from which into the interior is of walnut, with plate glass panels and spring hinges. Entering the public office, it is seen to be a well lighted and spacious apartment 10 feet in width by 34 feet in length, the floor of which is laid with maple and cherry, in alternate strips of about two inches in width. It contains the usual conveniences required for the business, the side desks being elegantly got up in walnut and ash. The counter, which runs almost the entire length of the public office, has a walnut top and an ash front, moulded with walnut and well relieved with carved patisters on the numerous pilasters, the whole most beautifully ornamented. Surmounting it is a richly ornamented railing of walnut, fitted with plate glass, and wire screens, between which are carved ash pedestals surmounted by finely executed walnut urns. The Teller is provided with a separate apartment neatly surmounted with ash railings, and containing walnut counters and drawers. The Ledger Keeper and two Accountants are also provided with suitable apartments and in fact there seems to be every accommodation that could be desired behind the counter for the employees of the institution. The share devoted to the employees being large.

The Manager's apartment is immediately in rear of the public office, from which it is divided by a partition of ash and plate glass, with walnut trimmings. The door is of the same materials, and is mounted with heavy bronze furniture. It is spacious and well lighted, and is in every respect an elegant and cheerful looking room.

A bed room for the watchman, wash and coat rooms, all fitted out in the same style, closely adjoin the Manager's room, and there is also a coat room with iron doors, grained in ash, in rear of the business office. The vault, which Mr. Ashley had specially manufactured by Messrs. Taylor & Co., of Toronto, is one of the finest specimens of the safe maker's skill to be found in the Dominion. Its dimensions are 12 feet by 7 feet, and it is lined throughout with chilled iron, whilst the door is secured by a combination lock of the most approved description. To render it additionally safe from the effects of fire and from the possible assaults of burglars, the vault has been completely isolated—that is to say, it has been surrounded with a heavy covering of brick, and stands out from the main wall about two feet, so that any attempt to tamper with it would at once be observable and the effect of a fire which would bake the main wall would not be felt upon the iron of the vault. As a still further protection against burglars, a large steel safe will be placed within the vault, which of itself is regarded as being as fully burglar proof as it is possible to make it.

The ceiling of the whole interior is bordered with a handsome cornice, and the various centre pieces are of beautiful design.

Upon the whole, the impression left upon the beholder is pleasing, the effect being harmonious and satisfying to the eye, nothing being out of proportion, and all being chaste and rich. The Bank, which, under the able management of Mr. Thomson, has built up a large business here in a short time, is to be congratulated on the acquirement of premises so handsome as to be equal to any in the Dominion. Mr. Forin, whose designs for the whole have been ably carried out under his own superintendence, has been liberally backed by Mr. Ashley, whose enterprise has certainly called into being a building which is a credit to himself and an ornament to the city. Much credit is also due to the mechanics who have executed the work in a very able manner. The carpenter and cabinet work was done by Lewis Grills; plastering by F. Dolan; and painting by Wm. Wensley and son.

The remaining portion of the building is as yet unfinished, although work upon it is now in progress. On the ground floor adjoining the bank will be a large store, which will be finished in keeping with the bank premises, and the front of which contains a plate glass window 12 ft. 4 in. high by 9 ft. 4 in. wide. The second story will be fitted up as offices, and in the third story will probably be a large hall. A further notice of this part of the building will be given hereafter.

COUGHS AND COLDS.—If taken in time are easily cured,—if allowed to continue will result in incurable consumption. Allen's Lung Balsam has the confidence and support of the medical faculty, and is recommended by all who are acquainted with its virtues.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER taken internally, it relieves instantly the most acute pain. Used externally it is the best Liniment in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It sooths the irritated or inflamed part, and gives quiet and rest to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be.

Barber, Brignall & Co's.

THE SPRING OPENING.

An Extensive and Beautiful Display.

Unfavorable as the weather notoriously was, the extensive store and millinery show-rooms of the well-known dry goods firm of Barber, Brignall & Co., were this morning crowded with ladies intent upon inspection of the latest fashionable millinery, dress goods, &c., the occasion being the semi-annual display of their importations from the French, English and New York markets. Their exhibit was immense in extent and comprised many articles so beautiful that the lady visitors were charmed with them. Conspicuous amongst these was a ball dress in light blue, which is a perfect gem of the modiste's art. In mantles and dresses there seemed to be a great variety in colors and materials, chiefly, however, in silk and cloths, varying in color from black to a cream color, of which latter shade there were a number of jackets. Fringes of handsome design seem to be greatly used as trimmings, and jackets are shorter than those of last season. In bonnets and hats there is a very considerable variety of shapes, and all seem neat and becoming. The trimmings are of course as varied as the styles, and their bright colors are highly attractive. The artificial flowers fairly vie in beauty with those of nature's production, and the colors are as beautiful and as true to nature as the hand of man can make them. Feathers and ornaments are shown in very large quantities, as are other goods, and on the whole the display is one which has probably never been surpassed even by this enterprising firm, whose buyer personally visits the great markets twice in each year and makes a careful selection for the local trade. The display of staple goods of all kinds is also of an extensive character, and every requisite which the business supplies can be secured here. Prices seem to be very low, in fact lower than ever, and the extent of the stock to be selected from is a guarantee that all requirements can be met in the establishment of this firm. Intending buyers will do well to give them a call.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

WE have been aware for some time that it is exceedingly distasteful to many ladies to have what they intend wearing in Millinery exposed to the view of the whole public, and handled, by they know not whom, and often copied by their next door neighbor before it is worn.

Accordingly we have determined hereafter not to make a public show of our newest imported style [illegible] in this department, and further we find it necessary to adopt this course on account of our unusually large assortment this season, particularly in the richer descriptions of these goods, and prices have been made so moderate that we cannot afford to lose anything by indiscriminate handling, through which much fine work is destroyed, and the designs frequently copied and so made common. On and after

Tuesday, the 8th of April,

we shall be prepared to show in this department whatever may be enquired for, and our lady customers when suited may be assured that copies will not be made in any case without their consent.

In the Mantle Department will be found some very choice goods in the newest styles.

We beg here to state that all the other departments are now full and complete for the season, while prices are exceedingly moderate.

Ladies will please accept this intimation, as we do not purpose making further announcement.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 3.

City and Vicinity.

POLICE.—The number of tramps who lodged in the cells last night was five. One prisoner.

THE SEASON.—The ice still remains tolerably firm on the river, although last year it had broken up forty days previous to this date.

THE GRAND JURY.—This body inspected the Court House and Gaol yesterday, and to-day visited the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb. They will probably make their presentation to-morrow morning, when they will in all likelihood be discharged.

LUMBERING.—The Flinton correspondent of the Napanee Standard writes:—"This has been a favorable winter for lumbering, the snow not too deep, and the roads in good order. The Hon. Billa Flint broke up two large shanties last week, and A. Sutherland, of Canifton, one, both having gotten out all the logs they wanted. The winter hands are discharged out of nearly all the shanties, but the men hired to drive are cutting yet."

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.—Our readers are reminded of the musical entertainment which is to be given in the Metropolitan Hall to-night for the benefit of the John Street Presbyterian Church. Root's cantata "The Pilgrim Fathers"—a most pleasing composition—will be presented under the directorship of Prof. Coleman, assisted by Mr. Stanistreet at the organ and Miss Alport at the piano. There will be a chorus of forty vocies, and altogether a most pleasant evening's entertainment may be expected.

PAPER MAKING AND THE TARIFF.—Says the Napanee Standard:—"The Napanee Mills Paper Company were surprised one day last week at receiving a letter from Boston, Mass, asking tenders for 200 reams of paper at the mill, and 200 reams delivered at Belleville. Inquiry showed that a patent medicine proprietor in the States was arranging for the printing of circulars, etc., for his Canadian trade, in Canada, thus giving employment to our own printers and paper makers, instead of those of Boston; as was done under the Cartwright tariff. This is a direct result of the National Policy. Score another gain."

ARREST OF A SUPPOSED HORSE THIEF.—On Monday morning last, a man named Robert W. Beach passed through Madoc village, driving a good span of horses attached to bob-sleighs. He stated that he had just come in from the back shanties, and took as passengers two young men who were anxious to get to Belleville. On the way down he seemed to be anxious to sell the horses and rig, which he offered for $150, but did not find a purchaser. However, he put up the horses, harness and vehicle at auction here, and sold the whole for $93. Meantime the police had received a telegram stating that a team of horses, with harness and a sleigh, had been stolen from Mr. Jas. Findlay, ex-M.P. for North Renfrew, at Beachburg, and as the description corresponded with Beach and the horses, which he had sold, Constable Downs was detailed to arrest him, which he succeeded in doing yesterday evening in a house of ill-fame in West Belleville. The prisoner asserts that the horses and rig were his own, and that Findlay had a chattel motgage for $175 on them. Mr. Findlay was at once telegraphed to, and replied that he would start at the earliest possible moment for Belleville. He will probably arrive to-night, when the facts of the case ill be made apparent.

THE AMATEURS AT THE OPERA HOUSE.—The members of the Belleville Amateur Histrionic Association made their first appearance in public at the Opera House last night, before an audience considerable in numbers yet not nearly so large as we should like to have seen. Their programme consisted of Lover's pleasing play "The White Horse of the Peppers" and Morton's amusing farce, "Lend me Five Shillings." Amateurs are by many considered to be exempt from the ordinary rules of criticism as applied to professionals, therefore we will not criticize them closely, although a few words of candid comment will not be out of place. Generally speaking the most of them lacked that spirit in their acting which familiarity with the stage alone can give, and the Irish dialect was not well mastered by any of the performers in the play, except by Prof Dawson, who, being an Irishman, was of course perfect in that line, whilst his portrayal of the character was really very good. Mr. Carmichael had not much to do, but beyond a little stiffness, did that little well. Mr. Spangenberg was very funny as the Dutch major, but developed a tendency to overacting which he can very easily correct. Mr. J. A. Dawson played the small character of Portreeve well, and Mr. Runciman was acceptable as Darby Donaghue, the tavern keeper. Mr. Stanistreet was rather tame as Phelim, and his singing was not up to his usual standard, whilst Mr. Wallbridge had a character which suited him to a nicety and which he made the most of. Messrs. Lewis and Hudson had small parts. Mrs. Dawson filled her part fairly, but spoke in too low a tone, and Miss Reynolds, barring some slight mannerisms, made a creditable first appearance as Agatha. The orchestra, by the way, evidently lacked practice in the accompaniments. In the farce Mr. Hanwell played with spirit, but also overacted at times; Mr. J. A. Dawson gave a good portraiture of the jealous husband; Mr. Runciman's Capt. Spruce was praiseworthy, as was Mr. Lewis' Moreland, and Mr. Wallbridge made a capital Sam. Miss Reynolds appeared as Mrs. Major Phobbs to even better advantage than in the previous piece, and Miss J. Macinnes filled the small part of Mrs. Captain Phobbs. The amateurs have still very much to learn, but their first appearance gives promise of better things when they shall have acquired more confidence. We wish them success in the future.

EASTER FAIR.—The Easter cattle fair, which was held here to-day, was a failure, the following stock only, so far as could be ascertained, being shown: By Mr. T. C. Wallbridge, 3 heifers and 2 cows for stock and 1 bull for beef. By Elias Wallbridge, 1 bull. These were put up at auction but were not sold, the prices offered being low, the butchers having supplied their wants in consequence of a supply not being certain at the fair. Some other cattle were brought to town, but as the fair had not been adverised their owners lacked information as to where to go with them. That the fair was a failure is not to be wondered at, as the Finance Committee did not appropriate any funds for advertising it. This may be economy, but it is rather of a doubtful kind, as if the fairs were held at not too frequent intervals and advertised properly they might be made a success, much to the benefit of the city. Mr. T. C. Wallbridge, Superintendent of Public Fairs, is very energetic, but he cannot succeed without the aid of printers' ink, nor can he be expected to pay for the necessary printing out of his own pocket.

The Spring Openings.

Seldom indeed have the dry goods and millinery houses been so unfortunate in their selection of an opening day for the display of spring fashions as they were this year. What with a nipping cold temperature, a wind which seemed to come direct from the regions of eternal snow, and occasional flurries of the "beautiful" out of a grey, dull sky which completely obscured the sun, the weather was as unseasonable and unfavorable as it could well be. Nevertheless the ladies in very large numbers, although they had to don their winter furs, and even then were not too well protected from the biting wind, braved the inclemency of the weather, in their desire to sacrifice at the shrine of fashion.

FOSTER & REID'S.

To the elegant establishment of this young but prosperous firm, who are just entering upon their second year's business, and who in one short year have built up a very large trade, our representative paid his first visit. A glance at the windows showed some very handsome fashionable novelties, particularly noticeable amongst which were a prune colored silk dress and a little girl's dress in pink material embroidered with excellent taste. In the interior of the store were noticeable a large number of elegant costumes and jackets in silk and other fashionable materials, whilst the department especially devoted to millinery was literally crowded with a fine display of bonnets and hats most becoming in their varied styles and trimmings, flowers and feathers, the bright and varied colors of which were no doubt highly attractive to the votaries of fashion, whilst they were pleasing to the eye of the sterner sex. Berlin and Paris mantles and ornaments of various kinds were also shown in profusion. The firm have also a very extensive stock of dress goods, silks, velvets, and fancy dry goods generally, whilst they also deal largely in staples of all descriptions and make a speciality of gentlemen's clothing, in which the reputation of their establishment stands high. A visit to Foster & Reid's will well repay any one for the necessary trouble, and those who go to see will in not a few cases stay to buy, so attractive is the display and so desirable and cheap the articles.

MR. R. COSTELLO

makes this year as he always does, an exceedingly neat display. There is no lack of fashionable goods in every line, and the arrangement is made with that taste for which his establishment has always been noted. It would be a mere repetition of much that is above stated were we to refer at length to his display. Suffice it to say that in styles and prices there is nothing to be desired, whilst the stock is large and so varied that all tastes must find something to suit their requirements. Mr. Costello has almost excelled himself this season.

The Spring Assizes.

WEDNESDAY, April 2.

TAYLOR vs. GRAHAM, et al.—Action to recover value of grain. Plff. is Sheriff of the County of Hastings, and under executions he seized the grain. Execution debtor with the Sheriff's consent threshed the grain and drew it and stored it in the warehouse known as the Farmers Warehouse in September, 1877. Deft. Graham was Managing Director for the Warehousing Company. Other defts. are Directors in the Company. Plff. contends after the grain was stored defts., who were engaged also in buying grain, which was stored in the same warehouse, shipped the grain which had been stored by plff. along with their own in November, 1877. The warehouse was destroyed by fire, and defts. contend they had not shipped plff's. grain, but that it was destroyed by fire. The action was an important one and occupied the Court nearly two days. Verdict for plff. for $580,74. Hon. L. Wallbridge for plff.; Dickson and Fraleck for defts.

ARCHY vs. BEDELL.—Action of slander. Verdict for plff. for $50, with certificate for full costs. Burdett & Holden for plff.; Hon. L. Wallbridge for deft.

Castor Oil Made Pleasant.

Nothing clings with more tenacity to the memory of the child than the bitter struggle it had with its mother when she administered to it the first dose of Castor Oil. But now mothers and children will both rejoice to hear that this nauseous, yet splendid medicine, has been made pleasant as cream, and still more efficacious than the crude oil. Don't fail under any circumstances to try a bottle of SCOTT & BOWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL, and you will never use any other cathartic medicine. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

A boy had a birthday party. A six year old guest thus describes it to his mother: "First we had some bread and butter. Then we had some lemonade cold enough to freeze you. Then we all had a piece of birthday cake. Then we all had a lot of ice-cream; and then all the little boys had a stomach-ache. The big girls told them to go into the house and lie down on the floor, and they made us drink peppermint and water, till we all felt better. Then we all went out to play."

EUROPEAN.

The Afghan Campaign.

LAHORE, April 2.—A squadron of the 10th Hussars were swept away by the current while crossing the Cabul river, near Rinellallabade, on the 31st ult. A lieutenant and forty men are missing. Sixteen bodies were recovered.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., April 3.—Downing, the Boston merchant who claims to have met Phair, the condemned murderer, on a train between Providence and Boston, at the time when it is claimed the latter committed the crime, visited the State prison at Windsor yesterday, and positively identifies Phair. Further efforts will be made to stay the execution.

MILES CITY, Montana, April 3.—The captured Cheyennes number 1:4, including women and children. They say they prefer to drown in the Yellowstone rather than return to the Indian territory.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The Herald's New Orleans special says, it is now believed that the negro exodus is practically ended.

The Herald's Vicksburg despatch says the Kansas fever still prevails, but departures are less numerous, and many negroes have deferred their departure until next spring.

Washington specials:

The Sun says that at a Democratic caucus yesterday, some Southern Senators conducted themselves with great arrogance. They said the re-organization of the Senate was due to their vote, and they wanted offices for their friends.

The Tribune says, the President has been from the outset decidedly opposed to political legislation in the House, and while willing to sign bills prohibiting the use of the army at the polls and repealing the test oath, he would not approve these measures if attached to the appropriation bills. Democrats may stop the business of the country by closing the executive departments, but the Presidential election of 1880 will take place under all the safeguards which the laws now give. The Cabinet stands solidly in sympathy with the President, the Democrats now understanding that the President will veto both appropriation bills, and hold Congress by repeated calls, if necessary to face embarrassments that may result to the public business.

The Times says, the exodus of negroes from the South attracts much attention. Jay Gould is reported to have recently intimated a desire to employ 1,000 colored men on the Utah Central Railroad. The Central and Southern Pacific roads will give employment this fall in Arizona to 1,000 men. Ex-Senator Patterson, now in the service of the Southern Pacific road, has taken this matter in hand, in conjunction with colored Republicans of his former State. It is believed Arizona will be able to find employment for several thousand. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad has indicated its purpose to employ in New Mexico a large force of colored laborers.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Navigation on the Hudson river opens to-day, three weeks later than last year. The Citizen's line of steamers for Troy and the People's line of steamers for Albany are announced to leave to-night for the resumption of their regular trips.

The World prints an interesting exposure of frauds practiced by divorce lawyers, and promises further revelations.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

ROME, April 3.—The Pope summoned several ecclesiastics punished in Germany for the infractions of the May laws. He desires by inquiry into the various cases to find the line of conduct calculated to avoid a conflict with the law.

SZEGEDIN, April 3.—A contractor has undertaken to repairand raise the dams within 38 days. The rebuilding of the town is to be commenced in June.

PARIS, April 3.—It is reported that the Powers have received a note from Greece asking their mediation for settlement on the Turco-Hellenic frontier.

LONDON, April 3.—The Sportsman says that Hanlan cannot do very much hard practice as his hands are flushed and blistered badly.

The first civil service examination under the new rules, commenced at the Custom House this morning. 25 applicants, to compete for two $1,200 clerkships, are under examination.

NORTH TROY, Vt., April 3.—The snowstorm continues; 3 feet fallen since Monday.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 3.—The total vote of the State is Republicans 9,718, Democrats 5,515, Greenback and scattering 377.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 3.—Hamlin who is in State Prison, murderer of Wells Shipman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged. Davis, prison watchman, &c., conspirator, was found guilty in the second degree.

NEW YORK, April 3.—M. P. Waters, of Troy, a veteran conductor on the Hudson River Railroad, resigned to-day to accept the appointment of General Passenger Agent of the People's line of steamers in this city.

A British Disease.

The most marked peculiarity that will impress the American traveller when he walks the streets of London for the first time, is the great number of excessively fat people whom he everywhere meets. He at first supposes these persons to belong to the nobility, on the same principle that he would pronounce them aldermen or bankers if seen in Boston or New York. In brief, he labors under the popular though mistaken impression, that obesity is invariably the combined result of laziness and high living; while in reality it is a constitutional disease. Until very recently there was no known remedy for this uncomfortable disease, and its victims were obliged to submit to the vexation and not infrequent mortification that it occasions. Allan's Anti-Fat is the only remedy for this disease, and removes the abnormal condition by purely natural means. Ask your druggist for it.

A Wonderful Discovery.

For the speedy cure of Consumption and all diseases that lead to it, such as stubborn Coughs, neglected Colds, Bronchitis, Hay fever, Asthma, pain in the side and chest, dry hacking cough, tickling in the throat, Hoarseness, Sore Throat and all chronic or lingering diseases of the throat and lungs. DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY has no equal and has established for itself a world wide reputation. Many leading physicians recommend and use it in their practice. The formula from which it is prepared is highly recommended by all medical journals. The clergy and the press have complimented it in the most glowing terms. Go to your druggist and get a trial bottle free of cost of a regular size for $1.00. For sale by Jas. Clark & Co., also L. W. Yeomans & Co., Belleville.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, April 3.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, brisk westerly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy to cloudy cold weather with snow flurries. For the St. Lawrence, brisk to high southwesterly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy to cloudy weather with light snow in some localities. For the Maritime Provinces, brisk southwesterly to northwesterly winds.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Indications:—Cloudy, rain or snow, warmer, veering to colder winds.

"PULMONARY CONSUMPTION arises from a decline or deficience of vitality in the natural bioplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting or atrophy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, long-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaing the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus providing for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

As Mr. Oldfashion's children were frolicking while their father indulged in his Sunday nap, Uncle Peter suggested: "Charley your father wants to sleep, and you had better keep quiet." "I've looked out for that," replied young hopeful; "I thought perhaps we would be noisy, and I went in and stuffed his ears with cotton while he was asleep." And he went on with his skylarking.

Two persons were once disputing so loudly on the subject of religion that they awoke a big dog which had been sleeping on the hearth before them, and forthwith barked most furiously. An old divine present, who had been quietly sipping his tea while the disputants were talking, gave the dog a kick, and exclaimed:—"Hold your tongue, you silly brute! You know no more of it than they do."

Soap and Fever Germs.

The advantages of cleanliness have often enough been insisted on, but if in the opinion of some obstinate mothers they have wanted a good clinching argument to drive them home, that defect can now be supplied. For, in the light of scientific research, it would appear that cleanliness is absolutely essential to physical well-being, so that repeated injunctions must acquire increased force and value if looked at from a sanitary point of view. Some of the most malignant forms of disease are also highly contagious. It is said that 50,000 typhus germs will thrive on a spot the size of a pinhead, while in their desiccated or dry condition these germs or spores can be carried anywhere, like thistledown by every breath that blows. This dreadful ubiquity of the most fatal types of disease clearly indicates that such preventatives as we may happen to possess should be zealously and continually put in force. Fortunately there are measures of an almost prohibitive character within everybody's reach. It is a known fact that the poisonous matter causing each diseases as typhus fever and small-pox is deprived of activity at the boiling point of water. This is well established, and indeed the process of disinfection by heat rests upon it. We believe that Dr. Joseph Richardson, of Philadelphia, maintains that water of the temperature of 120° will boil the germs to death. But not only can these terrible spores be killed by boiling water, but soap chemically poisons them. It is evident therefore that a free use of soap in daily ablutions is not only a first requisite of bodily comfort and cleanliness, but is also one of the greatest safeguards against the most virulent diseases. It is a singular thing that the most malignant types of disease with which mankind are scourged are at the same time of a very infectious nature. It is equally singular that these terrible disorders can be effectually prevented by the simplest, commonest, and cheapest of all remedies, the daily use of soap and water.—Cassell's Magazine.

A SNAKE COMBAT. — Combats between the rattle and black snakes are certain if they meet, and the black snake is, with rare exceptions, the conqueror. Upon seeing each other these animals instantly assume their respective attitudes of defiance, and display the great difference in their organization. The rattlesnake coils itself up, ready for attack or defence ; the black snake, being,constrictor, moves about from side to side, and is in a constant state of activity--naturally exciting each other's passions. The rattlesnake finally settles down on a glowing exhibition of animosity, its fangs exposed and its rattles in constant agitation. The black snake, seemingly conscious that the moment of strife has come, now commences circling round his enemy, absolutely moving so swiftly that it seems but a gleam of dull light ; the rattlesnake attempts to follow the movement, but soon becomes confused and drops its head in despair ; then it is that the black snake darts upon the back of the neck of its deadly foe, seizes it between its teeth, and, springing upward envelopes the rattlesnake in its folds. The struggle, though not long, is painful ; the two combatants roll over in the dust and get entangled in the bushes, but every moment the black snake is tightening its hold on its adversary, until the rattlesnake gasps for breath, becomes helpless and at length dies. For a while the black snake still retains its grasp ; you can perceive its strong muscles working with constant energy ; but finally, it cautiously uncoils itself and quietly betakes to the water, where, recovering its energy, it dashes about a moment as if in exultation, and disappears from the scene. —Harpers' Magazine.

SOUTH-AFRICAN REPTILES.—I was going to bed one evening, wearied by a long day's hunting, when close to my feet, and by my bedside, some glittering substance caught my eye. I stopped to pick it up, but ere my hand reached it, the truth flashed across me—it was a snake. Had I followed my first natural impulse, I should have sprung away; but not being able to see clearly in what position the reptile was lying, or which way his head was pointed, I controlled myself, and remained rooted breathless to the spot. Straining my eyes, but moving not an inch, I at length clearly distinguished a huge puff adder--his head was from me—so much the worse; for this snake, unlike any other, always rises and strikes back. He did not move—he was asleep. Not daring to shuffle my feet, lest he should awake and spring at me, I took a jump backward that would have done honor to a gymnastic master, and thus darted outside the door of the room. With a thick stick, I then returned and settled his worship. Some parts of South Africa swarm with snakes ; none are free from them. I have known three men killed by them one harvest on a farm in Oliphant's Hook. There is an immense variety of them, the deadliest being the puff-adder, a thick and comparatively short snake. Its bite will kill occasionally within an hour. One of my friends lost a favorite and valuable horse by its bite, in less than two hours after the attack. It is a sluggish reptile, and therefore more dangerous; for, instead of rushing away, like its fellows, at the sound of approaching footsteps, it half raises its head and hisses.—"The Cape," by A. W. Cole.

The Only Way.

The only way to cure catarrh is by the use of a cleansing and healing lotion, applied to the inflamed and diseased membrane. Snuffs and fumigators, while affording temporary relief, irritate the affected parts and excite a more extended inflammation. Besides, no outward applications alone can cure catarrh The disease originates in a vitiated state of the blood, and a thorough alterative course of treatment is necessary to remove it from the system. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy has long been know as an efficient standard remedy for this disease, but, to insure a radical and permanent cure, it should be used in conjunction with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medcial Discovery, the best vegetable alterative yet discovered. The Discovery cleanses the vitiated blood, while the Catarrh Remedy allays the inflammation and heals the diseased tissues.

A Marvellous Transformation.

Physicians as a general thing are slow to accept any change in medicine or any new remedy. But with remarkable unanimity they have recieved and endorsed the PALATABLE CASTOR OIL manufactured by SCOTT & BOWNE. They prescribe it for all ages and conditions, but especially for children. The transformation of the most estimable cathartic known from being the most nauseous to the most palatable of medicines is the greatest blessing that has been conferred on the age. Price only 25 cents per bottle.

Food as well as Medicine.

Most people think as they swallow Cod Liver Oil they are taking medicine. In one sense they are, for anything that tones, heals and invigorates the system is medicine. But Cod Liver Oil is the finest food as well as medicine. It not only tones and heals, but nourishes. It will save the consumptive, restore the dyspeptic, and build up the baby weakling, when all other remedies fail, and combined with the HYPOPHOSPHITES as found in SCOTT'S EMULSION, it is a most wonderful as well as agreeable remedy.

A Witty Frenchman!

Old Mayor Quincey, of Boston, U. S., was the officer deputed to extend the civilities of that city to General Lafayette in 1824. He tells the following anecdote of the General: The cortege had stopped in Tremont street near the Common, to allow the Frenchmen to shake hands with the General. Many greeted him and for everyone he had a kind word. One old man grasped his hand and told him that he was the father of a dozen living children. The General patted him on the back and said, "Happy fellow! Happy fellow!" The next man said: "General, I never married and have no children to incumber me." "Jolly dog! Jolly dog!" replied Lafayette in his urbane manner. He was always ready with his replies. If Lafayette were alive he might say to the man who assured him that he was always well "Happy fellow!" and to him who had been very sick and was cured by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR-COATED PILLS, "Jolly dog." It is jolly to take these pills, they are so palatable. In all stomachic complaints, they are absolutely without a rival, and their extensive sales attest their popularity.

REMARKABLE CURE of an inflamed tear-duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large and extensive confectionery and candy store at No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflammation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Giles' Liniment, rubbed in carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflammation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was, through this power, able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the Liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine-glass of water.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

PATENTS

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office, we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German-American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims; to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, April 2.

Mr. KEELER moved the appointment of a select committee to take into consideration the return to an address of this House of the 24th February last, relating to the river Trent and Newcastle district navigation and canal works. He said the return which had been brought down showed that something very uncommon had occurred in this matter. On October 8th last, two days before the late Government went out of power, the Trent river works were transferred by order-in-Council to the Ontario Government without notice, and in what appeared to be a secret manner. The whole proceeding seemed to him to be in direct violation of the law of the land, as the works were placed under the Dominion Government by the British North America Act, and they were not of that character to be handed over to the Provincial Government. He understood that the transfer was made with a view to influencing the next general election in Ontario. It was in view of this that he moved that an enquiry should be made, so that if the works were improperly transferred the order-in-Council of the 8th of October might be revoked.

Mr. CAMERON (Victoria) said the matter was one of great public importance, from a constitutional and parliamentary point of view. The first cost of these works was $670,000, and adding to that sum the repairs, the total expenditure on them would exceed a million of dollars. In the last days of its existence, the late Government thought proper to hand them over to the Ontario Government when there was no parliamentary authority for so doing, and when there was no immediate necessity for such action. He questioned whether a practically defunct Government had a right to give away Dominion property in this manner. The works included 116 miles of lake navigation and 92 miles of river navigation, and so much were they used that there were fully forty-one steamers—many of them of large size—navigating the waters daily. There were also large numbers of mills on the works. Land to the extent of 20,000 or 30,000 acres, and of great value, had also been handed over to the Province. Looking at these facts, one naturally enquired why this transfer was made. According to the papers brought down it was stated that in 1870 the then Government had entered into negotiations for the transfer of the works. The works were not then transferred, and no doubt there was good reason for that. It was stated also that the works were transferred under the Public Works Act of 1867, but that Act only permitted the transfer of harbors, rivers, river inces. Nothing was said about canals. No authority was given for the transfer of canals, and in this case canals—four in number and upon which a large extent of river navigation depended—were transferred. Another point was that the act provided that any transfer made should be advertised in the Canada Gazette. The transfer of the Trent works was never so advertised and was therefore in his opinion void. According to the act also transfers should be made only for the purpose of maintaining the works. But the order-in-Council of October 8th actually permitted the destruction of portions of the works and was passed in the face of an order-in-Council of the Ontario Government declaring that the works would be accepted by that Government only without conditions. All this showed that the transfer was illegal. Then why were the works transferred ? It was said that they were handed over to the Ontario Government to be used in influencing the Ontario elections, and he (Mr. Cameron) had information showing that Reform candidates in that vicinity now were boasting that the Provincial Government had secured the lands and that soon the dams and other works would be torn down ; large quantities of land would be reclaimed and sold to persons owning adjoining lands. He did not believe the late Government had power to hand valuable works and lands over to a provincial Government, and the only motive for it seemed to be to give the provincial Government political influence in the coming elections.

Mr. MACKENZIE denied that there were any corrupt purposes to be served by the transfer. The transfer was attended with all necessary publicity, and even had been announced as contemplated two sessions of Parliament previously. The works were an annual expense to the Dominion, and non-productive of revenue. The Conservative Government, when in power in 1870, recomended that the transfer be made, and passed an order in Council to that effect.

Mr. BROWN (Hastings) contended that the Ontario Government should assume the responsibility of maintaining the works, which had not been done. He urged that navagation should be maintained in the interests of the mills and other industries in the Trent valley and in the public interest generally.

Mr. BOWELL said that it was strange that the late Government should have waited till a day before its resignation to transfer the works to the Ontario Government. The late Government should have stipulated with the Ontario Government for the maintenance of the works. For years speculators had been endeavoring to get possession of the land on these works belonging to the Government, and then pursue the policy the Ontario Government evidently intended to follow—and that was to sell the lands and put the money in their pockets. There was scarcely an acre in 20,000 or 30,000 acres of farming land along the whole line which would not sell for $40 per acre. It was strange that the doctrine respecting local works being placed under provincial governments should now be advocated when the late Premier had effected local improvements to the advantage of his own political friends. The whole transaction connected with the Trent works appeared to be a second edition of the transfer of property belonging to the Intercolonial railway at Metapedia to a friend of the late Government for a few hundred dollars, although it was worth thousands.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said there were two points in the case which called for consideration. One was whether the action of the Government was a legal one, and the other was whether if it was legal it was judicious. From listening to the arguments of the hon. member for Victoria (Mr. Cameron), it occurred to him that the late Government had no right to transfer the property, and if so, the order-in-Council would be voided, even if it had been advertised, which it was not. Another point was this. The provisions of the Public Works Act relating to the transfer of property to a Provincial Government read as follows :—"One condition of every such lease or transfer of any bridge, road, or public work, shall be that such work shall be kept in thorough repair." That provision was not made in the transfer as it should have been to make it legal. To have the order-in-Council on that of the year 1870 was highly disingenuous because the negotiations under the order of that year were at an end, and simply for the reason that the Local Government refused to take the works on the condition that it should maintain them. The late Government could have made no mistake about this, because it knew that the Ontario Government in taking the property now would do so, not for the purpose of maintaining it, but for the purpose of destroying it. He thought it would found beyond a doubt that the conveyance was illegal, and if so the Minister of Public Works would be guilty of dereliction of duty if he did not take immediate possession of the property, interfere with those who were destroying it, and proceed against them as trespassers. But suppose it was within the province of the Dominion Government to make the transfer, was it just and right to do so ? They were just about to resign ; they were on longer responsible to the country ; their existence was counted, not by days, but by hours, and yet they could cooly hand over works which had cost so much money to the local Government in order to prevent responsible men from having the power to deal with the property. The transfer was wrong, unjust, unconstitutional, and one of the most inexcusable acts of which a government could be guilty. There were a great number of vested interested properties leased and sold by the Dominion Government along the whole line of the Trent navigation. Every man who had a lease from the Dominion Government had a claim against it. He was not obliged to look to the Ontario Government, between whom and the lessees there were no communion, and that Government had taken the property free of all obligations and conditions. There could not be a shadow of justification for the course taken by the late Dominion Government in passing the order-in-Council of the 8th of October, the day before they resigned. He hoped the Committee would inquire into the disastrous consequence to the people affected by the transfer. The Committee, he hoped, would address itself to it with all speed, for a more unjustifiable, improper, and he was about to say wicked, act was never committed by a Government.

The motion was carried after further debate.

The debate on Mr. Casey's Bill to amend the Election Act was resumed by Mr. Robertson (Hamilton).

Mr. WHITE (East Hastings) said that at the September election in his constituency ballots would be numbered and it would be known how they voted. Yet under the proposed bill such an act done by a deputy returning officer would not invalidate an election. He favored open voting, and hoped the ballot system might be abolished. He opposed the present bill as well as that of the Hon. member for North Simcoe (Mr McCarthy).

After further debate the motion for the six months' hoist was carried, and the House adjourned at 12:30.

Foundering of the Barque "Abeona."

SUFFERINGS OF THE CREW.

On Saturday intelligence reached Liverpool of the foundering of the barque Abeona, and the rescue of the crew, after undergoing fearful sufferings for several days. The German steamer Switzerland, which arrived at New York on the 1st inst., from Antwerp, had on board Capt. Rennels and crew of the lost barque, which were taken off the wreck eleven days previously. In his report of the disaster, Capt. Rennels says that he left St. John's, Newfoundland, on the 2nd of January, with a cargo of dried and tinned fish for the Clyde. A few days after leaving, the weather became very tempestuous, and the vessel encountered the full force of the fearful succession of gales which swept the Atlantic about that period. On the 11th a sea broke over the Abeona, and the galley, the water casks, and one of the boats were washed overboard. Previous to this, however, several of the sails had been blown clean out of the gaskets and torn to ribbons. From the 11th up to the 18th, there was not the slightest abatement in the storm ; the seas continually washed the decks, and, getting into the cabin and store-room, completely spoiled the biscuits. During this time the jibboom and the bowsprit were carried away, and different portions of the bulwarks stove in. In the meantime the vessel commenced to leak very badly, making upwards of three feet of water per hour, and the constant work at the pumps, night and day, soon exhausted the crew, who for six days had nothing to eat but a little piece of biscuit and a mouthful or two water. As the water continued to gain on the vessel, a quantity of the cargo was thrown overboard, but all to no purpose, and at last the crew passed their nights on deck, expecting the vessel to go down every minute. During the night of the 19th a steamer passed them about a third of a mile away. Torches were burned, but no notice was taken by those on the steamer. On the next day, the 20th, another steamer was sighted, about five or six miles away. The ensign was in the rigging, union down, and although the distance was so great, the signal of distress was seen, and the steamer at once bore up, and eventually took off the crew, who were in a most deplorable condition from cold and hunger. The Abeona went down about a quarter of an hour afterwards.—Ardrossan Weekly News, Feb. 22, 1879.

LONG OR CUT FODDER.—A German agricultural society at Mecklenberg has been experimenting with a view of determining whether it is better to feed corn stalks, hay or fodder to cows whole, or cut in short pieces by the hay cutter. The conclusion reached is that whole fodder is preferable, because it effects a saving which is attributed to the fodder being more thoroughly masticated when whole than when cut, while there is no detriment to the yield of milk or condition of the animals. It was found that when fed cut, a considerable portion of the fodder passes at once into the second stomach unchewed.—Christian Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, APRIL 4.

The "Poor Man" and the "Tariff."

The solicitude of the Grit orators in Parliament and of their party organs for the "poor man's" prospects under the new tariff are very great, but unfortunately for the arguments of his would-be champions, the object of their solicitude perversely refuses to kick up the row which they seem to think he ought to do. On the contrary, he seems quite satisfied with the change in his prospects and condition which the inauguration of a protective policy is evidently destined to bring about at an early day. For five years the working classes had cheap food, but low wages were earned by the lucky ones who had employment, which very many others of them were unable to procure at any wages. Hence for them to be told that bread and groceries were cheap was a mockery to these poor people, who had not the money wherewith to procure them. Now that a good prospect not only of work being procurable but of an improved scale of wages, is held out to them by the policy of the present Government, no wonder that they hail the change with pleasure and applaud the patriotic statesmen who have given effect to so truly national a policy, prepared, if need be, to pay a little more for a few articles necessary for their bodily subsistence. This they rightly consider they must have done in any case, as had the Mackenzie Government been sustained at the polls in September last they must have imposed a higher rate of duties, in order to raise the $2,400,000 revenue of which, under their scandalous mismanagement, the treasury is deficient. Taking past experience as their that this increase would be made in such a manner as to afford them the least benefit, as no special encouragement would have been given to home manufactures by Mr. Cartwright or his colleagues. It is no wonder, therefore, that the appeals of the Grits to the "poor man" do not meet with the hoped for response, but that on the contrary they are very plainly told that their talk is clap-trap and their professed sympathy humbug.

Lest it be said that we do not correctly states the case, let the following from the Montreal Evening Post, which journal is not only independent in politics, but also expresses the views and opinions of a large section of the industrial population, be taken as having an important hearing on the subject. Says the Post:—"With Redpath's Sugar Refinery preparing to open; the Hudon Cotton Mills making arrangements to extend their business; the Glass Works on the Workman and Delisle Farm about to commence on a more extended scale; the Williams' Sewing Machine Company enlarging their premises; the Silk Manufacturing Company fitting up new buildings in order to enable them to extend their business; and other rumored enterprises on the eve of starting and a general feeling of buoyancy about business, we are still bandied about the "beauties" of Protection. Free Traders are scouted in Montreal. Speak to the poor of Point St. Charles and they will tell you that they are to have a bonfire the night the Sugar refinery opens, and they will tell you, not in jest, but with all the seriousness of a hungry man looking out for his bread and butter, that there are "beauties" in Protection. Tell them that the commodities of life will be a little dearer; what do they care, so long as they are better paid and get plenty of work. To tell them that most of the necessaries of life will not get dearer, as some of the Conservative papers are doing, is a mistake, but to tell them that Protection will not benefit them, is to tell them what their senses disbelieve."

The Letellier Case.—In the House on Thursday Sir John Macdonald stated that the Letellier case had been laid before the Governor-General, and he had reserved the question for the decision of the Imperial Government.

The Sugar Refinery.—The Montreal Witness says:—"It is learned that the Redpath Refinery will turn out both white and yellow sugars next week. A number of holders of American sugars will scarcely be able to make what they expected upon the advance of the tariff on account of the despatch shown by the Company in getting to work."

The North Shore Railway.—It is rumored in Ottawa that the negotiations which have been going on for some time for the leasing of the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa & Occidental Railway to a syndicate were finally brought to a close on the 1st inst. It is understood that the lessees are the Hon. Thomas McGreevy, Hon. Peter Mitchell, Mr. Ovide Perrault, Senator J. R. Thibaudeau, and Mr. J. G. Ross, banker, of Quebec.

OTTAWA NOTES.

MOUNTED POLICE EXPENDITURE.

Some queer items are likely to be shown up in the Public Accounts Committee, as one of the results of Dr. Schultz' motion for the vouchers connected with Mounted Police expenditure under the late regime. Among these, it is perhaps not premature to mention, have been discovered any quantity of prairie hay supplied by I. C. Baker & Co., at the modest figure of $15 per ton, four-in-hand whips for driving on the fashionable promenadee in suitable turnouts, a pair of gloves at $2 for Lieutenant-Governor Laird and ribbon (color not stated) for that same functionary. The very delicate question may possibly be asked as to whether his Honor himself wore as well as handled the ribbons, in addition to the gloves, in order to duly impress the aboriginal mind with awe. Surely the fair daughter of some Indian chief has not been the gratified recipient of cherry-colored favors and four-buttoned kids at the expense of the tax-payers of Canada. While such luxuries appear in the Public Accounts, however, no one will be surprised that the Grit Government should have sanctioned the purchase from the happy Baker & Co., of Montana, of quantities of lumber at $60 per thousand with which to floor some buildings at Fort Calgarry.

MR. CASEY'S BILL.

Mr. Casey's bill to amend the election law was discussed all the evening. The Premier had offered Mr. Casey to let his bill go to the Committee to which Mr. McCarthy's bill had been referred. But Mr. Casey preferred to refuse that and press for a special committee. The six months' hoist was moved by Mr. Arkell in consequence, and a debate arose. The six months' hoist was carried.

The Spring Assizes.

Defence, contractor to furnish right of way. Several points of law were raised to be argued in term. Britton, Q. C., and Flint & Jellett for plff.; Dougall & Falkiner for deft. Verdict for pl'ff for $2.199.

Queen vs. George Livingston.—Larceny and receiving stolen goods. Prisoner resides in the Township of Herschell in rear of this County, the prosecutor, Francis Fletcher was occupying a shanty and engaged in hunting and fishing for pleasure. He left his shanty locked up and his property in it, among other things a watch, watch chain and pencil case. While away the shanty was destroyed by fire. Sometime afterwards he found his watch chain and pencil case in possession of a person who traced it back to prisoner, who had possession of it immediately after the fire, and had traded it off with a party, who sold it to the person who gave it up to prosecutor. B. M. Britton, Q. C., for the Crown; E. B. Fraleck for the prisoner. Verdict, "Guilty of Larceny." Sentenced to three months in the common gaol.

James McCabe, in gaol for want of sureties to keep the peace, was discharged.

The Grand Jury made the following

PRESENTMENT.

The Grand Jury at the present sittings of Oyer and Terminer and General Gaol Delivery for the County of Hastings, have pleau- It is a matter of congratulation that in so large a county, and in times of such great depression, so little has come before them at the present sittings of the Court, and it is to be hoped that year after year the citizens may become more and more law-abiding, and that crime may become comparatively exceptional and of rare occurrence.

The Jury heard with interest your remarks in reference to the proposed change in the Grand Jury system, and they think that if the number is reduced to 15, or to any number less than 24, the law should be such that only a majority would be required to find a bill. They venture to think that although the Grand Jury system may be attended with considerable expense, it has been of great service in the past, and is of great use even now in making the people familiar with the proper administration of law, and in showing those who may act as Grand Jurors what changes are taking place in the criminal law, and in the maintenance of gaols and other institutions kept up at public expense; and the system may be of great service in time to come, and therefore it is to be hoped that any legislation affecting it will be carefully considered.

The Jurors have visited the Gaol and find it clean, the bedding and clothing suitable as to quantity and quality, and the wants of the prisoners attended to. The Gaoler and Turnkey appear to understand their duty, and are attentive to it.

One prisoner, John Post, seems to have been illegally committed, and has no means to secure his speedy release. It is to be hoped that some way will be found to have him set at liberty, unless his commitment is in accordance with law.

The Jurors have visited the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb. They were most courteously received by the Principal and shown the pupils in attendance, the building and its appointments and the method of teaching and training. They are glad to see that so much has been done for this much afflicted class in the community, thus conferring happiness upon those who are deprived of the powers of speech and hearing, and enabling them to become useful members of society. The Principal and his attendants are competent and accomplished, and the building admirably adapted to the purposes intended.

The Queen's Attorney gave the Jurors, in the most agreeable and satisfactory manner, every information and assistance required.

The Grand Jurors congratulate your Lordship and the country upon your elevation to the Bench, and they hope that your life and health may long be spared so that our Province may have the benefit of the important services belonging to your high office.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

Jas. Haggerty,
Foreman.

Grand Jury Room, April 4, 1879.

The Grand Jury were then discharged, there being no further business to come before them.

A Valuable Discovery.

The discoverer of a process for making Cod Liver Oil palatable is certainly a public benefactor. The manufacturers of Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil have found this process. They not only make it perfectly palatable, but increase its highly esteemed virtues, and by the addition of the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which is a splendid brain and nerve tonic, present the most wonderful remedy for Consumption, Scrofula, and all Wasting Diseases, that has ever been discovered.

Ottawa Affairs.

Announcement by the Premier in Re Letellier.

THE MATTER REFERRED TO ENGLAND.

(From the Mail.)

THE LETELLIER MATTER.

Ottawa, April 3.—This afternoon, previous to the calling of the orders of the day, Sir John Macdonald made a long expected statement concerning the case of Lieut.-Governor Letellier. He stated that the Privy Council had waited on his Excellency and informed him that since the vote of the Commons on the conduct of the Lieut.-Governor, the usefulness of that official was gone, and he ought to be removed; and his Excellency had stated that, in view of the fact that any action taken in this case would form a precedent for the future for all the colonies of the Empire, he would remit the advice of the Privy Council with all the papers and correspondence, to the Imperial authorities for their consideration. The Opposition received this statement with murmurs and pretended laughter, but it was manifest that they were disappointed. They had so often summarily dismissed Lieutenant-Governor Letellier in their newspapers that they had almost convinced themselves that he had been dismissed. George IV. reviewd the Waterloo regiments so often that it is said that he at last came to imagine that he had been present at the battle and had fought with the troops; and the Opposition have so often proclaimed the dismissal of Mr. Letellier that they could not believe he had not been dismissed. But now they recognize the fact that the action of his Excellency has deprived them of a fine chance to raise a cry of persecution. All the articles have been written, all ther speeches have been made, with the understanding that the Lieut.-Governor would be dismissed, and now another line will have to be taken and other speeches will have to be prepared. Of course ingenuity will not fail gentlemen opposite on this occasion.

RUMORS OF DISCONTENT.

Of course there are rumors of discontent with the result of the agitation, and sensational stories of threats of rebellion amongst the Quebec members are circulated. But it is needless to say that these rumors are without foundation. Whatever disappointments may be felt among the Quebec members at the retaining of the case for Imperial consideration, these members feel that the Government, in advising the dismissal of the Lieut.-Governor, have done all that their constitutional position required or enabled them to do, and the most vehement of the Quebec members do not hesitate to place faith in the justice of the Imperal authorities.

MR. OUIMET'S SPEECH.

At the close of a long speech from Mr. Longley, Mr Ouimet rose to move the adjournment of the debate. Before doing so he referred to the statement made by the Premier concerning the case of Governor Letellier. After detailing the statement as made by Sir. John Macdonald, he said he rose, not to blame the Government, for he was always and would be always a follower of this Government, but he contended that the rights of the people of Quebec had been outraged and the case had been pressed to a certain point. The case had now assumed a new and higher aspect. The Governor-General had undertaken to refuse to be guided implicitly by the Ministers of the Crown on a subject peculiarly within the power of our constitution. Mr. Ouimet said we might as well refer to the tariff of England as the Letellier case. He was of opinment in this country was outraged by the reference of this case to England. He said that the debate on the tariff should be adjourned till we had heard from England whether the tariff suited or not.

Sir John Macdonald said that the tariff was so important that full discussion had been given it, but he hoped that it would soon close. He did not agree with Mr. Ouimet that there had been any infringement of the constitution. The Queen ruled in Canada as well as in England. Her Majesty's representative had asked for a reference of this case to her Majesty. Sir John said he would have liked to see Governor Litellier dismissed, and he wished his advice had been taken, but Canada and Canadian interests were as safe in the hands of the Queen as of the Queen's representative, and he could not see that we need fear the results of a reference.

Mr. Cockburn did not agree with Sir John Macdonald. He contended that we had absolute control over the appointment and dismissal of lieutenant-governors without reference to England. He cited the New Brunswick School act as indicating this. He felt humiliated at the course which had been taken by the Governor-General.

Mr. Mousseau also spoke on the question, following Mr. Desjardins, and sustaining the views held by the other Quebec members who had spoken, which seemed to meet with the general approbation of the Conservative members from Quebec.

The motion to adjourn was carried, and then there followed a good deal of excitement. The House broke up in some confusion and gathered in knots on each side. A consultation of Opposition leaders was held, and great excitement seemed to prevail in the House.

Snow Storm in Quebec.—A despatch from Quebec on the 3rd says:—"The snow storm which ushered in the month of April appears to have been, with perhaps one exception, the heaviest of the season. Roads are blocked up in many of the districts. The cold was very disagreeable yesterday, and the weather more like that of February than that of April. Another storm set in last night, and continues with unabating fury this morning."

The Afghan Throne.—A despatch from Tashkend, Turkestan, says:—"Advices received by General Kaufman from the Governor of Samarcand announce that the English Government have made preparations for placing Wali Mohammed, cousin of the late Ameer, on the Afghan throne in the place of Yakoob Khan. It appears that Wali Mohammed, after learning of the death of Shere Ali, left Cabul and passed over into the English camp. Wali Mohammed always entertained a friendly feeling to England. In 1873, during Lord Northbrook's administration, when an attempt was made to change Shere Ali's feeling toward England, Wali Mohammed was the Ameer's Prime Minister. The understanding then arrived at lasted only a very short time. Shere Ali broke loose from English restraint, and Wali, who had supported the English cause, was compelled to flee from Cabul and, with the English residents, seek refuge on Indian territory."

"Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving away, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find in Fellows' Hypophosphites Syrup the material to build them up and the tonic to keep them there. Dr. C. Clay.

THE ENGLISH BUDGET.

A DEFICIT OF £2,091,800.

An Extra Duty on Cigars Imposed.

London, April 3.—Sir Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer, presented the Budget in the Commons to-night. He states that last year's revenue amounted to £83,116,000, and the expeditures to £85,407,800. The latter includes the credit for the Zulu war, and other supplementary estimates. The expenditure for the financial year ending March 31st 188, is estimated at £81,153,000, and the revenue at £83,565,000. This does not include further provision for the Zulu war, nor the payment of exchequer bonds. A resolution increasing the duty on cigars twopence per pound was adopted. The debate on the budget was adjourned.

Edward Hanlan is rapidly recovering from his recent indisposition. He is now rowing with his usual strength and power. Very few persons will stake money against him. The Canadians who intend coming over to bet will not be able to put much money on him, owing to Ross' easy victory. Hawdon has very few backers, as our speculators prefer the Canadian, considering that his prospects are much stronger.

A Sensational Rumor.

AN ATTEMPT TO BE MADE TO ASSASSINATE QUEEN VICTORIA.

Precautions of the Italian Government.

London, April 3.

A Baveno despatch says the Italian Government recently received an anonymous letter warning it that an attempt would be made to assassinate Queen Victoria between the frontier and Turin. It was believed the sole object of the writer was to embarrass the Government, but every precaution was taken to ensure the Queen's safety.

"Pulmonary Consumption arises from a decline or deficience of vitality in the natural bioplasm or germinal matter, and this deficiency manifests itself not only in a general wasting or atrophy of the whole body, but also in a peculiar degradation, chiefly in the lungs and lymphatic system, of portions of this bioplasm into a sluggish, long-lived, yet proliferating matter, which instead of maintaining the nutrition and integrity of the tissues (which is the natural office of bioplasm) clogs them, and irritates them with a substance which is more or less prone to decay, and eventually involves them also in its own disintegration and destruction."

To remedy this deficiency by sustaing the vitality of the bioplasm, and thus providing for the general building up of the whole system, is the office and design of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

WE have been aware for some time that it is exceedingly distasteful to many ladies to have what they intend wearing in Millinery exposed to the view of the whole public, and handled, by they know not whom, and often copied by their next door neighbor before it is worn.

Accordingly we have determined hereafter not to make a public show of our newest imported styles and finer goods in this department, and further we find it necessary to adopt this course on account of our unusually large assortment this season, particularly in the richer descriptions of these goods, and prices have been made so moderate that we cannot afford to lose anything by indiscriminate handling, through which much fine work is destroyed, and the designs frequently copied and so made common. On and after

Tuesday, the 8th of April,

we shall be prepared to show in this department whatever may be enquired for, and our lady customers when suited may be assured that copies will not be made in any case without their consent.

In the Mantle Department will be found some very choice goods in the newest styles.

We beg here to state that all the other departments are now full and complete for the season, while prices are exceedingly moderate.

Ladies will please accept this intimation, as we do not purpose making further announcement.

City and Vicinity.

Police Court.—There was no business in court to-day.

Late.—The mail from the west was three-quarters of an hour late to-day.

North Hastings Railway. — A train for the conveyance of passengers will probably leave here to-morrow morning for Madoc.

The Drama.—Trenton has an amateur dramatic association, which is to produce the drama of "The Octoroon" on the 15th inst.

Sent for Trial.—As was expected Mr. Findlay arrived here last night, and the man Beach, who was arrested for horse stealing, has been sent to Pembroke for trial.

The "Gospel of God" will (D. V.), be preached by W. N. Blakely in the City Hall here, on Lords-day afternoon next, at three o'clock. All are earnestly invited. Also to bring their bibles. No collection.

Hangs On.—Winter hangs with a death-grip to the renewed hold which it obtained on Tuesday night. So extreme a degree of cold is seldom experienced in April. It would be more seasonable in February.

The New Ferry Steamer.—The new ferry is being pushed forward rapidly, says the Courier. The hurricane deck is being put on and the painters are at work. The Messrs. Martin of Belleville are fitting in the machinery, and the wharves are being prepared for the earliest opening of the bay.

Amusements.—Dickie Lingard, with a New York company, is playing "La Cigale" and "Pinafore" in the western district.—Dominick Murray has been starring with the McDowell Shaughraun Company in Ottawa.—Tony Denier's pantomine company will shortly visit Montreal and probably make a tour of the Province.

The Arrest of Beach.—We are informed that Sergt. McCrudden had the largest share in the work of securing the arrest of Beach, the supposed horse thief. He traced the sale of the horses, found the animals stabled at a hotel in town, and discovered the probable whereabouts of the man who was wanted, sending Downs to the place indicated and himself going to the railway station to cut off escape in that direction.

Likely to be Good.—Says the Campbellford Herald :—"The fall wheat, we learn, is looking vigorous and healthy, and if not blighted by frost, between this period and summer, and it is to be hoped it will not, a very bright beginning for the wheat fields, when vegetation starts, is predicted. Wheat was well protected during the winter, from the presence of so much snow, and what was a still greater boon to its life was the abundance of snow that fell before the frost took hold of the ground last autumn. We hope the yield of fall wheat the coming season will amply replace the reverses the farmer sustained in the spring crop, by the drought last year."

Base Ball.—A contemporary says :—"The principal changes in the playing rules this year include : The reduction of the pitcher's space from six by six to six by four feet. The prohibition of the practice of turning the pitcher's back to the batter before delivering the ball. The calling of every unfair ball pitched a "ball" until nine "balls" are called, when the striker gets a base. The order of striking is changed so that the player on the roll following the last one who completed his turn at the bat goes first to bat in the succeeding innings, instead of as formerly the first player on the roll after the third hand out. The foul bound catch and the bound catch on third strikes are abolished. Hereafter no player can be declared out on a ball caught after it touches the ground. There are some minor changes, but none that materially effect the game."

The Grand Junction.—The Campbellford Herald gives the following information in reference to the progress of work on the Grand Junction :—"The grading now being done is just south of the residence of Mr. Cadman Gibson, where some seven or eight feet of a mound is being excavated. East of this, extending to the travelled road, a filling of some fourteen feet is required. Here a bridge will be constructed, so that instead of teams passing over they will go under the railway track. The force of men at present engaged, owing to the inconvenience of the situation, is small, but more is being added, weekly, and in the required time, a very large number will be employed. The timbers for the Railway bridge are being manufactured into proper shape for their intended positions, several men being now employed getting them in readiness. The sleighing continues quite favorable to the getting out of the timber, and Mr. Dinwoodie is pushing along the work with all possible speed."

The Living Age.—The 140th quarterly volume of Littell's Living Age being the weekly parts for January, February and March, 1879, is to hand. The thirteen weekly parts make a volume of over 820 pages,—beautifully printed; and embraces in its contents the very choicest selections from current magazine literature. We have in the present volume, seven of the principal articles from the Contemporary, eight from the Spectator, six from the Fortnightly, six from the Nineteenth Century, six from Blackwood, six from the Saturday Review, three each from Fraser's, Cornhill, Macmillan, Nature, Temple Bar, and the Edinburgh, with nine or ten other articles from excellent sources. In addition to this, we have no less than forty eight poems of greater or less merit, and five serial stories running through the volume. The Living Age certainly gives its readers an immense amount of first class literature, and is well deserving of the respectable age to which it has attained.

Personal.—Mr. C. J. Starling left by the noon train to-day for a trip to England, expecting to be absent for three months. Mr. Starling is a member of the Hanlan Club, and will doubtless witness all the races in which the champion engages.

"The Pilgrim Fathers."—The proformance of this beautiful cantata at the Metropolitan Hall last night, for the benefit of the John Street Church, attracted a numerous audience. The preformance was highly meritorious and creditable to all who participated.

Religious Calendar.—Following is the religious calendar for April :—Sunday 6th, Sunday before Easter; Thursday 10th, Thursday before Easter; Friday 11th, Good Fri. dap ; Saturday 12th, Easter Even ; Sunday 13th, Easter Day ; Sunday 20th, First Sunday after Easter ; Friday 25th, St. Mark ; Sunday 27th, Second Sunday after Easter.

Feigel Mine.—The Madoc Review says: "This mine, we are informed, is now being worked to its utmost capacity, both day and night. Between forty and fifty men are employed, and gold in paying quantities must be unearthed to balance this large expense. We hope, at least, those who are pushing the enterprise will be abundantly repaid."

The Ice.—The Trenton Courier says :—"The ice in the Bay is not to be trusted. The river is opened quite a distance out and we may wake up some morning to find the blue waves frolicking in the joyousness of freedom. On Friday last as Mr. Cunningham was on his way to Big Island, down the bay with his household effects, the first team passed over the the river safely and the second team broke through. A cow tied in the sleigh was drowned but the team was rescued. It will be unsafe to travel the bay now as the loose snow has not only melted but is percolating through is rotting the ice very fast."

The Tariff.—The Mail yesterday published opinions on the Tariff gathered from merchants and manufacturers throughout the Provinces, irrespective of politics. The verdict, on the whole, is that the new Tariff will do much good ; that it will increase labor and thoroughly protect home industries. Dealers generally seem to consider the prospects much brighter under the changed order of things. The Mail also prints a list of duties under the old Tariff, the new Tariff, and the United States Tariff in comparative form. A further instalment of opinions is to be given on Saturday.

Shipment of Iron Ore.—The Review says: "Mr. Pusey has shipped by the Belleville and North Hastings since our last issue about 200 tons, over 20 car loads, of iron ore from the Seymour mine. This goes to Pennsylvania via Grand Trunk to Buffalo and Harrisburg. A good deal will depend on the results of the testing of this ore, but we believe Mr. Pusey is thoroughly satisfied himself. We understand the probability is, he will be back in the course of two weeks to commence active operations for the summer shipments. The men are now at work. We are also informed that parties from Montreal are anxious to get hold of some iron mines in this neighborhood, and have already opened up negotiations in that direction."

Navagation at Oswego.—The Palladium of Wednesday says:—"The schooner D. M. Foster, lumber laden at Port Hope foe E. Monen & Co., of this city since last fall, is about ready to come across, and Mr, Monen is reported as having telegraphed the captain to set sail for this port as soon as advisable. The tug Melvin steamed about the harbor to-day. It is probable that five tugs of the association will be run during the fore part of the present season, viz: The Morey, Wheeler, Melvin, Spinney, Lyons and Avery. All will be under command of the same captains as last year, but some changes will be made in engineers and firemen. The Spinney will run between here and Sodus. The Morey and Melvin will go into commission first. The season will probably commence between the 15th of the present month and the first of May."

A Great Mistake!

The generally entertained notion that if the stomach or any internal organ is oppressed, pain will be felt in the organ itself, is altogether fallacious. Many of the worst dyspeptics never feel any uneasiness about their stomachs. Pain is invariably felt in the weakest and most sensitive organ, and many an aching head, palpitating heart and oppressed brain are the result of a small slice of cake, or a few lumps of sugar, or a piece of pie or some other indigested or indigestible stuff that is fermenting in a stomach too much calloused by abuse to give direct evidence of the poisons it wishes to reject. Thus writes one of our most distinguished physicians who has made stomach troubles his speciality for thirty years. And he is right. The proper thing to do is to use Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills and infuse new life into the stomach, while expelling the debris lodging there. The most delicate stomach will retain them and they never fail to do their work. Try them.

Prince Edward Island Elections.—A telegram from Charlottetown on the 3rd says :—"Nominations took place throughout the Island yesterday. The election will be held next Wednesday. Four Ministerialist candidates were nominated in the first district of Kings. In the third district of Kings, Hon. D. Ferguson, Commissioner of Public Works, and Mr. James E. MacDonald, Ministerialists, were elected by acclamation. It is expected the Government will be sustained by a large majority."

The Afghan Campaign.

Five Thousand of the Enemy Killed.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH YAKOOB KHAN.

Lahore, April 3.—The British force under Captain Gough defeated 5,000 Afghans, killing 400. The British loss was three officers and three men killed, 31 wounded.

London, April 3.—A Lahore despatch states the hitch in the negotiations is caused by Yakoob Khan demanding to be guaranteed possession of the Throne, which is impossible.

A Crisis in Burmah.

British Residents Under Surveillance—Revolt of Native Chiefs.

London, April 3.—A correspont at Rangoon reports that some powerful chiefs have renounced their allegiance to the King of Burmah. This probably will be represented as the result of British intrigues, and may precipitate a crisis. Burmese war vessels are posted on the river with the evident intention of preventing the British residents at Mandalay from escaping by water.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Cincinnati, April 4.—On Wednesday on the steamer Vigo, at Gratz, an old man named Geo. Roberts attempted to whip Newton Abrams on account of an old fued, and after a terrible struggle Abrams fatally shot Roberts. It is said that twelve men have been killed in fights with the Roberts family.

Boston, April 4.—The United States steamer Plymouth, which came from the West Indies last autum with the yellow fever aboard, remained here all winter, and it was supposed the fever germs had all been frozen out. She recently started for the West Indies, when the fever broke out as soon as the warm climate was reached. She has returned.

New York, April 4.—Washington specials :

The Herald says the Treasury Department adheres to McCulloch's old ruling that there is no remedy for rightful owners against thieves in the case of Government securities payable to bearer.

New York, April 4.—Wm. Astor gives $500 for the prosecution of Currie, the assassin of actor Porter.

Thirteen of the twenty-five applicants answered all questions at the first Civil Service examination in the Custom House yesterday.

Marion Ward, actress, forced her way into the apartments of Alice Harrison, actress, at the Coleman House late on Wednesday night in pursuit of Washington Nathan, son of Benjamin Nathan, who was murdered nine years ago. She shot Nathan in the neck and he fled. Miss Ward was ejected, and Miss Harrison left for Boston. The cause of the shooting is said to have been jealously. It is not known how serious Nathan's injuries are.

The Tribune publishes a letter from the Rev. Henry Warden, American missionary in Marash, Turkey, reporting that the native Christians in that place were recently driven into rebellion by Turkish oppression. Through the efforts of the British Consul and Marden a great slaughter of Christians was prevented and better government secured.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

London, April 4.—In the House of Lords last night the Marquis of Lansdowne complained that the negotiations between the Porte and Greece regarding the settlement of the frontier question were unduly protracted. Salisbury denied that the negotiations had taken a long time. Undoubtedly at present the prospect of a settlement is not very near. The Government's intention to bring about a settlement is sincere. Beaconsfield said he believed there were modes of fairly adjusting the matter satisfactorily to both parties, and he did not take a gloomy view.

London, April 4.—The Times says United States Government bonds are again in some request by investors who have increasing difficulty in finding safe investments yielding anything like four per cent.

Alexandria, April 4.—Sixty officers and men of the Khedive's postal steamers yesterday made a demonstration in consequence of nonpayment of their claims, but were quieted by promises.

London, April 4.—A Madeira despatch says that the British authorities at Sierra Leone, sent the gunboat Boxer, on the 15th of March, to hand to the French Officer conducting the occupation of Matacong, a formal protest. The French claim the island was ceded to them in 1878. The British claim possession since 1826. The islands of Matacong and Kikonkeh owe some little importance to their position, being at the mouths of navigable rivers. The News remarks that the affair seem to admit a friendly settlement.

It is probable that the Turco-Greek question will be submitted to the Conference ambassadors of the Powers at Constantinople for settlement.

Provincetown, Ms., April 4.—The snow storm was of unusual severity last night, doing considerable damage to the shipping. Two of the crew of the schooner ashore near station 7 are reported washed overboard, and the rest clinging to the bowsprit. Too rough to launch the lifeboat ; the station men cannot shoot a line to her.

Atlanta, Ga., April 4.—Cold snap today, thermometer 31. The peach, pear and apple crop is ruined. The vegetable crop is seriously damaged. The cold is not general all over the State.

Washington, April 4.—The signal corps of Cape Hatteras report a schooner three miles from a point of the beach with eight persons apparently clinging to the rigging. The keeper of the Life Saving Station has been notified.

Prof. Riley, in a published card, says he resigned as Entomologist of the Department of Agriculture because unwilling to incur any further risk of being treated discourteously whenever he made any suggestion for the benefit of his division.

"Why, really, Mr. Toole, you look five years younger," said an acquaintance of the comedian in the street in London one morning, and Mr. Toole blushed, and admitted that he felt youthful. "Can you spare five orders for to-night?" continued his friend. Mr. Toole's vanity disappeared ; but he probably consoled himself with the reflection that the incident had furnished him with a funny story for his speech at his benefit. At any rate, he told the story on that occasion.

When to Sell Produce.

My opinion may raise some opposition, but I think my experience and observation juitifies the statement that the best time to sell is when the crop is ready for market. That it is often advisable to hasten a crop into market, but seldom to hold one, in anticipation of higher prices. A recent article in the Ohio Farmer estimates the shrinkage from all causes to be as follows : Wheat, 25 per cent. ; unshelled corn, 20 per cent. ; potatoes, often as high as 30 per cent. This estimate, though, in my opinion, too high, is not ultimately ; for the loss of the use of the proceeds of the crop is no small item, as, if not needed to pay debts and stop interest, money will earn interest or can be used profitable in business. One of the most successful farmers in Northern Ohio said to me, lately, "that if he had always sold his produce when it was ready for market he would have been several thousand dollars better off ; but he had made just enough good hits to encourage him in holding back his produce if the market did not meet his views." A bystander, who is also a good farmer and, what is far rarer, keeps a complete record of his farm operations, confirmed the above statement, and added that the risks caused by storing and anxiety of the owner fully counterbalanced the gain, under any but the most favorable circumstances.—E. L. Marsh, in N. Y. Independent.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, April 4.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours : For the Lower Lake region, brisk westerly to northerly winds, cloudy, continued cold weather with snow flurries, followed by clearing weather. For the St. Lawrence, brisk westerly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy to cloudy, continued cold weather. For the Maritime Provinces, brisk to high westerly to northwesterly winds, partially clearing, colder weather.

Washington, April 4.— Indications :— Warmer, partly cloudy.

Our town Druggists say the Pain Killer sells the best of any medicine they keep ; during the hard times of the past year or two, there were none too poor to pay their "quarter" for a bottle of this indispensable family medicine.

Prolapsus Uteri (Falling of the Womb.) A Wonderful Cure.—Nine years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where females are treated ; tried them all ; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Sneezing or Head Colds, called Acute Catarrah ; thick, yellow, and foul Mattery Accumulations in the Nasal Passages, called Chronic Catarrh ; rotting and sloughing of the Bones of the Nose, with discharges of loathsome matter tinged with blood, and Ulcerations often extending to the Eye, Ear, Throat, and Lungs, called Ulcerative Catarrh. Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. Unless the system is prostrated by scrofula or consumption beyond recuperation, it will effect a permanent cure in every case. Hundreds of testimonials attest its wonderful curative properties. Every druggist who has ever sold it will ceerfully bear witness to its marvellous efficacy.

Seeds to Sow in Hot-bed.

What shall we sow in our hot-bed? will be the question when the hot-bed is ready for the seed. That will depend upon your tastes. As soon as you have decided upon what you want to grow, the question will be, How much of each kind of seed should be sown? or, How much space can we allow to each? Let us help you. In a bed twelve feet long, at six inches apart, there will be twenty-three rows; and if the frame is five feet wide, the rows will be five feet long. Rows of that length will give one hundred cabbages, cauliflowers or tomatoes, and about a hundred and fifty celery or lettuce, and about the same number of flower plants generally. Now you may easily calculate how much space you can afford to each sort of vegetable and flower. If you wish to sow a dozen different kinds of vegetable, and fifty sorts of flowers, you might sow one whole row each of early cabbages, cauliflowers, celery and lettuce; half a row of tomatoes, a quarter of a row each of egg-plants and peppers; a quarter of a row each of sage, sweet-marjoram, thyme and sweet-basil; a row of white swedish turnip and a third of a row each of cucumbers, squashes, melons. There will be fifteen rows left for flowers. A row will be enough for those you require most of, the others may be sown, from two to four or five sorts to the row, according to the number of plants you may desire of each.

Now as to the best sort of vegetable and flowers to sow. Of early cabbages, early large and York are both so well known that they only need to be mentioned. Early Paris, and early Erfurt cauliflowers are both good, the latter specially adapted for forcing. Celery: the dwarf sorts are the best for all purposes: Turner's white, and Carter's dark crimson. Lettuce: Victoria and Boston market are both fine sorts. Tomatoes: Canada Victor and General Grant are among the best. Egg-plant: long purple is the most useful sort. Peppers: large red and sweet Spanish are the best for private gardens. Cucumbers: white spine is easily grown, very productive and well-flavored. Squash: early golden bush, and vegetable marrow are useful early sorts. Melons: Nutmeg and Evans superb, are good sorts. If there is only one hot-bed, melons, cucumbers and squashes should not be sown till the end of April. If a row each of Swedish turnip and winter cabbages were sown, they might be sown towards the end of April.

Flower seeds. We shall begin with the most useful in order. Chinese asters, Truffaut's perfection and Victoria, are large, and Boltz and Shakespeare low growing sorts, the latter a lovely miniature bush. Phlox Drummondi, is unequalled for steady, continuous flowering and a beautiful bouquet flower. Dianthus Hedewigi is one of the best Chinese kinds. Ten-week stocks, Petunia, Pansies, Portulaca, Sweet Scabious, Sweet Alyssum, Schizanthus, Grahami, Erysimum, Verbena, Balsams, Callirhoe pedata, Campanula Lorcyi white and blue, Feverfew, Forget-me-not, Godetia Whitneyi, Salvia coccinea, Salpi glossis, Saponaria Calabrica, Tagetes signata pumila, all easily grown and continuous flowers. Of plants with fine foliage, Canna, Palma Christi, Zea Japonica, Onopordon Amaranthus Henderi and others. Everlastings: Acroclinium, Elichrysum, Globe amaranth, Celosia crimson feathered. Rhodanthe and Zeranthemum. Of climbing plants, we name a few of the most easily cultivated. Cobœa Scandens, Maurandya Barclayana, Tropœolum Peregrinum. Plants for baskets: Ice plant, Lobelia, Nemophila insignis, Nierembergia Gracilis, Oxalis rosea Silene pendula, Thunbergia alata. The flowers in this list will keep the garden bright during the whole summer, and will supply flowers for bouquets in abundance, as well as for all the other purposes for which flowers are generally used.

To Keep Eggs the Year Round.

About a year ago the Prairie Farmer contained a recipe for keeping eggs a long time. It was simply to pack them in a cool place, small end down, in kegs or boxes filled with finely-powdered dried sand or common road dust, or sifted coal ashes. These settled between the eggs, kept them from access to the air, and prevented evaporation of the white or spoiling the yolk.

The experiment was tried last June, before the intensely hot weather that succeeded. On taking the eggs out of the packing a few days ago, they were as fresh and clean looking as if fresh laid. On testing them for the table, they could not be told from fresh ones. When these were put down, eggs sold at 6 cents a dozen. They are now worth 18 cents, or an advance of 200 per cent. This ought to pay.

The shell of an egg is a very porous carbonate of lime. Left exposed to the air, it passes through the shell and soon spoils the contents. When placed in a pickle of lime and salt, the egg may be preserved,—but at the expense of quality. Eggs that are limed are usually quoted "not warranted." They may also be oiled or varnished, or covered with glycerine or mucilage. These all answer the purpose, more or less; but change the external appearance of the egg so much as to injure the sale. As a first experiment, eggs packed in dry dust, kept cool and perfectly dry, are a complete success, and could not be distinguished from perfectly fresh ones, just laid.

Cure for Chicken Cholera.

A person who had achieved considerable success in poultry-raising gives the following cure for chicken cholera in an exchange paper:—The cheapest, quickest best and only one that I know of, and I have tried many for chicken cholera, is to cut the fowl's heads off as soon as possible after they show the first symptoms of the disease. Then have a general cleansing up of your poultry house. Make a bucketful of whitewash in the usual manner; put in a pint of crude carbolic acid, and apply to the inside of the house. Cover the floor with fresh earth, and if you can get it, sprinkle refuse lime from gas works under the roost every day or two. Shut the doors and windows, stop up every crack and crevice and then build up a hot fire in the house, and keep it as hot as you can for two or three hours; dry heat will burn the contagion out. It would also be well to shut the fowls in the house and fumigate them well by sprinkling sulphur on a pan of live coals; this should be done at night. Keep plenty of charcoal where your fowls can get it. It is excellent for keeping chickens in good health. Until you are sure that the disease has disappeared a few drops of carbolic acid to each quart of drinking water will be beneficial. Several of my neighbors who have been troubled with cholera among their chickens followed the above course, and when they did the work thoroughly, crushed out the disease.

FELLOWS' COMPOUND SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES will not only supply the waste going on in the brain, but will enable the mind to endure a greater tax than before. It will impart vigor and promote clear conceptions to the intellect. It will strengthen the nerves and give power to all involuntary as well as the voluntary muscles of the body.

A Witty Frenchman!

Old Mayor Quincey, of Boston, U. S., was the officer deputed to extend the civilities of that city to General Lafayette in 1824. He tells the following anecdote of the General: The cortege had stopped in Tremont street near the Common, to allow the Frenchmen to shake hands with the General. Many greeted him and for everyone he had a kind word. One old man grasped his hand and told him that he was the father of a dozen living children. The General patted him on the back and said, "Happy fellow! Happy fellow!" The next man said: "General, I never married and have no children to incumber me." "Jolly dog! Jolly dog!" replied Lafayette in his urbane manner. He was always ready with his replies. If Lafayette were alive he might say to the man who assured him that he was always well "Happy fellow!" and to him who had been very sick and was cured by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR-COATED PILLS, "Jolly dog." It is jolly to take these pills, they are so palatable. In all stomachic complaints, they are absolutely without a rival, and their extensive sales attest their popularity.

REMARKABLE CURE of an inflamed tear-duct or passage to the eye, without an operation.—Mrs. Gibson, who has a large and extensive confectionery and candy store at No. 25 East 42d Street, near the Grand Central Depot, was about to have a silver tube inserted in the tear passage of her left eye. The enlargement and inflammation were very great. Before submitting to the operation, tried Dr. Giles' Liniment, rubbed in carefully over the inflamed duct. The inflammation disappeared, the passage became clear, and was, through this power, able to do without a surgical operation. Also took the Liniment internally, a teaspoonful three times a day, in a wine-glass of water.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION
PURE COD LIVER OIL
WITH
HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

THE SENATE.

Public Expenditure of the Dominion.

SPEECH OF HON. MR. READ.

(Official Report.)

WEDNESDAY, April 2.

Hon. Mr. READ—I have no desire to prolong this discussion, but the startling remarks of the hon. gentleman who introduced it, (Mr. Macpherson) have led me to look into this question to ascertain whether there has been the alarming increase of annual expenditure to which he refers, and I have failed as yet to find it to be the result. I shall endeavor, in my humble way, from the figures and the information which the Public accounts present to us, to show that there has been a decrease, instead of an increase, in the ordinary expenditure of the country, under the control of the Government, and under numerous heads of Departments.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—Hear, hear.

Hon. Mr. READ—The figures may be wrong, or I may not understand him properly, but if such is the case I shall be only too glad to be corrected. While I admit that there has been a very large increase in interest on the public debt, it is an item over which the Government have no control, and it is an item which must be paid. The charges on the Consolidated Fund since 1873 have been as follows in round numbers :—

1873-4	$10,255,000
1874-5	11,124,000
1875-6	11,122,000
1876-7	11,489,000
1877-8	11,659,000

This shows a very large increase in the charges on the Consolidated Fund for Debt and subsidies, and the increase cannot be prevented if we are to carry on those large public works to which the country is committed, and for which we have to borrow money. But, so far as] the ordinary expenditure, over which the Government have control, is concerned, if the figures in the Public Accounts are correct, it has decreased as will be seen from the following statement :

Ordinary Expenditure,		1874	$13,060,518
Do.	do.	1875	12,588,344
Do.	do.	1876	13,366,013
Do.	do.	1877	12,029'974
Do.	do.	1878	11,843,634

From this it will be seen that there has been a large reduction in the expenditure of 1878 from what it had been in 1874. Then turning to the Public Accounts, it will be seen under what heads this reduction has been effected.

Civil Government,	reduction	$ 60,326
Police	do	45,771
Penitentiaries	do	87,440
Legislation	do	66,013
Geological Survey	do	1,765
Immigration and Quarantine	do	137,881
Marine Hospitals	do	8,958
Public Works	do	827,407
Light Houses and Coast Service	do	5,329
Ocean and River Service	do	75,090
Miscellaneous	do	20,991
Dominion Lands	do	195,535
Military Stores	do	144,906
Militia and Defence	do	359,239

There are also many other services which show a reduction. There is a very large increase in the amount for Administration of Justice, which I suppose is due to the establishment of the Supreme Court.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—And Court of Appeal in Ontario.

Hon. Mr. READ—There has also been an increase in the expenditure for Indian Grants, Superannuations, Pensions, Mounted Police and Post Office.

Hon. Mr. DEVER—Where are the weights and measures?

Hon. Mr. READ—There was no comparison to make in that service, as it has only been in operation very recently. I will admit that in the Post Office Department there has been a large increase, but it is a necessary increase, and I hope that the hon. gentleman in challenging this expenditure does not wish to be understood as advising the Government to starve the postal service; that he wants the people who reside in the sparsely settled districts to do without their weekly newspaper and letters, or travel twenty miles to get them? I hope the hon. gentleman in speaking so strongly of the increasing expenditure in the Post Office Department, does not aim at that?

Hon. Mr. MACPHERSON—I said that the expenditure in the country offices is not unreasonable; it is the city offices I referred to particularly.

Hon. Mr. READ—Of course there is a large outlay for the city offices, but we can easily account for it. Through this expenditure, gentlemen residing in the cities have their papers and letters brought to their houses two or three times a day; while people who reside in the country only get a weekly mail. I ask the Government not to reduce this expenditure but to extend it as much as possible. The total increase in the postal service from 1874 to 1878 was $406,361, and from the year 1873 it was $337,668. Now, what have we got for this increased outlay? It is quite evident that the postmasters are not over paid. Of all officials in the public service there are no men so poorly paid as postmasters. In the country offices, as well as in the towns and cities, those men have great responsibility, and they are obliged to be at their posts almost night and day. For this increased expenditure of $337,668 we have had 860 new post offices established. The number in 1873 was 4,518, and in 1878 they had increased to 5,378. We have had the postal mileage increased by 3,142 miles in the past five years. In 1873 the post routes travelled were 35,538 miles; in 1878 they had increased to 38,730 miles. The number of miles travelled in conveying mails was :—

In the year 1878	15,427,323
" " 1873	13,266,598
Increase in mileage in five years	2,160,725

The same rapid increase is shown in the distribution of mail matter :—

Letters and post cards distributed in 1878	50,045,500
" " 1873	34,457,900
Increase in five years	15,876,000

The number of books, parcels, and periodicals distributed through the mails in 1878 is 5,090,000. This is a service in which I am satisfied the people are receiving full value for their money. There are 146 letter carriers employed to distribute the mails in the cities, and there is no doubt it is a great convenience to the public. I have frequently urged the hon. gentleman who now leads the Government in this House, to establish free postal delivery in this country, when he was Postmaster-General, but he never did so.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—It was a luxury I thought we could not then afford.

Hon. Mr. READ.—I look upon it as a great luxury that the people should have where the population will admit of it. Anyone who has travelled through England, and has seen the postal delivery there, could not but desire to see it extended in this country as far as circumstances will permit. The Government have already introduced it in eight cities, and, in good time, I suppose it will be extended to the smaller cities and towns also. The letter carriers in this city alone deliver each over two thousand letters and papers every week. The shoes the public would wear out in travelling to the post office for their own mails would pay the cost of free delivery twice over. At all events it is a great convenience to the people. I think these facts are sufficient to warrant the Government to extend, rather than to decrease, the postal service. In addition to all this, we have had reduced by one-half the postage to the United States, a large reduction in the same service to England, while the postage on newspapers and mail matter has been reduced to a nominal amount. There is no doubt that it is desirable to retrench in every reasonable way, and I am not so positive but what the late Government had been doing so in the ordinary expenditure, when I compare their figures with the expenditures of the previous Administration. While I am free to admit this much, I consider the management of the great public works of the country by the late Government has been so bad that I can hardly find language to adequately express my views upon the subject. I have always denounced their management in this respect, and I am still of the same opinion. I can hardly conceive how they committed such blunders as they made in the Public Works Department during the past five years. The hon. gentleman for Saugeen has advised the letting of the post offices in cities by contract. If there is any one thing more sacred than another, it is the management of the mail service, and I ask if it is desirable to let it out by public tender to the lowest bidder? I certainly cannot agree with that course of action. If there are too many employees, the number can be reduced, but I cannot agree with the suggestion that the city post offices should be farmed out on commission. The next complaint of the hon. gentleman, is the great expense of collecting the Customs. While the hon. gentleman was speaking I took up the returns, and found that while he had copied the figures very correctly, I think by way of comparison he [illegible] six years of the former Administration. That would have been a fair way to calculate what was the difference in the percentage for the collection of the revenue under the two administrations. I find that the percentage increased and decreased under both administrations, and when you come to take six years of the former, and five years of the latter Administration, you will find the average the same, viz, 5-18 per cent.

COST OF COLLECTING CUSTOMS.

1868	5·99 per cent.	1874	4·55 per cent.
1869	7·09 "	1875	4·44 "
1870	5·41 "	1876	5·61 "
1871	4·21 "	1875	5·75 "
1872	4·04 "	1878	5·58 "
	31·09 per cent.		25·93 per cent.

Average 6 years, 5·18°/₀ Average 5 years, 5·1803°/₀ Divide them by the divisors, 5 and 6 years, and you will find them almost exactly the same. So that I think on that head the hon. gentleman has not much to complain of. He has referred to the cost of collection in England by way of comparison, but really I do not think that that contrast is fair. If he had compared it to that of our neighbors across the line it would have been much better, because they also have a large extent of country, a large frontier like ourselves, and entirely different from England, where the area is small and the revenue is easily protected. The hon. gentleman would find that the cost of collecting the revenue in the United States, while it is not as large a per centage as ours, is very near it. But three-fourths of the revenue of the United States is collected in the city of New York. In 1876, I find they collected $148,000,000, and the cost of collection was $6,072,000, divided among six thousand revenue officers, and the average was not quite five per cent. You have to pay men to collect the revenue, liberally, because public servants must be paid well, if you want them to serve faithfully. The hon. gentleman advanced a crude theory of collecting the customs by a percentage. I make bold to say such a course is not adopted in any civilized country, and would not be advisable for us to entertain. The customs being our great source of revenue any dereliction of duty might seriously affect our income. Take, for instance the result of the system of our neighbors, where the tenure of office is dependent upon the party in power; the tendency has been always to lead officials to make the best of their position while they held them, and very often the revenue suffered in consequence. In the course of the hon. gentleman's remarks he pointed out, in a friendly manner, the policy they should adopt, but told them he considered it was necessary that they should reduce their own salaries. If the country could be served faithfully and well at a less price and by good men, there would be no objection, but to my mind when you have a good man you should pay him, and I don't believe it is the desire of the people of this country that the Ministers of the Crown should be underpaid, provided they administer the affairs of the country in an honest, economical and capable manner. Above all things, honesty and efficiency are required. When we come to consider what Ministers of the Crown should be paid, we ought to be guided by precedent. We know of one respected and revered man who has passed away from amongst us after twenty years of public service——most of the time holding positions in the Government of the country with a large income, besides his salary—who had never saved anything for his family. We know of none who have been ministers of the Crown who have retired from the public service wealthy men. There may have been rich men among them but we have never heard of it. Although many of them had large incomes, in addition to their official salaries, their expenses were so large that, in nine cases out of ten, they died or left political life poor men. In England, where they don't pay their members of Parliament, they are more liberal. In that country, if a gentleman has served as a Minister of the Crown for four years—it need not be continuously—he is entitled to receive a pension of from £1,000 to £2,000 a year for life.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—If he says he requires it.

Hon. Mr. READ—If he says he cannot maintain his station in life. He may even be a rich man, but if he cannot maintain his station in life, a pension is given, so that he can do so.

Hon. Mr. WARK—The Lord Chancellor gets £4,000 as a pension.

Hon. Mr. READ—I only referred to Todd, who shows that in England where they have great wealth, where men go to Parliament because they can afford to give their services gratuitously to the country and their tastes lead them in that direction, but in Canada there are very few who can afford to do so, and the country does not demand it. The hon. gentleman proposes to reduce the indemnity to members. That can be done, but I do not know that the country would gain anything by it—it might perhaps save a few thousand dollars, the experience is, that as soon as a man goes into Parliament it injures his commercial credit; his bankers look more closely after his assets, and it is not long until his paper is turned over two or three times to see if there are not two or three good names on it as well as his own. The reason is obvious: when a man has to devote himself to the service of the public he cannot give his own business that close attention and supervision that he did before, and consequently it cannot be as profitable. He gets a thousand dollars for serving his country, but he spends a great deal more, and it is more for pleasure than profit any man enters Parliament. It is proverbial that women are more far seeing than men where domestic interests are concerned, and when a woman's husband is talked of as a candidate she begins to think at once of the effect on her family. Although she would be well pleased to see such an honor conferred upon him by his fellow citizens, she looks forward to the possibility of his business and domestic comfort suffering, as well as his family, from his entering into political life, so that the honor has seldom any attractions for her. No doubt many persons would like to see the indemnity reduced, or perhaps abolished altogether, but the question is, would the country be served any better if there were no indemnity? Services that are not worth paying liberally for are not worth having at all. Perhaps the hon. gentleman's theory might be further extended, and the Government of the country farmed out to those who would undertake to carry it on for the lowest price. We might also apply the same system to our judges, and whenever a vacancy occurs, call for tenders from the barristers and assign the position to the lowest tender. Such an idea is absurd. We do not want such a system in this country. We want to keep our judges and our statesmen pure and above suspicion, and we should pay them liberally for their services. I think there is nothing to be gained by starving our public men and public officials, or in reducing the indemnity in either branch of the Legislature. If we were to adopt the hon. gentleman's theory, this Parliament might be run on a very much cheaper plan than he suggests; we might get a very clever man who could frame all our laws and pass them himself, but if he were a dishonest man where would we be? I have every confidence in the Government that they will reduce the expenditure as far as possible compatible with the efficiency of the public service. Our aim should be efficiency first, and economy afterwards, because a thing is not always cheapest that costs the least money. If a man wants to have a surgical operation performed, he does not go to the cheapest doctor, but to the most skilful surgeon. If he wants legal advice on a question involving his property, his liberty, or his reputation, he does not go to the cheapest lawyer, but to the man whom he considers is most capable to [illegible] opinion. While I hold it is all very well to talk of reducing expenditures, at the same time I consider it is not always economy when we have in view the efficiency of the public service.

FRIDAY, April 4.

In the House of Commons after routine business, the debate on the tariff was resumed by Mr. Burpee (St. John, N. B.) who presented an array of statistics to show that the effect of the tariff would be to take seven million dollars out of the people.

Messrs. Valin and Coursol both spoke in French favourably to the tariff.

Mr. Guthrie contended that the tariff was not such as was promised by the Government.

He was followed by Mr. McCullum, who, argued in favor of the tariff, and said he believed it received the country's endorsation.

Mr. GILLMOR (of New Brunswick), argued that the tariff was most oppressive on the Province of which he was a representative.

Mr. FLEMING (Brant), defended the revenue tariff of the late Administration.

The debate was adjourned and the House rose at 12:30 a. m.

The War in Zululand.

Surrender of the King's Brother and 300 Warriors.

INSURRECTION IN THE TRANSVAAL.

LONDON, April 6.—A despatch from Lord Chelmsford states that the relieving column for Ekowe would start about the 28th March.

A despatch from Cape Town says an insurrection has broken out in the Transvaal.

CAPETOWN, March 18.—Oham, Cetewayo's brother, with his eldest son and three hundred warriors, surrendered unconditionally on the 2nd March, and are now in Col. Wood's camp. Oham is supposed to be an aspirant to Cetewayo's throne. There has been no important military movement against the Zulus. Ekowe is still surrounded, the road leading there being defended by a large force of Zulus. The relieving force under Col. Law is still on the lower Tugela river. It consists of three companies each of the 3rd and 88th regiments and a portion of the naval brigade of the ironclad Shah. The 57th Regiment has landed at Durbar from Ceylon, and is now marching to join Law. The latest intelligence from Ekowe is that the garrison are well but provisions are running short. More British troops arrived on the 15th, 16th and 17th of March. Two forts on the border of Chief Seccoeni's country have been evacuated by the British.

Col. Pearson has established communication with the Tugela river by means of signals.

Oham surrendered in Swazieland on March 4th. It was at first falsely reported that his overture for a surrender was a ruse to cover his retreat to Swazieland. Oham expresses a conviction that Cetewayo will await the further action of the British before moving in any way.

The Boadicea has landed two hundred sailors at Port Natal.

DETROIT RIVER TUNNEL.—An Ottawa report says:—"A deputation consisting of Mr. Tillinghast of the New York Central, and Mr. W. K. Muir of the Canada Southern Railway, are in the city, and will have an interview with the Minister of Public Works in regard to the tunnelling of the Detroit River."

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, APRIL 7.

The North Riding.

The Globe thinks the INTELLIGENCER hard to satisfy, because we resent its attempt, by the dishonest manipulation of a word in Dr. Boulter's address, to make that gentleman stultify himself and dishonor his past record by appearing before the electors as a virtual supporter of the Mowat Government. The commendation of the Government organ was not sought by the Conservative candidate, whose address, in which he candidly states what he has secured for the benefit of his constituents from the different Governments which have administered our affairs during his term of service in the Legislature, so fully defines his position that only improper manipulation, such as we felt obliged to expose, could cause a misconstruction. The Globe's trick was a mean one, and ought to have been apologized for, therefore we have a right to regard it as wilful, though our exposure will cause it to have an effect exactly contrary to that which was intended.

The Globe, fearful that the preference for Mr. Wood which it expresses rather than implies in the article alluded to, will tend to strengthen Dr. Boulter in the estimation of his Conservative friends, boldly declares that it has no preference between the candidates. This is cool, to say the least, in face of the following, which appeared in its own columns, under the head of "Political Intelligence" but a few weeks ago:—

"Mr. A.F. Wood, of Madoc (brother of the Hon. S.C. Wood), has declared his intention to [illegible] the Local Legislature. Mr. Wood was Warden of Hastings for many years, and would make a desirable addition to the Local House."

To say that a man would be "a desirable addition to the Local House" is not a strong recommendation may be accepted by some people as correct; but to the vast majority the language will admit of no other interpretation. We therefore leave the Globe to reconcile its conflicting statements, satisfied that the electors of North Hastings will, as for many years previous, elect the candidate who is opposed by that journal.

THE DUNKIN ACT.—The following appeared in the Canada Gazette of the 3rd inst.: Proclamations appointing a poll on the repeal of the Dunkin Act, to be taken on Wednesday, April 23, in the Counties of York and Lanark, Ontario, and enforcing the Scott Act in the County of York on and after the expiration of the days of grace allowed by law.

EXTENSIVE FIRE.—On the morning of the 6th inst., the building occupied by the Philadelphia Burring Machine Works and other firms; the building occupied by Waterall & Co., paints and varnishes, and other firms; Whitall, Latem, & Co's., druggists' glassware warehouse; buildings from 402 to 420 inclusive, on Fortieth-street, in Philadelphia, as well as several other buildings, were burned. Many other buildings were damaged. One man was killed and three wounded. Loss $750,000.

A CLOSE SHAVE.—A Montreal paper says:—"Some time ago a young gentleman named Patton was removed to the General Hospital suffering from typhoid fever. A gentleman found among his papers a life insurance policy for $1,000. It had but two days to run, but the gentleman paid $6.50 upon it and thus secured it. Young Patton died shortly afterwards, and the Company paid the money a few days since to his mother, whose sole support he was."

LUMBER TRADE WITH MANITOBA.—Heretofore the great bulk of the lumber used in the Prairie Province was supplied from the pineries of Minnesota. In the future Canadian lumbermen will come in for a fair share of the trade. The Guelph Lumber Company, of Parry Harbour, has received an order for 6,000,000 feet, dressed, and undressed, which will be shipped via Duluth for Manitoba as soon as navagation is declared open. A planer has been erected at the company's mill and extra help procured to fill the bill on time.

THE INSOLVENT LAW.—An Ottawa report says the proposed amendments to the Insolvent law have been prepared. It is intended to do away with compositions altogether, as this is considered to be the most objectionable feature of the present act. The interim assignee is to do nothing further than hold the estate until a meeting of the creditors, and shall not be eligible to be placed in charge of the estate. It will be made exceedingly difficult for an insolvent to get a discharge, and the consent of four-fifths of the creditors will probably be required. The act is to be framed in such a manner as to make it no inducement for a man to go into bankruptcy.

The Letellier Affair.

An Ottawa despatch says that the Hon. Mr. Langevin will leave immediately as the delegate of the Government to England to press the case upon the Imperial authorities, to prevent the possibility of mistake, and to insure an early decision of the question submitted for consideration. This step on the part of the Government will be reassuring even to the most irreconcilable of the Quebec members. It is expected that Mr. Langevin will be able to announce the decision of the British authorities before the close of the session, which is now likely to last well into May.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Mail thus refers to the probable decision of the Imperial Government upon this question: "That the decision will be favorable to the views of Parliament and to the advice tendered to Lord Lorne, no one will permit himself to doubt. It is not likely at all, indeed, that the British Government will undertake to review the merits of the case. What is expected is, naturally enough, that the Governor-General will be informed that he had better accept at once the advice of his Ministers. The rule laid down by Lord Dufferin in his speech at Halifax in August, 1873, is the true constitutional gospel for Governors-General in this country:—"My only guiding star in the conduct and maintenance of my official relations with your public men is the Parliament of Canada." And with equal distinctness Lord Dufferin laid down the doctrine of giving the fullest confidence to the Ministry sustained by Parliament. Now the Parliament has spoken against Governor Letellier, and the Ministry have advised his dismissal. Therefore the British Government will not venture to do other than to advise his Excellency to follow the advice of his Cabinet."

The City Printing.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

SIR,—In your issue of Friday last you stated that the Voters' Lists cost $80. Is that true or did you not charge $93.60 for them?

You also stated that the posters were full-sheet, is that not false, were they not half-sheet?

What I desire, Mr. Editor, is that all printing should be done by tender, and be under the control of the Committee appointed by the Council.

Yours, etc.
ALBERT L. GEEN.

EDITOR'S NOTE.—The tone of Mr. Geen's communication is scarcely such as to call for a courteous reply, yet we will endeavor to answer his queries in a spirit different to that which actuated him in inditing them.

1. As to the Voters' lists, we may say that the writer had no knowledge of the accounts of the office, and wrote from memory what he believed to be correct, until the reception of Mr. Geen's query caused the discovery of the error. We find upon inquiry that a double error was committed, the work having been entered in the account as 104 pages, instead of 102 as stated, and the price having been 90 cents per page instead of $80 for the whole. The two additional pages formed the cover, for which the custom of the trade is to charge four pages, of which it really consists; but two pages only were charged for, the Corporation therefore receiving the benefit of the two pages which were omitted from the account. The price, taking size of type and quality of work was reasonable.

2. The posters having been spoken of in the Council as sheet posters, and as our knowledge of the item was derived from the discussion, hence another mistake was caused; but the price was nevertheless the ordinary business rate.

Mr. Geen's desire to have all the printing done by tender is impracticable, as many jobs are required in such a hurry that there is no time to seek for tenders and for the Committee to meet and deliberate upon the tenders. Again, there are certain classes of work for which no fair basis of tendering could be arranged, such for instance as advertising, where everything depends upon the circulation and class of readers of the different mediums. Under all the circumstances, we believe that the ratepayers do not desire that their printing shall be done at other than fair commercial rates, and that they will be quite satisfied to endorse the opinion of Ald. Dickson, namely that the city printing should be divided between the daily newspaper establishments, which are not only heavy taxpayers and large employers of labor, but also render valuable service to the public by advocating the local interests and reporting the proceedings of the Council.

SITTING BULL.—A despatch from Bismarck, April 9th says:—"A private note from Major Walsh, commanding the Canadian Mounted Police near Sitting Bull's camp, speaks of the old warrior as quiet, and contradicts the Washington statement that Walsh reported him ugly and insubordinate."

DOMINION FINANCES.—A statement of the revenue and expenditure on account of the consolidated fund of the Dominion for the month ending 31st March last shows it to have been $2,229,838; revenue to 28th February, $16,084,017; total, $18,277,855, less $132,433 transferred to railway suspense accounts; expenditure for the month, $906,941, less do, to 28th February, $1,558,865; total, $16,465,998.

A TEST QUESTION.—A distinguished phrenologist, while recently dining at one of our large hotels, remarked at the table that he had formed an opinion of the character of each one present. An Irishman directly opposite said that he would propound a question, and that, if it was truthfully answered, he would for ever believe in phrenology. The phrenologist said he was satisfied, and told him to proceed. "Thin,' said the Irishman, "will yez be afther tellin' me am I married or single?"

ANNOUNCEMENT.

WE have been aware for some time that it is exceedingly distasteful to many ladies to have what they intend wearing in Millinery exposed to the view of the whole public, and handled, by they know not whom, and often copied by their next door neighbor before it is worn.

Accordingly we have determined hereafter not to make a public show of our newest imported styles and finer goods in this department, and further we find it necessary to adopt this course on account of our unusually large assortment this season, particularly in the richer descriptions of these goods, and prices have been made so moderate that we cannot afford to lose anything by indiscriminate handling, through which much fine work is destroyed, and the designs frequently copied and so made common. On and after

Tuesday, the 8th of April,

we shall be prepared to show in this department whatever may be enquired for, and our lady customers when suited may be assured that copies will not be made in any case without their consent.

In the Mantle Department will be found some very choice goods in the newest styles.

We beg here to state that all the other departments are now full and complete for the season, while prices are exceedingly moderate.

Ladies will please accept this intimation, a' we do not purpose making further announcement.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, APRIL 7.

City and Vicinity.

ARRIVAL.—The steamship Peruvian arrived at Halifax at 2 p. m. yesterday.

CITY COUNCIL.—The City Council will hold its regular fortnightly meeting to-night, when the harbor dues question will be further considered.

MARINE NOTES.—Freights have improved this spring, and according to shipping men, 7 cents a bushel is the rate from Chicago to Buffalo, and 10 cents is offered from Chicago to Kingston as soon as the ice clears away.

PRINCE EDWARD RAILWAY.—The Prince Edward Railway Company are at work driving piles for bridging Dead Creek. There are a number of men near Carrying Place getting out ties, posts, &c., for the road.

TRENTON BOARD OF EDUCATION.—Dr. Williams, who has for the past six years been Chairman of the Trenton Board of Education, having resigned on account of removing to another place, Mr. H. Gill has been elected Chairman for the remainder of the year. Mr. Gill will make an excellent presiding officer.

THE POTATO BUG.—The Ottawa Free Press says:—"A farmer claims to have found a sure cure for potato bugs, by ten years' experiment in Colorado. His plan is simply to plant one or two flax-seeds in each hill of potatoes. He says that the bugs will shun it every time, and that for ten years, he had been thus successful in raising potatoes while others have failed. The proposed remedy is simple, and it costs almost nothing to try it. Our farmers should remember this at potato-planting time".

HINT FOR HOUSEHOLDERS.—As an agent for rapidly extinguishing fires in chimneys, a French chemist reccomends the burning of a few pounds of "carbon de sulphide" on the hearth. The combustion of this subject produces large volumes of carbonic and sulphurous-acid gases, both of which are effectual extinguishers of flame. The compound is said to have been experimentally tried by the Paris firemen and with good results, since it is stated that within the space of three months they have succeeded by its use in extinguishing 251 fires out of 319, and that without deranging or damaging apartments in any way.

PEDESTRIANISM.—It may interest some of our local pedestrians to learn that in Peterborough arrangements are being made for a three days' walking match, open to all in the Province of Ontario, commencing on Thursday, 22nd May, and ending on the evening of the 24th (Queen's Birthday). Several hundred dollars, will be given in prizes, a large amount of which has already been subscribed. The first prize will consist of a hundred dollars in cash and a gold medal, while other prizes to the number of eight or ten will range from $50 cash, downwards.

ASTRONOMICAL.—According to an exchange, in the year 1880, the four largest planets in the solar system will come in conjunction at the same time, an occurrence which never before happened in the history of the world. In the third and sixteenth centuries three of these planets came in conjunction at the same time, and during these respective years famine, plague and general devastation prevailed. Astronomers and scientists predict woeful consequences and terrible evils—the worst the world has ever known—for next year, and judging from the past they have some foundation for their prophesies. Let us hope, however, that no one will be alarmed. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof."

NEW VOLUME AND NEW SERIAL.—The number of Littell's Living Age for the week ending April 5th begins a new volume of of that standard periodical. It contains the Reflection of English Character in English Art, Quarterly Review; An American view of American Competition, by Edward Atkinson, of Boston, from the Fortnightly Review; an instalment of "A Doubting Heart," by the author of "Castle Daly;' The Fohn, Saturday Review; Nostradamus, Pall Mall Gazette; A Medium of Last Century, a short story from Blackwood; Carnival at Nice, Saturday Review, etc. etc. The publishers make the announcement that a new serial story from the pen of JEAN INGELOW will be begun immediately in The Living Age, from the author's advance sheets. This story will be looked for with much interest. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Gay, Boston, publishers.

THE RIVER.—Although, owing to the extreme height of water in the river, and the unusually great thickness of ice on its surface, disastrous results were by many anticipated from the passage of the ice to the bay when the annual break-up took place, yet very fortunately these fears turn out to be unfounded. The low temperature which prevailed during the past week prevented the sudden breaking up of the ice, and the water has had such an effect that it gradually thawed where it lay and quietly dissolved. The river is now clear from Corby's mills to the railroad bridge, where there is a large sheet of thin ice, into which the heavy current is eating rapidly. Below Lazier's dam, as well as below Bleecker's and Coleman's, a similar state of affairs exists, whilst in the vicinity of the lower bridge and at the point on which the ashery stands there is a good deal of open water. Thus, as there is no heavy ice to come from up stream, and the little that is within the district particularly alluded to is thoroughly rotted, there is no danger now of damage from the ice—a consummation which there is every reason to rejoice at.

LICENSE COMMISSION.—The Ontario Gazette of the 5th of April contains the following appointment:—James A. Sprange, Esq., to be a license commissioner in and for the license district of North Hastings in the room and stead of Robert Parker, Esq., resigned.

FASHION.—As will be seen by advertisement in another column, Messrs. Geo. Ritchie & Co. will be prepared to-morrow to show the ladies New Styles in Millinery, &c. This firm state that in the interest of their customers they have abandoned the practice of having a general show day, and have not, we believe, issued special invitations to any one. Thi is done in order as Messrs. Ritchie & Co., ttate that those who freely favorthem with their patronage may receive the more attention.

HORSE STEALING.—On Thursday afternoon last a man calling himself McEwan, but whose real name is Samuel Whitney, hired a horse and buggy from Mr. Laurence O'Brien, livery stable keeper in this city, engaging to return the rig the same night. As Whitney, alias McEwen, had not returned by Saturday, Mr. O'Brien went to Trenton, but found no trace of him. Yesterday Constable Cook was despatched on a search, after the missing man, horse and vehicle. Cook went to Trenton and found that Whitney had been there on Friday, but no one knew in what direction he had gone. The result of the all day search was that Whitney's real name was discovered, and also the fact that he was a very bad character, but his route with the stolen property could not be found out. It is supposed that he either proceeded directly west or passed into Prince Edward.

The Spring Assizes.

Deft. purchased this engine and boiler from M. E. Rankins & Co., and put it up in his mill. The Unprejudiced Physician.

It is very pitiful to see the blooming girl or seemingly stalwart youth suddenly succumb, as the unsuspected seeds of consumption begin to develop in the system. The physician knows that Cod Liver Oil is the only known cure, and if he be unprejudiced he will recommend SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, as it is not only a much better remedy, but being perfectly palatable can be taken continuously till full health is restored.

Our town Druggists say the Pain Killer sells the best of any medicine they keep; during the hard times of the past year or two, there were none too poor to pay their "quarter" for a bottle of this indispensable family medicine.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Washington specials: The Sun says Blackburn will be Chairman of the Committee of the Whole, on the legislative bill; fifty members desire to speak. Wood will be made Chairman of Ways and Means. Cox, Chairman of Foreign Relations.

The Tribune says most of the Greenbackers voted with the Democrats on the Army Bill, expecting that the latter would give them a session to-day for the introduction of financial bills, by the course they have adopted the Greenbackers have been virtually disbanded, and as their political managers have made themselves the laughing stock of both parties.

The Herald says the debate on the Army Bill has resulted in a better understanding between parties. The prospect of a short session is brighter, but bad results will likely follow the veto of the Army Bill. The Senate will probably modify the bill so that the President will sign it.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Commodore Garrison resigned the Presidency of the Wabash railroad. Cyrus W. Field was elected, but is not yet accepted.

Michael Grevellery, a Long-shore man, stabbed himself fatally in the abdomen on Saturday. Cause death of his wife and accidental death of his son.

Thos. Hewitt and Frank Glennon quarrelled concerning a cock fight at Bloomfield, N. J., and in an encounter on Saturday Hewitt was fatally stabbed.

Prof. King writes to the Herald that he will show an experiment with captive balloons on Coney Island this summer, preparatory to attempting a Trans-Atlantic voyage.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Arrived, the Capella from Glasgow.

The Herald reports that Cornelius J. Vanderbilt has been given a million dollars, that Mrs. Labau, his sister, received all she claimed, and that harmony again prevails in the Vanderbilt family. In an interview Cornelius J. Vanderbilt says he personally settled the Greeley debt, having paid $61,000 to Greeley's daughters on Saturday. He stated that Nicholas Smith, Miss Ida Greeley's husband, tried to get hold of the funds and carried his importunities and meddling so far that he refused to have anything to do with Smith.

The Timer quotes Jno. Kelley as saying that Saturday's conference will eventually result in harmonizing the Democratic party for this year at least, and in that case the Democrats will carry the state in November, but if the movement fails they will lose the State, and with it the Presidency.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

BOSTON, April 7.—The will of Chas. L. Jones Cambridge, leaves $30,000 to the Harvard College to found six scholarships. The Vermont Academy which Jones founded and endowed gets $10,000.

DETROIT, April 7.—John Davis, President of the Hanlan Rowing Association, received a cablegram from Hanlan stating that the English trainers were handling him as if he was a prize fighter, forcing him to do work that his constitution could not bear, and threatened he would return home. That his chances of winning were already lessened. Davis has started for England.

ROME, April 7.—It is asserted that Garibaldi has come to die in the city, to attain which for Italy all his strivings were directed. Garibaldi, on his arrival, said he did not himself know the reason of his visit. A more pathetic scene than that on Garibaldi's arrival is seldom beheld. Shouts were raised as the train entered the station, but were speedily silenced by the report that the General was ill. He was carried from the train on a mattrass, motionless, and looking like a corpse. The litter was placed on a carriage, which was driven, accompanied by a mournfully silent crowd, to the house of his son. It is expected he will be able to leave his bed within a week.

LONDON, April 7.—The reported insurrection in Transvaal is considered improbable, although a general strike has been averted by the acceptance by 10,000 men of the masters' terms. The decision of two-thirds of the pitmen at Durham to strike against a reduction will stop nearly 90 pits, throwing idle 25,000 hewers. Should the struggle continue for four or five days other industries closely connected with the coal trade will be paralyzed. The Durham Miners' Association will support the strikers as long as the funds last. The Durham collieries number about 300. The membership of the Miners' Association is between 40,000 and 45,000. The Association is nearly bankrupt, and the miners are individually very poor. It is not believed that resistance will endured long. Some apprehensions of rioting are expressed.

LONDON, April 7.—Hanlan's practice on Saturday was the most satisfactory he has yet had, his action and speed created an excellent impression.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The covered pier of the Vermont Railroad was burned this morning. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

PARIS, April 7.—At the supplementary elections for members of the Chamber of Deputies in this city yesterday, the moderate Republicans generally defeated the Radicals.

LONDON, April 7.—Edwin Clark, contractor and civil engineer, has failed. Liabilities £760,000.

LONDON, April 7.—Eliza Meteyard, an English authoress, is dead.

The strike of the Preston weavers against the introduction of the Blackburn standard wages collapsed.

PARIS, April 7.—230 more communists have been pardoned.

CAPETOWN, April 7.—The number of Ohams' followers who surrendered with him are estimated at 600. He stated that 2,000 or 3,000 more would follow if troops were sent to support them.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The Secretary of the Navy has appointed a Commission to investigate the outbreak of yellow fever on board the steamer Plymouth. He thinks the breaking out of the fever after her thorough freezing out does not tend to inspire confidence in a "refrigerating" ship.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., April 7.—Jacob Ceaders, an old resident of Groveville, went into the woods with his companions and became intoxicated, he then lay down by a fire and was roasted to death.

BROOKLYN, April 7.—The Eagle Iron Works were burned this morning. Loss $27,000.

NEW YORK, April 7.—Judge Hamilton W. Robinson, of the Court of Common Pleas, died this morning, aged 63.

"Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving away, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find in Fellows' Hypophosphites Syrup the material to build them up and the tonic to keep them there. DR. C. CLAY.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Sneezing or Head Colds, called Acute Catarrh; thick, yellow, and foul Mattery Accumulations in the Nasal Passages, called Chronic Catarrh; rotting and sloughing of the Bones of the Nose, with discharges of loathsome matter tinged with blood, and Ulcerations often extending to the Eye, Ear, Throat, and Lungs, called Ulcerative Catarrh. Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. Unless the system is prostrated by scrofula or consumption beyond recuperation, it will effect a permanent cure in every case. Hundreds of testimonials attest its wonderful curative properties. Every druggist who has ever sold it will ceerfully bear witness to its marvellous efficacy.

Hard Times in England.

THE "TIMES" ON NORTHCOTE'S FINANCIAL POLICY.

London, April 4.—The Times says eminent financial authorities, who sit on the front Opposition bench—Gladstone, Childers, and Goschen—threaten to attack Sir Stafford Northcote's financial policy, but we shall be surprised if his proposals do not meet with general approval. At no time since the gloomiest days of Pitt's Administration has the country had to contend against such a combination of troubles as the last year or two have let loose. Distress and depression at home, inexplicable confusion in finance and commerce, banking disasters and depreciation of precious metals, have made it hard for taxpayers to bear the increase of their burdens, while at the same time wars and rumours of wars in every part of the world impose those burdens upon us. This state of things will pass away, and with the return of peace and prosperity the expediency of giving temporary relief to the taxpayers at such a crisis will be fully vindicated.

"Want any baking powder ?" said a meek-looking individual, who called at a Summer-st residence the other day. "Baking powder, is it ?" said the representative of the Emarald Isle, who answered the summons. "Shure, an' do ye suppose we want to blow up the place ? Didn't we try kerosene until the top of the sthove went up the chimney ? Out wid ye, gettin' the likes of us into trouble."

A lady belonging to the Diet Mission recently visited a needy woman and found her sick. "What is it ?" she kindly asked placing her hand on her heart, the woman seid, "It's repudiation." "What ?" queried the visitor. "Re-pu-di-ation," pronounced the afflicted woman, "that's what the doctor said." And noticing the play of expression on her visitor's face, she hastened to add, "Taint ketchin !"

A Great Mistake !

The generally entertained notion that if the stomach or any internal organ is oppressed, pain will be felt in the organ itself, is altogether fallacious. Many of the worst dyspeptics never feel any uneasiness about their stomachs. Pain is invariably felt in the weakest and most sensitive organ, and many an aching head, palpitating heart and oppressed brain are the result of a small slice of cake, or a few lumps of sugar, or a piece of pie or some other indigested or indigestible stuff that is fermenting in a stomach too much calloused by abuse to give direct evidence of the poisons it wishes to reject. Thus writes one of our most distinguished physicians who has made stomach troubles his speciality for thirty years. And he is right. The proper thing to do is to use Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills and infuse new life into the stomach, while expelling the debris lodging there. The most delicate stomach will retain them and they never fail to do their work. Try them.

Prolapsus Uteri (Falling of the Womb.) A Wonderful Cure.—Nine years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where females are treated ; tried them all ; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"James Epps & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A Slight Cough that we are so apt to consider a mere annoyance and treat with corresponding neglect, too often proves to be the seed sown for an inevitable harvest—Consumption. Immediate and thorough treatment is our only safeguard. A teaspoonful of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime given whenever the cough is troublesome, will afford immediate relief, and if persevered in will effect a cure even in the most obstinate cases.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. ; and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle ; six for $5.00.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS ?

Sickness prevails everywhere, and everybody complains of some disease during their life. When sick, the object is to get well ; now to say plainly that no person in this world that is suffering with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and its effects, such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, palpitation of the Heart, Depressed Spirits, Biliousness, etc., can take Green's August Flower without getting relief and cure. If you doubt this go to any Druggist in Belleville and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents. Two doses wil relieve you. d&w

Boschee's German Syrup can now be purchased right at home, it is the most successful preparation ever introduced to our people. It works like a charm in all cases of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhages, Asthma, severe Coughs, Croup and all other Throat and Lung Diseases. No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

A Valuable Discovery.

The discoverer of a process for making Cod Liver Oil palatable is certainly a public benefactor. The manufacturers of Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil have found this process. They not only make it perfectly palatable, but increase its highly esteemed virtues, and by the addition of the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, which is a splendid brain and nerve tonic, present the most wonderful remedy for Consumption, Scrofula, and all Wasting Diseases, that has ever been discovered.

Castor Oil Made Pleasant.

Nothing clings with more tenacity to the memory of the child than the bitter struggle t had with its mother when she administered to it the first dose of Castor Oil. But now mothers and children will both rejoice to hear that this nauseous, yet splendid medicine, has been made pleasant as cream, and still more efficacious than the crude oil. Don't fail under any circumstances to try a bottle of Scott & Bowne's Palatable Castor Oil, and you will never use any other cathartic medicine. Price only 25 cents a bottle.

To the Electors of

NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN :—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers ; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals : Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers, very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous settlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

Law Reform.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

THE SENATE.

Mr. Flint on the Public Expenditure.

(Official Report.)

THURSDAY, April 4.

Hon. Mr. FLINT—I think that the thanks of the House and of the country are due to the hon. Senator for Saugeen who has so ably brought forward this question ; although I think that he might, in some respect, have supported it better had he taken more time in examining into, and getting up his figures correctly. Figures are said to be facts which speak for themselves. I do not propose to deal with any part of his speech, except his reference to the Post Office Department. I believe that the thanks of the country are due to both Governments—the first Government of the Dominion, and the Administration which succeeded—for the course which they have taken with reference to the Postal Service in this country, and although it did appear when the hon. gentleman was speaking, that the expenditure of the Department largely exceed its revenue, yet, notwithstanding that, when we take into consideration the number of new offices opened, and the mileage of postal routes travelled, the reduction in postage rates on letters and newspapers, and the increased accommodation of the public, we cannot wonder at the deficit. The late Government with all their faults, (and they had many), were justified in their management of the Post Office Department, and, if their policy, in that respect, is not continued by the present Administration, a mistake will be made. A great deal of the increased expense of the Department has been caused in giving greater accommodation to the people in the back parts of the country, and I think that the money has been well employed. It is possible that in the city offices a reduction might be made, but the allowance made to country postmasters cannot be considered extravagant. In one place in Muskoka district, fourteen mails pass through the post office every week, and the postmaster receives, for opening, distributing, and closing these mails, one and six-twentieths cents each mail. At another office, back on the Hastings Road, where there are six mails during the week, the postmaster receives the munificent sum of 8½ cents per mail for opening and closing the mails and attending to the duties of his position. I have been at that office several times, and I know that it takes him, or some member of his family, three or four hours every day to attend to the wants of the people. When you consider that these are not isolated instances, but fair illustrations of the postal arrangements in country places, I think you will agree with me that the postmasters are very shabbily paid. I do hope that the Postmaster-General will see the propriety of giving something extra to these officials. It is not to be expected, however, that they are actually working for the sake of the small pittance they get. Were that the case, they would not accept of it. I know, myself, very many postmasters who say that they merely take the position for the purpose of giving postal accommodation to their neighbors. If my hon. friend for Saugeen had looked more carefully into this matter, he certainly would not have made the statement he did the other day in reference to that Department. There is one other point to which I desire to call attention—the expense which has been incurred in repairing and furnishing Rideau paid in [illegible] amount which has been [illegible] follows :—

1874	[illegible]
1875	[illegible]
1876	36,506 92
1877	35,991 28
1878	41,951 46

Total in these five years..$215,151 17

Equal to $43,030.03 per annum.

When we add to this amount, which has been expended in repairing and furnishing these buildings, the salary, travelling and other expenses of the Governor-General, I think the House will agree with me that there should be a limit to this enormous outlay. Let anyone see that pile of buildings for himself and say whether it is necessary to expend any more upon them, or whether they have value for what they have cost us. I do not condemn anyone, but I draw attention to this fact, that instead of commencing to retrench in the Post Office Department, we should begin it in high places. With reference to the indemnity question, I agree with the hon. Senator from Prince Edward Island (Mr. Haythorne) ; so far as I am concerned, I have no objection to have my sessional allowance reduced, but, I think if we are to retrench at all, we should begin at all points, and let every portion of the public service feel the pruning knife. I believe that we receive none too much for our services. Although I do not live as far away from the Capital as the hon. gentleman (Mr. Haythorne) does, I have always felt it my duty to remain at my post here rather than ask this house to adjourn. If we are to inaugurate a policy of retrenchment, let us commence at the head and go down by degrees, that we may ascertain how much we may save in that way to the country.

A Slight Cough that we are so apt to consider a mere annoyance and treat with corresponding neglect, too often proves to be the seed sown for an inevitable harvest—CONSUMPTION. Immediate and thorough treatment is our only safeguard. A teaspoonful of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime given whenever the cough is troublesome, will afford immediate relief, and if persevered in will effect a cure even in the most obstinate cases.

The Electric Light in Paris.

The lighting of large spaces by the electric light, especially in the experiments made at Paris, has revealed some curious facts as regards the cheapness of this mode of illumination when compared with gas. The Courrier des Etats Unis published on Saturday an interesting article on the subject. The author of the article, M. Henri de Parville, takes as a basis the full and able report of M. Cernesson, which has been adopted by the Municipal Council of Paris, and which contains a very careful comparison of the expense of the electric light and gaslight. While it is very certain, says the report, that the electric light furnishes the best illumination for large thoroughfares and public squares, it is not demonstrated that an equally brilliant illumination may not be obtained by using an increased quantity of gas, without incurring the amount of expense involved in lighting by electricity. In view of this fact, the Municipal Council of Paris decided upon a series of comparative experiments by lighting the Avenue de l'Opera, Place de l'Opera, Place du Theatre Francaise, and one large public interior, with electricity for a limited period. The Paris Gas Company at the same time used a number of gas-burners of larger calibre than usual in certain thoroughfares and public places, and the results have been carefully registered and compared both as to the cost and the degree of illumination. Until M. Cernesson reported upon the question, the cost of the Jablockhoff light was a matter of conjecture, and it is of no little interest in settling the issue that the figures which have been obtained in Paris are accepted as correct, not only by the corps of City Engineers and by the engineers of the gas company, but by the engineers of the Paris Electric Light Company. They are, therefore, incontestable. The introduction of the electric light involves three sources of expenditure : First, a motive force to drive the rotary generator furnishing the currents ; secondly, the electro-magnetic battery itself, and, thirdly, the electric lamp, or candle of Jablockhoff. The engines employd were each of 20 horse-power, driving Gramme generators. Each engine was found capable of running 17 Jablockhoff candles, or in other words, each candle required for its successful operation a force equivalent to 1.25 horse-power. Four engines of Gramme generators were necessary to the illumination of the Avenue De l'Opera. The unit of illuminating power adopted was the light produced by a Carcel lamp consuming 42 grammes of pure oil per hour. It was first ascertained that 10 gas-burners, each using 150 litres of gas per hour are equivalent to 11 Carcel lamps, while a single Jablockhoff candle is equal to thirty Carcels. But, as it was found necessary to the diffusion of the latter to shade it with an opaline globe, its illuminating power was practically considerable below this standard, being equal to only 18 or 20 Carcels when the horizontal rays were tested, and to only 10 or 12 when the oblique were under examination—a very meagre result, indeed, when compared with the actual light generated. The ultimate comparative result arrived at was that one Jablockhoff candle is practically equal to 11 gas-jets of the ordinary calibre used for street illumination. But a comparison of the figures of cost showed that the amount of gas used might be increased as to give an equivalent light without incurring a fully equivalent expense. When a burner consuming 200 litres of gas per hour was used, it required only 7 to equal one electric candle. Electricians hope to diminish the waste consequent upon the use of opaline globes, and M. Clemandots's invention—that of using two globes, the one fitting closely into the other, and filling the space between the surface with powdered glass—has favorably impressed the scientific men of Paris. The particles of the thin layer of powdered glass appear to exercise a wonderfully diffusive influence without materially reducing the illuminating power. The cost per hour of running the 62 candles used upon the Avenue de l'Opera is thus stated by Levy, a competent engineer :

	Francs.
Motive force	3.20
Coal	6 64
Oil for lubrication	1.23
Cost of superintendence	3.20
[illegible] candles	31.00
Total	45.27

A calculation upon this [illegible] cost per hour of running one Jablockhoff candle to be 73 centimes, (about 14 1-3 cents.) The electricians count upon a considerable reduction in the amount of motive force and the cost of candles—enough, at least, to bring the cost per hour down to 60 centimes, (about 11 4-5 cents.) But, even, upon this basis, the economical advantage rests manifestly with gas. In effect, then, while a Jablockhoff candle is equivalent to 11 gas-burners of the Paris standard, these 11 gas-burners cost only a little over 23 centimes per hour—something less than 5 cents. At the present time, therefore, the relative expense of electric light to that of gas, illuminating powers being equal, is as 73 to 23, and were the cost reduced to the limit urged by electric engineers as possible under existing circumstances, the proportion would still stand as 60 to 23, a very wide margin to overcome. Mr. Cernisson's report further compares the questions of relative convenience, liability to get out of order, &c. Each electric lamp (foyer) being supplied with four candles, each burning 100 minutes, the whole provision has to be renewed every seven hours, while with gas no such renewal is necessary.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 8.

The Ontario Legislature.

Within a very few weeks—probably as early as the second week in June—the electors of the Province of Ontario will be called upon to decide whether they will entrust the administration of their affairs to the Mowat Government for another term of four years, or whether they will place in power the Conservative party, who have been in opposition for the last eight years. The decision to be made is one of the greatest moment, as the matters with which the Provincial Legislature deals are of at least equal importance with those confided to the Dominion Parliament, and acquire additional importance from the fact that they more directly concern the people.

During the first four years under Confederation the Government of the Province was administered by a coalition of which the late Hon. John Sandfield McDonald was the head, the present Judge Cameron being the leader of the Conservative section of the administration. Coalitions were at that time held by the Grit leaders and by their press to be immoral in the highest degree; but nevertheless, although an immense amount of work was necessary to put the machinery of Government into working order, our affairs were so capably and honestly administered that an immense surplus was rolled up. This surplus, as is well known, was utilized for the benefit of the people at large, in the establishment and maintenance of the public benevolent institutions which are to-day the pride of our Province, such as the Institutions for the Deaf and Dumb, and the Blind, the London Lunatic Asylum, &c., as well as in liberally aiding such lines of railway as were calculated to open up and develop the country. This was the policy of the coalition, whose financial management was so economical that those who were their bitterest opponents are now fain to confess that the Government of that day was the most careful of the people's money that Canada has ever seen. Still, this administration, composed of wise and economical men, was defeated by means of the most unfair and treacherous, nature, and the party which is now in power supported them upon the Treasury benches.

Utterly disregarding their cries of "economy" and "honesty" so soon as they secured office, the Grit leaders, boldly laid down the doctrine that the money taken from the people should be returned to the people, and then begun that career of extravagance, favoritism and jobbery which was afterwards followed out by their friends in the Dominion. The result has been that the surplus has been almost entirely dissipated, and the Provincial finances have arrived at that unhappy condition in which the expenditure more than equals the revenue.

This, broadly stated, is the result of eight years of "Reform" rule, details as to which will be supplied hereafter. The contrast [illegible] results and those which the preceding Government [illegible] to every [illegible] citizen, and form most [illegible] ground for the condemnation of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues. In addition to their own sins, too, they voluntarily took upon themselves to father the sins of the late Dominion Government, by appearing upon the election platforms with Mr. Mackenzie and his supporters as the advocates of so-called free trade. Whilst we are opposed to the introduction of Dominion issues into Provincial contests and vice versa, this "pooling" of issues was the deliberate act of the Provincial Government, in direct contravention of their often repeated protestations that such practices were improper. Having thus stultified themselves and lent their power and influence to uphold opinions which were distasteful to a large majority of the electors, they must fairly be judged by their actions and incur such condemnation as they deserve on that ground, which we trust will not be less decisive than that which was passed upon their Ottawa confreres.

In view of the near approach of the day of election, it is highly desirable that the opponents of the Government should at once fully organize and make ready for the fray. In the North Riding the Conservative party have an accredited standard bearer in the field, whilst in the East Riding preparations for nominating a candidate are well advanced. So far as the West Riding is concerned the preparations for the holding of a convention will be completed during the present week. As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, a public meeting will be held on Thursday evening next, the 10th inst., for the purpose of selecting delegates, and as the choice of delegates has already been made in Sidney and Trenton, the Convention can be held at an early day. Our friends in each Riding are confident of victory in the coming contest, and will, we feel assured, realize their expectations, although there will be much hard work, as the opposing party will fight with all the energy of despair.

REPORTS.

Of the special Committee regarding harbor dues, as follows:—

Belleville, 31st March, 1879.

To the Aldermen of the City of Belleville:

Gentlemen,—Your Committee, appointed to consider the question of a reduction or re-adjustment of the Harbor dues of the City of Belleville, beg to report as follows:

1. Your Committee would recommend that the dues on saw logs be placed at half of a cent on each log.
2. That the tariff on railway ties be one quarter of a cent on each tie.
3. That the tariff on posts, eight feet long and under, be placed at one quarter of a cent each.
4. That posts from eight feet long to seventeen feet long be placed at half a cent each.
5. And that all posts over seventeen feet long be one cent each. All of which is Respectfully submitted,

Alex. Robertson,
Mayor.

The Mayor stated that he had received, subsequent to the adoption of the report, a letter from Mr. Rathbun asking him to call another meeting of the Committee. He did call such meeting, but failed to get a quorum. It might be well, therefore, to read the letter.

The Clerk then read the letter, as follows:

Alex. Robertson, Esq.,
Mayor, &c., Belleville, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—After the meeting which yourself and Council favored us with on Monday evening in relation to the Harbor dues, we discovered that we had left the impression upon the minds of the Council that each 16ft. piece of cedar almost always contained two railroad ties or sleepers.

To correct that erroneous impression, we beg to state that we invariably cut cedar into 16 feet lengths, which can from that length be converted into posts or ties, as best adapted thereto—also for economy and convenience in handling in the woods, on the river, at the mouth of the river, and at the mills. A 16ft. piece is handled really as cheap as an 8ft. piece. Cedar is made into 8 feet pieces only when the timber is not large enough to make a length of 16 feet of the diameter at top end named, or when there is some other defect to prevent more than an 8 ft piece being taken out of the tree. Consequently the 8 feet pieces do not average over 6 inches at the top end.

Sixteen (16) feet cedar will run more than two-thirds to post sizes on an average; as an evidence of which, we beg to give you the measurements and number of pieces of cedar taken cut by our only cedar shanty on the Moira river waters during the closing winter:

16 feet cedar	4 in.	diameter	830 pieces.

8 feet posts from 4 to 8 in. at top end, 1,967 pieces. It takes a piece of cedar at least 10 inches in least diameter to make a standard tie or sleeper. To avoid confusion and disputes at the corporation boom, we strongly advise the tariff on cedar being regulated by the length rather than the size in diameter.

We earnestly request that the rate on cedar be not to exceed ¼c. on each 8 ft. [illegible] ft. each 16 ft. piece, 1c. on [illegible]ing too much to

We trust [illegible] together, that this explanation may be laid before them previous to the meeting of Council on Monday evening next. Thanking you, the Committee, and the Council for the courtesy shown us, and soliciting the favorable consideration of our request, we are, dear Sir,

Very truly yours,
H. B. Rathbun & Son.

Of the Market Committee recommending the payment of an account for 50c.; that C. G. Chapin offered to keep the clock in order for $75 per year, and S. A. Spangenberg for $100 for the first year and $50 per year for each succeeding year. They recommend that the latter be accepted.

Of the Fire Committee, that tenders be asked for the erection of ten water tanks to be placed on the hills; that the hose carts be drawn to fires by horses and that the Committee ask for tenders; that the teams now engaged by the corporation for fire purposes be re-engaged at $2 per day; and that the Committee be authorized to procure 1,000 feet of hose, as requested by the Chief Engineer, to be included in the estimates of 1880.

ENQUIRIES.

Ald. Robertson inquired if some printing had been given out without tender. He understood that the Chairman of the Printing Committee wished all printing to be given out by tender.

Ald. Geen said he had given out some work without tender. It was only a small amount, and the other offices objected to printing being peddled about. The price was low.

Ald. Sherwood—It was only a little one.

Ald. Dickson—The Committee was not called together.

NOTICES.

Ald. Vandusen gave notice of resolution for the appointment of a Committee to confer with a Committee of the County Council with regard to an industrial Farm.

Ald. Robertson gave notice of a resolution to the effect that unless the contractors for the Grand Junction carry out their agreement as to the completion of the line to Hastings, the payment of the $25,000 due on completion of the line to Hastings be resisted.

Ald. Dickson's notices given at the last meeting were at his request allowed to stand, as he expected a lengthy discussion on the report of the Special Committee.

WAYS AND MEANS.

Council went into Committee on Ways and Means. Ald. Jellett in the chair.

The report of the Special Committee was taken up.

In answer to Ald. Geen,

Ald. Dickson said he had stated to Ald. Geen that there was no danger of the Bill to repeal the Harbor Dues Act passing the House, and he still thought so. The report was the result of three hours' deliberation of the Committee, in which they had harmonized their views. He thought the new tariff more in the interest of the city than the old one.

Ald. McIninch had understood that there would be no change in the tariff on cedar.

Ald. Dickson said the effect of the high tariff on ties had been to cause the ties to be prevented coming to the harbor. By the new tariff the ties would be brought to the boom and revenue would be derived from them.

Ald. Patterson moved, in reference to the proposed charges on cedar 8 ft long and below, to fix the rate at ¼c for 8 ft; 17 ft and over 8 ft ½c; all over 17 ft 1ct; railway ties ½c.

Ald. Holden thought there had been a misapprehension in the belief that 17 ft posts were cut into two ties. But for this wrong idea the tariff would have been made lower. He thought a ¼ cent sufficient, but as Ald. Patterson's amendment was a compromise he would support it.

Ald. Patterson thought ¼ cent would be fair, and was willing to alter his motion.

Ald. Lingham thought the reduction already made was sufficient. It would be almost as well to let the stuff go free through the boom, as to make further reduction. Very few posts went through the boom, nearly all being ties. It might be advisable to increase the rate on floats to 1½ cents.

Ald. Proctor argued that in view of the decrease in the value of ties and posts, the proposed reduction was no more than reasonable.

Ald. Sherwood would like to know if they were to legislate in the interests of Mr. Rathbun or of the city. He thought they had gone far enough and would vote for the report.

Ald. McIninch was of opinion that if much more reduction were made in the tariff, there would not be enough dues collected to pay the Harbor Master's salary.

Ald. Robertson moved to have the tariff amended so as to include all pieces of wood of all kinds of the lengths and at the rates named therein. He supported the report, but wished it made more definite.

Ald. Hambly thought the length of the saw logs should be defined.

Ald. St. Charles said if the reduction of the tariff would increase the receipts it was their duty to reduce it. He did not think it would injure the harbor were the wood a foot longer or a foot shorter, as the tariff defined the rate on all stuff over 17 feet long.

Ald. Dickson said it was easy to decrease the tariff but not so easy to increase it again. The lumbermen pressed strongly for the decrease on their timber because it had decreased in value, but they would not be willing to increase the dues again when once more the value of logs rose. The logs did the same damage to the harbor whether worth fifty cents or a dollar per piece. Their great complaint was as to saw logs, which had been fairly met, but there were other articles which they had reduced and equalized upon. As the 17 ft. piece, from which two ties can be made, is charged ½ cent, the anomaly presented by Ald. Patterson's motion was that whilst a single tie was charged ¼ cent, two ties could be brought down in one piece for the same amount. This would destroy the equilibrium as established by the report.

Ald. Holden said his idea would be to have ties at ⅓ cent each, and the rate on 17 ft. posts ¼ cent.

Ald. Robertson's amendment to the amendment was put and carried.

Ald. Dickson moved to add a clause that the altered tariff is offered as a compromise and is not to be taken as binding the Corporation in event of the bill now before Parliament being pressed.—Carried.

The report of the Market Committee was taken up.

Ald. Lingham moved to refer back the clause as to care of the clock to the Committee.

Ald. St. Charles moved that the work be let out by tender, and that the Committee be authorized to advertise for tenders. [illegible]endment,

Ald. Dickson [illegible] of improvement in and [illegible] in the casing of the clock.

Ald. Holden did not think there was any use in advertising for tenders, as nearly all the watchmakers had tendered.

Ald. Sherwood had no objection to the motion, but did not see the use of seeking further offers.

Ald. McIninch thought all should have a chance.

Ald. Sherwood stated that he had given Mr. McFee an opportunity of putting in a second tender. He had learned from the City Clerk of Kingston that the care of the clock there costs $40 per year.

Ald. Hambly said the clock had been put in by Mr. McFee and had never given general satisfaction under his care, therefore he wished to see another man tried and would like to see Mr. Spangenberg's tender accepted.

Ald. Doyle would like to see the matter referred back to the Committee in order to give further time for consideration.

Ald. Robertson said Mr. McFee had guaranteed the clock for five years, and had had large expense in keeping it in order, owing to the great exposure of the clock in the tower. It was now in a bad state, and would require a considerable sum to keep it in repair. Hence Mr. McFee would not take a contract for less than five years.

After some further discussion, Ald. St. Charles amendment was put and carried.

The report of the Fire Committee was taken up.

Ald. Patterson asked, had an estimate been formed of the cost of the water-tanks, &c. Ten seemed to be a very large number.

Ald. Hambly objected that the recommendation for tanks was not in order; it ought to have emanated from the Water committee.

Ald. Sherwood contended that the report was in order, being based on the report of the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department.

Ald. St. Charles stated that the report was on a recommendation in the report of the Chief Engineer, which was referred to them. He contended that the matter was properly under the jurisdiction of the Fire Committee, as the tanks were for fire purposes solely. Perhaps ten tanks were not necessary: that could be determined by discussion.

Ald. Vandusen wished the dimensions of the tanks defined.

Ald. McIninch suggested that the location for the tanks be defined before action was taken, and the Water Committee could see as to the execution of the work.

Ald. Dickson considered the report as being too vague to act upon.

Ald. Patterson was not opposed to the erection of tanks, but the recommendation was too vague. He would suggest that the clause be referred back to the Committee.

Ald. Petrie agreed with Ald. Patterson.

Ald. St. Charles consenting, the clause was struck out of the report.

On the recommendation as to procuring horses for hose carts,

Ald. St. Charles said, in answer to Ald. Lingham, that the Committee intended to ask for tenders by the trip.

The clause was carried.

Ald. Patterson said only two or three months ago the Chief Engineer reported that the fire department is efficient, and he could not understand how 1,000 feet of hose is required now. He suggested that the clause be allowed to stand over for enquiry.

The clause was allowed to stand.

The street pay list was passed.

Committee rose and reported.

Ald. Patterson moved to refer back the report to insert the amendment to the report of the Special Committee, as moved by him in Committee.—Lost.

Ald. Robertson moved to define saw logs as of 13 feet and under.

Mr. Aylsworth was heard and stated that the length of logs is 13 ft 6 and 16 ft 6 in.

The amendment was withdrawn and the report was passed.

Council adjourned.

The Easter Holidays.—Sir John A. Macdonald anounced in the Commons yesterday, that the House would adjourn on Thursday until the following Tuesday, for the Easter Holidays. The Senate is to adjourn to-morrow.

The Indians of the North West.—It is reported at Ottawa that the Indians at L'Apelle River in the North West have seized the Government stores there and the news appears to be confirmed. It is not from any rebellious design but probably from hunger, that the raid has risen.

The Chinese.—In the Committee on Immigration, at Ottawa on the 7th inst., Mr. Bunster gave evidence in relation to the Chinese of the Pacific Coast. He described them as sordid, filthy and utterly useless as settlers, being held in semi-bondage by coolie merchants.

The Letellier Matter.—An Ottawa report says that the Hon. Hector Langevin and Mr. J. J. C. Abbott will leave here to-day (the 7th inst.,) en route for England to confer with the Imperial authorities with reference to the Letellier matter. In the face of Mr. Langevin's visit to England in reference to the matter, it is not likely Mr. Mouseau's resolution will come up this week.

Sudden Death.—The Montreal Witness of last evening says:—"A private telegram received here to-day announces the death this morning at Athelstan of Mr. Joshua Breadner, Past Grand Master of the Orangemen of Quebec. The announcement was quite unexpected by the members of the Order here, he having been in good health at last reports." Mr. Breadner had occupied the position of Grand Master of Quebec for several years, and was held in high esteem by his brethren not only in that Province, but throughout the Dominion.

Began Operations.—The Montreal Witness of the 7th inst., says:—"The long-looked-for event has at last arrived: the re-opening of Redpath's sugar refinery. Operations were renewed this morning with three hundred hands. This number will, however, be considerably increased as soon as water is let into the canal, and the factory can be worked to its fullest capacity. Two thousand hogsheads of raw sugar arrived from Cuba via New York for the Company during last week, and as much more is expected in a few days."

Mysterious Affair.—A boy in the employ of Thomas Vincent, jeweller, Ottawa on going [illegible] person's room on the morning of the 7th inst, to light the fire, discovered the bed of his employer vacant, and the upper portion saturated with blood. A revolver with four barrels discharged was lying on the bed. One bullet had perforated the head board, and there were some marks of blood on the cover of the dressing table. A search was made for the body, but it could not be found, as there was nothing to indicate that it had been removed, no traces of blood being discovered on the stairs or on an outside landing which the room opened on to. Vincent has of late been much depressed in spirits, and his affairs were represented as not being in a very satisfactory condition. It is thought by some that the whole affair is a dodge, and that Vincent has made a bolt of it.

How She Sewed on His Buttons.

Old Blummer is tight fisted. Several days ago he said to his wife, "Maria, I want you to look over that broadcloth vest of mine and put new buttons on it, 'cause I'm going to a party to-night."

"But, Ely," answered Mr. B., "I haven't any buttons to match that vest; and——"

"Thunder!" broke in Mr. Blummer, "the idea of a woman keeping house as long as you have, an' pretending to be out of buttons. I b'lieve you'll ask me for money to buy em with next."

That evening Blummer hurried through his supper and began to array himself for the party. Presently he called for the broadcloth vest, and Mrs. B., with marvellous promptitude, handed it to him. He took it, hastily unfolded it, and then, as his eye took in its complete appearance, he stood as one transfixed. It was a six-button vest and there were six buttons on it, and the dazed optic of Blummer observed that the first, or top one, was a tiny pearl shirt button, and the next one was a brass army overcoat button with U. S. gleaming upon it, and that number three was an oxydized silver affair, and that number four was a horn button, evidently from the back of one of the Puritan father's coats, and then came a suspender button, and then as the dazed eyes of Blummer reached the bottom button—a poker chip (found in old Blummer's pocket) with two holes punched through it—he gave a snort that made the chandelier jingle. There is, after all, a fine sense of humor about Blummer, and he laughed till he cried. And there won't be any button money grudged in that household hereafter.—Troy Times.

A clergyman had for one of his parishioners a janitor who was up so late nights attending to his fires that he almost invariably fell asleep in his pew on Sundays. The clergyman sharply rebuked him for his inattention, and closed by saying: "If you can't keep awake any other way, put some red pepper in your boots." To which the janitor testily replied: "Put some in your sermon."

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We have been aware for some time that it is exceedingly distasteful to many ladies to have what they intend wearing in Millinery exposed to the view of the whole public, and handled, by they know not whom, and often copied by their next door neighbor before it is worn.

Accordingly we have determined hereafter not to make a public show of our newest imported styles and finer goods in this department, and further we find it necessary to adopt this course on account of our unusually large assortment this season, particularly in the richer descriptions of these goods, and prices have been made so moderate that we cannot afford to lose anything by indiscriminate handling, through which much fine work is destroyed, and the designs frequently copied and so made common. On and after

Tuesday, the 8th of April,

we shall be prepared to show in this department whatever may be enquired for, and our lady customers when suited may be assured that copies will not be made in any case without their consent.

In the Mantle Department will be found some very choice goods in the newest styles.

We beg here to state that all the other departments are now full and complete for the season, while prices are exceedingly moderate.

Ladies will please accept this intimation, as we do not purpose making further announcement.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 8.

City and Vicinity.

Board of Education.—A regular meeting of the Board will be held to-night.

Police Note.—The policemen gathered in four prisoners last night, and twelve tramps slept in the cells.

A Jam.—There was a small ice jam at the lower bridge between 1 and 2 o'clock to-day, but no damage whatever was done.

The City Clock.—The Council have decided to advertise for tenders for repairing and keeping the tower clock in order for a term of five years.

Personal.—Hon. Robert Read, and Jas. Brown, M, P. for West Hastings, are in the city, having come home to spend the Easter Holidays.

American Agriculturist.—The April number of the American Agriculturist is one of the best numbers ever issued of this popular farmers' and household journal.

St. Thomas' Church.—Work on the re-roofing of this structure has been recommenced by the contractor, and will doubtless [be] pushed forward with all convenient speed.

Lecture.—The Rev. Mr. Taylor delivered his promised lecture in the Bridge Street Church last night before a large audience. The lecture was most interesting and instructive.

Sudden Death at Stirling.—This morning at 8 o'clock Levy Lagrue, a hostler engaged at Scott's Hotel, Stirling, dropped dead in the yard of the Hotel. Cause supposed to be heart disease, as the man was apparently well a few minutes previously.

Coming.—The agent of Mr. E. A. McDowell is in town paving the way for the great English actor and author, Geo. F. Rowe, in the latest London and N. Y. success "Engaged." Particulars hereafter.

The River.—The ice continues to disappear, yesterday's warm temperature having had a great effect in clearing the surface of the river. Two days more of the same kind of weather will suffice to get rid of the little ice that remains.

The Vice-Regal Visit.—The Kingston News says:—"We understand that when His Excellency the Governor-General comes to Kingston next month to lay the foundation stone of the new Queen's College, he will remain three days. H. R. H. the Princess Louise will accompany him.

The Mayor's New Block.—After long and careful consideration Alex. Robertson, Esq., Mayor, has decided to erect a block of stores on the site now being excavated, in preference to a hotel, which he thought of building. The hotel building would cost from $10,000 to $15,000 more than the shops, and would not be so profitable.

Pedestrianism.—We understand that a walking match is to take place in the Metropolitan Hall on Good Friday, commencing at one o'clock p. m. and continuing for ten hours. There are to be some eight or ten contestants, among whom are Sidney Brown, Wm. Newbery, Jno. Forin, Wm Gordon and T. Stewart.

Stubborn.—A young cow strayed on to the ice near the lower bridge this morning, and refused to be driven thence. As the ice in that vicinity is thin and consequently dangerous, the owner of the animal procured a rope, which he fastened to its horns and so dragged the animal to terra firma.

"Staggering Bob."—There were two or three carcasses of veal on the market today, which ought to have been confiscated and given to the dogs. The authorities should at this season of the year appoint an officer to examine the market and give him power to seize and destroy young veal which is not fit for food.

Elzevir Election.—The election for Reeve of Elzevir took place yesterday, and resulted in the return of Mr. Tuttle by a majority of 18. The following was the vote:

Tuttle	109
Thompson	91
Majority for Tuttle	18

Mass Meeting.—The attention of all the Liberal Conservatives of the city is directed to the fact that a mass meeting will be held in the rooms, Intelligencer building Thursday night. The purpose of the meeting is to choose delegates to meet in convention to select a candidate for the Ontario Legislature. We hope that there will be a large attendance.

For Manitoba.—The special through train for Manitoba which was announced to leave Belleville for Manitoba is expected to pass here at an early hour to-morrow morning. It was to leave Brockville at 7 o'clock this evening. From 50 to 80 persons are expected to take passage by it from this neighborhood. Success to the emigrants in their new home.

The Fire Department.—The recommendation of the Fire Committee, that the hose carts be drawn to fires by horses hereafter at so much per trip has been adopted by the Council. A recommendation for the erection of ten water tanks on the hills has been postponed on account of indefiniteness, and a further recommendation for the purchase of 1,000 feet additional hose has been laid over for inquiry.

The Harbor Dues.—At last night's meeting of the Council the reduced tariff of harbor dues, as agreed to by the special Committee and previously published, was passed, with an amendment proposed by Ald. Robertson, which makes it more definite in its provisions as to small stuff. It is expected that the lumbermen will accept the modified tariff and that further difficulty in connection with the matter will be obviated.

Base Ball.—The "Troublers" Base Ball Club was re-organized last night, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing season:—B. F. Dickens, President; G. I. Post, Vice-President; S. McCullough, Sec.; S. Simmons, Treas.; J. Borbridge, Capt.; W. Hogg, Scorer. They intend playing a game on Good Friday if the weather and ground is favorable, and would like to see all those interested in base ball on the Hospital lot next Friday, at 2 p. m.

Fine Sport.—A splendid wild swan and a large number of wild ducks which hung outside Ross & Davies' store to-day, attracted a large amount of attention; they formed part of a lot of 170 ducks and 17 swans which Judge Jellett, of Prince Edward, and Alderman R. C. Hulme, of this city, shot within two days at the St. Clair Flats. The gentlemen named are ardent sportsmen and excellent shots, and no doubt greatly enjoyed the fine sport which they had.

The Fashions.—Although Messrs. Geo. Ritchie & Co. did not this season announce any formal "opening" of their importations of millinery, mantles, &c., the first display of these articles in their show rooms this morning attracted nearly or quite as many ladies as usual. A visit to their spacious show rooms showed a handsome display of the newest styles, in all seasonable articles. Amongst the most noticeable articles in bonnets and hats were the following: Cottage bonnets in white, with floral crown and Horton lace ties; cottage black bonnet trimmed in jet and Breton lace, pink blush roses; pink crepe bonnet and cream, with turn over brim, diamond ornaments, bunch of poppies at back; Di Murska hat, in white chip, trimmed in Besida satin and blue, with blue forget-me-nots as face trimming; English turban, in ecru satin and India muslin—very pretty; American hat in chip Jerome shape, ties in brocade silk and soft roses; white chip bonnet, in cream satin and lovely charille plume, pink and cream ties. In mantles we noticed as particularly handsome, the Princess Louise mantle, French walking jacket and a very stylish Aretta mantelet, besides many others. In feathers, flowers and ornaments there was a fine display. In dress materials the favorite styles appear to be small checks. Messrs. Ritchie & Cos'. stock of carpets is very extensive, and embraces a large variety of all qualities, from the lower grades up to the finest Axminister, for which we are informed they are the sole agents. In addition they carry a large stock of floor oil cloths and staples, of all descriptions. Being represented in the European markets by a resident buyer, their facilities for securing the latest novelties cannot be surpassed, and the very large business which they transact is proof of the moderation of their prices.

The Unprejudiced Physician.

It is very pitiful to see the blooming girl or seemingly stalwart youth suddenly succumb, as the unsuspected seeds of consumption begin to develop in the system. The physician knows that Cod Liver Oil is the only known cure, and if he be unprejudiced he will recommend Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, as it is not only a much better remedy, but being perfectly palatable can be taken continuously till full health is restored.

"Persons suffering from impure blood, or whose health is giving away, either as ministers or those who study closely, will find in Fellows' Hypophosphites Syrup the material to build them up and the tonic to keep them there. Dr. C. Clay.

When and Where to Apply Wood Ashes.

Wood ashes, among the best of saline manures and also among the most economical, are coming to be more and more appreciated every year. Farmers now, as a rule, husband every pound made on the farm and buy them whenever they can be procured at a reasonable rate. The time has gone by with good farmers for exchanging ashes from good hard wood for a few pounds of soap.

Leached ashes, while less valuable, contain all the elements of the unleached, having been deprived only of a part of their potash and soda. Ashes benefit all soils not already rich in the principles they contain, and may be drilled in with roots and grain sown broadcast on meadows or pastures, or mixed with the muckheap.

The quantity of ashes to be applied to the acre depends, as does that of all fertilizers, on the character of the soil and crop cultivated. Crops which exhaust the salts, as potatoes, turnips and all roots, clover, lucerne, peas, beans and the grasses, are benefited by ashes. The crops named thrive well under an application of ashes with bone-dust, and their effects are also strengthened when mixed with gypsum. Light soils call for light dressings, say from ten to fourteen bushels of unleached and twice that quantity of leached ashes per acre. Rich lands or clays bear heavier dressings. Repeated dressings of ashes like repeated dressings of lime or gypsum, without a corresponding addition of vegetable or barnyard manures, are not admissible, for they will eventually exhaust lands when applied alone. Where the entire surface of the soil is covered with vegetable growth, either of the three materials named act with great effect. For this reason ashes may be applied unmixed with other fertilizers to meadow lands for a longer time than to any other crop.

In reply to questions asked at the Elmira (N. Y.) Farmers' Club in regard to the value of leached ashes and the best manner of applying them to general crops, as corn, wheat and oats, the following information was gained: Leached ashes vary so much in their character that no precise estimate of their value can be made. Heavy clay is liable to be injuriously compacted by liberal dressings of ashes, leached or uncleaned, unless the soil be sod, in which case ashes spread on the surface tend to increase the crop of grass. The safest and best use of leached ashes on most kinds of soils is spreading them on old meadow or old pastures. Working them into land on which potatoes are to be planted in the same season is also a good way to use them. Good ashes make a valuable dressing for wheat land and for corn, but the leached ashes are too uncertain in their character to recommend for such use.

Coal ashes are inferior in quality to those from wood and vegetables, but are nevertheless of value and are to be applied to the soil in a similar manner, as they tend with their abundance of cinders to the mechanical division of soils. Coal are beneficial to heavy rather than light soils.

Farmers, in consideration of the above facts, cannot be too strongly encouraged to follow the practice of collecting and reducing to ashes all the rubbish of the farm not otherwise available, such as brush, old wood, sods, rags—in fact everything which cumbers the place as useless matter. Burnt earth is not only a manure itself, but is most useful to mix with artificial fertilizers which cannot be easily distributed alone or too strong to sow among seed unmixed with other material.—New York Herald.

Common-Sense Ploughing.

The depth of soil can alone determine the depth of ploughing. When the soil is shallow the gradual deepening of it should be sought by the use of appropriate materials for improvement until the object is fully attained. The sub-soil ought not, as a rule, to be brought out of its bed except in small quantities to be exposed to the atmosphere during the fall, winter and spring, or in summer fallows, nor even then except when such fertilizers are applied as are necessary to put it at once into a productive condition. Two indifferent soils of opposite character, as a stiff clay and sliding sand, sometimes occupy the relation of surface and sub soil to each other, and when thoroughly mixed and subjected to cultivation they will produce a soil of greatly increased value.

Soils appropriated to gardens and horticultural purposes are often deepened fifteen and eighteen inches with benefit, and those for general-tillage crop to about twelve inches with decided advantage. But whatever is the depth of the soil the plough ought to turn up the entire mass if within its reach, and what is beyond it should be thoroughly broken up by the sub-soil plough. When all circumstances are favorable to the use of the sub-soil plough an increase in the crop follows, as the hard earth below the reach of the ordinary plough has been loosened. This permits the escape of the water which falls on the surface, the circulation of air and a more extended range for the roots of the plants, by which they procure additional nourishment and secure the crop against drought. The benefits of sub-soil ploughing are most apparent in an impervious clay sub-soil and least evident in loose and leachy soils.

On low or strong land the experienced farmer prefers to see the furrow left on edge exposed to the action of air and harrow. Sandy or dry soil requires flat ploughing, which tends to consolidate the land.

As a rule those crops are the most productive which are ploughed the oftenest. Caution must be used, however, especially after the second ploughing of corn, when a surface plough is less liable to injure the roots than an ordinary one.—N. Y. World.

Not Deserving of Pity.

Beggared spendthrifts, to whom money has no exchange value but pleasure.

Persons who will persist in dying by inches with dyspepsia and liver diseases, when Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pelletts are unfailing remedies for these maladies.

Parents who spare the rod and ruin the child. Fast young men and women are generally spoiled children to begin with.

People who suffer from catarrh, when Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is a safe, reliable, and well-tested remedy for this loathsome disease.

People who marry for money, and find too late that the golden glitter is all moonshine.

Women who suffer death every day of their lives, when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effectually remove those painful weaknesses and impart a healthful tone and strength to the whole system.

People who live beyond their means and find that style and pride, like every thing else in this world, unless placed upon a secure foundation, are subject to the law of gravitation.

Invalids who more toward fostering disease by living and sleeping in the low, unventilated rooms of the ordinary house, than the best medicines can accomplish toward recovery, when at a moderate expense they can secure all the hygienic and sanitary advantages of the Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N. Y. Every physician knows how much recovery depends upon good nursing and the hygienic conditions of the sick room. Chronic diseases are especially subject to these conditions.

A Great Mistake!

The generally entertained notion that if the stomach or any internal organ is oppressed, pain will be felt in the organ itself, is altogether fallacious. Many of the worst dyspeptics never feel any uneasiness about their stomachs. Pain is invariably felt in the weakest and most sensitive organ, and many an aching head, palpitating heart and oppressed brain are the result of a small slice of cake, or a few lumps of sugar, or a piece of pie or some other indigested or indigestible stuff that is fermenting in a stomach too much calloused by abuse to give direct evidence of the poisons it wishes to reject. Thus writes one of our most distinguished physicians who has made stomach troubles his speciality for thirty years. And he is right. The proper thing to do is to use DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS and infuse new life into the stomach, while expelling the debris lodging there. The most delicate stomach will retain them and they never fail to do their work. Try them.

—A sense of duty often causes some ludicrous mistakes, as the following story will illustrate: "Near Dumfries lived a pious family who had adopted an orphan who was regarded as half-witted. He had imbibed strict views on religious matters, however, and once asked his adopted mother if she did not think it wrong for people to come to church and fall asleep, paying no better regard to the service. She replied she did. Accordingly, before going to church the next Sunday, he filled his pockets with apples. One bald-headed old man, who invariably went to sleep during the sermon, particularly attracted his attention. Seeing him at last nodding and giving nasal evidence of being in the "land of dreams," he struck the astounded sleeper a blow with an apple on the top of his bald pate. The minister and aroused congregation at once turned round and indignantly gazed at the boy, who merely said to the preacher, as he took another apple in his hand, with a sober, honest expression of countenance, "You preach; I'll keep 'em awake."

PROLAPSUS UTERI (Falling of the Womb.) A WONDERFUL CURE.—Nine years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where females are treated; tried them all; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION
PURE COD LIVER OIL
WITH
HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

obtained for Inventors, in the United States, Canada and Europe, at reduced rates. With our principal Office located in Washington, directly opposite the United States Patent Office we are able to attend to all Patent Business with greater promptness and despatch and less cost than other patent attorneys, who are at a distance from Washington, and who have, therefore, to employ "associate attorneys." We make preliminary examinations and furnish opinions as to the patentability, free of charge, and all who are interested in new inventions and Patents are invited to send for a copy of our "Guide for obtaining Patents," which is sent free to any address, and contains complete instructions how to obtain Patents, and other valuable matter. We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington, D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

MONDAY, April 7.

In the House of Commons, after routine,

Mr. MACKENZIE requested the Government to lay on the table copies of all advice given to the Governor General re the Letellier dismissal and Orders in Council, etc., respecting the same.

The PREMIER, in reply, said that the advice was given by the Cabinet Council, and such was never brought down.

Mr. HOLTON argued that as the announcement of the circumstances to the House was an invitation of discussion all the papers should be produced.

After further discussion,

The PREMIER, in reply to a question by Mr. Desjardins, said that the Postmaster-General would sail for England by the next Canadian steamer, in order to urge the Government's case on the consideration of the Imperial Council. He added that the reference of the matter to England was done with the Government's advice, and the fact of their remaining in office was a proof that they assumed the responsibility of the Governor-General's action.

The PREMIER informed the House, in reply to a question by Mr. Ives, that the Government would move that the Easter vacation extend from Thursday till Tuesday next.

The debate on the tariff was resumed by Mr. WHITE (Cardwell), who addressed the House for two hours. He prefaced his remarks with an argument to prove that the Government had amply redeemed the promises made to the country before its accession to power. The report which credited the Premier with having promised a 35 per cent tariff could only convey the impression that the unenumerated list was to be 35 per cent. The telegram to Mr. Boyd stating that the tariff was only to be readjusted had certainly not been proven to be a falsehood if the report that a 35 per cent tariff had been promised be taken as correct, because the unenumerated list to-day was 20 per cent, or 15 per cent less than the Premier was alleged to have promised a western audience. He next reviewed the arguments which had been advanced against the tariff on books, and quoted statistics to prove that the duty would fall heaviest on cheap productions, which could as well be published in Canada. Proceeding, he considered a seriatim the Opposition arguments against the various leading features of the tariff, and in conclusion he claimed that the great desideratum of Canada was to have a policy which would bind together the various Provinces and their industries. Such a policy was that propounded by the present Administration.

not benefit farmers, who, unlike manufacturers, stood in a position of supplying the home market and having an excess for export, which surplus in foreign markets dictated the price of their produce.

Mr. THOMPSON (Cariboo, B. C.) favored the tariff only on condition that the Government constructed the Pacific Railway in British Columbia at once.

Mr. BURPEE (Sunbury, N. B.) spoke against the tariff, and argued that the operation of the tariff in the Province which he represented would be disastrous.

Mr. MACKENZIE next addressed the House. He commenced his speech by criticising the pretensions made by the Government that it had redeemed its promises to the electors, and he pointed out that only one set of promises had been redeemed—those made to the protectionist manufacturers of Ontario and Quebec—while those to the importing consumers of the Maritime Provinces had been overlooked. The tariff was so formed as to benefit the manufacturers alone—to benefit that class of which there had been fewer bankruptcies during the first three years than of any other. The labor of the workingmen was not protected, although one-half of the laborers employed on the public works of the Dominion during the past two or three years were from the United States, that policy which is the beau ideal of the protectionist's visions. Protection meant the advancement of special individuals or classes, and in his opinion there was no real difference between legislation which proposed to distribute property among all and destroy private ownership, and that which proposed to build up the fortunes of individuals. The distress common to all nations of the world had been seriously aggravated in the United States through the operation of protection, whereas Canada, under a moderate revenue tariff, had suffered less than any other country in the world. In Canada he believed the operation of the tariff would be such as to crush the growing export manufacturing business of the country. The departure of Canada from what might be called the traditional policy of the Empire could not contribute to the strengthening of the ties between Canada and the Mother Land. He concluded by moving the following amendment:—

"That the resolution be not now concurred in, but that it be resolved that while this House is prepared to make ample provision for the requirements of the public service and the maintenance of the public credit, it regards the scheme now under consideration as calculated to distribute unequally, and therefore unjustly, the burdens of taxation; to direct capital from its natural and most profitable employment, and to benefit special classes at the expense of the whole community; tending towards rendering futile the costly and persistent effort of this country to secure a share of the immense and growing carrying trade of this continent, and to create an antagonism between the commercial policy of the Empire and that of Canada that might lead to consequences deeply to be deplored."

The debate was then adjourned, and the House adjourned at 12:15 a. m.

Hanlan in England.

WHAT IS THOUGHT OF HIM.

The Newcastle Chronicle of the 19th ult., after stating that Hanlan had rowed twelve miles as his day's work—pretty good for a man with soft hands and innumerable ailments, says "the great majority of the Tynesiders who looked on at this first display of the Canadian's sculling did not seem to understand how such a slow stroke could be of any avail against the quick, powerful dashes of our best local scullers, and they did not fail to express themselves emphatically to that effect. There could be no doubt, however, that Hanlan got the weight of his body splendidly upon the stroke, that he feathered very prettily and obtained a strong grip on the water in an instant, and that he pulled his six inch blades through as evenly and with as much apparent ease as can be imagined."

On the 21st ult. the Chronicle says:—"Yesterday, Edward Hanlan had a couple of good spells of rowing on the Tyne in preparation for his match from the Mansion House to Scotswood Suspension Bridge, for £200 a-side, on May 5th, against John Hawdon, of Delaval. The weather, although dull, was not at all unfavorable for practice, and both in the morning and afternoon the tide was in magnificent condition for rowing. The Canadian got afloat from Greensitt's boat-house at half-past eleven in the forenoon, and rowed at a good pace against the flood as far as Benwell boat-house, where he turned, and steadily rowed up to above the New Cut. He struck both on the downward and upward journey very slowly, and occasionally stopped in order to pick his way, so that it was pretty evident he has not yet become accustomed to the course of the stream. About half-past four o'clock he was again afloat in the Judge Elliott boat, and was seen off by James Heasley, his trainer, and John Bright. The Canadian champion rowed steadily westward to a point up above Blaydon, where he turned and came away at about 32 strokes to the minute. This rate he was striking as he rounded the bend of the New Cut. Here he eased for a moment, and having observed that the course was all clear before him, broke away again at a like rate of striking, and kept it up for about half a mile, when he had another look around. Then, however, he dashed off, and as he neared the Scotswood Railway Bridge he was striking 33 strokes to the minute, a satisfactory spin being concluded at the boathouse. Hanlan uses a slider about four inches longer than that commonly fixed in English-built boats, and his sculls are about four inches shorter than those with which the scullers of this country propel their skiffs, being three inches shorter out-board and one inch inboard. His style of sculling strikes us as being remarkable easy and effective, and while his strokes are much above the average in length, they are clean pulled through, and the six-inch blades yesterday came out of the water with a swish. He is very quick back again, and there is not the slightest rocking motion in his boat. On the contrary she travels exceedingly steady, and yesterday he was undoubtedly going at an excellent pace."

Of Hanlon's style, Bell's Life of the 22nd that generally adopted, but he makes his boat travel at a rare pace, and never permits her to get out of hand. His style, indeed, strikes us as being both easy and graceful, and when we saw him off on Thursday afternoon, he worked up to 32 and 33 strokes a minute without much effort. His 6 in. bladed sculls are 3 in. shorter outboard, and 1 in. shorter inboard, but he pulls them through with great power, and his recovery and feather are all that could be desired."

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM.—Is warranted to break up the most troublesome cough in an incredibly short time. There is no remedy that can show more evidence of real merit than this Balsam for curing Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, &c.

A Slight Cough that we are so apt to consider a mere annoyance and treat with corresponding neglect, too often proves to be the seed sown for an inevitable harvest—CONSUMPTION. Immediate and thorough treatment is our only safeguard. A teaspoonful of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime given whenever the cough is troublesome, will afford immediate relief, and if persevered in will effect a cure even in the most obstinate cases.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St John, N. B; and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00.

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP can now be purchased right at home, it is the most successful preparation ever introduced to our people. It works like a charm in all cases of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhages, Asthma, severe Coughs, Croup and all other Throat and Lung Diseases. No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

ANNOUNCEMENT.

WE have been aware for some time that it is exceedingly distasteful to many ladies to have what they intend wearing in Millinery exposed to the view of the whole public, and handled, by they know not whom, and often copied by their next door neighbor before it is worn.

Accordingly we have determined hereafter not to make a public show of our newest imported styles and finer goods in this department, and further we find it necessary to adopt this course on account of our unusually large assortment this season, particularly in the richer descriptions of these goods, and prices have been made so moderate that we cannot afford to lose anything by indiscriminate handling, through which much fine work is destroyed, and the designs frequently copied and so made common. On and after

Tuesday, the 8th of April,

we shall be prepared to show in this department whatever may be enquired for, and our lady customers when suited may be assured that copies will not be made in any case without their consent.

In the Mantle Department will be found some very choice goods in the newest styles.

We beg here to state that all the other departments are now full and complete for the season, while prices are exceedingly moderate.

Ladies will please accept this intimation, as we do not purpose making further announcement.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9,

Some Local Matters.

As economy and retrenchment are now the order of the day—in the administration of the affairs of the Dominion as well as of our own Province—and as the local taxes press heavily upon every rate-payer, it is well to inquire, cannot the various services in connection with our municipal government be at least as efficiently conducted at a smaller annual cost? We are of opinion that they can, and there is precedent as well as example for warranting such a belief, in the cases of the cities of Toronto, London, Ottawa, and other places, which have of late very considerably reduced their expenses, and so far find that no ill results have followed. With this object in view, we will in this and succeeding issues particularize some items of expenditure in which it seems possible to make a reduction, and suggest a few improvements, the making of which would be of much public utility and certain to result in benefits to the municipality at least proportionate to the expenditure which they would necessarily entail. On these subjects we invite discussion, and will gladly accord space to short communications in reference thereto.

The first item in which it seems practicable to effect a saving is in the expenditure incurred in the lighting of the clock in the tower of the City Hall. The illumination of the clock causes an annual expense of, we are informed, about $700 per annum. As the clock, when illuminated cannot be seen by one-tenth of the population from such a distance as to see the hands, this is a manifestly useless expense, and ought to be got rid of at once, thus effecting a handsome annual saving and causing little or no inconvenience to the public. The clock ought also at once to be placed in a proper state of repair and suitably protected from the effects of the weather, from which cause it has suffered so much as to be at present in an almost useless state.

Another heavy expenditure is in connection with the gas and coal oil lamps, and in this also we are of opinion that a saving [illegible] year, an unwarrantably large addition—taking the financial position of the city into consideration—was made to the number of street lamps. Is it not possible to reduce the number of lamps considerably? The Council ought at all events to inquire closely into the subject, and in any case prevent the further erection of any additional lamps this year, as the gas bill is a very heavy one.

The Council having, under the Act passed by the Legislature at its last session, obtained control of the appointment and pay of the Police force, the time has now come when all matters relating to the force ought to be fully and carefully considered. A reduction in the number of officers and of their pay seems quite possible, as the duties of the men are very light, and their pay is now much larger than it was six years ago, when the purchasing power of money was not nearly so great as it is now. A vacancy at present exists in the force, and as there will no doubt be numerous applications for the position, the occasion will be an excellent one for the initiation of the enquiry above suggested. Most certainly the vacancy ought not to be filled until the whole subject has been carefully and maturely deliberated upon by a Committee and by the Council. If it be still in the power of the Commissioners to make this appointment, it is to be hoped that they will not do so until the Council expresses its wishes in the premises.

Another department into which economy can seemingly be introduced greatly to the advantage of the ratepayers is that of Streets and Sidewalks. Under the present system lime-stone—a most unsuitable material—is used for macadamizing our streets. This stone, being soft and easily pulverized, grinds very rapidly into fine powder under the wheels of vehicles, and is dispersed about before every breeze in blinding clouds of dust, which is not only annoying to the citizens generally; but particularly so to the merchants and trades' men, who not only have to tax themselves for the service of watering carts, but whose goods also suffer material damage from the dust. A harder and in every way more suitable material exists in large quantities in the city and in its immediate neighborhood. We refer to the boulders or "hard-heads," which are much harder than limestone and do not grind into a dust so fine and light as does that article. The cost of procuring and breaking this road metal would probably be heavier than that which is now used, but its durability is so much greater that the result would be a saving and a mitigation of the plague of dust with which the city is annually afflicted. Further, would it not be wise and economical to execute each year some work of a permanent character on Front Street, such as that which was done under the supervision of the late George Neilson, when Chairman of the Streets Committee, between Bridge and Campbell Streets. That part of the street remains in good condition with little expenditure for repairs, whilst the other parts of Front street have been a heavy annual expense. By carrying out our suggestion it would take but a few years to put the whole of Front Street east of the river in first-class condition, and a saving of no small magnitude would be the result that would follow. Then as to the sidewalks, it is generally conceded that pine is not the most economical material to build them with. True, its first cost is low, but its wearing qualities are bad, and in the end it proves a bad investment. An experiment was made with black ash, which, whilst nearly as cheaply procurable as pine, appears to stand wear very much better. There are other woods which might be used experimentally, and we advise the making of such experiments, with the view of ascertaining what description of wood can be most profitably used. As to the proposed opening of several streets, it does seem that in most of these cases there is no immediate necessity for the heavy expenditure which that work must involve. If it be necessary, the lands required might be secured after arbitration, and the work of grading, ditching and macadamizing left until a more suitable season.

A number of other subjects suggest themselves as worthy of notice, but we will forego reference to them at present, those touched upon being sufficient for discussion at one time. As above stated, we invite the citizens to express their views upon them, and offer the use of our columns for that purpose.

The "Globe" and Sir John A. Macdonald.

The Globe of yesterday contained a most disgraceful attack upon Sir John A. Macdonald in connection with the Letellier matter. In fact, such was its infamous character, that Sir John felt called upon to refer to it in his place in Parliament yesterday, and he did so first by quoting the paragraph in the Globe, which is as follows:

"Further developments affecting the present political crisis are being hourly made. Those which have become public property today in no wise reflect credit on the Premier. Indeed, in so discreditable a light does he appear, that the stigma of cowardice must be in future borne by him as a fitting complement of a long list of political crimes and ingratitude. There can be no doubt that he has sought to betray the confidence of the Governor-General, and make that illustrious personage a sacrifice to appease the wrath of the Government's Quebec followers. He was coward enough in doing this to take advantage of the Governor-General's position, which prevents him from replying to his slanderer. Such was the Premier's action when he informed the House he regretted the Governor-General had declined to follow his advice and dismiss Mr. Letellier, but had referred the matter to England for consideration. It has been learned from a reliable source that the Governor-General did not personally propose that the matter should be referred to England, but such was done at the personal solicitation of the Premier, who afterwards, in the House of Commons, sought to direct the venom of his angry Quebec supporters towards the Governor-General. The Marquis of Lorne was so shocked on reading the falsehood told by the Premier in the House of Commons on Thursday last, as reported in the newspapers, that he wrote a letter to Sir John sharply reprimanding him for his cowardly conduct. On Saturday morning the Premier was compelled to have an interview with his Excellency, and as a result of that interview, this afternoon, on the floor of the House of Commons, he con- [illegible] by the Governor-General was not made without the advice of the Government. A more disgraceful procedure than this on the part of a constitutional adviser to a viceroy or even a sovereign has scarcely ever been recorded. The Governor General, having his confidence in the integrity of the leader of the Government destroyed, has sent Captain Harvey, his A. D. C., to England as a special messenger bearing despatches, and to make such other verbal explanations as may be necessary."

Sir John's answer to this is thus given in the report:—

"This is verbatim et literatim, as sent over the wires by a friend of mine, and communicated to me in advance of the mail. I showed it to his Excellency and asked his permission to contradict it. I have his Excellency's permission to contradict this statement. When I asked him for this permission he said, "Certainly, if you think it worth while to contradict such reports. There is no foundation whatever for the statements made." (Loud cheers.)

The Globe certainly, in the face of the above facts, occupies a most contemptible position, being convicted of deliberate falsehoods. However, this is not the first time that veracious sheet has been convicted of similar crimes.

The Love of Adventure.—The Montreal Star says:—"Colonel McLeod, of the Mounted Police, wants 75 men to recruit his force and the Windsor has been besieged with applicants, somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000 having made application. At last, orders were given to "Tell any person who wants to see Col. McLeod about joining the Mounted Police, that he is not at home."

British Columbia.—A telegram from Victoria, British Columbia, April 8th, says: "In Parliament yesterday the leader of the Government asked the House to adjurn till the 16th inst., as he hoped by then to get definite information regarding the railway. Since the adjournment telegrams have been received from Ottawa, stating that the construction will be commenced this year, and the railway policy announced after Easter."

Accidental Death.—A despatch from Walkerton, April 8th, says:—"About twelve o'clock yesterday a little girl named Skeing was accidentally shot by her cousin, Charles Hudson, while she was in the house of young Hudson's father. It appears the boy took an old gun and went out to shoot. He marked one side of the house as a target and shot. The ball went through the wall of the house and struck the girl, entering at the left temple and coming out just below the right temple, causing instant death. Verdict, 'Accidental death.'"

Hon. Mr. Langevin.—At Three Rivers a crowd of people met the Hon. Mr. Langevin at the train on Monday night as he proceeded to Quebec on his way to England. The Postmaster-General addressed his constituents, thanking them for having come to meet him in such large numbers, and explained the motive of his trip to the mother country. He was repeatedly cheered throughout the course of his remarks, and the enthusiasm seemed to be a satisfactory endorsation of the action of the Government in the Letellier matter.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Tuesday, April 8.

The Board met at the appointed hour.

Present.—Messrs. W. A. Shepard, Chairman, Peck, Dr. Willson, Jas. Macoun, Jno. Macoun, I. Diamond, Northcott, Wensley, McGinnis, Johnson, Hudson, Dr. Tracy, Tennant, Newbery, Glass, and Rev. J. W. Burke.

The minutes of the last meetings were read and approved.

An extract was read from the report of Inspector Marling, on the High School, made in November last, declaring accommodation not sufficient for this fine and growing school; an additional teacher is imperatively required; work honest and faithful in all the classes; the school should have separate premises; order and discipline good.

The report was referred to the Committee on School management.

Mr. Tennent presented the report of the Building Committee, stating that they procured estimates for the erection of a school house in Coleman Ward, as per plans submitted at the last meeting. As per plan No. 1 the cost would be $4,150, and per plan No. 2, $2,750, including outbuildings, seating accommodation, fencing and heating apparatus.

The Board went into Committee on the report, Mr. Peck in the chair.

Mr. Newbery objected to the report, as not being signed and not giving detailed estimates.

Mr. Jno. Macoun said the motion referring the matter to the Committee did not ask for details.

Mr. Newbery further objected that the Report did not express an opinion and was not signed as required by the rules.

Mr. Tennant said the report contained all that was asked for.

Mr. Peck held that the Committee had previously expressed an opinion on the matter, and the report presented this evening contained what had been asked for.

Mr. Newbery wished to have a proper report, such as could be recorded, and would stand the test of law if need be. The report was not such as would be legal under their rules. It could, however, be attached to the former report.

Mr. Jas. Macoun contended that what they had to consider was that of last meeting. He wished all technical objections got over and business transacted.

The Chairman thought it necessary to have the report properly drawn up, addressed to the Board and signed, as suggested. The report could be put into proper form and signed in a few minutes.

It was then agreed that the report be withdrawn, attached to that previously presented, signed and reintroduced, which was done. The report, as then presented, recommends the erection of a school house as per plan No. 1, to accommodate 350 pupils and cost $4,150. No. 2 plan would accommodate 150 pupils and cost $2,750.

Mr. Tennant stated, in answer to Mr. Johnson, that as the Canifton Road school house is to be sold, the accommodations provided by No. 1 plan would soon be required. It was not their intention to finish the upper part of the school at present.

Mr. McGinnis asked what would be done for school accommodation in Bleecker Ward, if the Canifton Road School is to be closed, as the only other school there is now very nearly full, and of the 74 pupils attending the Canifton Road School only 24 lived in Coleman Ward.

Mr. John Macoun said the children of Coleman Ward had been for years attending the [illegible] school is built in Coleman Ward the Canifton Road School would be relieved of 24 pupils, and the remaining 50 could take the place of an equal number attending the Pinnacle Street and Central Schools. The smaller school would not accommodate the school population of the Ward.

Rev. Mr. Burke would like to obtain an idea of the popular wish with regard to the closing of the Canifton Road School.

Mr. Peck did not think there was any disposition to force the closing of the school in question unless it were found that it could be done without.

Mr. I. Diamond held that the children of the lower part of Bleecker Ward would have less hardship in attending the new school than for the children in the rear part of Coleman Ward and in Thurlow to attend the Pinnacle Street and Central Schools.

Mr. Wensley said it had always been agreed that what was wanted in Coleman Ward was a primary school to cost $2,500. This was satisfactory until within a few months. His opinion was that the members from that Ward want a school folly, in proposing to build a school larger than they require and not to finish it. It seemed to him to be ridiculous that it was to be easier for the pupils in Bleecker Ward to go to Coleman Ward School than for those in Coleman Ward to go to Canifton Road School. He would favor plan No. 2 but was opposed to the expenditure of $4,100.

Mr. Johnson stated that in March of last year the Board adopted a report of the Building Committee recommending the erection of primary school in Coleman Ward at a cost not to exceed $2,000. This action had not been rescinded, and he contended that it was not competent to proceed with a building as recommended in the report until their former resolution had been rescinded. The census enumerator's report showed that the school population of Coleman Ward is 209, or 21 less than last year, and of these 45 did not attend school at all, of whom only 7 were between the ages of 7 and 12, between which ages the attendance is compulsory. There is school accommodation for 140 more pupils than now attend school, and there was no necessity for such a building as the Committee propose. The school population of the Thurlow section is 85, of whom 36 did not attend, and of these 14 were between 7 and 12 years old. From these facts he submitted that a primary school with two class rooms is all that will be required for years to come, and all that the City can afford. The pupils living in the Grove and in the front part of the Ward generally will continue to attend the Central and Pinnacle Street schools. Therefore he argued that it was not reasonable to burden the taxpayers with an additional $1,400 as it was now proposed to do. He also condemned a two story school house, as dangerous to the pupils. For these reasons he opposed the report.

Mr. Tennant said the Committee's recommendation was based on the distinct understanding that the Canifton Road School should be closed and sold.

Mr. Johnson opposed the closing of the Canifton Road School as robbery of Bleecker Ward in the interest of Coleman Ward.

Mr. J. Diamond supported the report as doing justice to the various localities. He could not see how the smaller school house could accomodate the school population of the Ward. It would not be economy or wisdom to put up an insufficient building, and they had put off for a year in order to get a good building. He calculated that by not finishing the upper story of the large building, not more than $3,000 would be required. He would rather have a small building rented temporarily than have an insufficient building erected.

Mr. John Macoun contended that there was not, as Mr. Johnson stated, accommodation for 150 more pupils than are now in the schools, as the 10 teachers would therefore have nearly 94 pupils each. If a one story school house were erected, it would leave 134 pupils in Coleman Ward and Thurlow unprovided for. He had advocated a small school house for Coleman Ward in the first place, in order to get a school house at all, and now that they had decided for a school, he was pressing for a sufficient one. They had the population in Coleman Ward, and they wanted the school, and by erecting it they would relieve the schools now overcrowded and benefit education.

Mr. Northcott would like to hear from the Chairman of Finance, and would be guided by his opinion on the financial queston.

Mr. Glass said it would be impossible to get $2,000 more from the Corporation this year. They had better defer the matter until another year. He would favor a good school but they could not get the money.

Mr. Jas. Macoun advocated the using of the $2,500 now voted, which would put up the building. Then they could stop until the Council gave them the money to complete it.

Mr. Tennant did not think this looked like business. It would be better to postpone the matter until next year.

Mr. Johnson would like to see a good school house in Coleman Ward, but they could not afford it. If they subtracted from the school population of the Ward those who would have to go to the High and Central Schools, they would find that there were a very large number who would not attend the Ward School, being in the third book, and they were provided for already.

The motion for the adoption of the report was then put and lost by 9 to 6.

The Chairman said they had been anxious to give Coleman Ward a school to cost not over $2,500. All had been satisfied, and he regretted that the members favoring the $4,150 school had not seen fit to accept what the Board was willing to grant.

Committee rose and reported.

Mr. Peck moved, seconded by Mr. Tennant, to refer back the report to have plan No. 2 adopted.—Lost.

Yeas.—Messrs. Peck, Tennant, Wensley, Glass.—4.

Nays.—Messrs. Burke, I. Diamond, Hudson, Johnson, Jno. Macoun, Jas. Macoun, McGinnis, Newbery, Northcott, Tracy, Wilson.—11.

Mr. Jno. Macoun said he supposed that this ended the question as to a school house in Coleman Ward, as a one story school house could not be built within the approiation of $2,500.

Mr. Peck considered that the settlement was not satisfactory. What he wished was to have a school house in Coleman Ward, and for his part he was prepared to accept what the Board was willing to give, as they could not do better, namely a one-story school house. There would be no better chance of getting money from the City Corporation next year than this, as their financial affairs are mismanaged.

The Chairman said he had always been in favor of a school house for Coleman Ward [illegible] erection of one to cost $2,500.

Mr. Northcott suggested that plans for buildings not to exceed in cost $2,500 be procured from several of the architects in town.

Mr. Peck moved to reconsider the question.

Mr. Johnson objected, and the motion was ruled out of order for want of notice.

The motion was allowed to stand as a notice.

The Board adjourned.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9.

City and Vicinity.

HOT X BUNS.—Hambly advertises that he is prepared to supply these delicacies for Good Friday. See his advertisement.

POLICE.—It is stated that at a meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday, Constable McCoy was dismissed on charges preferred against him.

FURNITURE SALE.—Don't forget the auction sale of choice Household effects at Mrs. Buck's, corner of Bridge and Charles Streets, at 10 o'clock to-morrow (Thursday).

CLEAN UP.—It is now in order for the Street Committee to have the streets cleaned, and for the citizens generally to clean up their yards, as requested by the Board of Health.

SUGAR MAKING.—The weather is at present highly favorable for the operations of the maple sugar makers, and the consequence will be, or at all events ought to be, a larger "crop" than usual.

DANGEROUS.—The ice on the bay is rapidly becoming dangerous. One of the horses attached to the Picton stage broke through yesterday, and a number of similar accidents are reported.

GONE AT LAST.—The river is at last clear of ice, the portion which remained above the lower bridge having broken up yesterday. Thus the date of the ice's breaking up is this year forty-four days later than last season.

CONSERVATIVE MASS MEETING.—The Conservatives of the city are again reminded of the mass meeting in the Liberal Conservative Association rooms to-morrow night, for the selection of delegates to the Convention which will soon meet to choose a candidate for the Ontario Legislature.

CONCERT.—A Concert and Masonic Conversazione is to be held at Purdy's Hall, Trenton, on Easter Monday, April 14th. The object, we understand, is for charitable purposes, and deserves the support of the public. We understand a large number of ladies and gentlemen from Belleville and other adjoining towns and villages, will be present. The performance is to conclude with a dance.

FOR MANITOBA.—The number of emigrants who left Belleville this morning for Manitoba was nearly one hundred, many of whom were well-to-do farmers. Two cars were added here, namely one freight and one passenger car, and the train, which then consisted of twenty cars, was divided and proceeded on its way in two divisions, the first of which left here at about 8 o'clock a.m., the other train following a few minutes later.

THE FASHIONS.—In the concluding portion of our notice of Messrs. Ritchie & Co's display of fashionable novelties it was stated that small checks will be chiefly worn. It should have been stated that solid colored goods, chiefly beiges and goods of that description, will be principally worn, in combination with checks or brocade goods, corresponding or slightly contrasting in color, and in some cases with fringes.

MAUNDY THURSDAY. — To-morrow, the day before Good Friday, is known as Maundy Thursday. On this day Christ washed the feet of His disciples and gave them command to love one another; hence it is called dies mandati—Mandate or Maundy Thursday. Formerly the church doors used to stand open all day, signifying that all who would might come in. The ceremony first commenced in 1362 and for a long time the English kings observed the custom of washing the feet of a number of poor men equal to the years of their age, and of giving them shoes, stockings and money. Money and clothing are still given by deputy, but the feet-washing has long been discontinued.

PARDEE VS. LLOYD.—The Globe gives the following notes of Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot's judgment in this case:—"Arbitration; setting aside award; practice; improper conduct of arbitrator.—Where a notice had been served by one of the parties (the defendant) to an arbitration of his intention to move against the award in due time after publication, and the plaintiff thereupon served notice consenting to the award being set aside, but the defendant did not proceed with the motion, the Court, under the circumstances, held that the defendant could not afterwards set up delay as an answer to an application by the plaintiff for the purpose of having the award set aside. Any communication between one of the parties to an arbitration and an arbitrator on the subject of the reference of which the other party and the other arbitrators were not aware, and at which they were not present, is illegal, and renders the award invalid—an arbitrator being a judge whose duty it is to be indifferent between the parties. Therefore where it was shown that one of several arbitrators in one at least of such interviews consulted the defendant as to the modes in which the award might be framed, and asked the defendant which he preferred, these facts being withheld from the other arbitrators, the Court set aside the award and ordered the defendant to pay the costs."

Police Court.

DRUNKENNESS AND VAGRANCY.

James Swan on remand, and James Aikens, a new customer, were allowed to go.

Our town Druggists say the Pain Killer sells the best of any medicine they keep; during the hard times of the past year or two there were none too poor to pay their "quarter" for a bottle of this indispensible family medicine.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—The Editor of the Free Press gave its readers a piece of information regarding the man Beach which your reporter overlooked, viz., that he came from Beachville with "a fine team of horses driven behind a wood sleigh," but he fails to say whether the sleigh drew the horses, or the horses pushed the sleigh. In either case, the man who could achieve such a master-piece of teaming deserved a better fate than to be locked up. Could it be that the F. P. editor's ideas had become confused while trying to calculate what his share of the City printing should amount to, and in consequence he got the cart before the horse. Awaiting enlightenment,

Yours, A TEAMSTER.

MURDER IN MARKHAM.—A despatch from Stouffville, April 8th, says:—"An inquest was held to-day by Coroner Eckardt on the body of Catherine Thompson, aged 65, and who has been living alone four or five years in the seventh concession of Markham. She was found dead in her house yesterday by Mr. McDowell, of Unionville. Dr. Eckardt says she must have been dead for two or three days. Her head was fearfully cut with a sharp instrument and beaten with a chair which was covered with blood. A box had been broken open which had contained two purses of money, one of which was emptied and the other, containing $35, was left untouched. It is supposed she was murdered for her money. As yet there is no clue to the guilty party."

ANOTHER ZULU DISASTER.

A British Convoy Surprised and Cut to Pieces.

104 ATTACKED BY 4,000.

Sudden Assault in a Dense Mist.

Only Forty of the Troops Escape.

CAPETOWN, March 25.—A convoy of supplies proceeding from Derby in the Londina district of Luneburg on the Pougol river, escorted by 104 men of the 80th Regiment, was attacked at daybreak on March 12th, on the banks of the Intombe river by 4,000 Zulus under Umbelini. Owing to a previous alarm the British was under arms, but were overwhelmed by the enormous force of the enemy. Captain Moriarty and forty men were killed, and twenty are missing. The fate of the waggon drivers is unknown. Lieutenant Harwood, with forty men, succeeded in reaching Luneburgh. A hundred and fifty men of the 80th Regiment subsequently proceeded to the scene of the fight, recovered a quantity of rockets and ammunition, and buried the dead. Twenty waggons containing supplies were lost.

The relief column for Ekowe starts on March 26th.

A party of volunteers visited the battlefield of Isandula, and found that the Zulus left 100 waggons there, but removed the guns and ammunition.

A great meeting of Boers has commenced. The proceedings so far have been quietly conducted.

Transports with additional troops have arrived at Cape Town.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at Cape Town on the 24th of March. The meeting expressed confidence in Governor Frere, and thanked the Government for sending reinforcements.

LONDON, April 8.—A despatch from Cape Town says the convoy from Derby was obliged to encamp on the banks of the Intombe, as the river was too full to cross. Lieutenant Harward and the survivors were encamped on the Luneburg side of the river. Although there had been some previous alarms the surprise was complete. The sentry only saw the Zulus when they were within fifteen paces. Lieutenant Harward poured a steady fire across the river, and the Zulus lost heavily but were undaunted. Only fifteen of Captain Moriarty's men escaped across the river. They were sleeping in the wagons when attacked. The sentry was the only one who had time to fire. The scene of the surprise is a hollow, surrounded by long grass and weeds. One gun, which the Zulus had not removed, has since been recovered.

The relief column for Ekowe numbers 5,000.

A Cape Town despatch says much sickness is reported in Col. Pearson's command at Ekowe and provisions are getting scarce. There is reason to believe that 20,000 Zulus are posted near Ekowe.

A D'Urban despatch says the soldiers reported as missing at the disaster on the Intombe were probably drowned. The surprise occurred during a dense mist. Further fighting on the Intombe is reported.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

NEW YORK, April 9th.—The World's Fort Wayne special reports an interview with Hendricks, in which he approves of the action of Congress in insisting upon repealing political measures. I think Treasury notes should be substituted for national bank notes as rapidly as their charters expire. The banks are becoming a threatening power in our national politics. It is now plain that the leaders of the Republican party intend to revive sectional hostility, to create hatred between the North and South, and to hold their political power in the north. One question coming into prominence is that of centralization as opposed to the constitutional rights of northern, eastern, western, southern and all other States. The question of sectionalism, as opposed by a real sentiment of the union of the states and of the people, will have very much to do with the contest of 1880. Hendricks' denial is published in a statement that he would soon come out boldly for Tilden and declare that he did not feel under any obligations to again accept the second place upon the ticket, adding, "I was beaten in the last convention and I accepted my defeat, and became a candidate for an office which I did not desire. I don't think I am called upon to do this again." The publication of the cipher despatches no doubt developed the wicked purpose on the part of their authors, but it certainly established the facts that the votes in at least two States were for sale, and also that the Democrats did not buy them, while all the implicated Republican parties have now received offices from the President.

ST. LOUIS, April 9.—A bitter feeling exists between the Catholic and Protestant clergymen arising from the opposition of the former to the marriage license bill, which the Protestant ministers are attempting to have the Legislature pass. The Protestant ministers declared they would form a league for the support of civil laws. Father Walsh, representing the Catholics, publishes a statement that a league against the Catholic church would be met in the same spirit. He thought the action of the Protestant clergy simply ridiculous, and relied upon the Democratic party to sustain the church in its struggle.

PITTSBURG, April 9.—A despatch from Tilden was read at a meeting of the Tilden club last night in which he declared the Democracy were defrauded in 1876 of the fruits of their victory.

LEAVENWORTH, Ks., April 9.—A steamer from St. Louis has brought 250 more colored refugees, making 700 now encamped here. Many are very destitute, mostly farm hands.

NEW YORK, April 9.—The Hazen-Stanley Court-martial is now in session on Governor's island.

The true facts about the Vanderbilt litigation are at last discovered by the publication of correspondence, showing that Cornelius J. wrote a friendly letter to W. H. announcing the withdrawal of the suits. The latter then replied assuring the former that he would have no cause to regret his action. It is believed that after this settlement of litigation W. H. dealt generously with his brother and sister.

Palatable Castor Oil.

The ambiguity of these words would naturally excite ridicule in the mind of the reader, as we associate with the name the most sickening and unpalatable things our minds can conceive. But it is a fact that in SCOTT & BROWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL the nauseous properties are entirely removed, and it is as sweet and pleasant as cream; and in preparing it they have also eliminated all of its griping propensities, so that it is really the most delicious laxative and cathartic medicine ever administered, either to children or adults.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

PARIS, April 9.—The approaching visit of the Austrian Crown Prince to Madrid is believed to foreshadow the marriage of King Alphonso to Archduchess Maria, daughter of Archduke Charles.

A correspondent at Berlin says the Russian revolutionary Commander has sent letters to all the Imperial dignitaries at St. Petersburg saying, though they don't intend to attack the Czar, they will not cease to kill his attendants, especially the heads of the Police Department, so long as the treatment of the political prisoners is unameliorated.

LONDON, April 9.—Additional news from Cape Town about the disaster on the Intombe River report that besides the troops probably forty waggon drivers and followers were killed. Twenty-five Zulu corpses were found, and it is believed many more were drowned. The Zulus had ample time to get news of the convoy, as it was delayed at a ford three days by rains. The ford was only four miles from Lunenburg. It is thought there was great carelessness in selecting the position of the camp and in neglecting to send a larger force from Lunenburg to meet the convoy. Col. Pearson signals from Ekowe that he can hold out 10 days longer, till the 4th April, that his provisions only are short, and that he has plenty of ammunition. The Zulus are concentrated in large masses north of the Tugela River hidden in a dense jungle. Their numbers are unascertainable.

A Paris despatch says that Nubor Pasha has received a friendly hint that it would be prudent to quit Egypt. Several of the new Egyptian Ministry were denounced by the Commission of Inquiry of last year, as being responsible for mis-government.

There were serious riots last night at several colliery villages in Durham, near Consett. 16 policemen who were protecting non-strikers were injured. A telegram from Consett this morning feared that disorder will become general among the strikers, and rendered it desperate by a certainty that the strike cannot succeed.

LONDON, April 9.—A despatch from Soham, County of Durham, states that the miners in Houghton and Soham districts are determined to destroy the property of the owners and managers. One hundred police are stationed in Soham Hall. A conflict is imminent. Colliery managers are leaving or barricading their houses.

Bourke, Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs, has gone to Paris to confer with the French Government about the Egyptian crisis.

BERLIN, April 9.—The amount of revenue the Government estimates to be derived from the new protective duties is one hundred million marks.

NEW YORK, April 9.—By the order of the Delaware, and Hudson Canal Company, 50,000 tons of Lackawanna coal was sold to-day. The attendance was large; bidding not spirited; prices showed a falling off from the last month's sale of from 12 to 25cts.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., April 9.—At the New York east M. E. Conference the Rev. Seneca Howland, of Islip, L. I., was found guilty of dishonesty and suspended for a year.

COFFEE VILLE, Miss., April 9.—The greater portion of the business part of the town was burned this morning. Loss $40,000.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, April 9.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, fresh to brisk southerly to easterly winds, increasing cloudiness, followed by rain areas to-morrow. For the St. Lawrence, fresh westerly to southerly winds, clear to partly cloudy warmer weather. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh westerly to southerly winds, clear to partly cloudy, warmer weather.

Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

The British Sphinx.

(From the London Truth)

No man—not even Lord John Manners or Mr. Montague Corry, his best, most trusted friend—is able to boast that he has obtained a glimpse of "the Sphinx's" true mind. Visit Lord Beaconsfield at Hughenden, and you find an amiable old gentleman, who converses with a languid interest about music and painting, with some animation about turnips and cattle, whereof he is a connoisseur ; and with no fire at all, but rather a demure composure, about politics and the spread of Catholicism in England. He is a good talker, and talks much, but in a somewhat loud, grating voice, which only grows tuneful when he warms. He likes flowers, perfumes, fruit ; he drinks a great deal of black coffee ; he never smokes ; and he dresses to perfection, knowing exactly what style of clothes best suits him. Into newspapers he scarcely ever dips ; and, oddly enough, he neither speaks French nor is sufficiently acquainted with the language to enjoy its literature. Sometimes, when sitting alone, he rests his head on his brow and gazes into the fire, or out of the window upon fair Buckinghamshire scenery, by the half hour. His thoughts are far away from England then, and possibly roaming in some dreamland where a regenerate Jewish race holds the sceptre of the world. When Montague Corry comes in with despatches, the premier shakes off his reverie, and proceeds to business with the subdued manner of one who touches earth again after having soared in the clouds.

Foreign Echoes,

Queen Margaret of Italy is an enthusiastic dancer. At a recent ball she wore a train of white stamped velvet, with petticoat and bodice of crimson satin, richly embroidered with gold.

Bismarck gave a dinner to the members of the Diet a little while ago, and provided them with beer from the Royal Brewery. Two barrels of this were soon consumed, and the Prince's butler was then compelled to fall back upon the ordinary local beer.

The French are a curious people. Two army surgeons have just fought a duel in the Bois de Vincennes. One wounded the other badly, and then fraternally dressed his opponent's wound and helped him to a carriage. Having thus proved his gallantry and humanity, he went home and—committed suicide.

Prof. Virchow, in a recent address on the Oriental plague to the Berlin Medical Society, drew the attention of his hearers to a method of disinfecting advocated by Bulard, who asserts that if infected articles are plunged into cold water during some hours, the contagious germs will invariably be destroyed.

There was an extraordinary scene in a Roman Catholic church at Warrington, England, the other day. During mass a Sergeant in a militia cavalry regiment drew his sword, and leaping to the altar, proceeded to cut everything upon it to pieces. The unfortunate man had gone mad. He declared that Christ had appeared to him, and ordered him to destroy the Pope.

Trichinosis seems to be becoming common all over the world. Twelve workmen in a brewery at St. Petersburg were attacked by this horrible ailment a short time ago, and their symptoms, being misunderstood at first, gave rise to a report that the plague had broken out, and for a little while there was a general panic. Diseased pork, as usual, was at the bottom of the mischief.

The Shoeblack Brigade of Liverpool are hopeless gamblers, and their devotion to this aristocratic vice is a source of great uneasiness to their worthy superintendent, who has confiscated three hundred packs of cards in a year without exhausting the supply. The games to which these abandoned young ruffians are most addicted are "bank" and "ribbon," terms which our readers can translate to please themselves.

Lord Chelmsford has said he had no idea what a difficult country Zululand was till he got into it. It looks, indeed like a miniature Afghanistan. All along the west side of the narrow Amatonga plain rises a steep ridge of mountains of from 5,000 to 7,000 feet, sinking gradually in the west to a rough and broken table land of about 2,000 feet, which is again bounded towards Transvaal by another range of from 5,000 to 7,000 feet.

Blondin, the hero of Niagara, as he loves to call himself, is still pursuing his perilous course upon the tight rope, after making and losing half a dozen fortunes. He is now performing with great success in the London Aquarium. He disdains the precaution of a netting beneath his rope, his long years of immunity from accident having strengthened his old confidence in his skill and good luck. His self-possession is absolute, bnt the blunder of an attendant nearly cost him his life years ago, and in his case the first mishap is almost certain to be the last.

It is not generally known how near the Zulus came, after the disaster at Isandula, to bagging Lord Chelmsford himself and his entire staff. The General would have ridden quietly into camp, which was in the possession of his savage foes, and was already within rifle-shot of it, when he met an officer, who had escaped, and warned him of the true condition of affairs. The Zulus after victory dressed themselves in the uniforms of their victims, and prepared an ambush which would almost certainly have succeeded, had not one of them impetuously fired his rifle at Lord Chelmsford's informant instead of quietly assegaiing him in true African fashion. The bullet missed its mark, and the officer galloped off just in time to save his commander.

The largest bridge in Europe will be completed next year. It will cross the Volga in the Government of Samara, Russia, on the Siberian Railroad line. The Volga, at the point of the bridge, is about four miles wide in the spring season, and in autumn is 4,732 feet. The bridge will be supported by 12 piers 85 feet high, with ice-cutters 35 feet high, at a distace of every 364 feet. The ice-cutters are covered with granite. The iron work is from Belgium. A temporary colony is established for workingmen employed on the bridge; it occupies about 55 acres, and has 60 different buildings, insured at 100,000 roubles. Two thousand men are employed, and among them are one hundred Italian masons. Three steamers and seventy barks are used constantly for forwarding wood, stone, iron, and other materials. The bridge will cost 4,630,000 roubles, or about $3,500,000.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS ?

Sickness prevails everywhere, and everybody complains of some disease during their life. When sick, the object is to get well ; now to say plainly that no person in this world that is suffering with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and its effects, such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, palpitation of the Heart, Depressed Spirits, Biliousness, etc., can take GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER without getting relief and cure. If you doubt this go to any Druggist in Belleville and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. d&w

A Crisis.

Suppose that upon the announcement of each new invention, all using similar inventions should order at once, who can fancy the bedlam that would ensue? How novel to use a new patent churn daily, and wash three or four times a week in order to keep pace with the new washing and wringing machines that would pour in from every quarter! Think of the farm covered with patent ploughs, rakes, mowers, etc., etc. Think, too, of the poor invalid who would only have time to draw the cork, and take one dose of the latest medicine, when the druggist would rush in with a still later, much better, more certain, and more catholicon. Fortunately, the people are conservative, and reluctantly discard the trusted, tried, and trusted, for the glamour of new. Nowhere is this principle better demonstrated than in the steady and gradually increasing sale of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, which for over a quarter of a century has held the field against all others and has from one generation to another given entire satisfaction. Its cures are numbered by thousands.

A Great Mistake !

The generally entertained notion that if the stomach or any internal organ is oppressed, pain will be felt in the organ itself, is altogether fallacious. Many of the worst dyspeptics never feel any uneasiness about their stomachs. Pain is invariably felt in the weakest and most sensitive organ, and many an aching head, palpitating heart and oppressed brain are the result of a small slice of cake, or a few lumps of sugar, or a piece of pie or some other indigested or indigestible stuff that is fermenting in a stomach too much calloused by abuse to give direct evidence of the poisons it wishes to reject. Thus writes one of our most distinguished physicians who has made stomach troubles his speciality for thirty years. And he is right. The proper thing to do is to use DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS and infuse new life into the stomach, while expelling the debris lodging there. The most delicate stomach will retain them and they never fail to do their work. Try them.

PROLAPSUS UTERI (Falling of the Womb.) A WONDERFUL CURE.—Nine years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where females are treated ; tried them all ; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—" By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION
PURE COD LIVER OIL
WITH
HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

TUESDAY, April 8.

In the House of Commons Mr. DeCosmos introduced a resolution to provide for the peaceful separation of British Columbia from the Dominion. He said he did this in order to test the sincerity of those hon. members who frequently spoke contemptuously of the Pacific Province. In concluding his remarks, he asserted that the people of British Columbia had no faith in either of the two political parties. The motion having no seconder was dropped.

The Minister of Justice introduced Bills to amend the Supreme and Exchequer Courts Act, to amend the Act providing for a speedy trial in Ontario and Quebec of persons charged with felony and misdemeanor, and a third respecting the Andrew Mercer Reformatory for Females.

The Minister of Public Works informed the House he did not think it expedient to make public the engineers' report on the tenders for the Canada Pacific Railway contracts, recently let, but he was willing to permit the leader of the Opposition privately to pursue the same, or indeed any prominent member of the House.

Both Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Holton declined the offer, on the ground that it would tie their hands when discussing the question.

Mr. MACDOUGALL objected to individual members of the House being made acquainted privately with documents relating to public matters. If the engineers' report contained matters not desirable for publication, such portions should be eliminated, and the remainder laid on the table. In the interest of the supporters of the Government, who were desirous of defending its actions, the report should be made public, inasmuch as suspicions had been entertained by some persons that the contracts had not been fairly awarded.

The Minister of Public Works claimed that to eliminate portions of the report would lay him open to a charge of garbling. He denied that suspicious respecting the awarding of the contracts were entertained, and demanded that such suspicions should be formulated into a district.

The tariff debate was resumed by Messrs. Caron and Kilvert, who in short speeches advocated protection, and claimed that the new tariff would work a beneficial influence on commerce and the manufacturing industries of the country.

Mr. BECHARD, in a somewhat longer address, criticised the tariff from a Quebec standpoint, and contended that the duties imposed would cripple the shipping and carrying trades, and be oppressive on the habitans.

The Premier rose to a question of privilege, and contradicted, by permission of the Governor-General, a statement made in the Ottawa correspondence of the Globe re the Letellier matter before referred to.

Messrs. Vallee, Rochester, and Methot, each in brief addresses, contended that the National Policy met the requirements of the people, and was precisely what was demanded on September 17th last.

Mr. ROGERS criticised the tariff from a New Brunswick point of view, argued that its influence would be disastrous to the interests of that section of the country.

Mr. TROW addressed the House in opposition to the tariff.

Mr. COUGHLIN furnished statistics to show that agricultural protection was possible in Canada.

Mr. GUNN dealt principally with the anticipated effect of the tariff in relation to the sugar refining industry, and contended that the benefit to the country by refining its own sugar would not be sufficient recompense for the tax on the consumers.

The debate was then adjourned.

After several Bills had been advanced a stage,

The House rose at 12:15 a. m.

Facts and Figures.

Over 2,000,000 pigs were slaughtered in Prussia in 1878.

Last year bankrupt liabilities in England were £65,886,850 ; assets, £5,989,154.

Since its foundation in 1795 the present Paris mint has coined 1,700,000,000 gold pieces.

In the past seven months more than $50,000,000 has been deposited in French savings banks.

The number of salaried and fee officials in the pay of the city of New York, aggregates 6,561 or one to every fifteen voters.

There are said to be 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 people in France who eat no bread subsisting on chestnuts and vegetables.

The total exports of butter from Boston since Jan. 1 have been 23,335 packages, against 3,717 for corresponding period of last year.

The imports of wool into Great Britain during 1878 were 1,228,210 bales being a falling off of nearly 40,000 as compared with the imports in 1877, the difference being chiefly in colonial wools.

The area of the New England States is about the same as that of England and Wales, but the population of the last named is 23,000,000 or between six and seven times the population of New England.

The average number of acres in farms in Vermont is 134, and the farm stock kept on each is, of horses (to be particular is regard to fractions), 2¼; milch cows, 6¼; oxen and young cattle, 4; sheep, 14; and swine, 1½.

According to a return just issued there were 3,996,027 cattle, 3,989,178 sheep, and 1,467,999 swine in Ireland in 1877, and during the same year there were 640,873 cattle, 631,159 sheep and 585,427 swine exported from that country.

The population of the United States is about thirteen to the square mile, while the population of China is 123 to the square mile. And yet China with the densest population on the globe supports its people without the importation of food.

The New York Times says the amount of tobacco produced in the United States in 1877 were 195,500,000 pounds. Of this the people consumed 184,000,000 pounds—over four pounds for each man, woman and child. In England the average is nearly one and a half pounds—only about one third as much as we use.

Reports from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa Nebraska, Kansas, Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and Missouri show that the yield of winter wheat for the year will, it is thought, be about 30,000,000 bushels against 27,092,900 bushels last year.

The thirty-three counties which form the dairy area of New York make annually 83,478,730 pounds of butter, and 95,988,730 pounds of cheese ; while the butter products of the entire State is 111,873,361 pounds and the cheese product 98,725,172 pounds.

In Africa, native adherents of the different Protestant communities already number 182,000. Of these 78,000 were represented at the Presbyterian Council ; 82.000 belong to other evangelical societies ; while 20,000 adhere to the Angelican South African Church.

It is estimated that there are in the United States 5,000,000 males of all ages in business. Of these, 7,000,000 are engaged in agriculture ; 2,900,000 manufacturing and mining ; 3,000,000 professional and personal ; 1,500,000 trade, commerce and transportation.

In Leipsic 14 out of every 1,000 dwelling places are in cellars and 104 higher than the third story. In Berlin the corresponding numbers are 108 and 83 ; in Hamburg, 58 and 38 ; in Dresden 38 and 183 ; while Pesth, notwithstanding an annual inundation, has 108 families in its cellars and 5 only of every 1,000 above the third story.

According to the Agricultural Gazette (London, Eng.(of March 3, the wholesale prices of American provisions in that market are as fellows : Cheese 4 to 10 cents, butter 10 to 22 cents, bacon 5 to 7 cents, hams 6 to 10 cents, lard 7 to 8 cents, the highest quotations being for qualities equal to those of the best English production ; indeed they are quite frequently sold as such, American cheese being labelled as "Cheshire," and American beacon as "Wiltshire," "Irish," "Cumberland" and "Home-grown."

EKOWE.

COL. PEARSON'S POSITION.

Ekowe (pronounced Ekowtake) is the oldest and abandoned missionary stations in Zululand, and is well provided with substantial buildings, including a chapel and farm-house. It is about thirty-five miles from the Tugela, in an open country not favorable to the Zulu tactics of night surprises. While at Ekowe, and bringing up the train, the Colonel beard of the disaster of Isandlana, the practical wiping out of part of Lord Chelmsford's column, and had instantly to change his plans. Fearing that if he retreated the victorious Zulus from Rorke's Drift might join those hovering about him and overwhelm his column, and knowing that by remaining where he was he would keep a large portion of Cetewayo's force occupied, and probably save Natal from invasion, he promptly determined upon intrenching himself at Ekowe and waiting until reinforcements from England would permit Lord Chelmsford to come to his aid. He "weeded down" the force and sent back part, with the cavalry, all the native contingnent, and the sick, retaining about 1,200 men, enough to hold the intrenchments, and yet not more than he could feed. The force shut up in the Plevna of Zululand is as follows :—

Colonel Charles Knight Pearson, commanding.

Third Regiment (Second Battalion), Lieutenant-Colonel H. Parnell, six companies.

Ninety-ninth Regiment, Colonel Welman, three companies.

Naval Brigade, Captain Campbell, R.N. 128 men.

Royal Artillery, Lieutenant W.N. Lloyd, R.A., twenty-three men.

Natal Pioneers, one company.

Guns—Two 7-pounders, two 7-pound muzzle-loading guns, one Gatling, one rocket-tube.

At the same time Colonel Pearson placed Major Barrow in command at the Lower Tugela, where he is established in two forts, Pearson and Tenedos, one on either bank of the river, with three companies of the Ninety-Ninth Regiment and two of the Third, forth-three men of the Naval Brigade, two 12-pounder guns, a squadron of mounted infantry, half a troop of Natal Hussards, and four troops of mounted rifles. These forces have regularly partrolled the country and with a torpedo company make the river sure.

The Zulu forces immediately in front of Colonel Pearson are about 9,000 strong, but the whole country fairly swarm with Zulus within easy reach should it be necessary for them to attempt to storm the place or attack a reinforcing column. The two Zulu corps conducting the siege are the Umsinyati (married) and the Nkobamakosi (unmarried regiments.

Ekowe is quite impregnable. The camp is small but compact and well protected by earthworks seven feet high, so constructed that those inside can see the enemy while the enemy cannot see the heads of the defenders, and a ditch seven feet deep and ten feet wide. Ammunition for all arms there is in abundancee. The only chance the Zulus have is to delay Lord Chelmsford's advance from the Lower Tugela (Fort Tenedos) till they can starve out the garrison. The Zulu strategy has certainly been clever. They began by destroying the roads so that in any case the advance of a relieving force must be slow, and then put in circulation a story that they had attacked Ekowe in immense force and been disastrously routed, which seems to have for a time answered their object of delaying the despatch of reinforcements. The rumour that Colonel Pearson had made a sally and burned Cetewayo's old kraal was probably a story of the same sort.

Colonel Charles Knight Pearson, half-pay, Third Regiment ("Buffs"), entered the army November 23, 1852, as ensign in the Thirty-first Regiment. He served as adjutant of his regiment in the Crimea from September 3, 1855, including the seige and fall of Sebastopol, and the attack of the 8th of September (medal with clasp and Turkish medal) ; was promoted to major May 2, 1865 ; lieutenant-colonel August 14, 1867, and colonel August 14, 1872, and went on half-pay November 30, 1878. He, however, returned on the breaking out of the Transvaal war.

There is always room for men of force—live men ; the smartest must take the lead. Most men are capable of greater things than they perform, and all require the proper opportunity. A feeble man can see the farms that are fenced and tilled, the houses and barns that are actually built, but a strong man sees possible houses and thrifty farms.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 10.

A Sensible View of the Situation.

The English press has generally condemned the new Canadian tariff, therefore it is refreshing to read the following sensible opinion from the London Spectator—a Liberal journal of large circulation amongst the middle classes and of great influence :—

"The question is—What can be, and ought to be, expected from a country wrongly convinced, no doubt, but still convinced of the superior wisdom of Protection, in deference to the mere feelings and wishes of another country, united to it by ties of race and empire? We maintain that it is just as absurd to expect from such a dependency the waiver of a protectionist policy of great importance, in deference to the supposed interest and the clear wishes of the Mother Country, as it would be to expect from the Mother Country the waiver of her own free trade policy, in deference to the supposed interests and clear wishes of her colonies and dependencies. It is not politics, it is not common sense to look for such sentimental sacrifices in such a region. A State which has made up its mind, however wrongly, that a protectionist policy is essential to its prosperity, it is just as little to be expected to make great inroads on that policy in deference to the wishes of the Supreme Government as the Supreme Government ought to be expected to make great inroads on its Free Trade policy in deference to the wishes of dependencies. But it may be asked : "Is nothing more owed by the colony to the Mother Country, who takes the military responsibility of the empire, than is owed by the Mother country to the Colony, who takes upon herself nothing of the kind?" The answer is,—that, in the first place, we have done all in our power of late years, and perhaps very wisely,—to make our colonies feel that they must as far as possible at least, depend upon themselves for their own military defence; and next, that the kind of return which we ought to expect for our provisional protection from invasion, is their similar willingness, of which we have had plenty of evidence, to supplement our military resources, in case of a great war, by their aid. It is not reasonable to expect that our colonies should express their gratitude for our protection by what they think commercial sacrifices. That is a thoroughly mercantile view of the relation, and very false one too. For loyal defence, loyal assistance is the natural return. For loyal sentiments in the Mother Country, loyal sentiments in the colonies is the natural return. But to expect Canada or any other country to buy our protection by adopting a commercial policy which to her seems ruinous, is at least as unnatural as to expect that private devotion should be requited by money, and love by wealth. Let us leave Canada at liberty to make her own blunders, and also her own discoveries as to those blunders, without complicating the matter by reproaches which are out of taste, as well as out of season."

The view which is above expressed will probably after a time prevail more generally in England than it does now, as the reflection that the people of the Dominion are above suspicion as regards their loyalty to the empire has time to commend itself more thoroughly to the minds of thinking men. The John Bright school of politicians not many years ago contemptuously told Canada to shift for herself, which disloyal proposition was not only rejected by Canada, but aroused the indignation of the governing classes in the mother country and called forth from the poet laureate an indignant protest which will not be forgotten during the present generation at least. Lately the same "liberal" head of this un-English party with a rare regard for "liberal" principles sought to coerce the people of Canada into the adoption of a commercial policy against which they had pronounced by an overwhelming majority, but fortunately their tyrannical scheme failed utterly, and it is they who inspire[to a large extent the utterances of the organs of public opinion, which have been most largely quoted in this country.

The English newspaper writers do not appreciate the peculiarities of our position, hence they denounce what they cannot understand, in the endeavor to apply a cast-iron rule where experience has proved that it is totally inapplicable. As the Spectator truly suggests, let us discover our own blunders if we have made any. Time will show, and ours will be the loss if the new policy proves to be a mistake, but on this score we have not the slightest fear.

Canards.—It is astonishing how canards are manufactured in Ottawa. The press and telegraph correspondents there are developing a fertility of resource which reminds us of the days of the "little unpleasantness" across the border, when the stories telegraphed to-day were contradicted to-morrow, to be repeated the next, modified the next, and denied the day following. It is now said that the story that Capt. Harvey, A. D. C., has been sent to England in connection with the Letellier difficulty is entirely incorrect. He was summoned to England by a cable telegram, on affairs entirely private and personal, which will require his presence there for a short period, after which he will resume his duties on His Excellency's Staff. The Free Press is authority for the above, a fact which probably is worth mentioning, as mayhap the story may be contradicted in a day or two by the same paper.

—The body of a man fearfully mangled was found on the 8th inst, on the railway track, near St. Thomas. It was identified as that of John Anderson of Kingston.

The Zulu War.

The aspect of affairs in Zululand, which a few days ago seemed to be more promising even than had been anticipated, has by latest advices been not a little clouded. In the early part of the week it was announced that Uham, a brother of king Cetowayo, a prominent leader amongst his people, and a possible aspirant to the throne, had surrendered unconditionally, together with his eldest son and three hundred warriors. The additional intelligence that Cetowayo himself had again offered to negotiate was further re-assuring, as was also the news that Colonel Pearson's force in Elrove, although closely beleaguered, were still safe and in good spirits.

The intelligence, however, of another disaster to the British arms on the banks of the Itowho river, where of 104 men of the 80th Regiment engaged in guarding a convoy, upwards of one half had been surprised during a fog and massacred by a force of 4,000 Zulus, throws a cloud over the fair prospect with which the week opened, and renders the result of negotiations with the barbarian ruler still more precarious than heretofore. For every additional life which has been taken by his warriors, compensation will be exacted from the savage potentate, who, having already gone to war rather than yield what in the first instance was demanded of him, will not unlikely, though afraid of the force now being brought against him, prefer continuing the struggle to the bitter end rather than yield to the terms which will now be presented to him for acceptance.

In the latter alternative there can be no doubt of the final result, although much blood will be shed and a great deal of treasure will be expended in carrying the war through to a successful issue. Several of the transports with troops have arrived at Durham, Cape Town and Simon's Town, according to latest advices, and news either of stirring import or of the submission of the Zulus may be expected soon. In the meantime, much interest will be felt in the movements of the column which is on the march to relieve Col. Pearson's command at Ekowe, and we believe much depends upon the success of the operations in that vicinity, as should the natives meet with a severe defeat they may not unreasonably be expected to sue for peace immediately thereafter.

Canal Statistics.

The returns brought down by the Commissioner of Inland Revenue show that during the year 1878, there was quite a decrease in the Canal revenues. The decreases were as follows :—

Welland Canals	$37,959
Chambly	3,514
Rideau	284
Ottawa canals	3,073
Newcastle District canals	161
Total	$44,991

The increases are on the two following canals :—

St. Lawrence Canals	$1,991
Burlington Bay	104
Total	$2,095
Net decrease or 11.38 per cent.	$42,897

During 1878 the quantity of flour, wheat, barley, corn, rye, and other vegetable food carried through the Welland Canal, as compared with 1869, decreased 46.87 per cent. while that of the Erie Canal increased $12,890. On the other hand, the transport of heavy goods, including iron, salt, coal, and iron ore, through the Erie Canal, shows a decrease in the same comparison 33.96 per cent., while the decrease on the Welland is considerably less than one per cent. The vegetable food passed through the Welland Canal in transit between ports in the United States shows as compared with 1869 an increase of 52.26 per cent., while that of heavy goods has decreased 9.24 per cent. Statistics are produced showing that, notwithstanding the modification of the Erie Canal tolls, the proportion of the total volume of freight of the description mentioned carried by railways has increased from 6.25 per cent., in 1877 to 6.58 per cent., in 1878. The tariff on the States canals has been again modified for the current year, the rates being generally reduced, and a large proportion of the articles included in the above statement will now pass free, such as pork, beef, bacon, cheese, butter, lard, wool, flour, cornmeal, live cattle, and other articles of minor importance.

Education Conference.—A Normal Education Conference is to be one of the attractions at Thousand Island Park this summer. It will open on the 11th of August and will continue a week. Mr. Jas. Hughes, School Inspector, Toronto, is Secretary. It will be international.

P. E. Island Election. — The local elections in Prince Edward Island came off on the 9th inst., and resulted in the overwhelming triumph of the Liberal-Conservative Government. As far as known only three Grits have been elected. The ex-Premier and Attorney-General Davies and ex-Commissioner of Works, Stewart, have been badly beaten.

Bank Stocks Rising.—As one of the surest signs of improving confidence under the Administration of the present Government, and the wise protective policy they have adopted, we have the gradual improving rise in Bank Stocks. Ever since the National Policy was first introduced, the stock of nearly every bank has risen in value from 5 to 15 cents, and the tendency is still upwards.

From South Africa.—A cable special from London says :—Yesterday a private telegram from Cape Town was received here announcing that some native runners had brought to Maritzburg the intelligence that Col. Pearson had organized a sortie to make an attempt to cut his way out of Ekowe, and that the sortie had been attacked by the Zulus and repulsed, nearly all of the party being killed. This announcement is now discredited by the Government, from the fact that they have to-day received despatches from Lord Chelmsford, in which he makes no mention concerning a sortie or disaster of any kind to Colonel Pearson's command at Ekowe. Had such information been received at Cape Town from runners, there is not the least doubt but Lord Chelmsford's despatch would have mentioned it.

The Spring Assizes.

Thursday, April 10.

Colclough vs. Union Mutual Life Insurance Co.—This was an action brought by the widow of the late Wm. H. Colclough, Grand Trunk Station Agent, Trenton, for the amount of $500, being one-fourth share of two $1,000 policies of insurance on the life of her husband, who died suddenly last May. The Company resisted the claim on the ground that the deceased had committed suicide. Dr. McMichael, Q. C., and Delany & Ostrom for the plff.; W. R. Mulock and W. B. Northrup for the deft.

The first witness called was H. W. Delaney, who proved the death of the insured, and that he had left a widow and three children, one of whom had since died. This was the case for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Colclough, the plaintiff, was sworn for the defence and examined by Mr. Mulock. She stated that on the day before her husband's death she learned from him that the Grand Trunk Auditor had called upon him, and spoke of his cash being short ; her husband said he was short in his cash ; he seemed nervous about it and said he was discouraged ; he was low spirited ; he got up between 7 and 8 next morning and went on duty ; he had been for upwards of 9 years in the service of the Company and station master at Trenton for five years ; about half an hour afterwards he came back to the house ; he was then sick at the stomach and vomited ; the color of the matter which he vomited was blue, and he seemed to be in great pain ; but did not tell witness what he had taken ; he said he was sick, and to send for the operator ; did not ask for a doctor ; did not remember saying to him that she would send for a doctor ; he seemed to be in great pain and continued so until he died, about four hours later ; did not say what was the matter with him or what he had taken ; do not know what was the matter with him. Her husband was a man of rather sensitive disposition. Dr. Day attended him in his last illness ; he arrived about 8:30 ; did not know what the doctor treated him for ; heard from the doctor afterwards ; the effort was to make him vomit ; was not in constant attendance upon him, but he appeared to be conscious, answering when spoken to. Had seen the material used in telegraph batteries. The doctor said her husband had taken vitriol ; supposed that he knew it was poisonous, having used it for a number of years.

To Dr. McMichael,—Had noticed that her husband was unwell for a week previous to his death ; sent for Dr. Day the night before ; the doctor left two powders ; had given him no medicine previously.

To Mr. Mulock.—It was after the Auditor's visit that the doctor was sent for ; did not think her husband was quite as well after he had seen the Auditor.

John Payne was sworn and testified that he is Traveling Auditor of the Grand Trunk Railway ; went to Trenton to make inquiries as to certain irregularities in the accounts of Mr. Colclough, who did not expect his arrival ; took note of the matter and investigated the general accounts ; decease left the office between 12 and 1 o'clock and returned about 5 ; found that the accounts had not been audited for three months ; there was not sufficient in the till to meet the balance due the Company ; he admitted that there was a deficiency in his cash, he not having on hand the money belonging to the Company.

Mrs. Charlotte Forrest testified that she lives at Trenton Station ; on the morning of Mr. Colclough's death was asked to send for a doctor for him ; sent for Dr. Day, and went into Colclough's dwelling ; he was in the kitchen and vomiting blue matter ; asked what he had done—what was all the world to him compared to his poor soul ; he asked God to forgive him ; did not hear the doctor say what he was treating deceased for ; Colclough did not say what was the matter.

Dr. H. W. Day testified that deceased exhibited all the symptoms of poisoning from a corrosive poison ; did not ask him what he had taken ; treated him for poisoning with sulphate of copper, such as is found in telegraph batteries ; some one in Colclough's presence said he must have taken considerable ; witness said "yes," and deceased assented by nodding his head ; saw outside the station door an inverted porous cup from a telegraph battery, and there were crystals of sulphate of copper beneath it. The cause of death was the nervous shock from an irritant taken into the stomach—in his opinion sulphate of copper, of which from two to ten grains is given as an emetic ; it will dissolve in three times its weight of water. One swallow of the solution would probably be fatal.

To Dr. McMichael,—At the time of death whatever had been taken had been removed from the stomach. There was no post-mortem nor coroner's inquest. The emetic of milk and eggs would, when applied to an almost colorless solution of sulphate of zinc, with a slight admixture of sulphate of copper, cause the blue to be much more perceptible.

To Mr. Mulock,—The first vomiting would bring away most of the contents of the stomach and what followed would be less highly colored than the first. The quantity of crystals beneath the cup on the platform would have tinged the water which was in it.

TO BE CONTINUED.

The Late Mr. Breadner.—The Montreal Star says :—"Mr. Joshua Breadner, of Athelstane, in the County of Huntington, whose sudden death at St. Jean Chrysostome, has been previously reported, has been a resident of Athelstane for about twenty years. He was a gentleman who was highly respected by all with whom he came in contact, and at the time of his death was Collector of Customs, Postmaster, as well as Paymaster to the Huntingdon Borderers. As a proof of the confidence which his friends and neighbors reposed in him, it may be said that he had for several years been a School Commissioner, as well as Mayor of the Township. Mr. Breadner was also Past Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of the Province of Quebec. He was a genuine public spirited man, who always took the deepest interest in the welfare of the country of which every deserving enterprise he was always ready to assist. In his private life he was liberal and charitable, having hosts of friends, not only of his own nationality and creed, but of those who differed from him upon points with regard to which divergences are generally the most pronounced. To the friends and family of the deceased we extend our most cordial sympathy."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 10.

City and Vicinity.

English Mail.—The English mail was distributed here this morning.

Bank Holiday.—To-morrow (Good Friday) will be observed as a holiday by the Banks.

Not Dead.—We are glad to hear that the business carried on by Messrs. Muir & Lawrance, will be resumed in a few days.

Mahoney vs. G. T. R. Co.—This case was concluded yesterday, a verdict being given for the defendant for $250.

St. John's Church. — The Rev. Dr. Clarke will, D. V., preach in St. John's Church on Good Friday evening. Service at 7:30 p. m. Collection.

Lecture.—We understand that the Rev. Joseph Wild has been engaged to give a lecture under the auspices of the Workingmen's Temperance Association.

Public Holiday.—As to-morrow (Good Friday) will be a public holiday, the Daily Intelligencer will not, in accordance with annual custom, be issued.

Social.—A social under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society, of the Bridge Street Methodist Church will be held at the parsonage on the evening of Good Friday. All are invited.

Reminder.—The Liberal Conservatives of the city are again reminded of the mass meeting to-night for the purpose of selecting delegates. Let all who can do so make a point of attending.

Move Along.—The ladies would be thankful if the police would move along the loiterers that assemble opposite the excavation on Mayor Robertson's property, as the sidewalk there is none too wide for the comfort of pedestrians when not obstructed.

Lacrosse.—A meeting of the members of the Oka Lacrosse Club was held on Tuesday evening to reorganize for the coming season, when the following officers were elected:—J. Taylor, President; J. Garratt, Vice President; Archie Way, Secretary; E. Benjamin, Treasurer; W. S. Drewrey, Captain.

The Ferry.—Now is the time when an ice-breaking ferry boat would be of the greatest advantage. Such a boat could now break the ice, travel on which with loaded or even with light sleighs and horses has become dangerous, and bring to the city a large amount of trade which must seek other outlets until the opening of navigation, which may not occur for a week or two yet. Meantime the trade of the city suffers.

Personal.—The Hon. S. C. Wood, Provincial Treasurer, and the Hon. A. S. Hardy, Provincial Secretary, arrived in town last night and left this morning for Madoc, where a caucus of the faithful was to be held anent the condition of affairs in the North Riding. This personal solicitude of the Ministers in regard to the constituency in question is a matter for suspicion, and the results which follow their visit will be looked for with interest.

Good Friday.—This holy day is so named from the good and blessed work performed by Jesus Christ in submitting to a shameful, ignominious and painful death on the cross for the salvation of mankind. By the Roman Catholics and by the Greeks it is regarded as a strict fast. It is also a close holiday in the banks and Government offices in England, but by the Presbyterans of Scotland it is not observed. Hot cross buns are supposed to be a relic of paganism.

Navigation Notes.—Of the few vessels in the harbor, nearly all are being got ready for the coming season's work. The ferry steamer Prince Edward has been painted and received the necessary repairs, her machinery has been set up, and all is ready for a start. The City of Belleville is being painted, and will be prepared for work by the time that the bay opens. The schooner Rapid is being painted, and preparations are being made to paint the schooner Wm. Elgin.

Dangerous.—The sun had so powerful an effect on the ice on the bay yesterday that crossing is now very dangerous. Yesterday afternoon a man succeeded in crossing with a small pony, but only after much difficulty, the animal breaking a hole in the ice at almost every step. A man who attempted to cross on foot got a bad ducking, he breaking through the ice and being rescued with difficulty. Under these circumstances the opening of navigation will be likely to closely follow the first high westerly wind.

The Gas Question.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—In your paper of yesterday's issue, you state that the expense of lighting the clock is $700 per annum. This is incorrect, the expense of last year being $240 only. With regard to the Street lamps, the City of Belleville has not more lamps than any other city of the same population, and as the Corporation is a two-fifth owner of the stock of the Company, and receives a revenue of $2,016 per annum dividend, would it be wise to do anything that would place it out of the power of the Directors to declare such dividend in future? The Company have decided to make no extensions this year, and would decline doing so if asked.

Yours truly,
Jas. Glass,
Managing Director.

Belleville, April 10, 1879.

FROM OTTAWA.

GOVERNMENT MAJORITY ON THE TARIFF 83.

Ottawa, April 10.—The House remained in session until 5 o'clock this morning, when the division on Mr. Mackenzie's amendment was taken, with the result—Yeas 53, Nays 136; majority for the Government, 83. When the House adjourns at 6 p. m., it will stand adjourned until 3 o'clock Tuesday.

Seasonable Topics.

Now is the time for merchants to advertise. Cash customers are most apt to be caught by advertising, and those are the kind of customers wanted now a-days.

The authorities should set a gang of men at once to clean up Front Street. Some parts of it are in a most disgraceful condition.

If you have not secured your hot X buns for to morrow, better do it at once. See our advertising columns.

Call at the Intelligencer Office, and get your spring printing done. Satisfaction as to quality and price guaranteed.

The birds have made glad music for a few mornings past.

The police authorities should make a thorough examination of the market now-a-days, and confiscate "Staggering Bob," of which there has been an abundance during the past ten days.

The river is clear of ice now down within a short distance of the ashery.

The ice-bridge across the bay is rapidly weakening, and must soon give way before a hot sun, warm winds and a heavy rain.

The roads running North and South are still in a shocking condition. In many places there is still a large quantity of snow and ice on the roads, which will require a heavy rain to take away.

For latest styles of business cards and circulars, suitable to the spring trade, call at the Intelligencer office.

A considerable quantity of maple sugar has been made in this County and Prince Edward this season. Still the price keeps high, 15 and cts. 20 being the average rate.

A young gentleman who occasionally drops into a saloon for a drink and, who usually has three or four people ring in on him said the other evening, "I do not mind treating a crowd, but what I object to is a whole village."

Preparations for new buildings are going on in different parts of the City, showing a healthy and prosperous sign.

Our Butchers are making great preparations for Easter. Some fine Western Beef will be on exhibition.

"Snuffling" will be fashionable for the next few days, wherever two or more are gathered together.

It is nearly time to gather up all the rubbish about your premises, and throw it over in your neighbor's yard. It creates such a neighborly feeling, you know.

The man who talks about April showers and babbling rills had better come this way and see it howl, and tear, and snow, and use up firewood.

Now is the time for the average small boy to inspect the fence surrounding the ball ground and select his knot-hole for the season's campaign.

Take down the ulster once more and shake the tobacco out of the sealskin cap.

A Crisis.

Suppose that upon the announcement of each new invention, all using similar inventions should order at once, who can fancy the bedlam that would ensue? How novel to use a new patent churn daily, and wash three or four times a week in order to keep pace with the new washing and wringing machines that would pour in from every quarter! Think of the farm covered with patent ploughs, rakes, mowers, etc., etc. Think, too, of the poor invalid who would only have time to draw the cork, and take one dose of the latest medicine, when the druggist would rush in with a still later, much better, more certain, and more catholicon. Fortunately, the people are conservative, and reluctantly discard the trusted, tried, and trusted, for the glamour of new. Nowhere is this principle better demonstrated than in the steady and gradually increasing sale of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, which for over a quarter of a century has held the field against all others and has from one generation to another given entire satisfaction. Its cures are numbered by thousands.

Seal Fisheries.—Advices from St. John's Nfld., to the 5th inst., show the result of the seal fisheries to that date as follows:—Steamers "Proteus," 13,000; "Lion," full; "Eagle," 22,000; "Aurora," 27,000; "Merlin," 16,000; "Falcon," 22,000; "Ridly," 5,500; "Greenland" 24,000; "Mastiff," full; "Arctic" 14,000; "Commodore," 20,000.

Coal Mining.—Coal mining at Picton, N.S., has been begun with energy this month, and all the mines are now working full time. There is every reason to hope for an extensive business being done by the coal companies the ensuing season. At present matters are looking bright, and there is reason to believe that every miner in the country now has all the work he wishes.

Canada's Rights.—The principle that Canada has the undoubted right to regulate her own fiscal affairs without the interference of Great Britain has been once more affirmed by the British Colonial Minister, who informed a deputation of Yorkshire manufacturers that the authorities at home could do no more than advise Canada upon the subject of duties which might have the effect of bearing hardly upon British manufactures.

Sad Ending of a Bridal Trip.—On Friday last Mr. J. Stewart left Summerside P. E. Island for Granville, to get married. He started to return with his wife on Monday, taking the ice at Wilmot bridge; they went but a short distance when horse and sleigh broke through the ice and Mr. Stewart was carried away by the strong current. Mrs. Stewart managed to get out of the sleigh and was rescued by some men from the shore.

A Slight Cough that we are so apt to consider a mere annoyance and treat with corresponding neglect, too often proves to be the seed sown for an inevitable harvest—Consumption. Immediate and thorough treatment is our only safeguard. A teaspoonful of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime given whenever the cough is troublesome, will afford immediate relief, and if persevered in will effect a cure even in the most obstinate cases.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B.; and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Deadwood, D. T., April 10.—Seven Indians attacked Sergt. Kennedy, late signal observer at Deadwood, and a private soldier named Bader, of the 2nd cavalry, while eating lunch at Mizpah, 45 miles from Fort Keogh, their destination. When fired upon Bader was instantly killed, and Kennedy badly wounded. The latter crawled into the forest and kept the Indians off with a six-shooter until assistance arrived. Bader was scalped; Kennedy will probably recover.

New York, April 10.—Wm. Simpson, a noted pawnbroker, died yesterday, leaving an estate estimated at $3,000,000.

The statement recently published that an indigent young man named Peacock, arrested for not supporting his wife, drew $15,000 in a lottery, was a hoax originated by Peacock.

New York, April 10.—The Times publishes entended reports from every state in the Union, gathered by 170 correspondents on the Presidential question.

The Times claims that it is clearly apparent that the Grant movement originates with masses, not with politicians, while Tilden is being forced upon the people against their will.

Blaine seems to have seriously injured his standing among the Republican masses by the advocacy of the Anti-Chinese bill. Out of 157 points from which advices has been received Grant is the expressed choice of 130; Blain, 10; Washburne, Garfield, Sherman, Conkling, Edmund and Chandler follow in the order named.

The Democrats in 98 of 157 districts, prefer Tilden. Thurman 23 districts. Bayard 11, Hendricks and Harcock being up in the rear.

Albany, New. York.—The Rev. Theodore Noethen, died very suddenly, this morning. He was the Catholic chaplain in Albany Penitentiary and probably the oldest priest in the diocese.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

London, April 9.—A Vienna despatch reports that an agreement has been reached between Austria and Turkey relative to the occupation of Turkish territory. The agreement grants Austria the power of occupying three points on the river Lom on the outskirts of Novi Bazar, commanding all practicable crossing places on the river.

Paris, April 9.—The dismissal and resignations of fifty-two more magistrates is announced. Twenty-one others have been transferred.

London, April 10.—A Berlin despatch says the provision for imposing special retaliatory duties on exports from countries which treat German productions unfavorably encounters increasing opposition among the commercial classes.

Paris, April 10.—Two of the Radicals who contested the election at Bordeaux to fill the vacancy in the Chamber of Deputies have retired. Blanquis, the only competitor now, is a Gambettist Republican. Blanquis' election is extremely probable. A deputation of Radical Deputies has been appointed to solicit Blanquis' immediate pardon.

London, April 10.—The Roman paper Sinistra, states that the Italian Government is about to send a special envoy to Cairo, to report on the position of Italian interests in Egypt. It is stated the Khedive's contumacy is prompted by the Italian Consul-General, who bitterly opposes Anglo-French control.

Sabina, O., April 9.—A hired man named Weaver threatened to shoot his employer yesterday, and fired at a constable who attempted to arrest him. The constable shot Weaver fatally.

Vienna, April 10.—Mgr. Vincent Master Prince, bishop of Brixen, is dead.

Madrid, April 10.—Difficulties experienced in giving effect to the coalition of Constitutionalists, Progressists and Republican in approaching the elections for members of the Cortes.

At a meeting of 2,000 Liberal and Conservative electors it was resolved to support Senores Canavas, Del Castillo, Robleno, Ayola, Urquino, Avial and Valasco.

Rome, April 10.—Garibaldi daily receives numerous visits from political personages. To a deputation from the Italian Committee, at Trieste, Garibaldi said, "I never have been more concerned for the interests of our brethren beyond the Alps than now."

London, April 10.—A telegram from Iquique, Peru, April 5th, says that port is blockaded by a Chilian squadron.

Madrid, April 10.—The entire sum of 250,000,000 pesetos of Treasury bonds have been subscribed.

Windsor, Vt., April 10.—The execution of Jno. P. Phair, at the State Prison to-day, ends the career of a criminal whose history since the commission of his crime has been rendered remarkable by his persistent efforts to prove his innocence.

Rahway, N. J., April 10.—An east bound freight train on the Pennsylvania Railway broke in two this morning and the sections collided, wrecking eight cars but injuring nobody. Loss $15,000.

Providence, R. I., April 9.—It is understood that the Allen print works will ask of their creditors an extension of three years, the works to be run meantime under the direction of the creditors.

Free of Cost.

Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, etc., is given away in trial bottles free of cost to the afflicted. If you have a severe cough, cold, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness or any affection of the throat or lungs by all means give this wonderful remedy a trial. As you value your existence you can not afford to let this opportunity pass. We could not afford and would not give this remedy unless we knew it would accomplish what we claim for it. Thousands of hopeless cases have already been completely cured by it. There is no medicine in the world that will cure one-half the cases that Dr. King's New Discovery will cure. For sale by Jas. Clark & Co., also by L. W. Yeomans and Co., Belleville.

The Unprejudiced Physician.

It is very pitiful to see the blooming girl or seemingly stalwart youth suddenly succumb, as the unsuspected seeds of consumption begin to develop in the system. The physician knows that Cod Liver Oil is the only known cure, and if he be unprejudiced he will recommend Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda, as it is not only a much better remedy, but being perfectly palatable can be taken continuously till full health is restored.

Our town Druggists say the Pain Killer sells the best of any medicine they keep; during the hard times of the past year or two there were none too poor to pay their "quarter" for a bottle of this indispensible family medicine.

Madame Bonaparte.— With the death of Mme. Patterson-Bonaparte—aged 96 years—whose burial took place recently at Baltimore, the last direct connection with the family of the great Napoleon was broken. She had outlived everybody and almost everything. Her husband, the youngest brother of Napoleon, who married her at 19 and lived to be 76, has been dead 19 years. All the actors in the great wars of the French Emperor, every character in that grand and startling drama of which he was the hero, appear now to belong to ancient history. Elizabeth Patterson, the pretty daughter of the rich Baltimore merchant, was married twelve years before the battle of Waterloo. Napoleon was then First Consul, and Jerome Bonaparte was only a Lieutenant in the French Navy, his Imperial brother not then having power to knock down the anointed sovereigns of Europe and set up the members of the family in their stead. After Waterloo, Mme. Patterson-Bonaparte attracted wide attention in Paris from the most distinguished people. Wellington admired her beauty; Talleyrand complimented her; Mme. DeStael called her lovely. A few years ago the secret correspondence reciting the negotiations which, it was fondly believed, would result in placing on Betsey Patterson's shapely head one of the ravished crowns Napoleon was preparing to distribute to his brothers, was found, it is said, among the rubbish of a Baltimore rag-shop, and destroyed. It would read strangely by the light of subsequent events.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, April 10.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, falling barometer, brisk to high easterly to southerly winds, cloudy to rainy weather. For the St. Lawrence, falling barometer, increasing south east to north east winds, cloudy to raising weather. For the Maritime Provinces, winds gradually shifting to the east and north east, increasing cloudiness followed by rain to-morrow.

Washington, April 9.— Indications:—cloudy, rainy, stationary or higher temperature.

Palatable Castor Oil.

The ambiguity of these words would naturally excite ridicule in the mind of the reader, as we associate with the name the most sickening and unpalatable things our minds can conceive, But it is a fact that in Scott & Browne's Palatable Castor Oil the nauseous properties are entirely removed, and it is as sweet and pleasant as cream; and in preparing it they have also eliminated all of its griping propensities, so that it is really the most delicious laxative and cathartic medicine everadministered, either to children or adults.

Special Notice.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, New York City. 1y

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Sneezing or Head Colds, called Acute Catarrah; thick, yellow, and foul Mattery accumulations in the Nasal Passages, called Chronic Catarrh; rotting and sloughing of the Bones of the Nose, with discharges of loathsome matter tinged with blood, and Ulcerations often extending to the Eye, Ear, Throat, and Lungs, called Ulcerative Catarrh. Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. Unless the system is prostrated by scrofula or consumption beyond recuperation, it will effect a permanent cure in every case. Hundreds of testimonials attest its wonderful curative properties. Every druggist who has ever sold it will ceerfully bear witness to its marvellous efficacy.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

NEW YORK NUGGETS—WHERE AND WHY MONEY IS EASY—THE COURT OF BLACK COATS—HENRY WARD BEECHER ENJOYS THE FUN—RETURN OF PARIS EXHIBITS, &C., &C.

(From our regular correspondent.)

NEW YORK, April 5, 1879.

It goeth out like a bad five cent cigar, and it leaveth many a wreck behind ; yea, the closing week of the lion, and lamb like month was fraught with heavy wets and boisterous winds, and many discomfits and much dissatisfaction prevailed even to the end. April showers are now in order, while the budding beauties of the flowery kindgom uplift their heads to the bright sunshine and drink in the vivifying dew that droppeth on the earth beneath, and so forth, as it might be. The week just closed owing, probably to the dull and deceitful weather, was not provocative of extraordinary returns at the theatres, nor did it bring untold happiness to the wearily waiting, watchful eyes of the custodians of our surplus revenue. The subscriptions to the four per cent. loan on Wednesday amounted to over eight millions, and yesterday another large subscription was received, amounting to over five millions. This large increase over the average of the subscriptions received during the past few weeks has naturally excited considerable comment, especially as to the locality from whence the subscriptions came. An inquiry at the Sub-Treasury yesterday as to the recent subscribers I learned that of the eight millions subscribed on Wednesday one-half came from a bank in this city, which has all along been the heaviest purchaser of these bonds, and the remainder came from other banks also in the city which have been investing largely in fours. Yesterday subscriptions of two millions and a half came from a bank here, and another million dollar subscription from a Boston bank. There were small subscriptions received from all parts of the country, but the bulk came as usual from New York. These facts seem to show that the heavy subscriptions from the banks were not made for speculative purposes, but were to meet a genuine demand for the bonds, for the profits arising from the commission paid on large subscriptions were very much lessened by the necessity of buying from the Government at par and selling at from one half to one-quarter per cent below par. The true explanation of these extraordinary subscriptions may be found in the general lack of safe investments for capital. During the past two or three weeks the anticipated demand for money to meet the April settlements has produced a security in the money market and has increased the rates for money from three to seven per cent. In consequence capital has been diverted from investment in the four per cents. Since the Secretary of the Treasury has given notice that he will anticipate the redemption of the bulk of 5-20 bonds maturing in April and will receive them in payment of any subscriptions to the four per cent loan, the money market has been much easier and the apprehended difficulty in making the April settlements considerably lessened. The money market thus relieved, capital naturally seeks again investment in the four per cents. A prominent Treasury official said yesterday that, in his opinion, the four per cent bonds would soon advance to a premium of one per cent.

Business seems to multiply in the hands of the Presbytery of Brooklyn, which at first commenced operations on one minister, but now has in addition six contumacious church members to deal with. The committee which formulated the charges against Dr. Talmage presented a formidable list of witnesses to prove the accusations. The "true inwardness" of how this committee was deluded into believing that these gentlemen knew anything against Talmage is as yet an unwritten bit of history. The six witnesses having been twice cited, and having twice refused to have anything to do with the trial, they are, by a rule of the Book of Discipline, excommunicated until they repent. Instead of being sorry they read the Presbytery a lecture for its folly for going into the Talmage trial at all, and this fills the prosecutors exceedingly full of indignation. Among the spectators on Wednesday I noticed Henry Ward Beecher, who enjoyed the fun that pervaded a great portion of the proceedings on that day. The laughter was most unseemly, and arose at times out of the gravest motions. A proposition to sing a hymn while waiting for a witness created merriment, which was redoubled when "Blest be the tie that binds" was named, probably from the feeling that it would be ridiculous for the members of the Presbytery to assume an appearance even of fellowship.

The unloading of the United States ship Supply and of the merchant ship Trimountain, which brought returned goods from the Paris exposition, was, owing to the system adopted in shipping and to the facilities given by the custom-house authorities at New York, completed with very little delay and expense. Each exhibitor having been required to file an invoice of his goods before they left the United States and a return invoice when they were shipped from Paris, the confusion and loss which attended the return of the goods from the Paris exposition of 1867 and from the Vienna exposition of 1873 were entirely avoided. A large part of the goods were taken from the wharf in Brooklyn by the exhibitors and those remaining have been stored in the bonded warehouse of Messrs. Martin & Fay. The American pictures, which had been loaned for the exhibition, were found to be in excellent condition, and have been restored to their owners, among whom may be named ex-Gov. Morgan, Parke Godwin, Senator Jones, William E. Dodge, Jr., and Whitelaw Reid. A number of American pictures were sold in Paris to the National lottery at prices ranging from $200 to $600. Four of the American artists received awards. viz.: N.P.N. Dana, F.A. Bridgman, John Lafarge and Walter Shirlaw. The remaining goods to be returned to this country are upon the United States ship Constitution, which, having been thoroughly overhauled at Lisbon, sailed from that port on Saturday last. She will proceed to New York, and there discharge a small part of her cargo, and then go with the bulk of it to Philadelphia, from which city she originally sailed for France. The United States marines, whose presence at the great exposition was a marked feature of the American section, are upon the Constitution.

The trial of Bertha Burger, who is charged with having caused the death by criminal malpractice of a young girl 21 years of age, named Cora Sammis, a farmer's daughter, of Northport, L. I., which has occupied the attention of the court for a week past, came to a close on Thursday morning. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, with a strong recommendation of mercy. The accused was remanded until Monday, when her counsel will make application for a new trial. Mrs. Burger took the verdict coolly.

Forty failures were reported in this city during the month of March, in which the total liabilities amounted to $480,449, and the assets $211,754. Compared with the preceding month, the present shows a decrease in the number of eight, and $430,000 in liabilities. During the month of March 1878, eighty-five failures were reported, in which the liabilities amounted to $8,480,000.

A Great Mistake !

The generally entertained notion that if the stomach or any internal organ is oppressed, pain will be felt in the organ itself, is altogether fallacious. Many of the worst dyspeptics never feel any uneasiness about their stomachs. Pain is invariably felt in the weakest and most sensitive organ, and many an aching head, palpitating heart and oppressed brain are the result of a small slice of cake, or a few lumps of sugar, or a piece of pie or some other indigested or indigestible stuff that is fermenting in a stomach too much calloused by abuse to give direct evidence of the poisons it wishes to reject. Thus writes one of our most distinguished physicians who has made stomach troubles his speciality for thirty years. And he is right. The proper thing to do is to use DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS and infuse new life into the stomach, while expelling the debris lodging there. The most delicate stomach will retain them and they never fail to do their work. Try them.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS ?

Sickness prevails everywhere, and everybody complains of some disease during their life. When sick, the object is to get well ; now to say plainly that no person in this world that is suffering with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and its effects, such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, palpitation of the Heart, Depressed Spirits, Biliousness, etc., can take GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER without getting relief and cure. If you doubt this go to any Druggist in Belleville and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents. Two doses wil relieve you. d&w

PROLAPSUS UTERI (Falling of the Womb.) A WONDERFUL CURE.—Nine years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where females are treated ; tried them all ; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

We refer to the German American National Bank, Washington. D. C.; the Royal Swedish, Norwegian, and Danish Legations, at Washington ; Hon. Joseph Casey, late Chief Justice U. S. Court of Claims, to the Officials of the U. S. Patent Office, and to Senators and Members of Congress from every State.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

Write Them a Letter To-night,

Don't go to the theatre, concert or ball,
  But stay in your room to-night;
Deny yourself to the friends that call
  And a good long letter write—
Write to the sad, old folks at home
  Who sit when the day is done,
With folded hands and downcast eyes
  And think of the absent one.

Don't selfishly scribble "excuse my haste,
  I've scarcely the time to write,"
Lest their brooding thoughts go wandering back
  To many a by-gone night
When they lost their needed sleep and rest,
  And every breath was a prayer—
That God would leave their delicate babe
  To their tender love and care.

Don't let them feel that you've no more need
  Of their love or counsel wise;
For the heart grows strongly sensitive
  When age has dimmed the eyes—
It might be well to let them believe
  You never forget them, quite;
That you deem it a pleasure, when far away,
  Long letters home to write.

Don't think that the young and giddy friends,
  Who make your pastime gay,
Have half the anxious thought for you
  That the old folks have to-day.
The duty of writing do not put off;
  Let sleep or pleasure wait,
Lest the letter for which they looked and longed
  Be a day or an hour too late.

For the sad old folks at home,
  With locks fast turning white,
Are longing to hear from the absent one—
  Write them a letter to-night.

TOIL.

Why are we weighed upon with heaviness,
And utterly consumed with sharp distress,
While all things else have rest from weariness?
All things have rest, why should we toil alone?
We only toil who are the first of things,
And make perpetual moan,
Still from one sorrow to another thrown;
Nor ever fold our wings,
And cease from wanderings,
Nor steep our brows in slumber's holy balm;
Nor harken what the inward spirit sings—
"There is no joy but calm!"
Why should we only toil, the roof and crown of things!

—Tennyson.

HOPE.

O hope! sweet flatterer! thy delusive touch,
Sheds on afflicted minds the balm of comfort—
Relieves the load of poverty—sustains
The captive, bending with the weight of bonds—
And smoothes the pillow of disease and pain.

—Glover.

EGOTISM.

Drawn by conceit from reason's plan,
How vain is that poor creature, man!
How pleased is every paltry elf
To prate about that thing, himself.

—Churchill.

PROCRASTINATION.

Procrastination is the thief of time;
Year after year it steals, till all are fled,
And to the mercies of a moment leaves
The vast concerns of an eternal scene.

—Young.

Sunday Reading.

God Comforts Us that We May Comfort Others.

A man whose first thought about any mercy to himself is that God means by it to help other people, must have something else besides this strong belief that his mercy does really come from God. He must have a genuine unselfishness and a true humility. He must have a habit of looking out beyond himself, a yearning and instinctive wish to know how what comes to him will change the lot and life of other people; and, along with this lowly estimate of his own self, a true humbleness of self esteem. Put these together into a nature and you clear away those obstructions which, in so many men, stop God's mercies short, and absorb as personal privileges that they were meant to radiate as blessings to mankind. Think of it even in reference to the lowest thing. Who is the man whom we rejoice to see possessing wealth? Who is the man whose making money on the street delights us, because it means benefaction and help to other men? It is the reverent, the unselfish and the humble man. It is the man who, as the treasure pours in at his doors, stands saying over it: "God sent this;" and "I am not worthy of this; He could not have sent it just for me;" and, "Where are my brethren?" Reverence, Humility, Unselfishness.

Those are the elements of true stewardship even in the lowest things and also in the highest. Who is the man who, in his bereavement, or his pain, receiving comfort from God radiates it, so that the world is richer by the help the Lord has given him? It is the reverent, the unselfish, and the humble man. The sunlight falls upon a clod, and the clod drinks it in, is warmed by itself, but lies as black as ever, and sheds out no light. But the sun touches a diamond, and the diamond almost chills itself as it sends out in radiance on every side the light that has fallen on it. So God helps one man to bear his pain, and nobody but that one man is a whit the richer. God comes to another sufferer, reverent, unselfish, humble, and the lame leap, and the dumb speak, and the wretched are comforted all around by the radiated comfort of that happy soul. Our lot has been dark indeed if we have not known some souls, reverent, unselfish, humble who not merely caught and drank in themselves, but poured out on other sufferers, on us, the comfort of God.—Philips Brookes.

The Secret.

"I noticed," said Dr. Franklin, "a mechanic among others, at work on a house erecting but a little way from my office, who always appeared to be in a merry humor, who had a kind word and cheerful smile for everyone he met. Let the day be ever so cold, gloomy or sunless, a happy smile danced like a sunbeam on his cheerful countenance. Meeting him one morning, I asked him to tell me the secret of his happy flow of spirits. 'My secret, doctor,' he replied, 'is that I have got one of the best of wives, and when I go to work she always has a kind word of encouragement for me, and when I go home she meets me with a smile and a kiss, and then tea is sure to be ready, and she has done so many little things through the day to please me, that I cannot find it in my heart to say an unkind word to anybody.' What an influence, then, hath woman over the heart of man, to soften it and make it the fountain of cheerful and pure emotions! Speak gently, then; a happy smile and a kind word of greeting, after the toils of the day are over, cost nothing, and go far toward making a home happy and peaceful."

Who are the Slander-Mongers?

It is a singular fact that the women who are the most ready to slander other women, are those whose own lives cannot bear strict investigation. One would fancy that "fellow feeling" would make a woman "wondrous kind," and that the remembrance that a certain little story might be whispered about her, would be a check upon her tongue that she would say to herself: "What if I were thus spoken of?"

But this is not so. Candid observation has convinced me that while a truly reputable woman detests immorality, she is always the last to suspect its existence, and that valuing a good character as a treasure beyond all else that the world can give her, she would never be an accomplice in the stealing of another woman's fair repute. I believe, indeed, that a pure and virtuous woman would be very apt to make apologies in her own mind for any past false step of a sister woman, and to hold out a helping hand to one who was honestly and sincerely struggling to recover lost ground. Certainly she would never be the one to give her the push that would send her to destruction.

It is the woman whose life is a double one who does this—the woman who, if all were known, would bear a brand upon her forehead. These are censorious and evil-minded because they cannot believe others better than themselves. These utter slander because they delight to pluck from the bosoms of other women the jewel they are conscious that they themselves wear no more.

The Influence of Home.

Our home influence is not a passing, but an abiding one, and all-powerful for good or evil, for peace or strife, for happiness or misery. Each separate Christian home has been likened to a central sun, around which revolves a happy and united band of warm, loving hearts, aching, thinking, rejoicing and sorrowing together. What member of the family group can say, I have no influence? What sorrow or what happiness lies in the power of each! "A lighted lamp," writes M'Cheyne, "is a very small thing, and it burns calmly and without noise, yet it giveth light to all who are within the house. And so there is a quiet influence which, like the flame of a scented lamp, fills many a home with light and fragrance. Such an influence has been beautifully compared to a carpet, soft and deep, which, while it diffuses a look of ample comfort, deadens many a creaking sound. It is the curtain which from many a beloved form wards off at once the summer's glow and the winter's wind. It is the pillow on which sickness lays its head and forgets half its misery. This influence falls as the refreshing dew, the invigorating sunbeam, the fertilizing shower, shining on with all the mild lustre of moonlight, and harmonizing in one soft tint many of the discordant hues of a family picture."—Reflector.

A Noble Example.

The other day, having need of help from a drayman, we called an Irishman to our assistance. He performed his duty with great promptness, and his language and demeanor generally were such as to command our admiration. Having paid him for his trouble, the following conversation took place: "How long have you been in this city?" we inquired. "Twelve months to-morrow, sir," he politely replied. "Pray, what was your occupation in the old country?" For a moment the man colored and dropped his head, but in an instant after, raising himself with the dignity of a man, he replied: "I was a physician in Dublin." Somewhat surprised, we asked how it was that he was driving a dray. His reply in substance was, that he brought his family direct from Dublin to Chicago; that when he arrived here his funds were so much exhausted that he was unable to maintain the appearance of his profession; besides, he found the city full of young physicians waiting till the city grew. Having no mechanical trade he purchased a horse and dray, and at once began to earn a livelihood for himself and family. We call this a noble specimen of a man.—Chicago Tribune.

Acts of Love.

Each one of a thousand acts of love costs very little by itself, and yet when viewed together, who can estimate their value? What it is that secures for one the name of a kind neighbor? Not the doing of half a dozen great favors in as many years, but the little everyday kindnesses, neither of which seems of much consequence, considered in itself, but their continued repetition sheds a sunlight over the whole neighborhood. It is so, too, in the family. The child whose good offices are always ready when they are wanted—to run up stairs or down—to get chips or rock the cradle, or to run on an errand and "right back"—and all with a cheerful look and a pleasant temper, has a reward along with such good deeds. If a little girl cannot take her grandfather on her lap, as he takes her on his, she can get his slippers, or put away his book, or gently comb his thin locks; and, whether she thinks of it or not, these little kindnesses that come from a loving heart are the sunbeams that lighten up a dark and woeful world.—London Reader.

An Extraordinary Thing.

"A very extraordinary thing," said one, "I, who have read the Bible over and over in the original language, have studied it day and night, and have written criticisms and comments on it—a very extraordinary thing that I should not be able to discover that meaning in the Scriptures which is said to be so plain that a wayfaring man, though a fool, shall not err in discovering it!" And so it is extraordinary, till we open the Bible, and there see the fact explained. The man who approaches the word of God in his own wisdom, shall not find what the fool shall discover under the teaching of divine wisdom—"For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and I will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent;" and, "God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise."—Cecil.

Food for Reflection.

Act well your part. Don't be selfish. Remember that it is by imparting happiness to others, and making ourselves useful, that we receive happiness. Stand by this truth, live it out, and always keep doing something useful for the common good, doing it well, and acting sincerely. Endeavor to keep your heart in the attitude of cherishing good will to all, thinking and speaking evil of no one, and always with a kind word for everybody. Selfishness is its own curse; it is a starving vice. The man who does no good gets none. He is like the heath in the desert, neither yielding fruit nor seeing when good cometh, a stunted, dwarfish, miserable shrub. Let all your influence be exerted for the purpose of doing all you can for the common good and individual welfare of everyone.

Children are very apt to think a great deal more of an illustration than of the truth it was intended to illustrate. A teacher once endeavored to illustrate faith thus: "Children, if I should tell you that one day I saw a monkey climbing a liberty pole, would you believe me?" "Yes sir," unanimously. "Well that is faith; you believe me because I say it, and you feel that I would not tell an untruth." The next day the question was asked of the same children. "What is faith?" "A monkey climbing a liberty pole," answered a quick boy.

When the blossoms and leaves of a woman's beauty fall, we may discover her defects, as we behold raven's nests in the trees in winter.

All prosperous men can give good counsel and like to do it; it costs them nothing. It is easy to declaim against feasting when the stomach is full.

Friendship supplies the place of everything to those who know how to make a right use of it; it makes prosperity happier and adversity more easy.

A diseased mind turns every chance accident to its own distempered view, and makes the terror, or the sorrow, which exists but in its own imagination, a very reality of evil.

Every year of our lives we grow more convinced that it is wisest to fix our attention on the beautiful and the good, and to dwell as little as possible on the evil and the false.

"There are people who live behind the hill," is an old German proverb, which means that there are other folks in the world besides yourself, although you may not see them.

Persons who like to contemplate their own importance should consider that the world got along very well before they were born, and will probably get along equally well after they are dead.

One of the most important, because of the most difficult things for a powerful mind is to be its own master; a pond may lie quiet in a plain, but a lake wants mountains to encompass and hold it in.

If you have talents, industry will improve them; if you have moderate abilities, industry will supply the deficiencies. Nothing is denied to well-directed labor; nothing is ever obtained without it.

If we would have powerful minds, we must think; if we would have faithful hearts, we must love; if we would have strong muscles, we must labor. These include all that is valuable in life.

Men of high or mean birth may be possessed of good qualities; but falling into bad company, they become vicious. Rivers flow with sweet waters; but having joined the ocean, they become undrinkable.

Many a true heart that would have come back like the dove to the ark, after the first transgression, has been frightened beyond recall by the angry look and menacing taunt—the savage charity of an unforgiving soul.

Kind words are the bright flowers of earthly existence; use them, and especially in the fireside circle. They are jewels beyond price, and powerful to heal the wounded heart and make the weighed down spirit glad.

In the depth of the sea the water is still; the heaviest grief is borne in silence; the deepest love flows through the eye and touch; the purest joy is unspeakable; the most impressive preacher at the funeral is the silent one whose lips are closed.

There is always room for men of force—live men; the smartest must take the lead. Most men are capable of greater things than they perform, and all require the proper opportunity. A feeble man can see the farms that are fenced and tilled, the houses and barns that are actually built, but a strong man sees possible houses and thrifty farms.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 12.

The Letellier Case in England.

The Letellier affair is already being discussed by the leading journals of London, the following being an extract from an article in the Times of the 9th:—"It is plain that two questions are raised by this new Canadian difficulty. First, whether the Marquis of Lorne was bound to act upon the advice of his Ministers and remove Lieut.-Governor Letellier, and second, whether, supposing him not thus bound, he exercised a sound discretion in declining to remove the Quebec Lieut.-Governor. The first question must be decided by the Confederation Act. The Marquis of Lorne probably relies upon the words 'a Lieut.-Governor shall hold office during the pleasure of the Governor-General.' We may fairly hold that he read the Constitution aright in thinking that he is not bound to dismiss Lieut.-Governor Letellier; but has he been discreet in his refusal, though justified in trying to retain him? He will ultimately be under the necessity of accepting the advice of his Ministers supported by the Canadian Parliament and the country."

As usual, in its reference to Canadian affairs, the Times has fallen into an error. As a matter of fact the Governor-General has not declined to accept the advice tendered to him by his Ministers to remove the Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, but he has, with their consent, forwarded the papers in the case to the Home Government, in order to obtain a decision which shall be a precedent for the future, and the effect of which will be to remove all cause for allegations of party spite against his advisers. At the same time it will be decided whether the power of dismissing Lieutenant Governors rests solely with His Excellency or with the Governor-General in Council, which latter interpretation of the law will be found, we believe, to be the correct one. At the same time, it is in the highest degree probable that the decision of the Canadian authorities will be concurred in, and that their action will be either formally approved or the matter referred back as within the jurisdiction of the Colonial Government, as prescribed in the British North America Act. In either case the decision of the Imperial authorities will be heartily concurred in, but a judgment on the points submitted will be, on the whole, the most satisfactory to our people, irrespective of party. That Mr. Letellier used the prerogative arbitrarily, even his defenders allow; and only by a decision from a source so unbiassed as the Imperial Government, can they be brought to believe that his conduct was of such a character as to render his dismissal an act of justice.

Railway Accident. — On Thursday evening two engines coupled together at Napanee station got away while the driver went up to the station for orders, and ran off the east end of the switch into the ditch. The engines were not much damaged. An auxiliary train from Belleville went down, when a siding was built round the wreck and the track cleared at 10 p. m. The agent at Napanee sent an engine and some cars down and brought the passengers up for refreshments.

Leap for Liberty.—On the morning of the 9th inst. Peter Jennings, who was sentenced at Brampton on Saturday to seven years in the Penitentiary for burglary at Dixie, was being brought by the early express train to Kingston, when on nearing Leslieville, a mile or so east of the city proper, he made a dash through the window and escaped. He was shackled and handcuffed but managed to slip off the long top boots he wore, and with them the chains round his ankles. In jumping he carried the car window with him. The fugitive, although he was still handcuffed, could not be found, and the train proceeded without him.

Death of a Senator.—Hon. Jeremiah Northrup, representative of Halifax in the Senate, died in that city at eleven o'clock yesterday morning. He was descended from a U. E. Loyalist, whose name he bore, and who settled in Nova Scotia at the close of the American revolution, and represented Falmouth for a period extending over a quarter of a century. The late senator was born in 1815, and sat in the Nova Scotia Assembly from 1867 until the latter end of 1870, when he was called to the Senate. He was a member of the firm of John Northup & Sons, merchants and ship owners, and was connected with several banking, insurance, and educational institutions. He is said to have left an estate worth at least half a million dollars. He was the last of four brothers. His father is still living.

—The Grand Trunk Receipts for the week ending April 5th were $154,223 as against $173,876 up to the corresponding period last year—a decrease of $19,653.

More Triumphs for the National Policy.

A few weeks ago the Grit Government which held the reins of power in Prince Edward Island, was defeated in the Legislature by a considerable majority, and the Conservative administration which succeeded to office appealed to the country on the policy which it was proposed to follow out. The struggle which ensued was short and sharp, and the Grits of the Island, who saw no hope of succeeding on legitimate grounds, imported into the contest the commercial policy of the Dominion Government, with the belief that it was unpopular and that thus, on a false issue, they might obtain a verdict from the people. The National Policy being thus placed on trial in a Province in which it seemed least likely to be popular, and in which the Globe and its confreres almost daily assured the people of Ontario the people were in nearly rebellion against it, the result of the election was looked for with great interest in this and other Provinces. The elections were held on the 9th, and the consequence has been that a most signal triumph has rewarded the efforts of the Conservative party, who have elected twenty-six members as against four returned by their opponents. Thus the National Policy has been endorsed in the Island by a majority of five to one, and the excited statements of the free-traders have been shown to be mere efforts of the imagination.

Equally satisfactory is the result of the vote which was taken in the House of Commons on the morning of the 10th, when, at the close of the intolerably long debate which took place upon the tariff, the free traders were able to muster only fifty-three votes in a House of one hundred and eighty-nine members, the Government policy being thus sustained by the overwhelming majority of eighty-three, which in a full House would have probably been still greater.

The Grit opponents of the tariff, were they wise, would accept the inevitable and cease the abuse, misrepresentation and absurdities which they daily perpetrate; but whether they cease their ineffectual agitation or not will make but little difference, as Canada, under the lead of her ablest and most popular statesmen, has entered upon a new path in commercial matters which promises the best results, and in which other countries have shown an example of great success, and that policy will be steadily pursued, regardless of the unpatriotic carpings of the disaffected at home and of the condemnation from those abroad whose privileges in our markets have been curtailed.

The Spring Assizes.

COLCLOUGH vs. UNION MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

CONTINUED.

John Feehan, telegraph operator at Trenton Station, deposed that Colclough come on duty on the morning of his death at 8 o'clock. He asked the usual questions about the trains and opened his correspondence; he seemed in low spirits but rational enough; witness went away about five minutes later, leaving Colclough there; in consequence of hearing what one man said to another, returned about twenty minutes later, and saw deceased going into his bed room; he appeared to be in agony; he lay down and vomited matter blue and yellow in color; went into the office and looked at the battery, thought the liquid in the vessel was not so high as usual, probably from half an inch to an inch lower; thought the battery had been disturbed, as a deposit of crystals of vitriol was about the shelf on which it stood, which was pressed down as if the vessel had been bent over.

Mrs. M. Waldorf, examined—I saw Mr. Colclough at 10 o'clock the day he died; I saw him in his bed at 10 o'clock; he was ill and suffering; he threw up; I examined the vomit; it was white and mixed, a shade blue.

Alfred Jones, sworn—I am inspector of the Citizens' Insurance Co.; we had a guarantee policy on deceased; I examined the books of deceased for the purpose of ascertaining the deficiency of deceased to the Grand Trunk; they advised us of the deficiency of Mr. Colclough; I went to Trenton in July, checked over the tickets, and found deceased indebted $453.57, which we paid, less the salary due him; amount paid $386.54.

James Waldorf, sworn—I am engaged at G. T. R. station, Trenton, as switchman and baggage master; the batteries are kept under the desk on a shelf; there is no vitriol solution kept anywhere on the premises except in the batteries.

Joshua Cunningham to Dr. McMichael—I am in the habit of going to Trenton Station; I am bus driver; we generally use earthern vessels at the station for drinking purposes, and after using the cups we put them back near the pail.

Deputy Sheriff Taylor, and Robert Bulman, Conductor on the Grand Trunk, testified to drinking at some stations on the Grand Trunk out of cups similar to those used in the telegraph batteries.

Dr. McMichael proposed to ask a witness as to what deceased stated he had taken to cause his fatal illness and how he came to take it.

The question was objected to and was ruled out as inadmissible.

Wm. Jeffs testified to seeing deceased after the Inspector's visit on the day previous to his death; deceased told him that he was short in his cash but not to a large amount; witness told him he would arrange the matter, and spoke to the Inspector, who said it would be all right.

This closed the evidence, and counsel then addressed the jury.

Mr. Mulock, in his address, argued that as deceased had been sensitive to a degree, and probably not capable of filling another position in life, as he had been a railway man for many years—being by his defalcation sunk in the estimation of his fellow men, liable criminally as well, and certain to be thrown on the world—all of which must have had a crushing effect upon his mind, he had rashly taken his own life, and thus vitiated the policy of insurance. He argued that the suicide was deliberate, otherwise, instead of evincing a desire for the safety of the public by desiring his wife to send for the night operator, he would have told her that he had accidentally poisoned himself and asked to send for the doctor, telling him to bring an antidote for sulphate of copper. Instead of doing this, he remained silent as to his action, and his motive in doing so was to secure his wife and children the amount for which his life was insured, but his secret had been wrung from him by his exclamation "may God forgive me," made in response to that of Mrs. Forrest. Mr. Colclough could not have been ignorant of the poisonous nature of the vitriol solution, nor could he have taken it from the battery by accident. That an inch of the fluid had been taken from the battery cup, and within a very few minutes of Colclough's entering the office, they had satisfactory evidence, and it was found in Colclough's vomit and on the platform, where it had drained from the cup left there, and which was a spare cup that deceased knew to be saturated with poison and which stood near the battery. He therefore asked the jury to give a verdict according to the evidence.

Dr. McMichael, for the plaintiff, said some years ago he entered into a contract with the Company in question to pay to his wife and children $2,000 in case of his death. He had paid them $50 per year, and he regretted that the Company resisted the claim so stiffly and sought to attach a stigma to his memory and to his widow and family by alleging that he had committed suicide. Much stress was laid on the exclamation of deceased to Mrs. Forrest but that in itself was nothing, as no one was so righteous as to pass away from earth without seeking forgiveness. The Company asked them to pronounce that this man had committed murder—self-murder—but he held that no man charged with murdering another would be convicted on such evidence as that before them. His learned friend asked, Why had not the deceased told what he had done? His answer was, Why did he not allow him (Dr. McMichael) to show what he said he had done? There was no reason why deceased should have committed suicide, as Mr. Jeffs had arranged with the Inspector for settling his defalcation. Would deceased have taken a tumblerful of solution to poison himself if three tea spoonsful would have sufficed? He argued that there was no necessity for tipping the battery to decant the poison, as it could have been easily procured without all that trouble, therefore he discarded that theory. It had not appeared to the doctor that a post-mortem or a coroner's inquest was necessary. He might have taken the poisoned cup, with a little solution in it, and have put water into it and drank it without knowing its fatal effect. The onus of proving the self-murder rested on the Company, and he asked that the benefit of the doubt should be given in favor of the deceased. He contended that the deceased had not committed self-destruction, more especially violent self-destruction, as named in the policy. It would not hurt the Company for them to declare that the deceased was not guilty and that the widow and orphans should receive what they would thus be entitled to.

His Lordship, in summing up, said the matter was a simple one of contract, to which both parties must be held. The Company contracted to pay the deceased $2,000 in event of his death by natural means, or if by suicide to repay the instalments paid, less what might have been paid as profits. He could not imagine any fairer sort of a contract. The defendants say that Wm. H. Colclough died from a violent act of self destruction, caused by the discovery of his misappropriation of the funds of his employers. He reviewed the evidence for the defendants at considerable length, and asked them to enquire as to the cause of death. The plaintiff alleged that there was circumstantial evidence, which was of a doubtful character, and contended that Mr. Colclough, owing to Mr. Jeffs' action, would have relieved his mind from fear of consequences. The plaintiff said she would not take back the $50 per year tendered by the Company, because it would attach the stigma of suicide to her husband's memory; but if she did believe that he committed suicide it would not be honest for her to seek to obtain the money which was not legally accruing. Assuming that it was a case of suicide, had the contract been broken, as it provided for vitiation in case of a violent act of self-destruction? He would submit to the jury two questions, namely did the deceased destroy himself, and secondly was it by a violent act of self-destruction? It might be that the Company intended to assume certain risks as to suicide. The defendants contended that the act was a violent one, and the medical man told them there had been a violent shock to the system from the poison. If they were not satisfied that there had been self-destruction they could find for the plaintiff; and if they found that there was self-destruction, then they must determine if it was violent. The burden of proof would rest on the defendant.

The jury returned a verdict that defendant had taken the poison accidentally, and found for the plaintiff.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Washington, April 12.—The Indian question was under consideration in the Cabinet yesterday. Schurz took the ground that to promote the best interests of both the whites and Indians, it was necessary that the Indians should be kept upon their reservations, and out of the way of bad white men, who would incite or provoke them to acts of violence. The entire Cabinet did not, however, wholly coincide with these expressions. In regard to the case of Sitting Bull, it was admitted that there were many complications. If he came south with an avowedly hostile errand, there could be little question as to the responsibility of the Canadian Government. But the presence of so large a body of consumers has nearly depleted the locality of game, and it is that upon which they depend for subsistence; other food must be brought them, or they must go where there is other game. The latter is the only available alternative for them, and it is believed they will be forced to a movement shortly. In the event of such a movement in a peaceful manner, it might change the present aspect of affairs as regards the Canadian Government. The question is, whether our Government should permit such movement as long as the Indians remain quiet, or treat them as the hostiles they were when they crossed the border and received consideration.

Yokohama, March 27.—The Spanish authorities at Manilla have finally seized and advertised for sale the American bark Masonic for a fine imposed upon the Captain in consequence of the cargo being short of twenty-two cases of kerosene. The Vice-Consul of the United States protested in vain. The Captain General would not even recognize his communication. His treatment by the Spanish authorities has been exceeding insulting and rude. The owners' interests are probably lost.

New York, April 12.—The steamer Ontario, which arrived yesterday, was sent by the British Government to take a load of American mules to assist in the Zulu campaign.

Baltimore, April 12.—The jewels of Mme. Bonaparte were appraised at the request of the executor by Jos. Gale, jeweller. Gale expressed his opinion that while the jewels cost about $70,000 they would not sell for that. The most expensive article is a necklace and pendent composed of 500 diamonds. One of the greatest curiosities in the lot is a bracelet made from gold found upon the arm of a skeleton discovered in the ruins of Pompeii. The jewels will be reserved in the family.

Cincinnati, April 12.—It is now alleged that the naturalization of Mayor elect Jacobs was fraudulent and that he cannot hold office. Jacobs said he must have been 21 years of age when naturalized, but does not know when he was born.

Our American Cousins.

Are much exercised about the "Almond Eyed" incursion of their Pacific Coast. One of their latest acts is the passage of a bill to allow no more than fifteen Chinese to come on any one ship into the country. They might as well pass an act that Lake Erie should not rise above so many feet, or that Niagara should not disgorge what it will over its falls. The Chinese could not do worse than this. Surely any country is wide enough to receive all who wish to come, and should be strong enough to make the unruly behave themselves, coming whence they may. The law of supply and demand will arrange the price of labor, and Legislatures cannot alter it. It is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. What folly it would be for our Legislature to declare that A, B and C may do business, while D, E and F may not. If all do an honest business there is no necessity for such a law, any law would be tyrannical that would so order. The fittest will survive. So in the medical world; a preparation which is good will be sought and the bad discarded. This is why Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills are so popular.

Caution.—Beware of any man who offers you an imitation article, no matter what it is, and says it is "just as good as the genuine;" they sell all kinds of "sham remedies" in this way upon the reputation of the Pain Killer—be sure and get the genuine made by Perry Davis.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 12.

City and Vicinity.

Fallen.—The melting of the ice having given the river a clear course, its waters have fallen to their usual spring level.

Easter Sunday.—The mournful season of Lent will end to-morrow, and feasting will take the place of fasting for the time being.

The Market.—The attendance on the market this morning was, as usual at Easter time, very large, and all classes of provisions sold readily at good prices.

The Harbor.—The tug steamer Eliza Bonar has been painted, and is ready for business, and the work of fitting out the steamer Kincardine will probably be commenced at an early day.

Easter Meats.—The butchers made to-day a fine display of Easter meats. Most of the beef was from western cattle, whilst the pork, mutton, lamb and veal were in most cases procured nearer home.

Collision.—A collision occurred on the market this morning between a farmer's waggon and a light buggy. The result was that the buggy was stripped of one of its front wheels, the rim of which, with two of the spokes, was taken off.

Emigrating.—Eight persons who had lived for some years near Eagle Hills, Addington, purchased tickets through to Dakota Territory, at Mr. Thompson's office yesterday. The exodus from the rural districts of Ontario is this year large.

Chancery Spring Sittings.—The spring sitings of the Court of Chancery will open at Belleville on Tuesday next, the 15th inst., before the Hon. Vice Chancellor Proudfoot. There are twenty one cases for trial.

Good Friday. — This annual holy-day passed over very quietly in the city, in a manner quite in keeping with its character. Business was generally suspended, and the usual services were held in the churches, whilst the principal streets were thronged with promenaders during the greater part of the day.

Cantata.—We understand that at the request of a number of our citizens, Prof. Coleman has in contemplation repeating the beautiful Cantata of the Pilgrim Fathers provided the members of the Choir and other ladies and gentlemen, who so kindly assisted before, give their consent. The proceeds will, we are informed, be in aid of the Mechanics Institute.

Wants Attention.—As navigation will soon open, and many strangers will travel the lower part of Front Street, the sidewalk at the corner of Front and Wharf streets ought to be cleared of the bricks and other debris, part of the old house which was torn down there. Some of the boards in the sidewalk at that point have also been broken and ought to be at once replaced.

Oddfellowship.—A proclamation has been issued by the Grand Master of the R. W. Grand Lodge I. O. O. F. recommending and requesting the observance of the 26th day of April, 1879, by appropriate exercises and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many blessings vouchsafed to this order during the past year. We believe the Oddfellows of Belleville intend to celebrate the day with their brethren in Madoc, where a procession will be held.

Serious Accident.—A Bridgewater correspondent writes :—"A serious accident occurred on Darin's storing place this morning. A boy was felling a tree when it came down on the head of a five year old girl. He ran and got the assistance of two men working near, who carried the child in an insensible condition, bleeding at the nose and mouth, to the house. It was not known to what extent she is injured or if she will recover".

The West Riding.—There was a considerable attendance of the representative men of the party at the mass meeting of Conservatives which was held on Thursday night for the selection of delegates to attend the convention for the nomination of a candidate for the Ontario Legislature. The business of the meeting was satisfactorily concluded, and the Convention, which is at the call of the President of the Liberal Conservative Association, will probably be held at an early day.

The Ice.—A stroll to the end of the Grand Junction wharf yesterday, shows that whilst the channels of the river are rapidly opening, the ice on the bay is rotting very quickly. Crossing yesterday was generally on foot from above Zwick's Island, though one or two horses with light sleighs were got across with difficulty. Open water is visible at the Ferry Point, and it now seems that with a continuance of mild weather the ferry steamer will be able to commence her regular trips next week.

Cricket.—The members of the Belleville Cricket Club are to hold their annual meeting, for the election of officers, at Hambly's on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Club has now an excellent ground, and there is every inducement for members to practice, lack of which has for some years past seriously affected the record of our local Club, which ought to be second to few, if any, as better material is not to be found anywhere than in Belleville. We hope that the Club will receive a large accession to its membership, and that the coming season will be a highly prosperous one for the Club.

The Cattle Trade.—We understand that Mr. Fred Lingham has received orders to ship 2,000 head of cattle to Liverpool, and he is now making arrangements to fill the order. Success to him.

Coming.—Mr. D. B. Hodges, business agent Tony Denier's Pantomime Troupe, was in town to-day, arranging for the appearance of this Troupe in Belleville at an early day.

Fishery Regulations.—According to the fishery regulations it is illegal to catch pickerel, pike, or maskinonge, from the 15th of April to the 15th of May—one month.

St. George's Day.—At a meeting of the members of the St. George's Society on Thursday night, it was resolved to celebrate the anniversary of their patron saint by holding a public dinner.

Sewing Machines. — The reader's attention is directed to the advertisement of the Singer Manufacturing Co. We understand that since Mr. Bell commenced business here, about a year ago, he has sold over 300 of the Singer Machines.

Appointment.—Mr. T. W. Casey, of Napanee, has been appointed by the Ontario Government to enquire into the working of the present Government inspection of the licensing system in the twenty eastern counties of the Province.

"Ready, Aye Ready !"—In the return presented to Parliament of persons who offered their services to the British Government through the Canadian Government, in event of war with Russia, we find the following : Officer commanding 49th Battalion, personal and Battalion ; Officers of the 15th Battalion.

If you are restless and cannot sleep, take Sanford's Jamaica Ginger.

First Vessel.—The first vessel to arrive at Oswego from Canada this season was the schooner D. M. Foster, from Port Hope, with 250,000 feet of lumber, which reached there on Tuesday night. The Palladium of Wednesday says:—"The Foster loaded at Toronto and set sail on December 7th last. On the 8th she ran into a thick snow storm and put into Port Hope, where she lay during the winter. Monday at 5 p.m. she set sail, and there being no tugs ready for business, was got under way with a line in the hands of the Port Hope lads. At 6 a.m. yesterday, she sighted Big Sodus and completed her trip without incident. Capt. Gordon says that except for cold weather, the trip was as easy as in summer."

Pedestrianism.—A ten hour "go as you please" contest took place yesterday in the Metropolitan Hall between members of the Belleville Lacrosse Club. There were six starters, namely T. Stewart, R. H. Benjamin, W. Newbery, S. Brown, C. S. Gillen, and John Forin, jr. The start was made at 1 o'clock p. m., a good deal of running being indulged in by most of the competitors, and Stewart obtained the lead, but was forced to retire after leading for two hours. Benjamin was then in advance, and led for a considerable time, with Newbery second, but Forin, who exhibited decidedly the best form, kept gaining gradually and obtained the lead after about five hours going. Newbery and Brown also felt obliged to retire, leaving Forin, Benjamin and Gillen to complete the contest, which they did in the order named. Forin made 41 miles and 19 laps, Benjamin 40 miles and 13 laps, and Gillen left the track after finishing 35 miles. The contest was highly interesting, and probably ere long a match open to all amateurs of the city may be arranged.

Death of Col. Aaron D. Dougall.—The Picton Gazette has the following obituary notice of the late Col. Dougall, father of A. R. Dougall, Esq., of this city : "For some time the deceased was suffering from ill health, and his friends were painfully aware that he was gradually passing away. He died at his residence, in Picton, on Tuesday last, surrounded by a few of his near relatives, having attained to the goodly age of 80 years, one month and two days. Death dealt gently with him, as he passed away without a struggle, apparently only falling asleep. The news of his death will cause a feeling of profound sorrow where he was known. In his earlier days, the deceased was one of the leading men of the County, and took an active part in its advancement. He also took a prominent part in military affairs, and rose from the ranks through merit to the position of Colonel in the Sedentary Militia. He is gone but his memory will long be cherished by those who knew him best, and his old companions in arms will feel a sense of sadness creep over them when they contemplate that one they always loved so well has passed away into the unknown. William Dougall—father of the deceased—was a retired Surgeon of the Navy, and came to this county in 1777, and settled on the farm formerly owned by the subject of this brief notice. Out of a family of 12 children, only one survives—Mrs. J. R. Armstrong, of Toronto—who is now in the 90th year of her age."

The Grand Junction Railway.—The Campbellford Herald of the 10th inst. has the following information respecting the progress on the road of the Grand Junction Railway in that vicinity:—"About seventy-five men are now employed upon the road through this village. This company is composed of four divisions, three on the grading and one on the bridge, sixty being at work on the former, while the remainder are distributed upon the latter. New hands are being added daily, and by the close of the week, there will be no less than one hundred scattered over a stretch of a few hundred yards. This number will still be increased by fifty or seventy more as soon as the frost leaves the ground, that the employed may work to greater advantage. Everything in connection with the road retains its business like appearance, and although operations have only existed a few weeks, an immense quantity of work has been accomplished. On Sebastopool street, or the road leading westward from the village, the contractor had departed from his original intention of proceeding with the work. Instead of bridging the road at this point, and allowing teams to pass under, the travelled road is to be raised a number of feet, the filling made a foot or more lower, and the crossing made after the same manner of Railway crossings generally. The work on the bridge is going on steadily. Scaffolding for building between the east abutment and the first pier, has been erected, and the stringers for this part of the structure will be laid down in a few days. With an increase of hands, some rapid work will be exhibited at no distant date."

Seasonable Topics.

Now when the snow has disappeared from the streets, it is discovered that some parties have been in the habit of dumping their coal ashes and other rubbish on the highway. The authorities should compel all such to clean it up and cart it away.

For twenty cents you can advertise a house to sell or rent in the Intelligencer.

Our merchants had very little reason to complain of business to-day. After market was over a large number of the shops were filled with customers, and it was noticeable that those who advertise freely, did the best of the business.

The butchers made a splendid show of meat to-day. The beef, veal and lamb at some of the stalls were equal to any ever exhibited in Belleville.

Why was Front Street not cleaned and put in order for Saturday's traffic ? was the question in the minds of every business man to-day. The condition of some parts of it is simply disgraceful, and reflects no credit on the Street Committee.

You can obtain a servant by paying twenty cents for an advertisement in the Intelligencer.

There was a large supply of maple sugar on the market this morning. The price varied from 13 to 15cts wer lb.

The supply of butter and eggs was very large on the market to-day, and prices ruled lower in consequence. Butter sold as low as 15cts and as high as 18cts, while eggs varied from 10 to 15 cents.

You can rent a house by advertising in the Intelligencer—only 20 cents.

Mr. Wolff, for some time of the Customs Department here, has assumed charge of the Guelph office until a successor to the late Collector is appointed.

Notwithstanding the condition of the roads, the market to-day was one of the largest of the season. It was thronged inside, and all the available space outside was occupied with farmers' teams.

The foolish man foldeth his hands and saith : "There is no trade ; why should I advertise !" But the wise man is not so. He whoopeth it up in the newspapers, and verily he draweth customers from afar off.

There is an over-production of polar wave this spring.

"Always pay as you go," said an old gentleman to his nephew. "But, uncle, suppose I haven't anything to pay with ?" "Then don't go."

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

St. Petersburg, April 12.—A Kieff correspondent gives the following account of an outbreak among political prisoners : Last month the persons under arrest in Kieff prison resolved some time ago to crawl under the walls and escape. The scheme was betrayed when the tunnel was completed and the prisoners entered intending to come up through the opening beyond the prison prescints. The soldiers posted at the opening shot the escaping prisoners as they came up, when the bulk of the prisoners terrified by the noise of firing remained in the tunnel. The soldiers were sent from behind and the unfortunate wretches were caught between two fires, and were all shot down. The proceedings seemed to give the officials much amusement, and the Director of Kieff Prison has been praised and decorated. Quite in keeping with this is a statement published by the Russian Chaplain in the Central Prison of Charkoff. He declares that of 500 persons detained in that prison, 200 died within four months. One of the severest charges made by the Nihilists against the Russian Official Administration was the brutal treatment of prisoners, in consequence of which many are dying and some going mad.

New York, April 12.—It is understood that Cyrus W. Field who was recently offered the Presidency of the Wabash Railroad has finally decided to accept it. This is taken as an indication of the coming vigorous management, and probably accounts for the activity of Wabash to-day.

☞ When the appetite fails, and head aches, with constipation of the bowels, the liver is out of order, and no medicine gives such prompt and permanent relief as few doses of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant purgative Pellets.

S. E. Burwell, of Fingal, Ont., writes:—Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my lungs and produced a distressing cough, for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines, but without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief, and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages ; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle ; six bottles for $5.00.

The N. Y. Bank Statement for the month shows a large decrease in loans.

The Supreme Court of Rhode Island have issued a perpetual injunction against the City Treasurer of Newport to pay the cost of a ball given to officers of the British fleet last year.

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system. while the world's progress in enlightenment would indeed be marvellous.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, April 12.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours : For the Lower Lake region, moderate to fresh winds, clear to fair weather. For the St. Lawrence, fresh to brisk northerly to westerly winds, gradually clearing in the lower portion and generally clear in the upper. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh winds, cloudy to partly clouny weather with light rain or snow in some localities.

Washington, April 12.— Indications :—clear or partly cloudy, stationary or higher temperaure, to-morrow promises to be warm and clear.

Our town Druggists say the Pain Killer sells the best of any medicine they keep ; during the hard times of the past year or two there were none too poor to pay their "quarter" for a bottle of this indispensible family medicine

Palatable Castor Oil.

The ambiguity of these words would naturally excite ridicule in the mind of the reader, as we associate with the name the most sickening and unpalatable things our minds can conceive, But it is a fact that in Scott & Browne's Palatable Castor Oil the nauseous properties are entirely removed, and it is as sweet and pleasant as cream ; and in preparing it they have also eliminated all of its griping propensities, so that it is really the most delicious laxative and cathartic medicine ever administered, either to children or adults.

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Sneezing or Head Colds, called Acute Catarrah ; thick, yellow, and foul Mattery accumulations in the Nasal Passages, called Chronic Catarrh ; rotting and sloughing of the Bones of the Nose, with discharges of loathsome matter tinged with blood, and Ulcerations often extending to the Eye, Ear, Throat, and Lungs, called Ulcerative Catarrh. Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. Unless the system is prostrated by scrofula or consumption beyond recuperation, it will effect a permanent cure in every case. Hundreds of testimonials attest its wonderful curative properties. Every druggist who has ever sold it will ceerfully bear witness to its marvellous efficacy.

Price, with Improved Inhaler, Treatise, and Directions, $1.

THE SHADOW.

BY PHŒBE CAREY.

The merry robin's blithest call
Is not a merry sound to me,
The rosy sunshine on the wall
Is darker than it used to be.

No fragrance comes out of the rose,
I know not where its sweets are hid;
And though its leaves are crimson still,
I cannot see it as I did.

The little runnel by the door,
That once went shouting on its way,
Is shouting on its way no more
But wails through all the livelong day.

I saw them sewing yesternight,
A bridal dress—and thought of shrouds.
The stars looked out of heavy mist,
The moon was wading up through clouds.

The sun went down, a dismal sun,
With all his banners round him furled;
And thus the shadow of one grave
Has darkened over all the world.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, April 9.

In the House of Commons after routine, Messrs. Drew and Arkell resumed the debate on the tariff, and advocated agricultural protection.

Mr. MASSUE, as the representative of a Quebec agricultural district, signified his adherence to the new tariff.

Mr. RICHEY (Halifax), in a careful and well-considered speech, presented a defence of the National Policy from a Maritime Province point of view. The adoption of a protective policy was necessary to increase the revenue of taxation as much as to protect the national industry.

After recess, several Private Bills were advanced a stage.

Mr. PLUMB, resuming the tariff debate, reviewed the administration of the late Government, especially the financial policy, and contended that, through past maladministration, it became incumbent on the new Government to increase the national taxation.

Mr. KILLAM (Yarmouth, N. S.) referred more especially than previous speakers to the relation which the new tariff bore to the shipping business. Not only, he contended, would the tariff prove disastrous to the shipbuilding industry, but would throw obstacles in the way of the Maritime carrying trade.

The Minister of Marine announced that the tariff the last speaker had been denouncing was sustained that day by the people of Prince Edward Island by a vote of 25 to 5.

MR. MACKENZIE expressed astonishment that such an announcement should be made on the floor of the House of Commons.

The Minister of Customs urged that the member for Lambton was out of order in interrupting the Minister of Marine.

The Minister of Marine, continuing his remarks, argued that the question at issue in the Island Province was the National Policy.

MR. MCLENNAN (Glengarry) spoke in advocacy of a National Policy, and believed that tht Government had introduced such a policy as would be favored generally by the people of Canada.

Mr. BOULTBEE denied that the religious cry was a factor in securing the defeat of the late Government of Prince Edward Island.

Mr YEO, P.E.I. claimed that the people of the Island, instead of being in favor of the tariff were strongly opposed to it.

Mr. MACDOUGALL said he did not think it was correct to say that the people of Canada had approved of the special tariff brought down, but approval had certainly been passed on the principle underlying it. In the course of his remarks he said he did not place much importance on the disloyalty cry, for he for one could not see that a 20 per cent. tariff was any more disloyal than a 17½ per cent. one. On the whole he believed the tariff to be a success, and he should support it with much pleasure.

Mr. CASGRAIN said that the Province of Quebec was not prepared to accept the tariff.

Mr. LAURIER addressed the House in English for an hour in defining the protective policy of Papineau in the past; the causes which contributed to the adoption of that policy, the object it had in view and its abandonment, when those objects were attained. He defied any one to point to protection, as now understood, as a plank of the platform of the Quebec Liberal party in 1872. He had too much loyalty to vote for a tariff which provided for reciprocity with the United States but not with England.

Mr. CIMON, Ministerial, spoke in reply to Mr. Laurier.

Mr. ANGLIN then proceeded to address the House.

At 5 a. m. a division was taken on Mr. Mackenzie's amendment, with the following result:—

YEAS.—Anglin, Bain, Borden, Bourassa, Burke, Burpee (St. John), Burpee (Sunbury), Cameron (Huron), Cartwright, Casey, Casgrain, Chandler, Charlton, Christie, Cockburn (Muskoka), Dumont, Fiset, Fleming, Galbraith, Geoffrion, Gillies, Gilmor, Gunn, Haddow, Holton, Huntington, Killam, King, Larue, Laurier, Macdonnell (Inverness), Mackenzie, McIsaac, Malouin, Mills, Oliver, Paterson, (Brant), Pickard, Rinfret, Robertson (Shelburne), Rogers, Ross (Middlesex), Rymal, Scriver, Skinner, Smith (Selkirk), Smith (Westmoreland), Snowball, Thompson (Haldimand), Trow, Weldon, Yeo.—Total 53.

NAYS—Allison, Arkill, Baby, Baker, Benoit, Bergeron, Bergin, Bolduc, Boultbee, Bourbeau, Bowell, Brooks, Bunster, Bunting, Burnham, Cameron (Victoria), Carling, Caron, Cimon, Cockburn (Northumberland), Colby, Connell, Costigan, Coughlin, Coupal, Conrsol, Currier, Cuthbert, Daly, Dawson, DeCosmos, Desaulniers, Desjardins, Dewdney, Domville, Drew, Dubuc, Dugas, Elliott, Farrow, Ferguson, Fitzsimmons, Fortin, Fulton, Gault, Gigault, Gill, Girouard (Jacques Cartier), Girouard (Kent), Grandbois, Hackett, Haggart, Hay, Hesson, Hillyard, Hooper, Houde, Hurteau, Ives, Jackson, Jones, Keeler, Kilvert, Kirkpatrick, Kranz, Landry, Lane, Langevin, Lantier, Little, Longley, MacDonald (Kings), MacDonald (Victoria, B. Total, 136.

The announcement of the vote was received with Ministerial applause, and the main motion was declared carried on the same division. The House went into committee on ways and means, when an amendment was made placing fish, oils, &c., from Newfoundland on the free list.

Greatest Walk on Record.

Brother Bell of the colored Bethel congregation, Washington, a few nights since, at a prayer meeting, took occasion, in the course of an exhortation on the duties of life to fire a passing shot at the walking mania now so prevalent, and developed some facts in relation to pedestrian feats that seem hitherto to have escaped notice. He said:—"My beluved bredren an' sisters dar's one ting I'm boun' to say to you befo' I closes de exercises dis nite, an' dat is, don't take no stock in dis here walkin bizness. Let dem wite tramps, men an' wimmin alone; don't spen' yo' money or yo' time runnin' roun' arter 'em, an' for de Lor's sake an' yo' own, don't try to make fools ob yourselfs by doin' likewise. Yo' men will find plenty ob exercise in attendin' to yo' work, an' yo' wimmen enuff to do ober yo' washtubs an' nussin yo' babies, instid ob trampin' roun de sawdust, day an an' day off, jess to pleeze a passel ob fools an' ruin yo' own helf. Besides, my beluved frens, all de braggin' dey dus about deir 'long walks,' 'long times,' an' wot dey calls 'fizzical endoorinse,' ain't wuth shucks wen yo cum to compar dem wid one puffomance dat tuk place thousand ob years ago, an' de reason dey don't mention it is cos none ob dese sportin' folks eber reeds deir Bibles. Well, I'll tell yo' wot it wus—an' it's de grátest 'sportin match,' as dey calls it, dat eber cum off on de face ob de earf. None ob yo' hippy-drum bizness heah! No, sah! 'Fair heel-an-toe walkin'—jedges appointed track measured, time kep' (according to scriptur) an' a ree-kord made—yes, an' a ree-kord dat can't be denied, cos heah it is—yes, heah it is—in dis preshus book. Now, jess turn ober yo' Bibles my frens, an' look at fifth chapter ob Geneseis, twenty second, vuss, an' wot do yo' find! Why yo' find dat Enoch—walked—wid—God!—(after he beg'gatted Mefooslay)—three hundred years!' Three—hundred years! Dat was a walk for yo'! Jess shet yo' eyes an' reflect on it. Three hundred years! Besides de ree-kord says dat wen de ole man made de match an' had dat chile, (who kep' on livin' till he wuz nine hundred an' sixty-nine years ole—monsus good stuff in dat family)—I say wen de ole man made dis match an' had dis chile he wuz sixty-five years ole, an' den walked three hundred years. Talk about yo' 'fizzickle ondoorinse' after dat. Why de ole man has dun laid out all ob dese nowadays blowers as flat as a ded shad! So much foh dis 'storninary puffomance. But dat ain't all oh it. Dere's mo' yet. If you'll jess look at de twenty-fourth vuss ob de same chapter yo' will find, my beluved frens, wat a orful warnin' is in dat vuss to yo' foolish creetures who has de conceit to make onekal matchea. Did any good cum ob de man Enoch's walk? Did he make any ting outen it? No, my bredren an' sisters. No! No! He loss by it—loss ebryting by it—neber parued in de ring agin—in fack he 'went up.' Jess read de vuss—'An—Enoch—walked—wid—God—an'—he—wuz—not,' (dat is he warn't nowhere) 'foh God tuck him.' 'God tuck him.' To be suah he tuck him. He wuz boun' to be tuck. He helt out a long time, de ole man did; he wuz game to de last; he wuz doin' his level best, but de 'Ole Master' wuz too long in de stride, an' too soun' in de win' foh him, an' he tuck him on de last roun'. Yes, my beluved frens, an' he'll take anybody dat tries dat game on him, an' he'll histe him higher'n a kite jess as he did Ole Boss Enoch. So taka warnin' by dis orful lesson; let all dis kin' ob foolishness alone, an' to yo' proper callin's like good Christshuns. An' now let us pray!"

The Unprejudiced Physician.

It is very pitiful to see the blooming girl or seemingly stalwart youth suddenly succumb, as the unsuspected seeds of consumption begin to develop in the system. The physician knows that Cod Liver Oil is the only known cure, and if he be unprejudiced he will recommend SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, as it is not only a much better remedy, but being perfectly palatable can be taken continuously till full health is restored.

A Slight Cough that we are so apt to consider a mere annoyance and treat with corresponding neglect, too often proves to be the seed sown for an inevitable harvest—CONSUMPTION. Immediate and thorough treatment is our only safeguard. A teaspoonful of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime given whenever the cough is troublesome, will afford immediate relief, and if persevered in will effect a cure even in the most obstinate cases.

Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B.; and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION
PURE COD LIVER OIL
WITH
HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain.

The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

Daily Intelligencer.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—I observed in a recent number of your daily an account of the City Board of Education having to call a special meeting to obtain authority from the Board for the Chairman and Secretary of the Board to negotiate a loan through the bank for $2,900, to pay the quarterly salaries due the teachers on the first of April, 1879. As it appears that the City failed to provide the necessary funds in time to pay the quarterly salaries due, it is rather strange that the School Board have to get their own note discounted to pay the teachers' salaries, when the School law provides—cap. 204, sub-sec. 6 of sec. 78, R. S. O., as follows: "To cause the Clerk of the Township in annually making out the Collector's roll, to place further columns therein, so that under the head of "School Rate" the Public School Rate may be distinguished from the Separate School Rate, and also under 'Special Rate for School Debts,' to distinguish between Public and Separate School purposes. And the Clerk of the Township shall prepare such Collector's roll accordingly and the proceeds of any such rate shall be kept distinct by the Collector and accounted for accordingly. 40 Vic., cap. 16, sec. 13.(2). And Sec. 90 of the same Act defines the powers of Municipal Councils of cities, towns and incorporated villages, as follows, viz.: "The Municipal Council of every city, town and incorporated village is hereby invested within its limits with the same powers, and shall be subject to the same obligations (so far as they can apply to such city, town or incorporated village) as the Municipal Councils of counties and townships are by this Act and the provisions contained in sub-sections 5, 6, 7 and 8, of Section 79, shall amongst others apply to cities, towns and incorporated villages, and the Councils and officers thereof. 37 Vic. Cap. 28, Sec. 67; 40 Vic. Cap. 16, Sec. 13 (4c).

Now, Mr. Editor, it is clear from the reading of the above Act that the City Council has no power to use the "school funds" for city purposes. When collected the law requires that the school funds must be kept distinct and accounted for accordingly by the City Collector, and to be paid over to the "Treasurer of the Board of Education," instead of paying such funds into the hands of the City Treasurer. The City has no authority over the school funds whatever, after they are collected, and it is the Collector's duty to properly account for the Public and High School taxes. It is about time the City Collector learned this part of his duty, and the City Treasurer should also learn that these funds do not belong to the City for City purposes, and if there is any financing to be done it is the duty of the City authorities to attend to their own financing instead of using the school funds for City purposes and leaving the School Board to finance for themselves, to pay their teachers, and I imagine the School Board will attend to the Collector in future and inform him to whom the school funds must be paid.

Yours, &c.,
TAXPAYER.

Belleville, April 12, 1879.

To the Editor of the Intelligencer.

SIR,—Now that we have escaped all danger from that terrible scourge, small-pox, it is well to recount one little incident connected therewith. It is always pleasant to notice anything that serves to increase the harmony already so happily existing between the different denominations in our Township.

The following, I feel assured, will serve to draw closer that bond of union between Catholic and Protestant, and show the latter that their Catholic fellow-citizens whilst ever differing from them on religious principles, yet, on the broad platform of humanity, respect them as neighbors and as brothers.

As is well known, the late epidemic did not attack a single individual of the Catholic faith; nevertheless, when our very respected pastor, Rev. Father Davis, saw the danger and distress of the many Protestants who were stricken down, he immediately applied for nurses, to those Angels of Charity, the good Sisters of the House of Providence, Kingston.

No sooner did they know that their services were required to nurse the sick in Marmora, than, no less than seven, at once volunteered to come here on that mission of charity. Although it turned out that there was no necessity of their coming, still, the fact of their kind offer should be known by all the Protestants in this part of our County, I know the knowledge of it will be most pleasing to them, and as I said above it will serve to increase the kindly feeling which already exist.

I cannot better explain to your Protestant readers the kindness of the offer made than in laying before them all the correspondence on the matter, which took place between Rev. Father Davis, and Mr. Charles Clairmont, of this village.

The following speaks for itself:

MARMORA, March 1, 1879.

To Rev. Father Davis, Tweed,—Small-pox raging here—authorities think it advisable not to have church on Sunday.

CHARLES CLAIRMONT.

TWEED, March 1st, 1879.

To Charles Clairmont, Marmora,—Mass on Sunday as usual. The very time Catholics require it most, Let those who prefer the danger of sickness to their religion have no services, for us death before dishonor.

THOMAS DAVIS.

TWEED, March 3rd, 1879.

To Charles Clairmont, Marmora,—Can get Sisters of Charity from Kingston as nurses provided the authorities secure a temporary hospital.

THOMAS DAVIS.

MARMORA, March 5th, 1879.

To Rev. Father Davis, Madoc,—Not necessary. Disease now under control. No new cases reported.

CHARLES CLARMONT.

The above speaks for itself and serves to show (while fear paralyzed many who should be the last to show it) the Catholic Priest of this mission and the good Sisters of Kingston were not unmindful of the distress of our Protestant neighbors. Knowing that the above little incident shall be duly appreciated by all honorable Protestants of this and surrounding Townships,

I am, Mr. Editor,
Yours respectfully.
J. D. J. MCKINNON.

Many a true heart that would have come back like the dove to the ark, after the first transgression, has been frightened beyond recall by the angry look and menacing taunt—the savage charity of an unforgiving soul.

Memoriam of the late R. Carswell.

DIED—On Thursday, March 6th. 1879, at his residence near the village of Maynooth, Hastings Road, ROBERT CARSWELL, aged 60 years. As a citizen he was honest and just, and respected by a large circle of friends.

The following action was taken by the Maynooth Loyal Orange Lodge No. 1,111, in relation to the death of Brother Robert Carswell:

Whereas, the Grand Master of the Universe in His mysterious Providence has summoned from the scenes of earth one of our number, our esteemed friend and worthy Brother, Robert Carswell, a member of this Lodge, and we desire to record our testimony to the worth of one who was associated with us as a member,—therefore

Resolved, That we have heard with profound sorrow the announcement of his death; but while we sorrow that he will no more meet with us in the Lodge room, we can rejoice in the confidence that he has joined that Lodge "not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Resolved, That as brethren of this Lodge and so associates of the deceased, who mingling with him in the various walks of life having learned to respect and esteem him, we desire to express our unfeigned sorrow at his death, and to bear testimony alike to his character, his frank and generous nature, and his unimpeachable integrity.

Resolved, That in his death the Lodge has lost a most efficient member, and the community an upright and conscientious citizen. Although we shall miss him in the Lodge and in our social gatherings, yet his memory shall ever be green in the recesses of our hearts.

Resolved, That we as a Lodge tender our sincere and heartfelt sympathies to his bereaved friends and relatives; and may He who quieted the troubled waters send peace and consolation to their sorrowing hearts.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the parents of the deceased, and also be made a part of the minutes of this Lodge; and a copy be sent to each of the following named newspapers for publication: Belleville INTELLIGENCER and North Hastings Review.

The North-West.

(From the Saskatchewan Herald.)

There is not a ton of hay to be bought in Battleford at any price.

Ten dollars a day drift mining at Fort Saskatchewan is the latest gold news.

A few nights ago direct telegraphic communication was had between Battleford and Thunder Bay—a distance of twelve hundred miles. The operator at the Bay, however, would not believe it, although he got a lot of Battleford news. He thought some of his friends near at hand was trying to put a joke upon him, and to convince his correspondent that he was not to be taken in, he closed by saying, "Why Battleford is away out near the Rocky Mountains."

Mr. Simpson, D. L. S., intends to break up winter quarters within a fortnight and take up his work of laying out Indian reserves to the west of this place.

The Church Missionary Society, which maintains the mission at Eagle Hills, has engaged a practical farmer to instruct the Indians on the reserve in the mysteries of farming. In the future, every man will work his own bit of land instead of holding all in common, as has been the custom heretofore. Indians are like other people—they work best when they see a direct return for their labor and have a personal interest in the result. On the reserve they are resolved to raise enough this season to feed them during the following year.

The prospects of a healthy immigration to the Territories this season are very good. Prince Albert and the South Branch will receive considerable accessions from Manitoba and elsewhere.

Beardy—the chief of the Cree band at Duck Lake—whose extravagant demands were noted a short time ago, has materially modified his views and joined the ranks of the "good Indians."

Meetings continue to be held in the Little Saskatchewan settlements to protest against their annexation to Manitoba, and praying for such amendments to the North-West Territories' Act that will enable them to establish schools and carry on needed local improvements.

Last week the Indians of the Eagle Hills reserve finished cutting out and clearing a new road between Battleford and the reserve, which will be of immense advantage to themselves and all freighters from the east who come in by what is known as "the middle road."

The storm of the 21st of February was the most severe that has visited this region during the present winter. For three or four days the wind blew from the eastward, and early on the morning of the 22nd it veered to the west and blew a hurricane, when it began to abate. At sunset it had died away, and was followed by calm, mild weather. During the height of the storm the wind gauge at the barracks registered forty-four miles an hour.

In December last His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, in the hope that it might be found that the united population of Prince Albert, St. Laurent, Carlton and Duck Lake would entitle that section of the Territories to an elected representative in the Council, authorized a census to be taken. We regret to learn that the number of adults in these settlements is still 253 short of the 1000 required by "the North-West Territories Act, 1875," to give a district not exceeding an area of one thousand square miles the right to elect a member to the Council.

Alkali for Pear Trees.

The San Francisco Bulletin gives the result of planting various fruit trees on the alkali soils of that state. The experiment was unsuccessful, except with the pear. Every variety of pear grew with a luxuriance unknown elsewhere, while apples, plums, peaches, etc., dwindled away, and perished in a couple of years

Possibly the facts thus ascertained may be of value to other climates. Usually the alkaline deserts abound in soda. May not experiment ascertain whether soda or potash, artificially applied, with great care at first, of course, and in small quantities, have an equally happy effect? Lime has often been tried with no apparent effect whatever.

The pear is subject to many diseases which cause some of your correspondents to give up trying to grow it. Possibly by making the experiment over a widely extended section of country, some facts may be ascertained that may be made of practical value. The cost of trying it will be so trifling, that it is to be hoped it may be generally made by some of your observing and acute readers.

The idea is thrown out for the public benefit, should it be found there is anything in it, and hoping there may be.

During the months of January, February and March the New York Elevated Railroad carried 7,539,476 passengers, while the Metropolitan Elevated Railroad carried 3,935,623, being a total of 11,475,000 for both roads.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, APRIL 14.

Signs of Weakness.

The Grit party, although usually very boastful when an election is in prospect, evidently feel that they are about to fight in a losing cause, and anticipate that the Mowat Government is about to be sent to join that of Mr. Mackenzie, which it used all its influence to save from defeat, but without avail. This we have a right to infer from the verdict of the electors in September last; the ad misrecordiam appeals to the people by their organs not to throw Mr. Mowat overboard; the numerous changes which they have made in the personnel of their candidates; and the final and most conclusive fact that in some of the constituencies they will not venture on nominating straight party men, but will try to elect men professing to hold "independent" views.

The "great" Mr. Fraser, Commissioner of Public Works and chief manager in Mr. Mowat's Cabinet, has found his former constituents in South Grenville so coldly disposed towards him that he has constrained to abandon the hope of re-election in his old constituency, and will now offer for Brockville, where he resides, and which constituency has been so gerrymandered by himself and friends that they now regard it as a pocket borough. This it is in reality, as by the addition of a strongly Grit township from South Leeds, which riding was Conservative by a small majority, a considerable preponderance is given to the Grit element in Brockville, where it was formerly in the minority. Thus a seemingly safe constituency was manufactured for the use of Mr. Fraser when necessity compelled, and he has now found it advisable to resort thither, probably in advance of the time that he expected. Imitating the prudence of Mr. Fraser, the erratic Dr. Clarke, of North Norfolk, has retired from the political "arcana," as he delighted to call it, and will not face the defeat which to all seeming awaited him. In West Middlesex Mr. Watterworth, the Grit representative of that constituency for the past four years, has been so unswerving a supporter of his party as to have become thoroughly identified with their record, and so he has been shelved and a new and less objectionable man substituted. This is wisdom, as the Grit majority in the September election was so small as to render the party extremely cautious. There are indications that the same confession of weakness will be made in other constituencies, and thus in any case a large number of the staunch supporters of the Government who have rendered themselves unpopular by sustaining its every act will be thrust aside on that account. Could any more significant confession of the unpopularity of the course of Mr. Mowat's Government be made than is involved in this significant action of the party whose nominal head he is?

Yet another indication that the Grit party is possessed with the most gloomy forebodings is to be found in the fact that in some constituencies they will place no candidate of their own in the field. In West Peterborough, for instance, they nominated a Mr. Bell, in opposition to Mr. W. H. Scott; but after a short experience amongst the electors the Grit nominee retired, convinced that his chances of election were hopeless. This has had so disheartening an effect upon the party in the riding that, as the Review informs us, they are hawking about the following form of requisition:—

> "James Hogan, Esq.":—
>
> "Sir,—We, the undersigned electors of the West Riding of the County of Peterborough, hereby request you will allow yourself to be put in nomination as a candidate at the ensuing Provincial Elections, in the interest of the farming, mechanic and laboring classes, having pledged ourselves, in the event of your doing so, to use our utmost exertions to secure your return. We want a representative who will be free from both political parties, and whose sympathies and feelings will be in favor of the farmers, the mechanics, and the laborers, and who will do his utmost to inaugurate a greater economy in the public expenditure, and we believe you will do all this, and that you will not disappoint those who give you their support; in a word, that you will be the same after the elections that you were before them."

The idea of supporters of the Mowat Government attaching their signatures to a document calling upon a candidate to be "free from both political parties," and asking for "greater economy in the public expenditure," is ludicrous in the extreme, as it involves direct condemnation of the set of men whom they have supported for the past eight years, and whom they would fain see continued at the head of affairs. Of course the requisition is neither more nor less than a trap to catch Conservative votes; but the people have seen so many "independent" men when elected fall into line with the majority after their price had been secured, that neither in West Peterborough nor in any other constituency are they likely to be deluded.

Our "Reform" friends show by their actions that they look for defeat, and we are happy to be able for once to agree with them. At the same time Conservatives should avoid over-confidence, which has too frequently proved fatal, and not only maintain but increase their organizations, taking advantage of the depressed condition of their opponents and pushing their canvass with vigor as soon as their candidates are placed in the field.

The Vote on the Tariff.

The Mail gives the following analysis of of the vote which was taken in the House of Commons on Thursday morning last, upon Mr. Mackenzie's proposed amendment to the tariff:

	Yeas.	Nays.
Ontario	20	63
Quebec	15	43
Nova Scotia	6	13
New Brunswick	10	5
British Columbia	0	6
P. E. I.	1	4
Manitoba	1	2
	53	136

"Besides the Speaker, fifteen members did not vote, and North Ontario is unrepresented. The fifteen absent members were: Ministerialists, Messrs. Bannerman, Brecken, Daoust, Doull, Kaulbach, Langevin, Masson, Methot and Schultz, total 9; Opposition, Messrs. Bechard, Brown (West Hastings), Flynn, Glenn, Guthrie and Wiser, total 6. If these gentlemen had been in the House and had voted with their party, the vote would have stood: Yeas, 59; nays, 145, or a Ministerial majority of 86, not reckoning the Speaker among the Ministerialists, and not counting North Ontario either way."

We believe that had Mr. Brown been present he would have voted with the Government. Although opposed to the duties on anthracite coal and pig iron, he is yet a Protectionist, and supported the various motions in favor of protection proposed by the Opposition in the last Parliament. In a full house, therefore, the vote of Ontario would have been 65 nays to 22 yeas, and the Government's majority would have been 88.

The Police Force.

It is reported that the Police Commissioners will to-morrow appoint an additional man to the police force, to fill the vacancy at present existing. As by sec. 24 of the Act to amend the Municipal Act, passed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature, the Councils of cities containing not more than 15,000 inhabitants may by by-law fix and determine the number of men who shall constitute the police force of such cities, we trust that the Commissioners will not make an appointment at present. The Council have not as yet availed themselves of the powers conferred upon them by the Act in question, and as they may desire to reduce the number of men composing the force, it would be in all respects more satisfactory were the matter left in abeyance until the intention of the Council has been signified. The force is large and expensive, and there seems to be a good opportunity for effecting a considerable saving in connection with it. We commend the subject to the attention of all the members of the Council, and particularly to Alderman Geen, whose professions of economy have herein a fair field for manifestation, as at present no Committee of Council have anything to do with affairs pertaining to the force. If the matter be considered of a pressing nature, a special meeting of the Council might be called, and a line of action decided upon.

Another Retirement. — Mr. Wm. Doran, the Grit candidate for the Ontario Legislature in South Lanark, has retired, in face of a certain defeat.

New Senator.—Dr. Almon, of Halifax, has been appointed to fill the vacancy in the Senate caused by the recent death of Senator Northup. Dr. Almon formerly represented the County of Halifax in the Commons, and occupies a high and honored position in that County.

54 Years in the Ministry.—Rev. Dr. Ryerson stated at the Metropolitan Church Toronto, on Easter Sunday, that that was the fifty-fourth anniversary of his first entrance to the ministry. On Easter Sunday, 1825, the Venerable Doctor preached his first sermon at Grimsby.

British Columbia Trade.—During the four months, ending 31st December last, British Columbia imported $1,247,975, of which $1,027,552 were dutiable, and $220,423 free goods, $310,579 were from Great Britain and $885,089 from the United States. The exports for a similar period were $1,878,803; of which $369,089 were sent to Great Britain and $1,269,410 to the United States and $118,667 to Australia.

Expenditure on the Canadian Pacific.—The following statement of the expenditure on the Pacific Railway and certain other public works up to the 1st of March, asked for by a member, has been brought down: Fort William to Sunshine Creek, $778,696; Pembina Branch to English Creek, $1,032,122; Rat Portage to Cross Lake, $1,584,535; General, $14,806; Thunder Bay, $26,150; Fort Frances Lock, $287,704. Total, $5,636,543.

Don't Care for Canadians.—The new tariff was not expected to please every one in England, and from the bitter speeches made by some of the free trade members of the British House of Commons, it is evident it has not given universal satisfaction. Speaking upon the subject in the Commons, Mr. Roebuck, a member, said, "What I want the Canadians to understand and what I want the Government to make them understand, is that we do not care a farthing about the adherence of Canada to England, we care for their trade only." And Canadians are to be charged with disloyalty for displeasing such money-grubbing politicians.

The new Reformed Presbyterian Church was opened yesterday for Divine worship.

Snow and rain is falling to-day.

Apples for Europe.—Two vessels loaded with apples have just left Annapolis, N. S., for Europe. One has a cargo of over three thousand, and the other five thousand, barrels. Six cargoes of apples, consisting of over twenty-five thousand barrels, have been sent from Kings and Annapolis counties to Europe during the past six months.

Indians Starving.—The Winnipeg Free Press says that the Indians at Qu Appelle are starving. On the 18th March about seventy of them demanded the Government flour stored at the Hudson Bay Co.'s post there which was refused and a detachment of the Mounted Police sent for. The Indians persisted in their demands and not to precipitate an outbreak, for which the Indians were apparently ready, the police did not interfere. Lieut.-Governor Laird had been previously communicated with and his orders to give them the flour were received two days after the Indians had helped themselves

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, APRIL 14.

City and Vicinity.

PERSONAL.—Mr. F. Cosgrove, of the Tribune, Toronto, was in town to-day.

FIRST PAGE.—On the first page of this day's issue will be found some communications and other original matter.

PERSONAL.—The Minister of Customs arrived in town on Saturday night and will leave for Ottawa by the midnight express.

EASTER VESTRIES.—The annual Vestry meetings in connection with the Churches of England in this city will be held to-night.

THE ROADS.—The country roads are reported to be in a very bad state just now, owing to the melting of the heavy drifts of snow which encumbered them during the winter.

CHANCERY SPRING SITTINGS.—The spring sittings of the Court of Chancery will commence to-morrow before Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot. There are twenty-one cases for hearing.

EASTER OFFERING.—The Rev. R. S. Forneri, incumbent of St. John's Church, was the recipient of the sum of $50 as an Easter offering from his Congregation and a few of his friends.

THE SMALL POX IN MARMORA.—From the Warden we learn that the sanitary measures taken to prevent the spread of small-pox in Marmora have been successful. No new cases are reported, and the speedy extinction of the disease is expected.

BUILDING.—Mr. A. S. Brown announces that he will receive tenders up to Friday next for the masonry and brick work of the new building to be erected by him at the corner of Foundry and Pinnacle Streets. Particulars are contained in the advertisement.

FIRE.—A fire occurred this morning at 7 o'clock under a wooden stairway in rear of Fredericks' grocery store in the Wallbridge block, Front Street. The damage done was trifling, and the firemen, although prompt as usual in turning out, had but little to do. It is supposed that the fire was caused by hot ashes.

CORPORATION SERVICES.—By advertisements in other columns it will be seen that tenders are requested by the Chairman of the Market Committee for the repairing of the tower clock, and the keeping of the same in order, and by the Chairman of the Fire Committee for the drawing of the hose carts to fires by horses, at so much per trip—the horses to be stabled within two hundred yards of the engine houses.

OPENING.—The river is now all but clear of ice, and the bay is opening rapidly. On the west side of the island the current has cut a narrow channel through the ice, which extends well out towards the Grand Junction wharf. On the east side a little ice remains, but it is very thin and melting rapidly. Men still cross the ice on foot, but it is very dangerous work. A strong westerly wind would quickly open the bay to Massassaga Point.

NEW FIRM.—The reader's attention is called to the announcement of the establishment of a new firm, who have just opened a shop on Bridge Street, next door to the Post Office, which has been very neatly and tastily fitted up. The firm is Messrs. W. Medley & Co., dealers in Paper Patterns, as also the latest improvements in Sewing Machines. We understand that the senior member of this firm is a gentleman long and favorably known to many of our leading business men here, and cordially extend to them our welcome and trust they may meet with the success which their best efforts deserve. Their advertisement will be found in another column.

THE ASSIZES.—The sittings of this Court came to a close on Saturday evening, after some twenty-seven civil causes and one criminal case had been disposed of. As the Hon. Mr. Justice Cameron, who presided as Judge, paid his first visit to this part of the country in his judicial capacity on the occasion, it is a fitting time to say that the new Judge won golden opinions from all who attended the Court. Clear, concise and lucid in his charges to the jury, courteous to counsel and prompt to decide the non-jury causes, Judge Cameron left a highly favorable impression behind him, it being generally considered that he is a worthy successor to the many eminent men who have previously occupied positions on the Canadian bench. Sir John Macdonald's judicial appointments have always been excellent—that of Mr. Cameron is one of his best.

ANOTHER WAY TO LOOK AT IT.—The Monetary Times says:—Outside of Canada the increase of the tariff is set down as due wholly to a preference for a protective policy. It is proper therefore, occasionally to repeat the fact that, in any case, an increase in the tariff, originating in revenue requirments, would have had to be made. If the Free Trade Government had remained in power the duty would have been laid upon it, equally with the present, of increasing the revenue by two millions of dollars a year. That increase in the public burthens was rendered necessary by a succession of deficits in the revenue. All the difference that a thoretical Free Trade policy could have made would have been to cause a different arrangement of the increased duties—to lay the burthen upon the left shoulder instead of the right. But the additional weight of two millions would still have had to be borne.

S. E. BURWELL, of Fingal, Ont., writes:—Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my lungs and produced a distressing cough, for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines, but without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief, and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

Promotion Examination to Fourth Book.

Sixty-six third class pupils passed a written examination in Spelling, Geography, Arithmetic, Grammar, and Canadian History, for promotion to 4th book. Of these sixty-five were from Miss Urquhart's division, and one from Mr. Armistead's.

Fifty-three of the sixty-five were successful, and their names are arranged in order of merit:

Navigation Notes.

It is as yet uncertain whether the steamer Kincardine will run between Belleville and Oswego this year. The Oswego Belle will again trade between Oswego and Toronto.

The work of fitting out the Alexandra and the other steamers which wintered at Picton is proceeding rapidly. The Shannon will run as before between Picton and Napanee.

The ice on the Upper St. Lawrence has broken up, and ice is running down from the islands.

The Oswego Palladium of Friday says:—Capt. Farrington has his crew engaged and will set sail on Monday with his vessel—the Belle of Hamilton, coal laden at this port all winter for Toronto.

A letter received at Oswego from W. A. Courson, of the schooner Nellie Sherwood, now at Presque Isle, says that he will be along soon with his vessel.

It is rumored that the steamer Geneva, recently made an American vessel by act of Congress, is to run between the Cape and Kingston and carry the mail.

Detroit shippers refuse to pay 3cts. per bushel for wheat to Buffalo, and will unload the vessels in which grain has been stored during the winter.

North Hastings.

(From the Madoc Review April 16.)

AN EARLY VISITOR.—Yesterday Mr. T. P. Hicks left in this office a smart, lively little grasshopper, about half an inch long, which his son captured a day or two before on Mr. Aylsworth's farm, near this village.

FIRE.—On Saturday afternoon last the dwelling house of Mr. Joseph Bailey, lot 6, 4th con. of Madoc, was totally destroyed by fire, which, it is supposed, originated from a defective stove-pipe. Nearly all the contents were destroyed, only Mrs. Bailey and one child being at home when the fire occurred. No insurance on the premises.

NEW TEACHER.—We neglected to notice a few weeks ago that a new teacher, Miss Creeper, of Belleville, has been engaged for the Model School, to assist in Miss Riddell's department, as the number attending there was much too large for one to attend to.

RARA AVIS.—On Thursday last, Mr. A. Diamond, of Queensboro, brought to this village a fine specimen of an eagle, which had been killed a short time ago in Elzevir. The bird measured seven feet from tip to tip. We understand Mr. Diamond intended sending it at once to the taxidermist.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF LAMENESS of twenty-five years' standing.—The second vice-president of the Excelsior Savings Bank, 23d street and 6th Ave., (Booth's Theatre) E. P. Lawrence, was lame for twenty-five years. Contraction of the muscles of the left leg—had no faith at first in the Liniment—was induced to try it from his knowledge of Dr. Giles, who is a scientific and able chemist, and who has never yet made a poor article. Seeing its good effects on others—tried it, and to Mr. L.'s surprise and satisfaction, the stiffness left the cords of his leg, and it became as elastic as the other.

DR. GILES,

EMIGRATION TO MANITOBA.—The nature of the soil in Manitaba is such as to make good roads an irresponsibility during certain portions of the year. The Winnipeg Free Press says:—"The first waves of a large immigration are already breaking upon Manitoba's shores and flowing off in a dozen different canals. The great majority of new-comers will travell west in search of future homes, and one and all will raise their voyce in accent of honnor at our roads. To a large majority of our Provincial readers the whole state of our transit facilities into the interior is a matter very indifferently understood. They know merely that at certain times of the year the roads are bad, that the increased traffic tells heavy on them, and that in certain districts heavy loads cannot go over."

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would indeed be marvellous.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 14.—Josiah Bacon, Treasurer of the Goodyear Dental Vulcanite Company of Boston, was found dead in his hotel room with a pistol shot wound in the abdomen. No firearm was found in the room.

HARTFORD, Ct., April 14.—Wm. R. Smith, a religious enthusiast who insists on fasting 40 days, has been sent to the insane asylum.

DEEP CREEK, Va., April 14.—Jas. Keetor ploughed up an iron chest containing several thousand dollars in gold coin believed to have been buried during the war.

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Times Chicago special says that the officers of the Chicago roads, recently in a southwestern railway pool, say disbandment of the Southern Railway Association, announced yesterday that it was deliberately accomplished in the interest of the stock jobbing clique in Wall Street. This ring owns largely of stock in the St. Louis, Kansas City and the Northern Mo. Pacific H. and St. Joe and Chicago and Alton roads. So soon as they will get all the stock they care to carry they will order their managers to start the pool again.

Washington specials:

The Sun says that Sherman reports evidence of returning prosperity in New York, and attributes the return of good times to his management. He is disgusted with the House for voting a fund for the redemption of fractional currency to pay arrearages of pensions, and says that it is an attack of soft money men on his resumption policy. He says he will be able to meet the arrearages of pensions at the rate of $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 per month if Congress will only let him alone.

The Herald says that the report that Grant will not again accept office attracts a good deal of attention. One of Grant's most intimate friends in Washington said recently that he had the best reason to believe that Grant does not desire another term.

The World says that Mr. Baker of Indiana said last night that the President had already begun to collect materials for the message vetoing the Army Bill. The message will be an interesting document containing the history of the operation of election laws in the south and the condition of the society there which made their enforcement necessary. I think I am authorized to say further that Hayes will continue to veto every Appropriation Bill hereafter if it contains any general legislation whatever, good or bad, and in taking this stand will have the support of his party.

SCRANTON, Pa. April 14.—The Scranton Trust Company and Savings Bank have made a voluntary assignment.

ZANESVILLE, O., April 14.—On Saturday two farmers, Irving Winn and A. L. Williams while riding home quarreled, Williams crushed Winn's skull with a shovel; both were intoxicated. Williams was arrested.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—While the Czar was taking his usual morning walk early to-day near the palace four shots from a revolver were fired at him. The Czar is unhurt. The man who fired was arrested by the crowd which the firing attracted. The city is now being decorated in token of thankfulness for the Czar's escape.

LONDON, April 14.—A Vienna correspondent says the adhesion of Russia to the Porte's proposal for prolongation of the international Commission and the practical difficulties in the way of a mixed occupation, seem to have determined the powers to abandon the mixed occupation scheme. It is felt to be quite a relief to have found a solution in which Russia and Turker coincide. The chief feature of the Turkish proposal is a compromise by which the Turks get rid of a mixed occupation and the Russians keep the Turks off the Balkan line until a further arrangement. This compromise favors Russia only as an expedient for securing the tranquility of the Province, and in calling in the Turkish troops in case of necessity.

A Lahore correspondent telegraphs that there is no doubt a bad feeling is growing against the British amongst all the tribes interested in the Khyber Pass. They complain that the British are acting as though they intended to keep the Pass. Our intentions must be explained, and frontier affairs placed in the hands of most capable officials, otherwise we may have inconvenient combinations against us.

A correspondent at Darlington telegraphs that from the temper shown throughout Durham, any hope of a friendly termination of the strike has disappeared. In the midland counties the master glassmakers have accepted the compromise offered by the men.

BERLIN, April 14.—It is stated that Belgium is considering the advisability of a Customs Union with France in opposition to Germany, on the protective system.

LONDON, April 14.—Constantinople despatches deny that the Sultan offered to depose the Khedive.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Judge Barrett denies the motion to vacate the arrest of Fred A. Freeman, formerly President of the Reserve Mutual, who, with others, is accused of defrauding the Guardian Mutual Life Insurance Company out of $300,000. The Court reduces bail from $300,000 to $150,000.

LOURINBURGH, N. C., April 14.—D. J. Williams, a merchant, while closing his store on Saturday night was shot and killed by H. Oglesby. It was the result of an old grudge. Oglesby was jailed.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—Second despatch. There is some ground for the opinion that the Beacon tragedy yesterday was a murder. A stranger enquired for Beacon's room and presumably went there during the morning, since which nothing has been seen of him. Beacon's business here is to look after the litigation on behalf of the patent rights of some Company he represented.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Graphic's Washington special says a resolution has been prepared and will be offered in the House for the appointment of a Commission to examine the working of the National banking system.

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., April 14.—Hezekiah Shaffer, the wife murderer to be executed on Thursday, attempted suicide this morning by opening his veins with a wire from a basin handle. He is now delirious and very weak. His recovery is doubtful.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, April 14.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, moderate to fresh winds, clear to partly cloudy weather. For the St. Lawrence, moderate to fresh westerly to northerly winds, partly cloudy to clear weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh winds, partly cloudy weather with showers in some localities.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Indications:—To-day, cloudy, occasional light rains; to-morrow, warm, partly cloudy, followed by clearing, colder weather.

Palatable Medicines.

Not many years ago all medicines were copious in quantity and nauseous to the taste. In the advancement of medical science, nauseous drugs have been made palatable and small doses have taken the place of large ones, until recently Cod Liver Oil, the greatest food and medicine in the world for the Consumptive or Emaciated invalid, has been intolerable to take. But in SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH THE HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA this has been entirely overcome, and it is as pleasant as sweet milk.

CAUTION.—Beware of any man who offers you an imitation article, no matter what it is, and says it is "just as good as the genuine;" they sell all kinds of "sham remedies" in this way upon the reputation of the Pain Killer—be sure and get the genuine made by PERRY DAVIS.

FEARS OF A GENERAL INDIAN RISING.—The Herald's Bismarck, Dakota, special telegram, from Fort Buford, the nearest post to the British lines, says the Indians are becoming restless and beginning to move. The Yanktons are dissatisfied and scarcely controllable. The scarcity of food at Poplar River and Wolf Point is the main cause. Runners from several hostile camps have made overtures to Gros Ventres and other peaceable tribes, with offers of presents, asking them to join their hostile movements unless more provisions are granted. They will nearly all unite, and the various tribes once cemented, the Indians of the country will make a bloody campaign.

Success is dazzling. Men are so constituted that everybody undertakes what he sees another successful in, whether he has aptitude for it or not. One prosperous gold miner in California gives half a continent a fever for seeking gold. One successful general fills the dreams of thousands of youth with the possibilities of military renown.

RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Sneezing or Head Colds, called Acute Catarrah; thick, yellow, and foul Mattery Accumulations in the Nasal Passages, called Chronic Catarrh; rotting and sloughing of the Bones of the Nose, with discharges of loathsome matter tinged with blood, and Ulcerations often extending to the Eye, Ear, Throat, and Lungs, called Ulcerative Catarrh. Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. Unless the system is prostrated by scrofula or consumption beyond recuperation, it will effect a permanent cure in every case. Hundreds of testimonials attest its wonderful curative properties. Every druggist who has ever sold it will ceerfully bear witness to its marvellous efficacy.

Price, with Improved Inhaler, Treatise, and Directions, $1.

Sold by druggists everywhere.

To the Electors of
NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN :—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals : Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

ISANDULA.

"Who was it blundered?" Eh?
It is not mine to say,
But I, if breath holds out, will tell you what I saw.
Onward the blackskins came,
In wreaths of smoke and flame,
Curling about our front, an ever-widening jaw.

Swift were our arms unstacked;
Promptly the rifles cracked;
Each dropping to his place, nor waiting for a sign.
We spread out like a fan,
There nothing was but van,
A curving scarlet thread, fronting a dense black line.

Rank after rank they fell,
With plunging bound and yell,
But baring other ranks to which we had been blind;
As, in a field of wheat,
The sheaves fall at your feet,
Only to show how dense the upright stems behind.

So dense, so straight they showed;
But on we moved, and mowed,
Nor ever taking breath save to take deadlier aim;
Until their bodies made
A broad black barricade,
Baffling both us and them that onward thicker came.

Slowly then they drew off,
With grinning jibe and scoff,
And brandishing their spears, rather to taunt than hurt,
Curse on the insolent jeer!
We leaped into the clear,
And showed them British steel for answer straight and curt.

Then quicker fell they back,
Not biding the attack,
Skimming the ground as swift as swallows skim the air;
And as they, scattering, flew,
We halted, sighted, drew,
And let them taste the ball, the bayonet's messenger.

Pursuit was squandered haste,
You might as well have chased
Wildcats that have a start in scampering to their scrub
So, surly we retired,
Though still we stopped and fired
Whene'er aught living seemed to stir in grass or shrub.

Thereat afresh to swarm
Began they, then to form,
And in close ebon mass onward again to tramp,
And curve in folds anew
Around us, feebly few,
When sudden rose the cry, "The foe is in the camp!"

'Twas true! We saw them wind
In front, on flank, behind,
We knew not where to face, and yet our backs not show,
We fronted as we could,
We fought them where we stood,
Dazed, yes, but not dismayed, by the numbers of our foe.

Our ammunition failed;
Yet deemed not that we quailed,
Though 'gainst each single point a hundred points were flashed.
In vain we parried, lunged;
Then the assegais were plunged,
And the savage shout was raised, and the savage shields were clashed.

What more? where all were brave
None thought themselves to save,
But some to British pluck added the British phlegm.
He might have turned and run,
But he stood and spiked his gun,
And used his life that it might useless be to them.

One seized, at close of fight,
His country's colors tight,
And falling on his heart nursed them with latest breath.
Ne'er living lover pressed
His sweet one to his breast
More close than he hugged them in that embrace of death!

No! Me no succor give!
I do not want to live.
Now I have told you all. To you I leave surmise
How blundered we, or why;
For I would rather die
With such brave fools as these than linger with the wise.

Bone Meal for Cows.

A gentleman writes to an exchange as follows :—"Noticing an article in the Springfield Union by a gentleman in Maine relating to the treatment of neat stock when affected with the habit of eating wood, chewing bones &c., I was reminded of an occurrence which took place soon after I commenced business in this place. One of the first articles inquired for was pure ground bone for cattle. I made further inquiries of my customer, and he said he had a valuable cow that could not get upon her feet on account of failing in her bones. Ascertaining where the article could be obtained I sent immediately for a barrel and sold to this man ten pounds. In about two weeks after he commenced feeding the bone meal the cow recovered her strength entirely. Before the attack he would not have sold the cow for $75, but at that time he would have sold her for $20. The bone meal effected a complete cure and restored her original value. After this I always kept bone meal for sale, and sold a number of barrels every year. About one-half pint at a time is the quantity to be fed.

Gas tar and Curculio Again.

In answer to "W. P. F.," in relation to destroying curculio, I will say that I have had good success with gas-tar, better than with sheets and jarring, in preventing the depredations of the curculio. I manage as follows :—

I put the tar in a long handled frying pan heated with coals just so the tar will not blaze, and walk through the plantation. The curculio will immediately fly off beyond the fumes of the burning tar, and will not return so long as any of the fumes remain.

This system of fumigation should be commenced as soon as the fruit is fairly formed, and should be kept up as often and as long as is necessary through the season, say twice per week and directly after a shower of rain.

When there is but a light breeze of wind, by passing along the windward sides of an orchard, the entire plantation will be impregnated with the fumes. I have no trouble with curculio in plum orchards thus treated.

How to Pack Butter.

It is surprising that some of our enterprising owners of creameries have not made themselves acquainted with this simple Danish method of packing butter, and by experiment determined its practicle application here. It consists simply in packing in tin cans from 2 to 10lbs., and soldering them air-tight. Thus packed, prime butter will stand a long ocean voyage, and reach a distant market as fresh and aromatic as when sealed up. The cost of packing will be slightly more, but this extra cost will be more than recompensed, even in our home market, by preventing the great deterioration it suffers in holding for a better market. The Danes have simply applied to butter-packing the method used by our fruit preservers; and fruits are much more perishable than butter, yet this plan has been used for fruits with entire success. We trust this method will be thoroughly tested by a large number of creameries during 1879, and that it may be the means of greatly extending our exports.

Our American Cousins.

Are much exercised about the "Almond Eyed" incursion of their Pacific Coast. One of their latest acts is the passage of a bill to allow no more than fifteen Chinese to come on any one ship into the country. They might as well pass an act that Lake Erie should not rise above so many feet, or that Niagara should not disgorge what it will over its falls. The Chinese could not do worse than this. Surely any country is wide enough to receive all who wish to come, and should be strong enough to make the unruly behave themselves, coming whence they may. The law of supply and demand will arrange the price of labor, and Legislatures cannot alter it. It is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. What folly it would be for our Legislature to declare that A, B and C may do business, while D, E and F may not. If all do an honest business there is no necessity for such a law, any law would be tyrannical that would so order. The fittest will survive. So in the medical world; a preparation which is good will be sought and the bad discarded. This is why DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS are so popular.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

PROLAPSUS UTERI (Falling of the Womb.) A WONDERFUL CURE.—Nine years my wife suffered with this terrible complaint. She was attended by doctor after doctor, went to the different hospitals where females are treated; tried them all; wore bandages and pessaries with only temporary relief. Her life was miserable. We applied Dr. Giles' Liniment. Her relief was immediate. She is now well.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

"TYNESIDER'S" NOTES—HANLAN'S HEALTH—HAWDON'S PREPARATION—ELLIOTT'S BLUSTER—NED'S RESOLVE—COLONEL SHAW COMPLIMENTED.

(Correspondence Telegram.)

NEWCASTLE ON TYNE, March 28.—I was away last week, and so missed my letter to the Telegram. Hanlan has been laid up for four days with a cold and a carbuncle! The former is all over, and the latter is better—so that he went out for his practice yesterday. His illness was perplexing, but I think it is now all right again. He has the best care, and will not need for anything. Hawdon is now in strict training, and has his home at a private house, near Scottswood. He passed a pleasant week at New Briggan-on-the-sea, for the purpose of receiving the benefit of sea air, but is now at his work faithfully. The two men go out from nearly the same place—their boat-houses being alongside—and there is great interest shown in their work. Hanlan is pegging away, and rows like a man accustomed to handling the "sculls!" A few days ago Elliot was presented with a gold medal by some admiring theatre men, and in response to loud calls was good enough to make a speech. I give the same to show what kind of opinion he holds of himself. He said that "he felt very proud of the reception accorded him. He might say he had rowed eleven big races within two years, and had won ten. He lost the one through being too confident, but it learnt him a lesson afterwards. He was now matched against a man, he did not know who—(A voice : Boyd)—but, as far as that went, he did not care who it was. (Cheers). He knew, as most of them would be aware, that it must be either Boyd or Hanlan. He had beat Boyd before, and he found him a clever sculler, and a man that had great skill, but he did not think he was the man to stay beyond a mile. He ventured to say that if it was Boyd he was to be pitted against, he felt confident of winning. If it should be Hanlan, he was sure he could beat him. (Loud cheers.) If a man only rowed 36 strokes per minute, he did not care how long they were, he felt certain that a man rowing at this rate could not go as fast as he could by striking 40 to the minute. He therefore felt very confident about the result of the forthcoming match." Hanlan remarked to me after studying over this modest speech :—"Well that is good! I guess I must see about this. If he don't 'open and shut' lively on the day of our race, it won't be because I do not spread myself to make him—sure as you live." There was "fire" in your champion's eye as he again and again read and re-read Elliott's over-confident speech. I am sure everything is being done for your representative's comfort. He is in wise hands, and no one need fear but that he will come to the start in his usual good condition. Col. Shaw has arranged everything carefully, and I need not state that he is active and competent, as you know all about him. The London Sportsman paid him a splendid compliment a few days ago, for his interest in behalf of the noble sport of rowing. Surely "works do follow" even a wanderer in foreign lands. To-day the sun is out in all its brightness, but we have had a week of fearfully bad weather. It has rained, snowed and "blowed" great guns! Hanlan could not have rowed had he been well enough, and so he was fortunate (!) in being sick in the best possible time for such an event. Rowing matters are very slack. The shadow of Hanlan somehow has fallen across the path of all our rowing men, and all are waiting to see what will come of his first race. If beaten, he will be challenged right and left; but if victorious, all hands will be willing to let Elliott row it out with him! In the meantime, everything runs on nicely, and now that the little interruption is over all will, we hope, continue right up to the Hawdon match.

A CANADIAN SENT TO ENGLAND WITH CATTLE REALISES $10,000 ON THE STOCK AND THEN CONTEMPLATES A LITTLE PRIVATE SPECULATION WITH THE PROCEEDS.

(From the Rochester Democrat.)

Last Saturday evening, a Canadian gentleman made his appearance at the police station, invoking the strong arm of the law to aid him in recovering sundry moneys, amounting to about $10,000, which had taken unto themselves wings and seemed on the point of flying away. He gave his name as Henry Green, manager of a bank near Mitchell, Ont., and it seems that some time ago he employed one Rufus Jones as an agent to take $10,000 worth of cattle to England and there dispose of them. This, Jones did with commendable dispatch, but with the money in his pocket he found the straight and narrow road a little confining, and hesitated. The proverb has taught us what becomes of the man who hesitates, and Rufus yielded to the temptation. He took passage for America, intending, as it is understood, to buy sheep and swine, sell them in England and then probably to return his employer's money. But, as usual, there was a woman in the case, and that woman was his wife. In trying to keep her posted in regard to his movements, by the means of the telegraph, he revealed his whereabouts to the police officers, and in case he is captured he may attribute his misfortune to a misplaced confidence in the secresy of the modern invention. Jones sent a telegram to his wife, dated at Rochester, Friday morning, the 4th inst., saying, "It will be all right yet, please God," and acting on this information, Mr. Green at once came on to Rochester. In company with Sergeant Rowarth and Detective Hughes, he visited the hotel, and it was found that Jones had arrived at Congress Hall on the train from Boston Friday morning, breakfasted and then took the next train out of the city in the direction from whence he came. Nothing more was heard of him until yesterday, when Mr. Green received a telegram from his partners in Mitchell saying that Jones would sail from Boston to Liverpool Sunday, and Mr. Green at once made preparations for returning to Toronto, where he will get out the necessary papers and set out in pursuit of the erring and speculative Jones.

DWARFS MARRIED.—The "Midgets," General and Lucia Zarate, are to be married next week. Lucia is fifteen and weighs a trifle less than five pounds. Mite is fourteen and weighs nine pounds. The terms of the marriage, one of convenience as well as, it is supposed, affection. The dwarfs, belonging to different families, are liable to be separated at any moment, and it is thought best therefore to bind them by ties that cannot be broken by any show managers or the disagreeing of parents.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 15.

Bankruptcy Legislation.

The numerous and influential Committee to whom the House of Commons delegated consideration of legislation in regard to bankruptcy, having decided against the repeal of the Insolvent Act, referred the whole subject to a sub-Committee, which has presented a draft Act, consolidating the present Acts and intended to effect the following objects:—

1. To preserve all provisions for the remedial purposes already described that have been found effective, arranging and simplifying them as much as possible.

2. To improve the administration of the estate, while in the hands of assignee, and reduce its cost.

3. To diminish facilities now possessed by a debtor for obtaining his discharge.

4. To deprive him altogether of the power of getting back his estate, leaving it to be divided among his creditors.

5. To provide additional supervision over the insolvent and assignee.

The three Acts now in force had been consolidated: every section had been scrutinized and simplified where possible. Touching the administration of the estate, the official assignees had been abolished, and provision had been made for appointing custodians of the estate while a meeting was being called to appoint a permanent assignee. They were to make no disbursements, exercise no discretionary power, and were incapable of being assignees or of taking part directly or indirectly in the winding up of the estate. A moderate tariff of fees was prepared for their remuneration, which they cannot exceed. The duties of an assignee are better defined, and security by him is better provided for. His remuneration is fixed, his disbursements restricted, his dealing with the funds of the estate are regulated, and their more effectual safe-keeping provided for. Severe penalties are inflicted for the retention of funds, over-charges, and other misconduct, and the jurisdiction over him is made more simple, summary and complete. The debtor can only get his discharge by the consent of four-fifths in number and value of his creditors, exclusive of his relatives. The deed of composition and discharge, and the sales en bloc, which have proved such fertile sources of fraud and imposition, are done away with. The grounds of opposition to discharge and precautions for ascertaining the conduct of insolvents are increased and extended. the provisions respecting leases have been simplified and rendered more equitable, and the proceedings for the sale of real estate in the Province of Quebec and for the protection of mortgage creditors are improved in many important particulars. The effect of the discharge is limited, and provisons are made for the protection of farmers and the poorer class of creditors. The appointment of a judge in insolvency has been provided for in the more important centres of trade. It is provided that the provisions doing away with compositions and sales en bloc shall go into effect from 1st April, so that no inducement is given to go into insolvency now and avoid the new Act if passed.

The same trouble seems to have been experienced in England in relation to the insolvency laws as has been felt in this country, and upon this subject a lengthy and able article appears in the Fornightly Review for March. From this authority we learn that there, as here, the great difficulty consists in the unwillingness of the creditors to follow up with energy and activity the measures necessary to expose misconduct or even to realize the assets in the best way. Lord Hatherly, in the debate in the House of Lords in 1876, gave his opinion as to the cause of this supineness of the creditors as follows: "If," said he, "the claim of the creditor is very large "he does not wish his name to appear at "all. In support of his credit in his trade "his desire is to conceal his loss as much "as possible, and he therefore discourages "public procedure." Assuming this conclusion to be in the main correct—and the evidence of circumstances points strongly in that direction—we have an explanation of the inactiveness of creditors and their readiness either to accept a composition or to allow the insolvent to regain possession [illegible] been largely productive of fraud.

The recommendations of the Commons Committee, which seem to have been to some extent based on the provisions of the measure introduced into the Imperial Parliament on the 17th of February, appear to be directed to removing, so far as possible, the difficulty above alluded to, and numerous others found in the working of the law. The bill will soon be printed and submitted to the House, and doubtless the discussion which will take place upon its principal provisions will result in the framing of a measure which will be as satisfactory as a law of that nature can be made.

THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S MOVEMENTS.—The Ottawa Free Press says:—"It is understood that the Governor-General and the Princess will stay three weeks in Quebec after leaving Montreal. Lord Lorne's father, the Duke of Argyll, is expected to arrive at the ancient capital in the second week in June, for a four-months' visit to his son and royal daughter-in-law. A week later they will greet rear-Admiral the Duke of Edinburgh at Halifax, who will succeed Admiral Inglefield in command of the North American squadron. At Halifax the party will be joined by Lord Wharncliffe, Lord Colin Campbell (the Marquis' brother) Mr. Eustace Balfour—who will marry Lady Elizabeth, the Marquis' second sister in a few days—Earl Percy, heir presumptive to the dukedom of Northumberland and husband of Lady Edith, the Marquis' eldest sister; and probably Lord Rosebery and wife. There will, it is said, be gay doings at Halifax during the summer."

The City's Gas Bill.

We are glad to have from Mr. Glass, the respected Manager of the Belleville Gas Company, an authoritative statement as to the expenditure annually incurred in illuminating the city clock. Common report, which had not previously, to our knowledge at least, been contradicted, placed the cost of this service at $700 per annum, hence our statement of a belief that such were the correct figures, an opinion which we know was entertained by some of the Councillors, and so expressed at a Committee meeting of the Market Committee. It would be well if a return should be made to the Council of the several disbursements for lighting street lamps, lighting clock, police office, city hall, Fire Company's halls, &c., in 1877, as well as can be gathered from the published accounts, about $4,000 was spent for all services, about $2,500 of which was for street lamps. The fact, however, that the expense of lighting the clock is less than has been generally supposed does not in the slightest degree detract from our suggestion, as $240 per annum is certainly a sum worth saving to the ratepayers, the more especially if it can be done without causing any serious inconvenience to the public.

In regard to the expenditure on street lamps, it certainly does not seem desirable that, in order to procure a dividend of 8 per cent from the Gas Company's stock, the Corporation should pay 60 per cent in the shape of unnecessary expenditure from the general fund towards the production of the superfluous gas consumed in such street lamps as may be found to be unnecessary and in such other ways as may be useless. The slightest effort in mental arithmetic would show a net loss of 60 cents on every dollar thus expended. Better, if it were possible to so reduce the City's gas bill as to do away with a dividend altogether, than to earn one on the terms above referred to. Of course that would be impossible, but we merely make the comparison, in order to show the correct state of the case from a financial point of view. Suppose the City's expenditure for gas were to be reduced by $500 per annum, the effect would be, prima facie, a net saving of $300 per year, the city's proportion of the profits of the Gas Company being, as before stated, two-fifths of the whole. In other words, it would be paying $500 out of one pocket to receive $200 back into the other. The subject is well worthy of careful consideration, and it is to be hoped that the Water and Gas Committee will take it up and deal with it and other matters under their jurisdiction, not in any niggardly spirit, but with the object of causing reduction in the expenditure, if it be found that such can be done consistently with true economy and with the straitened condition of our finances.

The Rev. Dr. Clarke re-appointed Mr. R. Newbery as his Warden, and the Vestry elected Mr. Alfred Ellis as Warden, Mr. Henry Wilkins declining to act, on account of his intention to be away from the city during the summer.

Mr. J. W. London was appointed Vestry Clerk, and Mr. E. J. Sisson was elected Lay delegate.

The following gentlemen were appointed Sidesmen: A. E. Denison, J. W. London, F. Wallbridge, J. O. Overell, W. Alford, C. L. Coleman, J. Horne, J. Panter, H. Wilkins, Dr. Potts, and R. Greatrix.

On motion of Mr. Wilkins, seconded by Mr. Coleman, a vote of thanks was passed to the Choir for their services.

A vote of thanks was given to the Rector for his work in behalf of the Church of England in this city.

The Vestry then adjourned, to meet again on Tuesday evening, the 22d inst.

ST. JOHN'S.

The incumbent took the chair at 8 o'clock p. m.

After prayer the vestry proceeded to business.

The following officers were re-appointed for the ensuing year. Clergyman's Warden J. W. Brown, People's Warden, A. L. Geen.

Sidesmen, Messrs. Irwin, Pope, Mills, Sharp, Lucas, Earl, Black, Adams, Smith, Wallis. Lay Delegates to the Synod, J. Irwin reelected for three years. S. R. Earle and A. L. Geen remain representatives for two and one year respectively.

Vestry Clerk W. R. Carmichael, reappointed.

The following complimentary resolutions were unanimously carried:

To the ladies belonging to the Sewing Circle and contributors for their valuable aid towards extinguishing the Church debt.

To the Incumbent expressing their unabated attachment to and confidence in him.

Rev. Mr. Forneri returned thanks in a few words, stating the pleasure and satisfaction he had enjoyed in his labors among the congregation. He congratulated them on the prevailing harmony and good will. He thanked them for the Easter offering of $50, and stated that his salary had been paid up to date fully.

The meeting then adjourned to Monday evening two weeks hence.

LUMBER BUSINESS IMPROVING. — The Ottawa Free Press says:—"The sawn lumber business is looking up. We hear that several large orders have been received in this city from New York and other points in the United States during the past week."

A CYCLONE.—On the evening of the 14th inst., a terrible cyclone struck the town of Collinsville, demolishing ten buildings, ruining thirty others, and damaging more or less seventy-five residences and business houses. Only one person was killed, a little girl, and two or three others badly injured. The greatest excitement and confusion prevailed for some time.

SUMMER FREIGHT RATES.—The summer contract rates of the Grand Trunk Railway came in force to-day, and are a considerable reduction over the prices which prevailed during the winter months. On all classes of freight from Montreal to Toronto there is a reduction of about 25 per cent., from Montreal to Hamilton 30 per cent., and from Montreal to London 25 per cent., reduction.

A RESULT OF THE NATIONAL POLICY.—The Montreal Gazette says:—"Messrs. Joseph James & Co., of this city, have shipped to Manitoba a large lot of galvanized iron work for a building now being erected in Winnipeg. This order would have been filled by parties in St. Paul, Min. had the tariff not been changed. The work, however, will not cost the contracting party any more than if it had been obtained in St. Paul, while it assists home industries."

FROM MANITOBA.—Mr. R. Patterson returned to Paris from Winnipeg on Sunday and reports having landed his party in good spirits and without mishap. He says that the season is much more advanced there than here and was surprised to find farmers ploughing and others sowing their spring crops between Emerson and Winnipeg as early as the 5th of April, the day on which his party arrived. The weather was all that could be desired during the five days he remained at Winnipeg.

THE DETROIT TUNNEL.—The plans for the construction of the tunnel under the Detroit River, which have been approved by the Dominion Government, show that the tunnel will be 3,700 feet in length, extending from Stoney Island to Anderdon on the Canadian side. It is the intention of the Canada Southern Railway Company, who are doing the work, to lay a double track and double arches, so that there will be no danger of accidents by collision. The work is to be begun by the first of May. The tunnel is estimated to cost $1,500,000.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Four Ineffectual Shots fired at the Czar.

REJOICING IN ST. PETERSBURG OVER HIS ESCAPE.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 14.—The would-be assassin of the Czar is now undergoing an examination. The full official account of the affair says that towards 8 o'clock this morning, as the Emperor was taking his customary walk, a respectably dressed man, with a military bearing, and a cap with a cockade, advanced towards him, and as the Emperor approached drew a revolver from the pocket of his overcoat and fired four shots at him. The assassin, before submitting to his captors, fired another, slightly wounding in the cheek a person in the crowd.

The great crowd of people which had assembled enthusiastically cheered, and congratulated the Emperor, who thanked them for their proofs of fidelity on such a painful occasion. He said he knew he had the support of all respectable people. The Emperor afterwards drove to the palace without any escort. He had not suffered the least ill effect from the attempt upon his life. He afterwards drove, still without an escort, to Kason Cathedral, to return thanks for the preservation of his life. When receiving the congratulations of the officials of the empire at noon, the Czar was so much overcome by his enthusiastic reception as to be unable to speak for some minutes. On recovering from his emotion he said:—"This is the third time God has saved me."

It is supposed the Emperor's assailant took poison before his attempt, as he vomited after his arrest. Poison was also found under his finger nails. Antidotes were administered. It is thought the man was an employee of the Ministry of Finance, and an agent of the International.

The Sultan and all the European sovereigns have telegraphed their congratulations.

LONDON, April 14.—It is stated that the assassin fired at the Emperor within two paces. After the first shot the Emperor approached Skolof (the assassin), who fired again and then ran. The various accounts that are given as to the exact number of shots fired are conflicting. An officer of Gendarmerie, with a drawn sword, pursued Skolof. Three more men then joining in the pursuit. Skolof fired at them, shattering the jaw of a detective. Finally a gentleman knocked Skolof down and held him until he was secured by the officers.

THE MONTREAL REVIEW.—According to present calculations 4,000 men will take part in the review at Montreal on the 24th of May. It is the intention of the officers of the local militia to get up a splendid military spectacle at the Academy of Music on the evening of that day to which the Governor-General and Princess Louise will be invited.

—On Saturday afternoon a meeting was held at Peterborough for making arrangements for the meeting of the Fruit Grower's Association to be held in that town on the 16th July next.

—A cable despatch says two bombs were yesterday thrown into the Church of San Antonio, at Seville, Spain, with the object, it is supposed, of creating a panic, and stealing the valuable sacramental plate belonging to the church. Several persons were injured by the explosion.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 15.

City and Vicinity.

POLICE.—No arrests were made last night, and but one tramp slept in the cells.

THE "KINCARDINE."—The hull of this steamer is now being scraped, preparatory to a thorough painting.

STILL HOLDS.—The ice on the lakes and streams in the northern part of the County still holds, though it exhibits many signs of weakness.

CRICKET.—All admirers of the good old game of cricket are reminded that the annual meeting of the Belleville Cricket Club will be held at Hambly's at 8 o'clock to-night.

GRAVEL ROADS COMMITTEE.—A meeting of the County Gravel Roads Committee was held this afternoon. The Warden and a number of the Reeves of the different townships were in attendance.

THE BAY.—Crossing the ice on foot is no longer practicable, there being wide stretches of open water, which render the use of ice-boats necessary. The party who came from Picton by the stage yesterday were four hours in making the passage.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY. — The Rev. Dr. Clarke, Rector of Christ Church, will preach the sermon before the St. George's Society on the occasion of their annual celebration, which will take place on Wednesday next. The dinner will take place at the Dafoe House in the evening.

THE ADVENTURES OF TOM SAWYER.—This amusing creation of Mark Twain has been published in a cheap form (20 cents a copy) by the Rose-Belford Publishing Co., of Toronto, and is now for sale by the booksellers. The firm propose issuing other attractive works in an equally cheap form. Under the new tariff, it is likely they will be successful in their enterprise, as they deserve to be.

COBOURG RAILROAD.—On Saturday Mr. James R. Barber, Superintendent of the Cobourg, Peterboro and Marmora railway, arrived at Harwood from Cobourg with a locomotive. This was the first trip this spring. He reports the road in good repair and will commence operations as soon as the lake opens. The ice was breaking fast, and it is expected the lake will be free by the 20th inst.

CONCERT AND TABLEAUX. —By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that a grand Concert and Tableaux in aid of St, George's Church, will be held in the Opera House on Friday evening. The best local talent has been obtained and several distinguished amateurs from a distance are to take part in the concert. The arrangement of the Tableaux is in excellent hands, and altogether the entertainment promised is one which will be well worthy of public patronage.

BREAK DOWN.—The Trenton covered stage on its way up Front Street this forenoon came to grief opposite the store of Mr. J. W. Dunnet. The right hind wheel gave way, and the stage being high and well loaded with passengers was somewhat top-heavy, and the consequence was it turned over on its side, coming down not quite so gently as those inside would have desired. Fortunately the horses were quiet and the passengers succeeded in making their exit without any injury.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT.—Whilst the children of Mr. H. Bogart were playing on the lawn in front of his residence on George Street yesterday, the sod suddenly gave away beneath the feet of one of the little ones, and it nearly disappeared into a deep hole not hitherto known to exist. Fortunately the child was caught by the arms, by another person, otherwise it would have disappeared altogether below the surface, and might have been drowned. The pitfall thus discovered is, we are informed, of about six feet in depth and contains four feet of water. It is supposed to be an old disused well, but nobody had previously known of its existence.

THE FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW. — Messrs. Belfords, Clarke & Co.'s Canadian reprint of this Magazine for May has been received. The contents are :—The Plain Story of the Zulu War, by the Editor ; First Impressions of the New Republic, by Frederic Harrison ; Chapters on Socialism, II., by John Stuart Mill ; An American View of American Competition, by E. Atkinson ; Thomas Paine, by M. D. Conway ; A Fair Day's Wages for a Fair Day's Work, by L. H. Courtney, M.P. ; The Liberal Party and the Farmers, by W. E. Bear ; Black and White in the Southern States, by Sir G. Campbell, M.P. ; The Urgency of Bankruptcy Legislation ; Home and Foreign Affairs. Published by Belfords, Clarke & Co., 60 York St., Toronto, at $5 per year ; single copies 50 cents.

Marine Notes.

The Whig has the following marine news:

The Hastings is being fitted out for a start, say about the 25th inst.

The Oswego Belle is to run between Toronto and Oswego.

The Shannon will continue on the Picton and Napanee course.

Captain Smith takes charge of the Alexandra once more upon the Trenton and Montreal route.

The Empress of India is again to run out of Toronto to pleasure resorts, and the Picton on the R.R. and Toronto route.

Chancery Spring Sittings.

TUESDAY, April 15.

The Spring sittings of the Court of Chancery opened this morning at 10 o'clock, before the Hon. Vice Chancellor Proudfoot.

The local bar was well represented, and amongst counsel from a distance there were present Hon. E. Blake, Q. C., C. Moss, and F. Arnold, Toronto, and Mr. Martin, Q. C., Hamilton.

TERRY vs. NATIONAL INS. CO.—Consent decree for $600 for plff ; each party to pay their own costs. H. Bleecker for plff. ; Flint & Jellet for dft.

DARLING vs. PRICE.—Bill fyled by Thos. Darling, official assignee, Montreal, to set aside conveyance of property by deft. to his wife as defrauding his creditors.

NOT DISHEARTENED.—Vennor is evidently not disheartened at his repeated failures as a weather prophet, for he comes out again with all the freshness and verdancy of Spring with new predictions. He thus writes to the Montreal Witness of the 14th inst :—

(Ed. Daily Witness.)—Sir,—A rainy period and somewhat warmer weather is now approaching, but this will again be followed in the closing days of April or beginning of May by another spell of very backward, cold and likely wintery weather. I expect snow-falls will be recorded in many parts during the fore part of May, which will be cold and wet throughout. Many think that owing to the extensive snowfalls of the past winter we are likely to have a dry and hot summer season. I conclude the very opposite will be nearer to the actual state of things. The summer, at any rate up to the middle of July, will give abundance of rain, and with a temperature below the average. August, September and October will be the fairest months, but of this portion of the year and the winter following I shall have further remark to make in a bulletin I purpose publishing about midsummer. The summer season in Great Britain this year, I think, will correspond with that with us, and will, on the whole, be cool and wet, and not "hot," as predicted by a Scotch Meteorolgist.

HENRY G. VENNOR.

April 14, 1876.

BRENTANO'S AQUATIC MONTHLY AND SPORTING GAZETTEER.—Number one of the new series of this monthly was issued on the 1st of April. It is a neatly printed publication of 100 pages, and seems to be conducted with an ability which will render it a necessity to the lover of sports who dips into its interesting pages, and to yachtsmen and oarsmen it will be found specially attractive. The number before us contains as a frontispiece a fine steel engraving of Mr. Wm. Astor's magnificent schooner yacht Ambassadress, concerning which full particulars are given. The yachting department is filled with excellent matter, including an editorial on the schooner yacht Enchantress, a letter from "Centreboard" on the limits of safety of vessels as regards capsizing, a letter from Col. S. M. Taylor, the record of the sloop yacht Gracie, by "Lee Scupper," "Windward" on the Columbia Yacht Club of New York, "Nauta" on Boston Yachting, Ice Yachting on the Hudson, by G. W. Davis, of the Poughkeepsie Eagle, &c., &c. There are also a number of highly interesting contributions on boating, including an excellent paper by Prof. Wm. Wood on past and present single scull champions, in which the doings and character of James Hamill and Edward Hanlan are reviewed in an able manner. The other departments, namely The Rifle, Athletic, The Turf, and The Kennel are also generally interesting. The list of contributors is large, and embraces the names of many of the best known American sporting writers, whose contributions, together with those of the able editor, Mr. Charles A. Penerlly, ought to secure for the Aquatic a large subscription list. The magazine is published by Mr. A. Brentano, jr., 39 Union Square, New York. Single numbers 40c.; annual subscription $4. We commend it to the favorable notice of all classes of sportsmen.

MODERATE DRINKERS.—In New York there has been formed a Society called The Business Men's Society for the Encouragement of Moderation in the Use of Intoxicating Drinks. The President in his address gives the following, as the principles upon which the Society has been formed :—"Recognizing the great evils proceeding from intemperance, and also the fact that extreme abstinence views will not be entertained by a large class whose instincts and habits entitle them to the name of good citizens, we seek to utilize the influence of this class in mitigating these evils. We are fighting the same enemy that the most extreme total abstinence advocates are contending against, but we choose rather to flank the enemy than to uselessly hurl our forces against his strongly intrenched position and have them repulsed in a gallant, but vain, attempt to storm the works. We aim to sustain the steps of those who are feeble, to say a friendly word to such as would, perhaps, refuse to listen to more radical counsellors, to strengthen the resolutions of those who are weak by a series of pledges, among which is one which discourages the absurd custom of "treating" so common with Americans ; and by cultivating a taste for lighter and more wholesome beverages, do a work of true temperance which all good citizens can commend." There were four pledges proposed. The white pledge bound the signer not to drink during business hours. By that modified engagement the man was not deprived of the glass of wine of an evening at our social institutions. The blue pledge promised "not to offer the glass to another, nor to drink at another's expense." The next pledge was the red, white and blue. It limits the signer to drink nothing stronger than wine or beer, and these only at meals and in moderation. The President in his address suggested that total abstinence should be tried for a specified term, and if not convinced at the expiration of that time that it was better to do without anything in the shape of intoxicating liquor, then he urged the adoption, with great care and determination, of one of the moderation pledges which would be found best suited to their circumstances.

A Public Benefaction.

The heart must be hard indeed that does not commiserate the abject wretchedness of the child when told that it must take a dose of Castor Oil. The aversion to the taste and smell of this most efficient and inestimable of laxative and cathartic medicines, seems to be universal, not only with children but with grown-up people. The chemist who could overcome these nauseous properties will ever be looked upon as a public benefactor. This has been fully accomplished by SCOTT & BROWNE in their PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. It is pleasant to the taste, and within the reach of all. Price, only 25 cents a bottle.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

CLEVELAND, April 15.—John Brown, jr., son of Ossawatomie Brown, declares his intention of volunteering to aid the suffering colored refugees. He has a plan of assisting emigration to Kansas and other western States. He states that the time has come for another grand rescue of the colored race.

SITKA, Alaska, April 7.—The commander of the steamer Alaska, is investigating the recent excitement. The citizens simply ask protection, saying the Indians had become aggressive. The Russians were found very destitute and were assisted. At a council with the Indians it was held that they professed friendship.

ALBANY, April 15.—There was a bill passed in the Assembly yesterday to prevent the ice gorges in the St. Lawrence river, also to abolish the weigh-locks on the canals.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Washington specials :

The Tribune says that there is no danger of the passage this session of any bills injurious to the business of the country apprehended.

The Herald says that Wallace's declaration yesterday that the Democrats had no intention of a revolution, and his acknowledgement of the President's veto right ought to silence the cry of resolution and coercion. The Congress will go home just as soon as the appropriation bills are done. Nobody wants to stay here.

NEW YORK, April 15.—Arrived, the Gallia, from Liverpool, and the Bolivia, from Glasgow.

SANDY CREEK, N. Y., April 15.—The Tifft block, occupied by W. N. Tifft, general store, Wheeler's harness shop, and the Post Office, was burned ; loss $10,000.

DETROIT, April 15.—The condition of the blockade in the St. Clair river remains unchanged.

LONG BRANCH, April 15.—The costly new iron Peter partially sunk in the sand yesterday. Engineers are trying to save it.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

BERLIN, April 15.—The first reading of the tariff bill in the Reichstag is fixed for the 1st of May.

LONDON, April 15.— Garibaldi's letter in favor of universal suffrage says he considers it the duty of the Republican party to rally in the field and take legal action to secure progressively that liberty which is their undoubted right, but which now depends on the whim of a minister or the programme of a ministry. Universal suffrage is the basis of reform. The people to whom it is denied were considered capable of founding Italy with their arms. Even the presence of clericals in Parliament would be desirable if it would dispel the languor which now renders it impotent.

It is announced from Belgrade that Servia, in view of the collapse of the Macedonian insurrection, has ordered the withdrawal of the military cordon from the frontier.

NEWCASTLE, April 15.—A number of the striking miners possessed of a little means appeared determined to permanently quit the Durham collieries. The main tide of emigration seems toward the mining districts of the United States, also a considerable migration to British America.

PARIS, April 15.—Bourse announces that the contract for the Greek loan of 60,000,000 francs has been signed between the Greek Minister and Comptoir du Escompte and others.

ST. LOUIS, Collinsville, April 15.—A cyclone destroyed a large number of houses, crushing the walls like paper. The Episcopal Church was badly shaken up. Funeral services were being held,—falling plaster and flying glass bruising and cutting nearly all present, none seriously. Fences, plank sidewalks, trees, outhouses, stables, &c., were blown to pieces or carried away, and gardens destroyed. The cyclone, as usual was rotary, and struck and bounded from the earth three times. Its width was only 60 to 80 feet. One of the evidences of its force was the picking up of a horse and buggy, carrying it, at a height of 20 to 30 feet, distant about 15 rods, dashing the horse to a jelly and the buggy to splinters. The cemetery just outside the town is laid waste, and nearly every tombstone levelled. The storm disappeared in the east, and there are reports that it did damage elsewhere. The total loss in Collinsville is estimated at $59,000 damages.

NEW YORK, April 15.—There is a noticeable depression in the wheat market here to-day. There is a strong "bear" movement here by the Chicago operators.

The police received a communication, enclosing the following note, said to have been found in a broken bottle in Harlem river : "Albany, Jan. 1st 1879. I have committed suicide on account of business troubles ; please inform my family." Signed, Jno. Lathrop.

LOWVILLE, N. Y., April 15.—This morning Dr. Bullock made a statement regarding the charges of heresy against him in disclaiming interpretations in his sermon that represents it as teaching universalism. His character was then passed unanimously by the Methodist Conference.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—A mass meeting of colored people last night adopted measures for the relief of suffering negroes at St. Louis. A large contribution was received, and committees appointed to canvass the city.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 15.—A call has been signed by Governor Stone and prominent citizens of Mississippi and Louisiana for a convention here on May 5th to consider the present agitation of the labor question and the negro exodus.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be villain. American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon instrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of instrinsic excellence. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

CAUTION.—Beware of any man who offers you an imitation article, no matter what it is, and says it is "just as good as the genuine;" they sell all kinds of "sham remedies" in this way upon the reputation of the Pain Killer—be sure and get the genuine made by PERRY DAVIS.

FROM MANITOBA.

WINNIPEG, April 15th.—The Daily Times (Conservative) issued on Saturday, says that the bosses of the Pembina branch have arranged to run to Riverbank, opposite this city, and will arrange to ferry freight across the river. It is officially announced that the American boats will not be allowed to remain in the Canadian waters of Red River, but American barges will be permitted to be towed by Canadian steamers.

S. E BURWELL, of Fingal, Ont., writes:—Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my lungs and produced a distressing cough, for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines, but without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Instantly relieves and permanently cures Sneezing or Head Colds, called Acute Catarrh ; thick, yellow, and foul Mattery Accumulations in the Nasal Passages, called Chronic Catarrh ; rotting and sloughing of the Bones of the Nose, with discharges of loathsome matter tinged with blood, and Ulcerations often extending to the Eye, Ear, Throat, and Lungs, called Ulcerative Catarrh. Also, Hay Fever, Nervous Headache, Dizziness, Clouded Memory, and Loss of Nerve Power.

This Great Local and Constitutional Remedy is prepared entirely by distillation, and contains, in the form of vaporized essences, the greatest vegetable healing and purifying properties known to modern chemistry.

By means of Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaler, which accompanies every bottle free of charge, it is Inhaled, thus acting directly on the Nasal Passages, which it instantly cleanses of foul mucous accumulations, subduing inflammation when extending to the eye, Ear, and throat, restoring the senses of Smell, Hearing, and Taste when affected, leaving the head deodorized, clear, and open, the breath sweet, the breathing easy, and every sense in a grateful and soothed condition. Internally administered it permeates every fluid of the body, cleansing the entire mucous or membranous system through the blood, which it purifies of the acid poison always present in Catarrh. It builds up the enfeebled and broken down constitution, robs the disease of its virus, and permits the formation of Health-Restoring Blood. Unless the system is prostrated by scrofula or consumption beyond recuperation, it will effect a permanent cure in every case. Hundreds of testimonials attest its wonderful curative properties. Every druggist who has ever sold it will cheerfully bear witness to its marvellous efficacy.

Price, with Improved Inhaler, Treatise, and Directions, $1.

Sold by druggists everywhere.

Preserving Milk.

Professor Caldwell, of Cornell University, regards boracic acid as the best antiseptic agent he has found for preserving milk sound for unusual lengths of time. He found that with the temperature of eighty degrees Fahrenheit one part of boracid acid added to 500 parts of milk caused it to remain sweet for fifty hours. At this temperature natural milk soured in twenty to twenty-two hours. With the temperature at seventy two degrees one part of boracid acid in 1,070 parts of milk kept it sweet for fifty hours. When applied to the milk warm from the cow one part of acid to 1,000 parts of milk will keep it sound twice as long as milk not treated. Boracid acid is not detrimental to health used in the quantity named, Professor Caldwell having used the milk freely without harm to the stomach.

Our American Cousins.

Are much exercised about the "Almond Eyed" incursion of their Pacific Coast. One of their latest acts is the passage of a bill to allow no more than fifteen Chinese to come on any one ship into the country. They might as well pass an act that Lake Erie should not rise above so many feet, or that Niagara should not disgorge what it will over its falls. The Chinese could not do worse than this. Surely any country is wide enough to receive all who wish to come, and should be strong enough to make the unruly behave themselves, coming whence they may. The law of supply and demand will arrange the price of labor, and Legislatures cannot alter it. It is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. What folly it would be for our Legislature to declare that A, B and C may do business, while D, E and F may not. If all do an honest business there is no necessity for such a law, any law would be tyrannical that would so order. The fittest will survive. So in the medical world ; a preparation which is good will be sought and the bad discarded. This is why DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS are so popular.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF LAMENESS of twenty-five years' standing.—The second vice-president of the Excelsior Savings Bank, 23d street and 6th Ave., (Booth's Theatre) E. P. Lawrence, was lame for twenty-five years. Contraction of the muscles of the left leg—had no faith at first in the Liniment—was induced to try it from his knowledge of Dr. Giles, who is a scientific and able chemist, and who has never yet made a poor article. Seeing its good effects on others—tried it, and to Mr. L.'s surprise and satisfaction, the stiffness left the cords of his leg, and it became as elastic as the other.

Sold by all druggists. Send for pamphlet.

DR. GILES,
120 West Broadway, N. Y.

Trial size 25 cents.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages ; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle ; six bottles for $5.00.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The War in Zululand.

The Gallant Defence at Rorke's Drift.

The most interesting matter received by the last mail from the Cape is the following explicit account contained in a private letter of the herioc action at Rorke's Drift. It gives by far the best description of that action that we have yet received :—

"On the same day as the fatal battle and disaster that befel our troops at Isandula, when, among other terrible casualties, 21 officers and upwards of 800 men of the 24th, the Warwickshire regiment, lost their lives defending their camp and colors, a Zulu army, numbering at least 3,000 men, attacked with great bravery and persistency the above post. Rorke's Drift was held by "B" Company of the 2nd battalion of the 24th Regiment, under Lieut. Gonville Bromhead. The company numbered 90 men. Besides these there were 40 "casuals" present, 34 of them patients in the hospital, left behind ill when the column advanced into Zululand under Lord Chelmsford, the whole of these under the command of Lieutenant now Major, Chard, of the Royal Engineers, the senior officer, under whose able superintendence and orders Lieutenant, now Major, Bromhead and his men worked and acted.

At three o'clock in the afternoon of the 22nd, Lieutenant Bromhead received a hastily written despatch from Captain Gardner, 14th Hussars, informing him that the camp of the third column had been taken by the enemy, and he would be attacked that night. Capt. Gardner had been engaged in the fight at the camp, had stayed till the last moment, and then galloped for his life. He escaped across Buffalo River, hotly pursued, and managed to write the warning to Lieutenant Bromhead, and then rode on Helpmakaar, another post in the line of communication. His forethought gave the officers a short hour for preparation. It was badly needed. Nothing had been done to prepare the place for defence, the arrangements for so doing having been put off by order until the arrival of an expected party of Royal Engineers and the 4th Regiment. The policy of this neglect was in keeping with the whole of the underestimated power of the Zulus as a fighting nation. The tents were pitched outside a farmhouse, or rather houses, as there were two. One was used as a store and the other as a hospital. They were forty yards apart. Lieut. Bromhead struck the tents and occupied the houses. He managed to pile a few biscuit boxes and sacks of mealies as a sort of parapet towards the garden on one side and a hill which completely commanded the houses and yards on the other. These lines connected the two houses, and formed a broken and imperfect barricade at best, and were nowhere more than two feet high. The advanced guard of the Zulus appeared at first at 4 p.m. It came round the south corner of the hill in a body of from 500 to 600 strong, led by a chief on horseback. They halted for a moment and then advanced quietly but quickly at a run, taking advantage of every bit of cover. It seemed as if they had expected to surprise the camp. Our men opened fire at 500 yards. The first man to fall was the chief. He was shot by private Dunbar, and fell off his horse headlong. Numbers of the enemy fell at once. They hesitated, broke, and the greater number scattered to their left and occupied the garden and orchard, where there was plenty of clover. A few got up close to the houses and lay behind the oven and kitchens that there were built. Scarcely any of these men had guns or rifles. Others came on in a continuous stream, and occupied the hill above, and gradually encircled the two houses.

All the men who had guns were stationed on the hill, and kept up a continuous and rapid fire on the yard. It caught our men in their backs, as they were guarding the garden side, and five men were thus shot dead, Had they been good marksmen the place was untenable, but they fired wildly and badly, for the most part as if the noise had as much effect as the bullets. It now became dusk. The Zulus crept up nearer and nearer, under cover of the bushes and long grass. They were able to get within five yards of the hospital without being seen from this point, in parties of from fifteen to twenty. They repeatedly attacked the end room of the hospital. They made these attacks in the most deliberate manner, advancing after the manner of their dancing, with a prancing step and high action. They cared nothing for slaughter, but endeavored in the most persistent manner to get over the barricade and into the hospital. Lieut. Bromhead, collecting a few men together, had to drive them off with a bayonet charge, Then they would retire, and all of them in chorus shout and strike ther shields. Our men cheered in answer, and let them have it. There were plenty of ammunition, and after the first half hour there was no waste. How deliberate and telling the fire was may be gathered from the following incidents :—Private Joseph Williams, a young Welshman, under two years' service, had a small window in the hospital to shoot from. Next morning fourteen dead warriors were counted outside his window, and several more down his line of fire. As soon as the ammunition was all expended, he and the other men with him defended the door of the room till the enemy by sheer weight of numbers forced it open. Poor fellow, he was seized by the hands and arms, dragged out and assegaied, and mutilated before the eyes of his comrades. Another instance. Private Dunbar, the same man who shot the chief on horseback, was posted to watch the hill as the Kaffirs streamed down from their right. This man, also a Welshman, and of less service than the above mentioned, shot eight of the enemy in as many consecutive shots. Lieutenant Chard was standing by him as he did it, and the bodies were found heaped one on the other next morning. The enemy at last effected a lodgment in the hospital. Thirty of the patients were got out in time. Most of them were pushed and pulled through a window, which opened on the yard. Sergeant Maxfield, a fine young soldier, was very ill with fever and delirious. He could not be moved, and he was killed in his bed. They now set fire to the hospital. The roof was thatch and it quickly blazed. By its light our men were enabled to see their foes better, and many fell before they retreated to better cover. After a pause, encouraged or commanded by a chief, who from time to time shouted his orders from the hill side, they came on again. The fighting in places became hand to hand over the mealie sacks.

The assailants used only their assegais. These they did not throw, but used only as stabbing weapons. Directly a soldier showed his head over the parapet to get a shot he was thrust at. Once or twice the Kaffirs actually seized the bayonets and tried to wrench them off the rifles. One of our men loaded whilst a Zulu was tugging at his bayonet. He pulled the trigger and blew the plucky fellow to atoms. They next tried to set fire to the thatched roof of the store. In the face of a hot fire they got up to the house, and one fine savage had his brains blown out as he was holding a brand against the eaves, and so the fight continued till after midnight, from which time till 4 a. m. they gradually withdrew, only every now and then making a charge. They carried with them all their dead and wounded that they could. The last of them left just before dawn. They left 370 dead on the field. These were counted and buried in heaps. Many of them were recognized by their shields as belonging to one of the crack Royal regiments. The majority was of a certain age, in poor condition and of small statue. Our loss, counting five of the patients, was 13 killed and ten wounded. Three of the latter have since died of their wounds.

The names of those who especially distinguished themselves must be mentioned: —Privates John Williams, Henry Hook, William Jones, and Robert Jones of the 24th regiment had been posted in the hospital. They defended the house room by room to the last. None of them had a round of ammunition in his pouch when they left the burning building and it was only owing to their bravery that the last of their patients escaped. Corporal Allen and Private Hatch must also be mentioned for their courageous form and assistance. Badly wounded early in the evening, and incapacitated from firing themselves, they never ceased going round and supplying ammunition from the reserve to the fighting men. It was a gallant defence. The young soldiers stuck together, backed each other up and fought splendidly. They never wavered for a moment. Most of them are Welshmen by birth, with but a few months of drill and training, and effusion of esprit de corps, they have become the best and pluckiest of "Warwickshire lads," and gloriously kept up the traditions of the old 24th. It was of the utmost stragetical importance that this place should not be captured. It may also be said that the safety of the remainder of the column, and of this part of the colony, depended on the result."

The Crown Princess of Germany.

We extract the following from "Anecdotal Photographs" in Truth : The Crown Princess of Germany is one of the most charming persons living. Englishmen were proud of the Princess Royal, and Germans feel at least as warm a sentiment in respect of their future Empress. Perhaps independence of spirit is about the most striking trait in the character of the Princess. As a complement to this fact, it may be added that a habit of speaking what she considers the truth in a remarkably vigorous manner is that one of Her Imperial Highness's qualities which ever and anon inspires her well-wishers with most uneasiness. It is well known that the late Lord Russell did his very best to make himself disagreeable to his sovereign. "Mamma says you're such a nasty man," quoth the little Princess one day to the shortest Liberal statesman of the age. Pleasanter to relate is the story of a certain distinguished physician, and how he would frequently call at Windsor Castle, and how the Princess would always familiarly address him as "Brown," for he was a merry physician and she was a merry child. Remonstrances from a most august personage failed to induce the Princess to grace "Brown's" name with some sort of prefix. At length she was peremptorily informed that if she ever again ventured to make use of this unceremoniously style of address the punishment would by an instant dismissal (vulgo, "packing off") to bed. The physician reappeared in a day or two, and was greeted by the young lady with these words: "Good morning, Brown, and good night, too, Brown, for I'm off to bed." The Crown Princess is not only distinguished by independence of character and public spirit, but—which is possibly of more account—by those domestic virtues which we Britons love to consider as products specially indigenous to our isle. As daughter, sister, wife, mother she has been perfect. But, indeed, when one of Queen Victoria's daughters is spoken of, such facts are accepted as beyond discussion. Independence of spirit is, unhappily, apt to be allied with — shall one say ? — precipitance of judgment. The Princess's admirers—i.e. all who have the honor of Her Highness's acquaintance—were somewhat dismayed at her enthusiastic patronage of Lord Beaconsfield. The fact was, the Princess imagined he had, in a more especial degree than other statesmen, the honor and interests of England at heart. Hence she sent him a nosegay surmounted with a strawberry ; but that was three years before the Berlin surrender, and peace with modified honor. A cynical old French proverb asserts that kingly government means government by a queen. When one remembers that a certain venerable monarch has passed even the period of "labor and sorrow" which the inspired writer fixes as the ultimate term of human existence, one can scarcely help musing on some possible effects of the reign of Frederick William and Victoria, Emperor and Empress of Germany. For one thing, it must not be supposed that the advent of the next sovereign of the Fatherland will be at all synchronous with the adoption of Liberal principles by the Government of Berlin, at least as Liberal principles are understood by Englishmen. The Crown Princess entertains the deepest admiration for the (political) character of Catharine II. of Russia, and has in her the germs of a far more virtuous, but equally high-handed Catherine. Vi et armis, she would educate her subjects into an appreciation of Geist and culture, compel Catholic bishops to marry, and Benedictine monks to preach the advantages of a comfortable income, and a sober enjoyment of this world's goods. Above all, I think she would endeavor to realize the ideal of Henri Quatre, and enable every Pomeranian peasant to enjoy stewed chicken (with prunes) at least once a week. But she would not relax the military obligations of the said peasant, nor shorten his term of service, nor subscribe the half-quarter of a mark to the fund of the Peace Society. She is, in fact, a Princess among Liberals and a Liberal among Princesses.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16.

The Iron Industry.

As a result of the National Policy, we learn from our exchanges of an increased activity in existing manufactories hitherto depressed, the revival of industries which had been discontinued on account of undue foreign competition, and the making of arrangements for the establishment in the Dominion of manufactures which had not hitherto existed within our borders. Prominent amongst the industries which are experiencing a revival is that of the manufacture of pig iron, which, as is but too well known, has not for many years been carried on in this Province, although having maintained a not very healthy existence in the Province of Quebec and in Nova Scotia. By the imposition of $2 per ton on the foreign product, a protection of at least $1 per ton, calculating two tons of fuel for each ton of iron, is given to those who embark in the business in Ontario and Quebec, where the coal to be used for smelting purposes has to be brought long distances, even supposing that it had to be procured from the United States and that the producers did not lower their prices to their Canadian customers. Some of those who are interested in the trade state that $1 per ton is not sufficient protection; but taking into account the facts that labor is as cheap at least here as in the United States; that the limestone necessary for fluxing is procurable more cheaply here than there; and that the extra cost of carrying coal from the mines to the furnaces in Canada would be nearly or quite counterbalanced by the lesser cost for the transportation of the ores, the advantage, at all events with the protection afforded, seems to be with the Canadian manufacturer. True, the price of iron in the United States, whence our supply has of late late years been principally drawn, has been low beyond precedent for several years past, owing to the great depression which has existed in the country; but latest advices show a more buoyant feeling and a very considerable revival of activity in the iron industries of the United States, the effect of which cannot fail to be an advance in the iron market, which would be a great advantage to the Canadian manufacturer. On the other hand, it may be said that the iron masters of the United States would, in order to prevent the destruction of their market in Canada, sell their surplus to us at a loss; but that is not a game which they would be likely to continue, because if the industry were once fairly established here, the Canadian product could soon be made to rival the imported in cheapness and, we believe, to surpass it in quality.

At all events, it affords us pleasure to learn that Mr. William Myles, formerly of Toronto, and his associates, are about to make the experiment of establishing an iron smelting furnace at Port Hope, in order to determine whether the manufacture of pig iron cannot profitably be undertaken in Ontario, under the inducements offered by the new tariff. In all probability they will make an effort to procure their coal by rail from the Nova Scotia mines, as an experiment in that direction is to be tried by Messrs. W. P. Howland & Co. of Toronto. In support of this project it is argued that the cars which bring heavy freight from the west have to return empty, and that the Grand Trunk ought to fix a rate for coal corresponding to that charged on the United States lines, usually one-fifth of a cent per ton per mile. Thus, as the coal costs $1.50 per ton at the mine, and the distance from Toronto to Pictou by the Grand Trunk and Intercolonial Railways is 1,168 miles, at the rate of freight mentioned coal from the Nova Scotia mines could be laid down there at $3.83, or at Belleville at $3.62 per ton. Both hard and soft coals are carried in the ordinary box cars over the United States railroads, and no trouble is experienced in cleaning them for the transport of grain, flour, &c., so that the experiment looks promising, at all events. In case of its success, there ought to be no doubt of the success of Messrs. Myles & Co.'s operation.

If capital can be found for investment in such an enterprise in Port Hope, why not in Belleville, which is still more favorably situated for its successful conduct? The ore which will be used at Port Hope will doubtless be that of the Snowdon mine, which we have reason to believe is not equal to that of the mines in Madoc and adjoining townships, and which would have to be transported a further distance by rail than the ores which would be smelted here, which would be an advantage to Belleville. A writer who has recently treated this subject with much ability in a series of letters addressed to the Oswego Times, says:—

"It has been found by theory and experience in England and in this country that furnaces for manufacturing pig iron should be placed in commercial positions, where the different varieties of ore, the fluxes, and coal can be concentrated at the least cost, and the manufactured iron have the cheapest access to the home and foreign market. Blast furnaces require a position where they can have a dock very near the furnace accessible both by rail and water to receive and deliver freight. They want, also, a liberal supply of water not for feeding the boiler only but also to make a constant flow around the furnace. This water would be free here where furnaces were placed in a position having the other requisites. Another requisite in location is a point where the large amount of refuse from the furnace may be dumped cheaply and utilized if possible."

In all these respects Belleville is more favorably situated than is Port Hope, and if the supply of coal were to be drawn from the United States and iron ore exported thence as return freight, the advantages would be still more in our favor owing to the fact that owing to the long stretch of sheltered navigation which the Bay of Quinte presents, which shelter extends far out into the lake at Point Traverse, barges could be used in the trade hence, which could not well be done at Port Hope. As we have frequently pointed out on previous occasions, Belleville is the most favorably situated point in Ontario for the location of an iron furnace, being connected by railway with magnificent and inexhaustible deposits of iron ore; having limestone in any quantity wherever desired and close to the surface, and all the other natural advantages which experience has shown to be desirable or necessary. We hope ere long to hear of a renewal of the correspondence between Mr. Wrigley and the special Committee of Council, and if correspondence were opened with Messrs. McDougall & Cowan for the establishment of their smelting furnace and car wheel works here, the result might be satisfactory. So many and so great are the advantages which Belleville possesses as a seat for the iron manufacturing industry that she is able to excel all competitors, and it is the duty of the municipal Council to make those advantages as widely known as possible—a duty which we feel assured they are prepared to discharge with zeal and efficiency.

The Situation in Zululand

A cable special gives the following as the exact condition of affairs in Zululand according to the latest advices:—On the south side of the Tugela river there are at this moment 1,200 cavalry, 14,000 infantry, and 35 guns, all from England, and in readiness for operations, which it is hoped will not only relieve Col. Pearson from his now desperate situation but make a final end of Cetewayo. The latter, however, is in excellent trim for making a desperate fight. He has caused all the roads along which the English columns can advance to be broken up. Bridges have been destroyed, ravines deepened, and countless trees felled, so as to lie across roads where these obstructions are most formidable. Cetewayo has constructed earthworks on the flanks, defended by an abattis, and every mile of the advance of the English may have to be fought for. It is stated that while hoping to present the advance of his foe to any great distance by these means, Cetewayo has prepared as a post upon which to fall back if necessary an almost inaccessible fortress thirty miles north of Ulandi. The advance of the British column is expected to begin to-day, but news from it cannot be expected here before the 5th or 6th of May. Among the relatives and friends of the officers and soldiers in the expedition very lively anxiety exists as to the outcome.

Poisoned.—Two children belonging to Mr. Wm. Neal, living near Newburg, Ont., were poisoned on the 15th inst., by eating wild parsnip. One of them lived only four hours after suffering great pain; the other is still alive but in a critical state. Beware of wild parsnips.

North-West Police.—Colonel McLeod, Chief Commissioner of the North-West Mounted Police, will leave next week for his command, taking with him 81 recruits, chosen out of over 700 applicants. They are mostly farmers' sons, and will be a valuable addition to the force. It is the intention to make the men as much self-supporting as possible by employing them during their leisure in cultivating crops, raising horses, cattle, &c.

Failures for Three Months.—The failures in Canada, according to Dun, Wiman & Co., for the first quarter in 1879 as compared with the first quarter of 1878, show an increase, the failures during the former period amounting to $11,648,697, as against $9,100,929 the corresponding quarter in 1878. In the United States, on the other hand, the failures during the first quarter of 1879 amounted to only $43,112,655, as against $82,078,326 in the first quarter of 1878.

Playing with Loaded Guns. — The Kingston News says:—Two young men named James Mitchell and Anson Kiel, living at the head of Wolfe Island, were playing with a gun yesterday, Mitchell annoyed Kiel, who jestingly said, "I'll shoot you." One barrel of the gun had been already shot off, but the remaining charge went off and struck Mitchell in the eyes and forehead, so that his eyesight it is feared, will be destroyed, if his life should be saved. Mitchell, in playing with a revolver, shot off his left thumb last week, so that he has been rather unfortunate lately.

What They Think of the Tariff.—The Springfield (Mass.) Republican says:—The Canadian tariff is making itself felt on New England trade with the Dominion, and for the most part in a prohibitory fashion. So far as cotton goods and hardware are concerned, Boston merchants feel themselves well able to compete with England so far as there is no discrimination in her favor. The trade in breadstuffs, our largest with the provinces, is wholly cut off by the tariff, but this to the benefit of American channels of transportation, and so are our exports of refined sugar, in which a discrimination is made against the product of American refineries. In levying a duty on sugar, by the way, Sir John Macdonald has followed the least defensible feature of our tariff and adopted the Dutch standard. In furniture, leather and its manufactures, tobacco, and a number of minor manufactures, the duties are almost prohibitory.

The Attempted Assassination.

London, April 15.—A St. Petersburg special says on Tuesday morning Zolowjeff was insensible but was expected to rally. No papers were found upon him. Throughout all Monday night all suspected houses were searched. Last week the Revolutionary Committee issued a proclamation threatening the life of the Emperor and a second St. Bartholomew. Telegrams were received on Friday last from the Berlin secret police giving warning that during Easter an attempt would be made to assassinate the Emperor, the Czarewitch or some other member of the Imperial family. In consequence of these telegrams, the usual entrance to the winter Palace was closed and the Czarewitch went at midnight to the Easter eve reception of the Czar escorted by four cossacks.

A Paris correspondent reports that in a letter recently received from St. Petersburg it is said that the heads of the secret police are about to resign, having discovered that three-fourths of the force are in league with the Nihilists. The latter are not really numerous, but profit by the apathy of the middle classes, who are discontented because of the denial of their political rights.

Vienna, April 15.—Letters from Kieff state that between the 8th and 11th inst. five attempts at murder were made against officials here.

Mr. Chas. Belford.—The many friends of Mr. Charles Belford, of the Mail, will be glad to learn that he is able to be out again after a long and serious illness.

Palatable Medicines.

Not many years ago all medicines were copious in quantity and nauseous to the taste. In the advancement of medical science, nauseous drugs have been made palatable and small doses have taken the place of large ones, until recently Cod Liver Oil, the greatest food and medicine in the world for the Consumptive or Emaciated invalid, has been intolerable to take. But in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda this has been entirely overcome, and it is as pleasant as sweet milk.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

Tuesday, April 15.

In the House of Commons the Bills relating to the census and statistics and that amending and consolidating the Acts respecting the duties imposed on bills of exchange and promissory notes were advanced a stage. No discussion of great importance took place.

After recess, the Act to amend the Truro and Pictou Railway Act of 1877 was advanced two stages, on condition that on concurrence ample discussion and objection should be permitted.

The Bill respecting the offices of Receiver-General and Minister of Public Works was next considered.

The Minister of Public Works explained the nature of the proposed changes, which may be summarized thus:—All railways and canals will be transferred to a new department under that head, and all important works, together with the construction of lighthouses and fortifications, will be under the control of the Minister of Public Works.

Mr. Holton looked forward with apprehension to the results of the division of responsibilities.

Mr. Mackenzie did not believe the change would be in the public interest, and he suggested other departments in which changes could be made, instead of that of Public Works. If the labors were too oppressive in the latter, the engineers could perform all the labors other than purely administrative.

After further discussion, the Bill was advanced a stage.

The Bill to provide against contagious diseases affecting animals was advanced two stages.

The Bill to amend the Post-office Act of 1875 passed a third reading.

The House adjourned at 10:25 p. m.

Curious Facts.

A Wisconsin farmer has an apple tree that produces fruit without any seed.

The whale moves with a velocity, through a dense body of water, that would carry him round the world in a fortnight's time.

It is a remarkable fact that no vessel propelled by steam was ever struck by lightning nor any ship which was built of iron.

Spacious and wonderful caverns have lately been discovered in Luray, Page Co., Va., rivalling in extent even the mammoth Cave of Kentucky.

The remains of a chinaman were exhumed in California, for the purpose of shipping him to China, when it was found that the body was completely petrified.

It would require several horses to draw all the strings of a piano-forte to concert pitch the strain upon them, when in perfect tune, being about seven tons.

A tooth weighing ten pounds, pronounced to be a human one, was dug up in Big Bone Valley, Ky., a few days since. Imagine the necessity of using a derrick to extract a tooth.

Thirty years ago the English House of Commons sustained an objection that a railway ought not to run to Oxford because it might scare cattle and prevent them from getting fat.

Bugs are an important article of trade of Rio Janeiro, the wings being made into flowers, and the more brilliant ones dried and sold in a natural condition as ornaments to foreigners.

In Central Africa, a large number of Jewish negroes have been discovered. Nearly every family possesses the law of Moses on parchment. They trace their origin to the captivity, when some of the Hebrews fled to the desert, and intermarried with the natives.

A nugget of gold weighing thirteen ounces, or over a pound, troy weight, has recently been dug up in Carbarrus County North Carolina. It is a well-known fact that the largest lump of gold ever found in the United States was picked up in Cabarrus County many years ago.

Egyptian mummies are regularly ground up into paint. They are used for this purpose because the asphaltum, with which they are impregnated, is of a quality superior to that which can elsewhere be procured. They procure a peculiar brownish tint, highly prized by the best artists.

A curious ancient Mexican ligrary has been found in the ruins of a vast palace at Xayi, near Chippas, in southern Mexico. The writings are inscribed on tarra-cotta lablets, half an inch thick, and are supposed to be sacred records, but the language in which they are written is not accurately known.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be villain. American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon instrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of instrinsic excellence. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The world-wide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

A Large Infant.—The largest infant at birth of which there is any authenticated record was born in Ohio on the 12th of last January. The new-born boy is twenty-three and three quarters pounds in weight (the ordinary weight being about six pounds), and thirty inches in height (the ordinary height being about twenty inches). The circumference of the head was nineteen inches, and the foot was five and a half inches in length. Six years ago the same woman became the mother of a child eighteen pounds in weight and twenty-four inches in height. The size and weight of the babe, though extraordinary, are proportionate to the size of the parents. The mother, Mrs. M. V. Bates, of Nova Scotia, is seven feet and nine inches high, and the father, a Kentuckian, is seven feet seven inches high. The London Hospital Museum can boast no longer of its giant infant, which is only twenty-four inches high, with the head thirteen and a half inches in circumference.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 16.

City and Vicinity.

Police Court.—There was no business in Court this morning, for the third day in succession.

Twin Calves.—A cow belonging to Mr. John Iles, front of Thurlow, gave birth to twin heifer calves yesterday.

Personal.—The hon. Senators Read and Flint and Mr. John White, M. P., returned to Ottawa to-day, after spending the Easter holidays at home.

Cheese.—Some of the cheese factories in this vicinity have commenced operations, and several others are preparing to do so. The prospect, with cable at 42s. per cwt., is rather unpromising.

Accident.—Whilst Mr. Wesley Bullen, grocer, was rolling a barrel in his store yesterday, a nail penetrated his knee to a considerable depth. A painful wound was caused, which we regret to learn will confine Mr. Bullen to his bed for some time.

Sugar.—The wholesale prices of sugar for the past week are quoted as slightly lower with a downward tendency, so that any housewife who is asked an increased price on account of the new tariff may know that she is being imposed upon, and should act accordingly.

Taylor vs. Wallbridge.—Judgment was given in this case by the Supreme Court, at Ottawa, in favor of the plaintiff. G. D. Dickson for plaintiff, Hon. L. Wallbridge, Q.C., for defendant. This case shows the uncertainties of law. It has been before four Courts, at the first and last of which judgment was given for plaintiff, and in the second and third for the defendant.

Risky.—Mr. Asa Wallbridge, who is usually the first to cross the bay on the ice in winter and the last to do so before the annual break up, drove a team of horses across the ice yesterday, landing in the vicinity of Bleecker's mill. The undertaking was an exceedingly dangerous one, but Mr. Wallbridge's long experience carried him through safely.

Kingston Assizes.—The Spring Assizes for Frontenac opened before Mr. Justice Cameron on the 15th inst. The calendar contains five cases:—James Watson, in gaol for forgery; John Kinchelar, there also for assaulting police; Ellen Shanaham is charged with larceny; Mary Ann Barley, with perjury; and Patrick Rooney with indecent assault. Mr. Thomas Holden, of Belleville, is Crown Prosecutor.

St. John's Church, Stirling.—At the Easter vestry meeting of St. John's Church, Stirling, held last evening, Geo. E. Bull, Esq., was elected Churchwarden by the people, and Jas. Boldrick, Esq., was named Churchwarden by the Incumbent, Rev. Thos. Godden. The Lay Delegates are Messrs. Geo. E. Bull, Jas. Boldrick and Walter Crask. Messrs. Thos. Greeson and Oliver Hewatt, were appointed sidesmen. The meeting was of a pleasant and harmonious character.

Police.—The Police Commissioners met yesterday afternoon, and suspended constable Rankin on charges preferred against him. There were a number of applicants for the vacancy at present existing in the force, but no appointment was made, and the Board adjourned until Tuesday afternoon next. As the Council will meet on Monday night, it will be quite competent for them to take the action which the statute requires that they shall do, if they wish to alter the number of the force or the pay of its members.

Wrong.—For once the "probabilities" forwarded from the Meteorological station at Toronto were wrong during the past twenty-four hours. Increasing easterly to northerly winds, with rain and snow, were predicted for the Lower Lake region, but the prognostication was not fulfilled here. The afternoon and night were cloudy and threatening, but the wind, which was easterly, did not increase, but changed to northerly, and no rain or snow fell. The probabilities are very seldom incorrect, but in this instance there was undoubtedly a failure on the part of the weather bureau.

The Tea Business.—The Canada Gazette of Saturday contains an Order in Council imposing a retaliatory duty of 10 per cent. ad valorem on tea and coffee imported from the United States to be collected from and after the second of April. Very little, if any, tea has been brought in since then, and as there is an ample stock in the country to last till the next direct importation, the duty on the tea we consume will remain at the lower rate fixed by the new tariff, while a beneficial impetus will be given to our shipping interest.

Fishery Regulations.—According to the fishery regulations it is illegal to catch pickerel, pike, or maskinonge, from the 15th of April to the 15th of May—one month. Why protection should be given to that fresh water shark the pike we are at a loss to understand. Very inferior as food fish themselves, they destroy in countless thousands the young of other and better varieties of the finny tribes, frequently exterminating the salmon trout in small lakes. The pike ought to be an outlaw, subject to be killed on sight at any and all times, and our fisheries ought to be benefitted by a regulation to that effect.

SUDDEN DEATH.

A Young Girl Seized with Fatal Illness on her Way Home.

AND DIES WITHIN AN HOUR.

Yesterday noon as Hattie Griffin, a thirteen year old daughter of Mr. Milton Griffin, formerly of the Victoria Foundry Company, and who has been a pupil in Miss Hunter's division of the High School, was on her way home with her schoolmates, she suddenly fell. Her companions, on discovering that she was speechless, carried her into Mr. William Wensley's, whence she was taken to her home. Drs. Willson and Hamilton were at once sent for and did all that was possible, but without avail, as the patient never regained consciousness and died in forty minutes after being taken home. Dr. Willson gave it as his opinion that death was caused by a sudden attack of congestion of the lungs.

Deceased was a bright and promising girl. She had about December last been promoted from Miss Templeton's division in the Union School, and up to the time of the fatal attack seemed to be in her usual health, with the single exception of a complaint yesterday morning of a pain in her head. The bereaved parents will receive general sympathy in their sad affliction.

Chancery Spring Sittings.

Tuesday, April 15.

Darling vs. Price.—This case occupied the whole of the first day. The decree pronounced by the learned Vice-Chancellor was as follows: Reference to Master at Belleville to make the following enquiries: To take account of the amounts due Mrs. Rees Price and Messrs. Morland, Watson & Co., upon the mortgages upon the said premises in question, and an account of the amount expended by the deft., E. A. Price, in the purchase of said lands. Costs of each of the parties to be added to their claims. Lands to be sold with the approbation of the said Master, and the proceeds applied in payment of the amounts to be found due as above and the balance to be paid the plff., or so much thereof as the said Master may find him entitled to. Hon. L. Wallbridge, Q.C., for plff.; R. Martin, Q.C., for defts. Morland, Watson & Co.; Thos. Holden, Esq., for deft. E.A. Price.

Bailey vs. Campbell.—Bill fyled for partition of lands in Tyendinaga. The usual reference was decreed to be made to Master at Belleville as to sale or partition. Burdett for plff.; Wallbridge, Q C., for deft. W. Young; Northrup for deft. Chandos Bailey; Simpson for defts. Sarah and John Bailey; C. W. Bell for guardian of infants.

Abraham Oppenheim, a millionaire banker, who lately died at Cologne, once bought a handsome estate on the Rhine. Adjoining it was a small piece of land which the banker desired, but for which its owner asked a fancy price, which Oppenheim would not listen to. Then the owner built a tavern on this land, with a signboard inscribed, "The Father Abraham," and Oppenheim at once capitulated.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Topeka, Ks., April 16.—The Commonwealth publishes a private circular signed Lycurgus P. Jones, to the southern negroes, notifying them that the Government colonization society would give them land in Kansas. The Commonwealth has been trying to find Jones, but unsuccessfully. It charges that parties have been obtaining small amounts from the negroes as fees for information, and instructions how to secure this mythical Government land.

New York, April 16.—Washington specials: The Tribune says that Beck's speech yesterday was especially notable on account of the absence of threats that the wheels of Government will be blocked if the majority fails to carry its points.

The World says that Vice-President Wheeler, who has gone home to visit a sick relative, is not expected to return to Washington the present session. The installation of Thurman as president pro tem., puts the supervision of removals and appointments in his hands.

New York, April 16.—The service of thanksgiving for the escape of the Czar was celebrated yesterday in the Russo-Greek Chapel.

It was rumored yesterday that the Colorado Cattle Company had transferred to Vanderbilt and Mr. Eastman the controlling interest in that corporation with a view to a vast extension through Vanderbilt's shipping facilities of live beef exportation to Europe.

Robt. H. Martin, broker, was arrested charged with misappropriating $3,000, the entire possessions of a lady who was a teacher in a Sunday School over which Martin was Superintendent.

Work has been resumed in the construction of the New York City and Northern Railroad, running from High Bridge to Brewster's, where it connects with the New York and New England railroad, gaining direct communication with Boston. This road is the old projected Boston, New York and Montreal railroad, and nearly half the distance from New York and Brewster's in Putnam County is completed already.

The Police Board yesterday took measures looking to the investigation of the street cleaning, bureau and gambling dens.

The Herald says that the decline in breadstuffs and provisions yesterday was caused by advices from all parts of the west, which stated that rain was falling in large quantities and that the prospects are very favorable for a good crop.

Arrived, the Rialto from Newcastle, the Wisconsin from Liverpool.

Glasgow, April 16.—Arrived, the Devonia.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

Rome, April 16.—Queen Victoria and the King and Queen of Italy will meet on Friday at the Royal Castle of Monsa, near Milan. After a walk in the park and lunch, the Royal party in separating will return in the afternoon to Baveno and Rome respectively. Their Italian majesties intended to visit Baveno, but there is no palace or villa there capable of accommodating the united parties and their attendants. Queen Victoria, while expressing the pleasure she would derive from a visit to King Humbert and Queen Margarita, intimated her desire to save them from the inconvenience by going to meet them at Monsa. Queen Victoria's visit to Italy will terminate on the 23rd inst. She will arrive in Paris on the 24th, Cherbourg 25th, and England 26th. The statement that the Pope wrote welcoming her to Italy is declared unfounded.

Paris, April 16.—The Republique Francaise says that France and England will first demand through the Sultan the Khedive's submission to their wishes. This they will doubtless obtain, and through the same medium will impose on the Khedive guarantees against the renewal of such conspiracies as the present.

St. Petersburg. April 16.—The name of the assassin of the Czar is Alexander Solovieff. He is schoolmaster of Porgyes, in the Government of Pleskov. He will be tried by the highest criminal prosecutor. General Senator Leontieff, who is charged with a preliminary inquiry commenced his labors; the belief that the prisoner took poison is erronous. He was severely injured by the populace, who would have killed him but for the intervention of the police.

Baltimore, April 16.—Bishop Ames, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, is ill. For several days his death was looked for, but this morning the physician pronounced him better.

San Francisco, April 16.—Dr. Chalfant, the supposed murderer of Bacon, has surrendered. He is haggard, having been roaming about the hills since Sunday without food or rest. He has made no statement.

Paris, April 16.—No progress has been made in solving the Egyptian difficulties. The French and English Cabinets have taken no determination. It is not believed the deposition of the Khedive will be attempted.

London, April 16.—Despatches from Vienna state that Schouvaloff left St. Petersburg on Monday for London to present letters of recall.

New York, April 16.—Only twenty-one pedestrians on the track at Gilmore's Garden this morning, all others having withdrawn, among them Hughes ("the lepper"). Panchot was first with 219⅜ miles.

Dennisport, Ms., April 16.—Ginn's drug-store and laboratory was burned. Loss $14,000.

Detroit, M., April 16.—The official returns of the State are sufficiently complete to make a certain Republican majority of about 4,000.

New York, April 16.—Arrived, the steamship Arragon from Bristol, the Hermod and Rhiwindda from Cardiff, and the Herder from Hamburg.

S. E Burwell, of Fingal, Ont., writes:—Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my lungs and produced a distressing cough, for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines, but without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would indeed be marvellous.

Caution.—Beware of any man who offers you an imitation article, no matter what it is, and says it is "just as good as the genuine;" they sell all kinds of "sham remedies" in this way upon the reputation of the Pain Killer—be sure and get the genuine made by Perry Davis.

No work, however menial, can make an honest poor man lose his self-respect. Do whatever you can get to do, and do it so well that your employer will see that you are fit for something better, and the time is not far off when you will begin to rise.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Morpeth, April 16.—A team ran away last night, colliding with a buggy containing three persons. The tongue of the waggon penetrated the horse attached to the buggy, killing it instantly, and the three occupants were thrown out and very badly injured. The recovery of one is doubtful.

Human nature is very discouraging. Put up the sign, "No thoroughfare, danger!" and every teamster on the continent feels that that particular street is the only one that leads to his stable. SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is Acute Catarrh or Cold in the Head. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of Chronic or Ulcerative Catarrh.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that Sanford's Radical Cure is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

To the Electors of

NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN :—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers ; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals : Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

NEWS GATHERED IN THE EMPIRE CITY BY OUR REPORTER—A PROPOSED NEW HIGHWAY OF COMMERCE BY GEN. FREMONT—IN MEMORY OF HORACE GREELEY—AN EXCURSION AROUND THE WORLD, &C., &C.

(From our regular correspondent.)

NEW YORK, April 12, '79

Gen. Fremont, Governor of Arizona, now in this city, states that he has received assurances from the Department of the Interior which will tend to the quieting of the ill-feeling recently caused between the white settlers on the Salt river and the Pima and Maricopa Indians, who were assigned a reservation in that locality. The Government promises, it is said, to give the Indians a piece of land which will not interfere with the white settlements, and meantime make examinations with a view to removing all these Indians to a permanent reservation on the Colorado river. Gen. Fremont has submitted to the Government a plan for bringing the waters of the Gulf of California back to their old basin in Southern California, which, he says, would create an inland sea, suitable for navigation, about 200 miles long, 50 miles broad and 300 feet deep, converting what is now a desert region into a highway of commerce. He thinks the climate of Southern Arizona and Southeastern California would be tempered and improved by this change.

It will be gratifying to many in all sections of the country who cherish grateful memories of Horace Greeley, to learn that Mr. Cornelius J. Vanderbilt has just paid to the two daughters $31,500 each, being principal and interest of the debt due to Mr. Greeley for money kindly loaned to him when the elder Vanderbilt gave him a limited allowance. Since the death of Mr. Greeley his daughters have received nothing from the Tribune, and the shares held by him have declined in value from $10,000 each to nothing on the market Beyond the Tribune stock, the claim against Vanderbilt, and the almost profitless home at Chappaqua, the two daughters of Mr. Greeley had but little, if any, resources ; and as the Tribune stock has been made valueless, and Chappaqua has been desolated by fire, the payment by Vanderbilt is a timely and just relief to the children of one who well deserved a larger portion of this world's goods. It was an act of tardy justice rather than of generosity on the part of Mr. Vanderbilt, but it is to his credit that he has wiped out the debt so promptly after the recent settlement of the litigation over his father's will gave him the means to do so.

The preparations for the Woodruff Scientific expedition around the world are fast approaching completion. The number of persons to be admitted to the floating university was limited to 200, and two thirds of this number have already signified in writing their intention of joining the expedition. The steamer Werder, which has been chartered for the occasion, has been thoroughly overhauled and altered to suit the occasion, and will be ready by the 8th of May. The tour will last sixteen months. An interesting feature of the occasion will be the printing and publishing of a weekly paper on board the ship. This afternoon a reception was given on board the Werder by Mr. W. S. Clark, president of the faculty, to a party of gentlemen from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and this city.

In the case of Frederick A. Freeman, still confined in Ludlow street jail on the suit brought by H. R. Pierson as receiver of the Guardian Mutual Life Insurance Co.; having been unable to procure $200,000 bail, the Court of Appeals having confirmed the order of arrest, the counsel of Freeman has brought suit in the Supreme Court. The chambers set aside, upon additional papers, the former suit. His counsel to-day moved to vacate the order of arrest and read a long affidavit from Freeman, in which he denies emphatically that the stock sold was not worth full price.

On March 7, Louis C. Fogo and Walter Venable became engaged in an altercation with W.J. Robbins in a saloon in Lexington, Ky. Robbins knocked one of them down, and when he left the saloon they followed him out. Four hundred yards away one of them seized him around the waist, while the other cut and hacked his body to pieces, leaving him dead and horribly mutilated. The murderers fled, but were tracked to Jersey City, and last night they were arrested in Roche's saloon, in York street. They will be sent back to Lexington. A reward of $1,500 was offered for their capture.

Alphonsine Martian made an application in the Marine court for an attachment against the property of "Birdie Bell" otherwise known as Mrs. Barrett, who recently attempted to shoot Washington Nathan. Martian claims the woman owes him $343 for various articles sold her between November 14, 1874, and April 7, 1875. Among the articles enumerated are stockings—blue, striped, plain and pink—at prices ranging from $9 to $16 per pair, handkerchiefs at from $9 per dozen to $75 each, point lace at $15 per yard, and various other articles at equally extravagant prices. An affidavit also sets forth that the woman is keeping herself concealed with intent to defraud her creditors, and so avoid the services of process. A prayer for attachment has been granted.

A somewhat novel mode of smuggling has been discovered. On the arrival of the steamer Silesia, from Hamburg, she was boarded by the usual number of custom-house inspectors, under deputy surveyor Kibbe, who proceeded to take the baggage declaration of the cabin passengers. While thus engaged, a richly-attired lady presented her card to Mr. Kibbe, one of the inspectors, and asked permission to go on board. She stated that her brother, Alfred A. Sohn, was among the passengers. Suspecting nothing wrong, the official granted the request, and she quickly disappeared into the cabin. After a stay of about half an hour, the lady re-appeared ; she wore a long, fur-lined, silk mantle, which she did not bring on board with her. The inspector accosted her, and invited her to be searched. She was indignant. A thorough search of her clothing was made. Upon her were found 23 yards of black silk, three and a half dozen pairs of kid gloves, one roll of light silk, thirty napkins, four pieces of silk hose, forty-five pairs of merino hose, and five valuable highly ornamented meerschaum pipes, and one cigar-holder. The lady reluctantly gave her name as Mrs. M. Lauterbach, of 167 East Sixty-fifth Street. Deputy-surveyor Kibbe then gave his attention to her brother, and was well rewarded. In the trunk which Mr. Sohn claimed as his property, the following articles were found : one table-cloth, one dozen handkerchiefs, five table covers, 500 cigars, and a quantity of miscellaneous articles of first-class manufacture.

The New York Elevated Railroad Company is making preparations for laying a third track between those now in use, the effect will be to darken Third Avenue and make it a sort of Thames tunnel in the heart of the city. The portion of the New York Elevated railroad immediately above the Third Avenue horse-car depot gives a good idea of what the whole line will be when the new third track will be added. After a rain-fall the surface of the avenue will be like a lake until the water percolates through the crevices of the pavement, for the sun's rays will be completely shut out by the iron arcade. When the new track is finished, through trains will be run upon it down town in the morning and up town in the evening, and ten to fifteen minutes time will be saved between the battery and Harlem.

AUGUST.

—The exports of codfish from St. John's, Nfld., since the 1st January last amount to 189,846 quintals, which is more than 50,000 quintals in excess of the shipments for the corresponding period last year.

Our American Cousins.

Are much exercised about the "Almond Eyed" incursion of their Pacific Coast. One of their latest acts is the passage of a bill to allow no more than fifteen Chinese to come on any one ship into the country. They might as well pass an act that Lake Erie should not rise above so many feet, or that Niagara should not disgorge what it will over its falls. The Chinese could not do worse than this. Surely any country is wide enough to receive all who wish to come, and should be strong enough to make the unruly behave themselves, coming whence they may. The law of supply and demand will arrange the price of labor, and Legislatures cannot alter it. It is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. What folly it would be for our Legislature to declare that A, B and C may do business, while D, E and F may not. If all do an honest business there is no necessity for such a law, any law would be tyrannical that would so order. The fittest will survive. So in the medical world ; a preparation which is good will be sought and the bad discarded. This is why DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS are so popular.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF LAMENESS of twenty-five years' standing.—The second vice-president of the Excelsior Savings Bank, 23d street and 6th Ave., (Booth's Theatre) E. P. Lawrence, was lame for twenty-five years. Contraction of the muscles of the left leg—had no faith at first in the Liniment—was induced to try it from his knowledge of Dr. Giles, who is a scientific and able chemist, and who has never yet made a poor article. Seeing its good effects on others—tried it, and to Mr. L.'s surprise and satisfaction, the stiffness left the cords of his leg, and it became as elastic as the other.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly. "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

ART THOU LIVING YET?

[The following sweet tribute to a mother's memory is full of tender meaning, and is worthy of the poet singer who wrote it.—Boston Journal.

Is there no grand immortal sphere
Beyond the realm of broken ties,
To fill the wants that mock us here,
And drive the tears from weeping eyes;
Where winter melts in endless spring,
And June stands near with deathless flowers,
Where we may hear the dear ones sing
Who loved us in this world of ours?
I ask, and lo! my cheeks are wet
With tears for one I cannot see;
Oh, mother, art thou living yet,
And dost thou still remember me?

I feel thy kisses o'er me thrill,
Thou unseen angel of my life;
I hear thy hymns around me thrill,
An undertone to care and strife.
Thy tender eyes upon me shine,
As from a being glorified,
Till I am thine and thou art mine,
And I forget that thou hast died;
I almost lose each vain regret,
In visions of a life to be;
But, mother, art thou living yet,
And dost thou still remember me?

The springtimes bloom, the summers fade,
The waters blow along my way;
But over every light or shade
The memory lives by night and day;
It soothes to sleep my wildest pain,
Like some sweet song that cannot die,
And, like the murmur of the main,
Grows deeper when the storm is nigh,
I know the brightest stars that set
Return to bless the yearning sea;
But, mother, art thou living yet,
And dost thou still remember me?

I sometimes think thy soul comes back
From o'er the dark and silent stream,
Where last we watched the shining track
To those green hills of which we dream;
Thy loving arms around me twine;
My cheek blooms younger in thy breath,
Till thou art mine and I am thine,
Without a thought of pain or death.
And yet, at times, my eyes are wet
With tears for her I cannot see—
Oh! mother, art thou living yet,
And dost thou still remember me?

Two halls, for the education of women, have been founded at Oxford, in imitation of Girton College, Cambridge. An association has been formed, funds have been subscribed, and lectures on the modern and ancient languages, mathematics, logic, political economy and history are to be delivered regularly during term time.

The experiment of lighting the reading room of the British Museum by electricity seems to be perfectly successful. The smallest print was as legible as by daylight. The room is a vast circular apartment.

Lord Chelmsford has been haranguing the troops under his command. He attributed the disaster at Isandula to the fact that the British soldiers lost their formation and were badly supplied with ammunition.

Fishermen make queer hauls sometimes. A St. Ives (Cornwall) fisherman found in his nets—in addition to 100 mackerel—400 gulls, kittiwakes and "murrs," so at least says the Cornishman, without attempting to explain how they got there.

The story that Lord Lytton, Viceroy of India, gave a gold medal to Miss Cooke, a circus rider, is officially denied. The medal was prepared as an advertising dodge, and the young woman has been compelled to erase the inscription upon it.

A masquer, during the Mi-careme sports in Paris, excited much amusement by appearing in the guise of Prince Louis Napoleon, but one of the fiery Bonapartist editors of the Pays fell upon the joker, pulled his mask off and beat him severely.

The Metropolitan Board of Works have resolved to continue for another three months the experiment of lighting the Thames embankment by electricity, on an understanding with the Electric Society of Paris that the cost is not to exceed 5d. per light per hour.

Dean Stanley recently preached a special sermon to the troops at the Garrison Church, Woolwich, from the words, "And the soldiers said, 'What shall we do?'" He urged the men to do their duty, and he spoke admiringly of the British soldier and the heroic defence at Rorke's Drift.

The name of Mr. Norman, Deptuy Town Clerk of Hanley, England, has been stricken from the list of members of the Conservative Association of that place because he refused to rise when the health of Lord Beaconsfield was proposed at a tripe supper.

A young Japanese, fifteen years old, born a Buddhist, has been received as a convert to Roman Catholicism, with great pomp and ceremony, by Mgr. Caverot, Archbishop of Lyons, who in the cathedral baptised, confirmed and gave him his first communion on the same day.

Marshal MacMahon at least did not make money in office. On the contrary, while President he expended $100,000 annually of his private fortune, and his fine estates are all mortgaged. Notwithstanding this fact he has resolutely refused a gift from the National Exchequer.

At the Galway Assizes the Grand Jury awarded £20 compensation to Mr. Henry Blake, of Glenloe, late High Sheriff of the town, for malicious injuries done to his house on the occasion of his marriage with Mrs. Mullarkey. He had claimed £1,000, and he traverses the presntment.

Christiania has been the scene of riots which compelled the intervention of troops. They arose in consequence of a motion made in the Storthing, or Diet, by some advanced liberals, to restore to Norway her separate commercial flag, which, many years ago, was abolished by an ordinance of the King, without legislative sanction.

A similar case to that of the Russian Colonel Basilewitch in Berlin is announced from Wiemar, where a lady of high rank has been sentenced to three days' imprisonment and the costs of the prosecution for stealing an article which she declares found its way into her pocket by accident while purchasing at the shop of the prosecutor. She has appealed against the decision.

Mrs. Annie Besant has been unfortunate of late. Her application for a judicial separation from her husband has been denied; the injunction asked for by Mr. Besant to prevent her annoying him—that is, trying to see her children—has been granted, and Lord Thurlow recently refused to act as President of the National Sunday League unless she withdrew from the position of Vice-President.

Russian Nihilists are as unscrupulous as they are audacious. It would be difficult to imagine anything more savage than the following letter sent to Baron Drentolon, who escaped assassination a short time ago: "We know that you do not fear death, but we also know that there is in this world a person whom you love passionately. It is your daughter. The committee have, therefore, decided to kill her in your stead."

Mr. Kelleher, of the Cork Farmers' Club, gave a warning the other day which must deeply affect both the farmers and landlords. He said the Canadians were now making arrangements to send daily a cargo of cattle and sheep; not a weekly supply, but one daily. For a commencement they had 500,000 sheep to begin with, and 250,-head of cattle. Here, then, is a consideration for landlord and tenant. Formerly, said Mr. Kelleher, there were three mills in my district grinding oatmeal for the support of the paupers, but now every pound of that article sold in Cork is manufactured in Canada.

Prince Gortschakoff's fides achates is Baron Hamburger, a Pole, of Tcherniyoff, who years ago went to St. Petersburg as a teacher of languages. Subsequently he entered the Asiatic department of the Foreign Office, where linguistic attainments are in great request, and he gradually came to be the secretary of the Prince. The famous despatch denying the claim of the Western Powers to interfere on behalf of the Polish rebels is one of his best known achievments. He has twice written nearly all the more important despatches in the same clever and cunning style. No man ever excelled him in vindicating the actions of Russia. Baron Hamburger is small in stature, and humpbacked.

The London Examiner says:—"Certain of the American journals are jubilant at the prospect of the supremacy in cotton manufacturing industry departing from us to their advantage. They point out that betwen 1860 and 1878 the falling off in our share of the world's trade in this respect has been 8.8 per cent—that is to say, in 1860 49.4 per cent (or nearly one-half) was carried on by us, and in 1878 but 40.6 per cent. In the same period their advance has been 3.5 per cent, while the Continent has gained 2.2 per cent, and India, which had no local industry at the earlier date, takes 3.1 per cent of the whole. The Americans boast of the supremacy of their machinery, and allude to the well known fact that we have been adulterating our goods. We are inclined to think that our Lancashire manufacturers will rather be stirred to action than intimidated by these boasts. We have before now pointed out the danger which this important industry is incurring through the short sighted policy of some of those who work it; but a return to former sound principles will redeem our prestige, which had been weakened but not lost."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 17.

"Fiat Money."

The irredeemable paper currency craze, which blazed up in the United States at the elections last autumn, but which then received an extinguishment which seems to have settled it, has been seized hold of by a few individuals in Canada, and of late has formed the theme of a considerable amount of discussion in the press. "Give us plenty of money," cry the apostles of this financial heresy, "and the country will become prosperous," and their plausible theory finds a hold in the minds of many people who, suffering from the hardness of the times, would under other circumstances see the fallacy of the idea. The advocates of this absurdity fail to appreciate the fact, which experience has taught the people of the United States, that a plethora of money does not mean national prosperity, unless that money be of standard value, which paper money of itself cannot be, unless it has a tangible and reliable specie basis. The Montreal Journal of Commerce—a very high financial authority—very cogently points out that when it became necessary to introduce paper currency into the United States, the Government of that country required the customs and other duties to be paid in gold, so as to obtain the means of discharging the national obligations in the only currency that the public creditors will accept. Even with that wise reservation, the result was little short of disastrous, but the Canadian advocates of "soft money" disdain any such restriction. The journal referred to further very properly declares that "this is not the time when the public credit can be trifled with; and if the least suspicion were to be entertained in England that the Parliament of Canada contemplated an issue of inconvertible paper money, the credit of the Dominion would be irretrievably destroyed." Beside the injury to the public credit, the scheme would bring forth no end of evils to private creditors, for "the practical effect of it would be to enable every debtor to swindle his creditors to whatever amount might be the difference between gold and the new currency;" and the issue being gradual, "no man could tell from day to day what would be the value of the currency in which he would be paid, either for his labor or for his goods, or for the debts due him."

The conclusion to which the Journal comes is that the scheme surpasses in absurdity any of like nature which has found expression elsewhere, and in this opinion we heartily coincide. The object which the advocates of this idea profess to have in view is to secure the construction of the Pacific Railway and public works in the North-West; but to subject the people of the country to all the losses and inconvenience which such a scheme would entail would make our position far less advantageous than it is now. Better by far to "make haste slowly" in the prosecution of the great national enterprises which have been undertaken than to court a repetition of the experience of other countries in dealing with rag money. The movement so far has attracted but little attention in the Dominion, and in due time those who are agitating it will become convinced that their ideas will not go down with the masses of the people, and drop the useless discussion which they have originated.

The Dairy Interest.

In the last Ontario Official Gazette there are four notices issued from the Provincial Secretary's office, of the incorporation of Companies for the manufacture of Cheese and Butter and of Butter alone, with a capital varying from $3,000 to $6,000. It is gratifying to see our farmers waking up to the necessity of a change in the manner of manufacturing butter. It is notorious that fully one-third if not one-half of the butter that comes into the market here, and we presume everywhere else, is unfit for the table. It is either too fresh, or has too much salt, is strong or rancid, is of many colors, or is tasteless, and the seller is often compelled to take from ten to five cents less a pound for it than the market price for good butter. With the adoption of the factory system, all this would be changed—a superior and uniform quality would be obtained, and consequently a better price. In several of the United States, and wherever they have been established, an improvement in the quality of the butter from that state has shortly followed. We hope that some of our enterprising farmers in this county will take steps towards establishing a Butter factory, and thus give the question of its value a test.

—The Kindergarten system is to be introduced into the Ottawa Public Schools.

The Reference to England.

The leading organ of the Grits and some of its confreres, disappointed that, by the reference of the Letellier case to the Imperial authorities, they are to be bereft of material for the manufacture of a first-class "outrage," have of late been almost frantic in their denunciation of Sir John A. Macdonald and his colleagues. The Toronto Telegram, the independence of which is well known, gives this class of journalists the following sharp and well deserved reproof:—"If the Globe would get out of its hysterics for five minutes and look at the facts, it would see that as the case stands at present there is no reason for believing that Sir John Macdonald has been guilty of any double-dealing or even of any inconsistency. He advises the Governor-General to dismiss Lieut. Governor Letellier. The Governor-General, say, replies that he will not reject Sir John's advice, but that as the question is new and grave—as it seems to affect not only the position of the Lieut. Governor but that of the Governor General, and possibly that of the Sovereign herself, he should like, before giving his answer, to refer the matter home. Sir John feels that he cannot refuse to acquiesce. Constitutionally speaking, he is responsible for his acquiescence, and in that sense he may be said to advise the reference home. But his personal advice has been immediate dismissal; the reference home is really the act of the Governor-General, which he considers it, under the circumstances, impossible to forbid—as we strongly suspect Mr. Brown would likewise. At all events, let us wait for ten days—our patience will probably be taxed not longer—and see how the case turns out. If it then appears that Sir John Macdonald has played fast and loose, it will be in order to call him a coward, a traitor, a dastard, a liar, a trickster, a betrayer of everybody, a corrupt intriguer and a rhomboidal parallelogram."

—The total wool clip of the world in 1878 was about 1,497,500,000 pounds, worth $150,000,000. This, when scoured, would yield about 852,000,000 pounds of clean wool. The clip of 1878 was smaller by 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 pounds. The clip of Australia reaches annually about 284,000,000 pounds; that of Buenos Ayres and the River Platte, 223,500,000 pounds.

—In September last the daughter of a rich farmer near Toronto, while attending school, became acquainted with a young man in the employ of Mr. Lucas, builder, and secretly married him. Two weeks ago he deserted her, and is at present, it is supposed, in Manitoba. He took away his wife's trunk and $1,200, the proceeds of a farm belonging to her. To effect the sale he must have forged his wife's name.

HANLAN AND HAWDON IN TRAINING.

English Opinions as to their Merits.

The following special from Newcastle appears in the Globe of to-day:

NEWCASTLE, April 16.—Edward Hanlan is doing well, and is engaged in daily practice, and shows good form. He is now in fair condition, the trouble caused by the cold and boil from which he was suffering having passed away. Messrs. Ward and Davis have arrived at Newcastle, and are paying all attention to the training of the champion. There is no betting.

The following special appears in the Mail:

NEWCASTLE, April 16.—The past few days have been bleak and windy and decidedly unfavorable to training for a big boat race. Still both Hanlan and Hawdon have been doing a fair amount of work, and beyond the fact that their practice has not been as comfortable as it might have been had the clerk of the weather been in a little pleasanter mood, they do not appear to have suffered much. Both are in good health and rowing well. Hawdon has shown considerable improvement within the last day or two, and has greatly increased the confidence of his principal supporters, who from the great reports they had heard of the Canadian, were at one time a little disposed to fear for the result. Now, however, they are very sanguine. Hawdon is working with the greatest determination, and evidently will not succumb without a tough struggle. He says very little, but appears calmly confident. There can be no no doubt but that he is very fast, and can stay over a long stretch, but still connoisseurs outside of his immediate friends do not fancy him very much for this race. They think he requires time for development, and that in another year or two he will row behind no sculler living. But at present they seem to be of the opinion that Hanlan has him well in hand. The Canadian, who is now under the personal supervision of Messrs. Ward and Davis, of the Toronto Hanlan Club, also shows some improvement, but Tynesiders are still somewhat dissatisfied with his leisurely method of moving, and think that if he is to be ranked in the first-class his stroke should be more rapid, though even with the present rate he makes his shell travel quickly through the water. His use of the slide and the way in which he balances his boat are greatly admired. The one defect in the eyes of Englishmen is his slow movement.

On Monday he tried the new shell received last week from Judge Elliott, of Green Point. He expresses himself pleased with her, but did not seem altogether satisfied. To-morrow he will have another new boat launched from the yard of Messrs. Swaddle & Winship, at Scotswood, and next week the craft that Mr. Robert Jewett is building will probably be ready.

Latest from Manitoba.

WINNIPEG, Man., April 16.

The Hamilton party under Mr. Crawford arrived here last night.

Property in Selkirk has advanced in price 50 per cent. on account of the railway prospects.

People are squatting on the Government town plot at Selkirk Junction.

The upper Red River is very low just now.

For Manitoba.

A party of farmers from the north left Colborne by train yesterday for Manitoba to take up land.

Another batch of emigrants from the Ottawa Valley will leave for Manitoba and Dakota on Tuesday next.

A party of emigrants destined for the North-West under the direction of Mr. J. M. Taylor, from the line of the L. H. & B. railroad, left London yesterday morning at one o'clock. They were joined there by J. H. Wood's party from Woodstock, numbering about fifty. The party took ten car loads of live stock.

THE LETELLIER MATTER.—An Ottawa despatch says:—"Hon Mr. Joly, Premier of Quebec, and Sir Francis Hincks are to go to England immediately with reference to the Letellier business. It is probable that they will reach London in time to hear that the Imperial Government has refused to interfere."

TREE PLANTING.—What are Canadian railways doing in the way of planting timber along their lines for future forests? This is the question asked by the Farmer's Advocate. United States roads are enhancing the value of their property by tree-planting along their line of track, one Kansas Railway having planted 460,000 trees in 186 acres. Apart from the future benefit of the country, this protects the track from drifting snow.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FISHERIES.—A return brought down to the Commons shows the value of the British Columbia Fisheries for 1878 to be $925,766.98, as against $583,432.76 in 1877, an increase in favor of 1878 of $342,334.22. The report of Mr. Anderson, the local Inspector of Fisheries in that Province, says everything indicates most cheering prospects for the fisheries and other industries of the Province.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—An Ottawa report says:—"An accident of a most painful character occurred at the Gatineau Point yesterday. It appears a blind man named St. Jean picked up an axe with the intention of breaking a piece of wood. He arranged the wood to his satisfaction, and then raised the axe. In the meantime a little girl approached him noiselessly and instead of striking the wood he hit the unfortunate little creature on the side of the head, inflicting a terrible wound. The poor man was terribly agitated over the affair. Medical aid was at once summoned, but it is feared that the injuries will prove fatal."

A railroad company suspecting dead heads put a detective on the track. One day he heard a passenger remark that it was very easy to go from B—— to D—— without a ticket. He watched the speaker and was surprised to see him hand the conductor a ticket. Getting into conversation with the passenger he said, "I'd like to know your plan for travelling without a ticket, and don't mind giving you a couple of dollars for it." "Done," said the man, pocketing the bill. "When I want to travel without a ticket I walk."

The March of the Ekowe Relief Column.

A Strong Force Sent Against the Enemy.

THE LATEST NEWS FROM COL. PEARSON.

LONDON, April 16.—A correspondent with the relieving column for Ekowe telegraphs from Inyeni River, March 30:—The relieving column after the first day's march entrenched here, nine miles north of Tugale river. On mustering to proceed the following morning, March 29th, one captain was missing. It is supposed he went behind the guards and was cut off by the Zulus during the night. The Zulus have been seen watching the advance from the distant hills, but no fighting is expected until April 1tt, as Col. Pearson signals that the Zulus are concentrated near Ekowe. It is intended to relieve the present garrison at Ekowe with a battalion of the 60th Regt. The garrison will have ample provisions to hold out till the grand advance is made on Undini.

A despatch from Pietermaritzburg announces that martial law has been proclaimed in consequence of the exorbitant charges for means of transportation.

Lord Chelmsford telegraphs that the latest reports say the Zulus refuse to assemble by regiments, but will defend their own districts. The number of the enemy around Ekowe is estimated at 15,000

A despatch from Pietermaritzburg says the force which recaptured the cattle from Colonel Wood was 20,000 strong. In the fighting on the day on which these cattle were retaken Col. Wood's column suffered considerable loss, which is not included in the estimate given in the previous despatch. Nearly all the natives deserted. The loss of Zulus in the subsequent attack on the camp was immense. The official report of Col. Wood confirms the statement that the Zulus who attacked him numbered 20,000. The British lost 77 killed and wounded when the camp was attacked. The Zulus in this attack were entirely defeated and pursued a considerable distance.

The Ekowe relief column is moving by the road which passes through the open country.

A Capetown despatch states that Lord Chelmsford has detained Cetewayo's messengers, promising to send his terms from Ekowe.

A strong force of colonial troops had crossed the Orange River to punish the Griqua Chief.

FROM BRUSSELS, ONT.

Destructive Fire.

BRUSSELS, April 17.—A destructive fire broke out this morning at 4:45, in the store occupied by Good & Co., totally destroying Fishleigh's block. Had it not been for the valuable service of a new steam fire engine, the best business part of the town would have been destroyed. The following are the losses as near as can be ascertained: Good & Co., loss, $10,000; insured in the Western for $1,000; Scottish Imperial, $2,000; Gore, $1,500; Citizens, $1.500. Fishleigh, loss, $3,500; insured for $2,000 in the Western. Tait, loss, $700; insured for $325 in the Canada Fire and Marine. Buchan, loss, $200; covered by insurance. Frey, loss, $300; covered in the Canada Fire and Marine. Moore, loss, $200; covered in the Northern. Wright & McCurdy, loss, $200; no insurance. Masonic Hall, loss, $500; no insurance. J. R. Smith's loss is covered by insurance.

A Duel in the North of Ireland.

Some recent duels in France have happily tended to bring the last relics of the ordeal of combat into utter derision, but a recent encounter in the North of Ireland, in which a member of the House of Commons figured very prominently, suggests a novel adaptation of that proceeding. A Derry paper gave a lengthened description of the duel to which I now refer, but suppressed names, all of which are well known to me. Two Conservative gentlemen of an Ulster county, while enjoying the hospitality of the knight of the shire, quarrelled over the card-table, exchanging language not to be tolerated. The M. P. ordered both of them to retire but exacted from them a promise to meet next day at his house to give and receive satisfaction according to the code of honor. The meeting thus arranged came off, seconds and a surgeon being on the ground, and the weapons decided upon were naked fists. Several rounds were fought, the honorable member being second to one of the combatants, and after four hours' tough work it was declared to be a drawn battle. The whole party adjourned to the hospitable board of the county member, who declared himself proud to have two such constituents. What perplexes me is how the result affected the point in dispute, but it certainly bore as directly on the merits of the quarrel as if the parties had fought with pistols, swords, or Gatling guns.—London Correspondent of Sanders' Irish Daily News.

During a class-meeting held several years since by the Methodist brethern of a southern village, Brother Jones went among the colored portion of the congregation. Finding there an old man notorious for his endeavor to serve God on the Sabbath and Satan on the rest of the week, he said, "Well, Brother Dick, I'm glad to see you here. Haven't stole any turkey since I saw you last, Brother Dick?" "No, no, Brudder Jones, no turkeys." "Nor any chickens, Brother Dick?" "No, no, Brudder Jones, no chickens." "Thank the Lord, Brother Dick! That's doing well, my brother!" said Brother Jones, leaving Brother Dick, who immediately relieved his overburdened conscience by saying to a near neighbor, with an immense sigh of relief, "Ef he'd a said ducks he'd a had me."

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 17.

City and Vicinity.

POLICE.—Four tramps lodged in the cells last night, and one prisoner kept them company.

TO MASONS.—The attention of masons is directed to the fact that tenders for the mason work for the foundation of a block of shops to be erected for the Mayor will be received up to noon to-morrow.

BACHELORS' BALL.—The third and final one of the series of balls given by the bachelors of the city took place in the City Hall last night. There was a very large and fashionable attendance, and all passed off most pleasantly.

A SOMERSAULT.—As a gentleman mounted on horseback was proceeding down Front Street yesterday, the animal which he bestrode stumbled with such force that it turned a complete somersault. The horse and its rider escaped serious hurt.

EPISCOPAL METHODIST CHURCH.—The Niagara annual conference of the M. E. Church assembled at Strathroy on the 16th inst., Bishop Carman presiding. There were about 120 ministers in the Conference besides the laymen and visitors in attendance.

A FUTILE ATTEMPT.—A boy named William Babcock, who was wanted by the police last night, made an attempt to escape arrest by secreting himself in a chimney. The effort was futile, as, the youth's hiding place being discovered, he had to "come down" like Crockett's coon, and was duly lodged in the cells.

COURT OF CHANCERY.—The Court was occupied part of yesterday and the greater part of to-day with the case of Cameron vs. Ontario M. and M. Co. The case, which is alleged to be somewhat of the nature of the famous Tichborne case, engages the services of a large number of counsel, including the Hon. Edward Blake, Q. C., Mr. Moss, and a number of members of the local bar.

THE GRAND JUNCTION.—From a gentleman who has lately passed over the line of the Grand Junction Railway, we learn that work on the grading between Campbellford and Hastings is going on rapidly. Operations are retarded by the frost not being yet out of the ground, on which account the number of men employed is limited, although as many are engaged as can profitably be given work. The contractors, our informant says, appear to be very anxious to push forward the work.

A LONG TRAMP.—Mr. Lawson Huxley, who resides in the Township of Methuen, left his home, 107 miles distant from Belleville, for this city at 4 a.m. on Tuesday, the 15th inst. He carried on his back a bear skin weighing 16 pounds, and the Hastings road being in so terrible a condition that a horse could not travel over it, he struck out on his weary journey on foot. At 10 a.m. on the following day he reached Stirling, having walked the 91 miles, over roads the badness of which for about 70 miles of his way is almost beyond description, in thirty hours, including stoppages. This is an achievement which very few of the professional pedestrians could accomplish under similar circumstances. Mr. Huxley arrived in town yesterday and disposed of his bear-skin, which was one of the finest ever seen in this part of the country, to Mr. A. Dulmage.

HARPER'S MONTHLY.—The May number of Harper's Monthly is an excellent one. It opens with a continuation of the graphic "Sketches in Tyrol," and in other articles we are taken to "Picturesque Edinburgh" and "Street Scenes in Havana." The progress of "Sculpture in America" is well described and illustrated profusely. The paper on "The Ancestry of Brudder Bones," while very entertaining, contains much information. A paper on the "Philadelphia Zoo" contains a description not only of that institution, but of similar ones elsewhere. "The Practical Interrogation of Nature" gives an account of some remarkable experiments. "Church Music in America" and "A Kitchen Garden," give practical hints on their respective subjects. Dr. Whitcher and R. H. Dana have biographical notices. The serial novel "Young Mrs. Jardine" progresses, and there are one or two interesting short tales, besides several pleasing poems. The editorial departments maintain their reputation, "The Drawer" especially, containing a fund of amusing anecdotes.

"ENGAGED."—Mr. E. A. McDowell's favorite Dramatic company, which has been somewhat added to of late, will support Mr. Geo. F. Rowe, the famous comedian and character actor, in producing his own drama "Engaged" at the Opera House, on Monday evening next. The play was produced at the Grand Opera House, Toronto, on Monday, and the morning papers pronounce it an unqualified success, every part being capably filled. The Globe closes a lengthy review of the play and the acting as follows: "Hardly any intelligent man can watch the play without laughing immoderately at its absurd situations, but no thinking man can leave the house without feeling humiliated that so much of meanness and weakness can be found in what he is compelled to admit is a fairly truthful picture of modern society. Of the cast it is necessary to say but little. Mr. George Fawcett Rowe's rendering of the mean and weak Cheviot Hill was altogether above criticism; and of the excellent support it may be said, that they all looked and acted the characters assigned them to perfection. The weight of the acting rests mainly with the leading character already alluded to, and Belinda Treherne, the latter being taken with marked ability by Mrs. E. A. McDowell. Of the rest it may be said that there was not a solitary weak point in the cast, while the dressing and mounting of the piece was as nearly faultless as that of any play ever presented in Toronto." Seats can be secured at Reynolds' Bookstore.

Seasonable Topics.

The general expectation is that the ferry steamer will make her first trip before the close of the week.

The surface of the streets is drying rapidly, and the dust is becoming unpleasantly prominent.

One of the worst pieces of road in the city is on Bridge Street, fronting St. Thomas Church.

The sidewalks will need extensive repairs this year—take that on the north side of Bridge street, between Church and George Streets as an example.

A few swallows have been seen flitting about on sunny days of late. They doubtless regret having come prematurely to their summer resort.

Spring dresses will be made with short skirts, in order that the ladies may stand in street cars without soiling the boots of the gentlemen by the muddy edges.

Before the question, "Where shall we spend the summer?" is very extensively discussed, perhaps it would be just as well to catch the summer.

We do not believe there is another Town or City in Ontario that would allow its main business street to remain in the filthy condition in which Front Street has been for the past two or three weeks.

Now is the time to advertise your spring goods. Every live business man acknowledges the necessity, and sees the advantage, of making the newspaper his medium of communicating with the public.

Present indications favor the belief that at last the backbone of winter is fractured.

W. H. Vanderbilt's income is $1,000 an hour, which is as much as many of us receive in a whole day.

It does seem strange that the city authorities do not have Front Street cleaned. A dozen men with a couple of carts would take away in one day all the ice on the street, and thus allow the road to dry up.

The market was well attended to-day.

More "Staggering Bob" on the market to-day, and not the first attempt made by the authorities to destroy the vile stuff, and punish the persons selling it.

The appearance of green vegetables looks as though gardeners were rushing the season.

The almanac says this is spring, but we—would like to see more evidences of it. That's all.

The youth who leaves off his overcoat to enjoy a balmy spring is helping to pay off the mortgage on his doctor's house.

The small boy is now taken in by his bigger companion, who persuades him that a dilapidated jack-knife is a good trade for a nice new ball of string and four three-cent glass agates.

The number of young men who daily take sun-baths on the sunny sides of the streets is very large, and shows that numerous parents must find it a burden to provide for grown-up infants.

It is about time that the hand-organ with "Spring, Spring, beautiful Spring," and monkey attachment, put in an appearance.

Ah, he is coming! with weary step and to slow music. We have been expecting him along, for we knew he must be almost ripe. The man who knows that the peach crop is ruined by the frost, the sap being one long icicle in the centre of the tree, and the buds and branches black pulp and dead sticks, is crawling out like the prophetic ground hog to cast a shadow over every one he meets.

A South Bay despatch says a vessel under full sail can be seen outside of the ice this morning working down towards the Upper Gap of Kingston. It is expected the ice will not be out of the Bay for some days yet.

Snakes as Life Destroyers.

The loss of life in India due to the ravages of venomous snakes is almost incredible. Yet the disease which is as wily and deadly as the deadliest India reptile, is winding its coil around thousands of people while the victims are unconscious of its presence. It has long been a hobby with incompetent physicians to assume that consumption is incurable after the formation of tubercles has begun; and in every case they fail to effect a cure,—of course turbercles had begun to form and they were incurable. The records of medical science disprove any such theory. On the contrary, in cases of lung disease which had been cured and the patients lived forty and fifty years in robust health, post-mortem examinations showed large cicatrices (scars) where the tubercles had been formed and removed. The tubercles are removed by absorption into the blood. An efficient alterative, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, must be used to cleanse the blood of the scrofulous impurities. For turbercular consumption is only a form of scrofulous disease. Golden Medical Discovery is a sovereign remedy for all forms of scrofulous disease, or king's-evil, such as tumors, white swellings, fever sores, scrofulous sore eyes, as well as for other blood and skin diseases.

A NEW INLAND SEA.—General Fremont, who is now Governor of Arizona, wants the waters of the Gulf of California brought back to their old basin in Southern California. He claims that if this is done an inland sea will be created suitable for navigation about 200 miles long, 50 miles broad and 30 feet deep, and a desert region converted into a highway of commerce. He has submitted a plan to the Federal Government by which he thinks the work can be accomplished.

EUROPEAN.

The Afghan Campaign.

An Immediate Advance Ordered.

LONDON, April 16.—A Lahore despatch says:—The Civil and Military Gazette announces an immediate advance of the first division under General Maude has been ordered. General Appleyard, with the third brigade, remains at Jellalabad. General Browne, formerly commander of the first division, commands the army corps, with Colonel Coley, private secretary of the Viceroy, as Chief of Staff.

An expedition is also organizing against the Mahsudwaziri tribe.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

YANKTON, April 17.—A most important case brought by the Government against Dr. Livingstone, ex-Indian agent at Crow Creek Agency, resulted in an acquittal. The action was brought under an indictment charging with falsifying vouchers and thereby defrauding the Government.

TAYLORSVILLE, N. C., April 17.—Anderson Denny, colored, while entertaining a party in the street by playing a banjo recently, was wilfully shot dead by W. C. Teague, Revenue officer. He was arrested.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 17.—Two sneak thieves stole a package containing $5,000 from the State Treasurer's office yesterday, while that official was at dinner. The State Treasurer made the loss good.

NEW YORK, April 17—Washington specials: The Tribune says that the Stephens bill providing for the redemption of subsidiary silver, will probably meet no opposition on its merits. It is intended to relieve merchants and others of the flood of silver they take in.

The Times says that Fernando Wood is not popular with his associates on the Ways and Means committee.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

CAPE TOWN, April 1.—The plan for the relief of Pearson's command is to force a passage through the enemy's lines to Ekowe with all possible rapidity, exchange garrison, and provision the fort for a month and form another postion at Ingingzani Heights, leaving it supplied for a similar period. Perhaps the third post will be established at Inyoni river. The relieving column takes the coast road where there is little bush, and moves under the guidance of John Dunn, formerly Cetywayo's adviser. No tents were taken, each night there will be a bivouac and camp entrenched.

LONDON, April 17.—In the Elliott Courtney negotiations for a sculling match in America, Elliott says he will abide by any terms assented to ex-Mayor Liddell, of Pittsburg. He is not particular as to what water he rows upon. Should an agreement be reached by Liddell, the Courtney match may take place at the end of August or early in September.

The American horse Parole before yesterday was quoted at 40 to 1 for city and suburban handicap on the 22nd inst. at the Epsom Spring meeting. He is now the favorite for that race at 8 to 1.

LONDON, April 17.—Lord Derby, in replying to an invitation to attend a meeting of the Lancashire Conservative Association, of which he had heretofore been the President, writes: "I cannot longer act as a member of that body and have to request the withdrawal of my name from it."

BRUSSELS, April 17.—By the explosion of fire-damp in the Grippe coal pit near Mons, Belgium, the wood work of the shaft caught fire and fell in. 240 men were in the mine. It is feared many have perished.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 17.—There is a large number of colored southern refugees at Wyandotte entirely destitute, occupying churches and public halls. Many are sick from the exposure and are dying. The Mayor telegraphed to the Secretary of War for rations. The Secretary replied that applications should be made to the Congress Committee appointed to look after the sufferers, and issued a request for immediate aid for the sick, destitute and dying refugees. Address contributions to Northrup & Sons, bankers, Wyandotte.

MOORESTOWN, N.J., April 17.—This morning Christian Leslie shot his wife dangerously, then shot himself dead. Cause excessive drinking.

TUSCUMBIA, Ala., April 17.—The tornado at Pocahontas yesterday destroyed twenty dwellings. A number of people were injured and one man was killed.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The attendance at Gilmore's Gardens is very small; twenty-four out of forty pedestrians that started, have withdrawn. At 11:30, Panchot 292⅜ miles; Merritt, 286; Krohne, 278; O'Brien, 274¼; Dutcher, 266⅜.

S. E. BURWELL, of Fingal, Ont., writes:—Last autumn I was suffering from a severe cold which settled on my lungs and produced a distressing cough, for which I gave trial to a number of Cough Medicines, but without any benefit. I at last tried one bottle of Allen's Lung Balsam, which I am happy to be able to state gave almost immediate relief and performed a perfect cure in a short time.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

CAUTION.—Beware of any man who offers you an imitation article, no matter what it is, and says it is "just as good as the genuine;" they sell all kinds of "sham remedies" in this way upon the reputation of the Pain Killer—be sure and get the genuine made by PERRY DAVIS.

It is told of a young gentleman, whom a maiden liked but father didn't, that at a reasonable hour the old gent mildly intimated that the time for retiring had arrived. "I think you are correct, my dear sir," answered nineteenth century, modestly, "we have been waiting over an hour for you to put yourself in your little bed." Father retired thoughtfully.

Were man to conform more to the laws of health and of nature, and be less addicted to the gratification of his passions, it would not be necessary to advertise Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites as a restorative for the powers of the brain and nervous system, while the world's progress in enlightenment would indeed be marvellous.

A Public Benefaction.

The heart must be hard indeed that does not commiserate the abject wretchedness of the child when told that it must take a dose of Castor Oil. The aversion to the taste and smell of this most efficient and inestimable of laxative and cathartic medicines, seems to be universal, not only with children but with grown-up people. The chemist who could overcome these nauseous properties will ever be looked upon as a public benefactor. This has been fully accomplished by SCOTT & BROWNE in their PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. It is pleasant to the taste, and within the reach of all. Price, only 25 cents a bottle.

WEATHER REPORTS.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

MANCHESTER, MASS.

A Boston Physician says:—

"Since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

To the Electors of
NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN :—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers ; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals : Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road al'owances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

The Unsistered Sisters.

[Stevenson's New Annals of Edinburgh.]

The pair inhabited a single room ; from the facts, it must have been double-bedded ; and it may have been of some dimensions ; but when all is said it was a single room. Here our two spinsters fell out—on some point of controversial divinity belike ; but fell out so bitterly that there was never a word spoke between them, black or white, from that day forward. You would have thought they would separate ; but no; whether from lack of means or the Scottish fear of scandal, they continued to keep house together where they were. A chalk line drawn upon the floor separated their two domains ; it bisected the doorway and the fireplace, so that each could get out and in to do her cooking without violating the territory of the other. So, for years, they co-existed in hateful silence; their meals, their ablutions, their friendly visitors, exposed to an unfriendly scrunity ; and at nights, in the dark watches, each could hear the breathing of her enemy.

Never did four walls look down upon an uglier specimen than these sisters rivalling in unsisterliness. Here is a canvas for Hawthorne to have turned into a cabinet picture—he had a puritanic hero ; he could have shown them to us in their sickness and at their hideous twin devotions, thumbing a pair of great Bibles or praying aloud for each other's penitence with marrowy emphasis ; now each, with kilted petticoat, at her own corner of the fire on some tempestuous evening ; now sitting each at her window, looking out upon the summer landscape sloping far below them towards the firth, and the field paths where they wandered hand in hand ; or, as age and infirmity grew upon them and prolonged their toilets, and their hands began to tremble and their heads to nod involuntarily, growing only the more steeled in enmity with years; until one fine day, at a word, a look, a visit, or the approach of death, their hearts would melt and the chalk boundary be overstepped forever.

An Honorable Medicine Free of Charge.

Of all the medicines advised to cure any affection of the Throat, Chest or Lungs, we know of none we can recommend so highly as DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY for Consumption. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Hoarseness, tickling in the throat, loss of voice, etc. This medicine does positively cure, and that where everything else has failed. No medicine can show one-half so many positive and permanent cures as have already been effective by this truly wonderful remedy. For Asthma and Bronchitis it is a perfect specific, curing the very worst cases in the shortest time possible. We say by all means give it a trial. Trial bottles free. Regular size $1.00. For sale by Jas. Clark & Co., also L. W. Yeowams & Co., Belleville.

Life in Arkansas.

The town of Fayetteville was entered by a mounted band of 20 armed men on a recent Sunday. Several of them went to the public square, where both barrels of a shotgun loaded with buckshot were discharged into a window of the Sentinel office. The party then moved by the residence of A. P. Farmer, Reuben Carter and C. L. Summers, into all of which they fired shotted guns. The two parties joined near Summers', where they remounted and galloped off on the West Fork road. There is no doubt the party was composed of the men who a week or more before had threatened the town in revenge for the death of the desperado Reed, who was killed at the gaol. The State guards, after the pacific resolution of the citizens' meeting held by Reed's friends, had been disbanded, and this sudden attack in the dark found the city defenceless. A number of citizens, after their departure, armed and patrolled the town until daylight. Reed had killed several men, and only a short time before his death he made a foray into town and struck the mayor on the head with a pistol while attempting to maintain the peace. He was arrested and fined for this. The row in which he was killed occurred shortly after. Politics has nothing to do with his taking off.

Good Layers.

A prominent writer in poultry matters says: "For laying hens, select large, strong healthy birds, of the Leghorn varieties, with large square bodies, without regard to fine points, such as pure white flat earlobes, or very yellow legs, or combs with just five points, or plumage that is perfectly white in the white variety, or without a white speck in the brown. It is not that these points are detrimental to the health or the vigor of the birds, but a constitution has too often been sacrificed to them, which often results in a strain of enfeebled though handsome fowls. The Leghorns are acclimated American breeds, which originated from birds brought from the Mediterranean, and they have been improved in this country by circumstances that have given them a preeminent position for the farmer, when birds such as are above recommended are selected. Other breeds, or crosses from them, are much better than the Leghorns, or any other of the smaller breeds. Chickens that are the result of a Dorking cock and Bramha hens are larger and mature much earlier than the other. Moreover they are hardy, fleshy, tender and fine flavored. Houdans in place of Dorkins are also good to cross on Brahmas, or to breed with the first mentioned cross, as they keep up the size and quality. "Plymouth Rocks" are also a good table fowl, and are good to cross with the above.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be villain. American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon instrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of instrinsic excellence. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The worldwide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

—Advices from Cape Town state that Col. Wood's column had escorted more than 1,000 men, women and children from Oham's country unopposed.

Our American Cousins.

Are much exercised about the "Almond Eyed" incursion of their Pacific Coast. One of their latest acts is the passage of a bill to allow no more than fifteen Chinese to come on any one ship into the country. They might as well pass an act that Lake Erie should not rise above so many feet, or that Niagara should not disgorge what it will over its falls. The Chinese could not do worse than this. Surely any country is wide enough to receive all who wish to come, and should be strong enough to make the unruly behave themselves, coming whence they may. The law of supply and demand will arrange the price of labor, and Legislatures cannot alter it. It is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. What folly it would be for our Legislature to declare that A, B and C may do business, while D, E and F may not. If all do an honest business there is no necessity for such a law, any law would be tyrannical that would so order. The fittest will survive. So in the medical world ; a preparation which is good will be sought and the bad discarded. This is why DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS are so popular.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF LAMENESS of twenty-five years' standing.—The second vice-president of the Excelsior Savings Bank, 23d street and 6th Ave., (Booth's Theatre) E. P. Lawrence. was lame for twenty-five years. Contraction of the muscles of the left leg—had no faith at first in the Liniment—was induced to try it from his knowledge of Dr. Giles, who is a scientific and able chemist, and who has never yet made a poor article. Seeing its good effects on others—tried it, and to Mr. L.'s surprise and satisfaction, the stiffness left the cords of his leg, and it became as elastic as the other.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast. Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION
PURE COD LIVER OIL
WITH
HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price, 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

Messrs. Smith & Wilby, of Toronto, are making large additions to and putting a quantity of new machinery in their woollen mill at Weston.

A large piano-forte manufactory is being built in Kingston, by Weber & Co., of New York. They expect to employ two hundred and fifty hands.

At Point Edward, a large mill and elevator will be erected, this summer, by a Montreal Company. The elevator will have a capacity of 310,000 bushels, and the mill will turn out 500 barrels a day.

The Bracebridge Herald says:—Every day this week has witnessed large loads of machinery passing through this village on their way to be placed in new mills which have been, or are about to be, erected in various portions of the district.

With the fresh operations on the Grand Junction Railway, the resuscitation of the woollen fattory, and the building of Mr. Whyte's branch agricultural works, the Campbelford Herald looks for a fair amount of business being done in its village during the coming summer.

D.M. Ferry & Co., the well-known seed merchants of Detroit, have rented buildings at Windsor, Ont., and intend opening a branch house in that place. They are fitting up the premises lately occupied by Girdlestone, Orris & Co., as a pork packing establishment, and will be ready for business in a short time.

Bell are now enabled to give five per cent better terms to home customers than they were three months since. Besides doing a very extensive home trade, Messrs. Bell & Co. export a large number of organs.

Mr. Alex. Gartshore, of Hamilton, has received an order from the American gentlemen who have taken possession of the rolling mills in that city for the casting of twelve sets of rolls for merchant iron work. It is understood that the company will roll boiler plates, ordinary merchant iron, and may also engage in rail making. Between 250 and 300 men will be employed.

Messrs. Burrow, Stewart & Milne, of Hamilton, who have had their saddlery hardware manufactory nearly swamped by undue competition from American houses, are making preparations to carry on this department with renewed activity. They expect to be able in the course of four or five weeks to employ as many men as they did four or five years ago.

A glass manufactory is about to be established in the parish of St. Lewis, Kamouraska, by two gentlemen named McDonald and Rogot. St. Lewis has been selecting for the site of the establishment on account of the recent discovery in that neighborhood of rich deposits or beds of silica suited to that industry. It is expected that operations will be commenced in the month of May.

The Niagara Falls Hydraulic Company have invited tenders for the erection of a large flour and oatmeal mill on the banks of the river, within 100 yards of the Suspension Bridge. They also require tenders for the conveying to the banks of the river 300 horse power from an immense flume 600 feet long, now under contract. This flume will pass right under the Suspension Bridge and some distance above it. They have an application from a large manufacturing firm in Lockport to rent power for a cotton-batting mill, the negotiations to this end being nearly completed. Power has also been let for a mill for the production of woollen goods.

Science.

Scientists have discovered that the mummied bull in the Egyptian museum, London, is a species of our common ox.

An ingenious instrument has been invented by the use of which the action of the pulse is accurately measured and photographed!

There is a closer affinity between the brain and the body than most people realize. If you would stimulate the intelligence, make the body healthful by plenty of out-door exercise.

A gigantic pitcher plant (Nepenthes sanguinea) was exhibited at a recent meeting of the Linnean Society of London. It was nine inches in circumference and twelve inches in length.

At the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society of England last month, the gold medal of the society was presented to Professor Asaph Hall, the American astronomer, who discovered the moons of Mars.

Another sun-spot coincidence is noted, this time by Dr. Homstein, an Austrian meteorologist, who says that the strength of the wind, as registered at the city of Prague, is greatest when the sun-spots are most numerous, and least when they are fewest. He appeals to nearly a quarter of a million observations in support of his conclusions.

A profitable relation between the weather in England and Australia has been pointed out by Mr. Edwin Litchgeld, who states, as a result of many years of observation on the subject, that when there has been an extremely hot or cold or wet or dry summer or winter in Australia, the following similar season in England is to be characterized by the like extreme.

If an observer, provided with slips of bibulous paper, which has been dipped in a solution of iodine of potassium and starch, ascend a hill near the sea, while the wind is landward, he will find that the papers suddenly change their tint, becoming blue. This indicates a chemical agent in the atmosphere, called ozone. Its discoverer, Professor Shanbien, is also the discoverer of gun-cotton.

The Royal Commission on accidents in coal mines, lately organized in England, will have to report upon the comparative value of different sorts of safety lamps. An earnest controversy on this subject is expected; but there can be no doubt, we think, as to the wisdom of the suggestion that a better system of securing the locks of safety lamps is needed. Many an explosion has been caused by the carelessness of a minor who has been able to open his lamp for some trivial object.

Chloride of methyl in its liquid form is a powerful agent in the production of intense cold. A temperature of 55 degrees below the zero of the centigrade thermometer can be produced by means of its evaporation in the presence of a current of dry air passing through the liquid. Professor Roscoe, of Owens College, Manchester, announces that he has been able to freeze a mass of mercury by this treatment with chloride of methyl, so that he could hammer the hardened quicksilver just like so much lead.

It is well known to physiologists that a change in the relative proportion of the white corpuscles and the red corpuscles in the blood appears to be caused by taking food. Shortly after meals the number of white corpuscles is increased, if we may rely upon the view which has been mostly accepted on this subject. A different conclusion however has lately been reached by Messrs Curler and Bradford, two English investigators, who assert the fact to be that the red corpuscles increase in number and the white corpuscles decrease after food has been taken. Further observations in this field may throw some light upon the comparative efficacy of tonics of different sorts.

An Honorable Medicine Free of Charge.

Of all the medicines advised to cure any affection of the Throat, Chest or Lungs, we know of none we can recommend so highly as DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY for Consumption. Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Hoarseness, tickling in the throat, loss of voice, etc. This medicine does positively cure, and that where everything else has failed. No medicine can show one-half so many positive and permanent cures as have already been effective by this truly wonderful remedy. For Asthma and Bronchitis it is a perfect specific, curing the very worst cases in the shortest time possible. We say by all means give it a trial. Trial bottles free. Regular size $1.00. For sale by Jas. Clark & Co., also L. W. Yeowams & Co., Belleville.

Snakes as Life Destroyers.

The loss of life in India due to the ravages of venomous snakes is almost incredible. Yet the disease which is as wily and deadly as the deadliest India reptile, is winding its coil around thousands of people while the victims are unconscious of its presence. It has long been a hobby with incompetent physicians to assume that consumption is incurable after the formation of tubercles has begun; and in every case they fail to effect a cure,—of course turbercles had begun to form and they were incurable. The records of medical science disprove any such theory. On the contrary, in cases of lung disease which had been cured and the patients lived forty and fifty years in robust health, post mortem examinations showed large cicatrices (scars) where the tubercles had been formed and removed. The tubercles are removed by absorption into the blood. An efficient alterative, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, must be used to cleanse the blood of the scrofulous impurities. For turbercular consumption is only a form of scrofulous disease. Golden Medical Discovery is a sovereign remedy for all forms of scrofulous disease, or king's-evil, such as tumors, white swellings, fever sores, scrofulous sore eyes, as well as for other blood and skin diseases.

The Ontario Finances.

The claim which is put forth on behalf of the Mowat Government that the rapid increase of expenditure as compared with the receipts under their auspices, was due to the railway and surplus distribution, is so convincingly shown by the Peterboro' Review to be false, that we give its statement of the facts. Our contemporary states that according to Mr. Wood's last Budget Speech, the total amount paid out under the various Railway Aid Schemes, up to the close of 1878, has been $2,279,024, and for Surplus distribution $3,225,378, making in all the sum of $5,504,392. Against this, however, these gentlemen have received large sums from sources which were not open to, and did not aid in rolling up the surplus left by the Sandfield McDonald Government.

In the year 1873, by the act known as the Tilley Act, the Province of Ontario was relieved of the debt, which had at Confederation to be assumed jointly by Ontario and Quebec. Prior to this act, the interest of this debt, to the amount of $291,666, had been annually deducted from the moneys payable to us by the Dominion Government, so that since June 1873, our receipts have been greater by this sum annually, and amounting in the aggregate, to the close of last year, to $1,614,207. For this addition to our receipts, the Mowat Government can certainly claim no credit. Again the receipts of 1872 and 1873 were swelled by $602,665, the proceeds of the North Shore timber sale, less purchase money unpaid to the amount of $58,136, leaving a net balance of $544,529 as the proceeds of an unjustifiable job perpetrated behind the backs of the people's representatives. This was not ordinary revenue, indeed it should not be looked upon as revenue in any sense, as it was merely a conversion of capital from one form to another. Besides this, as may be learned from the report of the Commissioner of Crown Lands for 1872, a sum of $101,463, received from Woods and Forests in December, 1871, was not credited until January, 1872, and therefore properly belonged to the previous year, and to the receipts under the previous administration. Adding this to the previous sum, we have $644,992 of extraordinary receipts from this source under the Reform regime.

Again, the accumulated surplus of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald has been a fruitful source of revenue during the last seven years, and inasmuch as the revenue derived therefrom was only $389,000 in Sandfield's time, as against $1,502,617 during that of the present Government, and as this source of income has already decreased from $258,048 in 1873 to $156,251 in 1878, and must soon cease altogether, it would be manifestly unfair to their predecessors or to their successors to treat it as other than an extraordinary receipt, or in fact as other than a portion of the surplus left by Mr. Sandfield Macdonald.

Next, we have the receipts from the Municipal Loan Fund under the Mowat Act—$1,574,945, and as these receipts were obtained as part of the surplus distribution scheme, there can be no question about their being deducted from the amount distributed to the municipalities.

The receipts mentioned sum up thus:—

Under Tilley Act	$1,614,207
Timber Sales	645,992
Interest on Investments	1,502,617
M. L. Fund (new account)	1,574,746
Total Extraordinary Receipts	$5,337,562
M. L. F. and Railway payments	$5,504,392
Excess of payments over receipts, only	$166,830
We have already shown that the gross receipts from all sources from 1872 to 1878 inclusive, were	$20,031,187
Deduct from this the extra receipts we have named	5,337,562
Other revenue for the 7 years.	$14,693,625
Or an annual average of	2,099,089
Charging the Sandfield Macdonald Government with the annual income, the total for their four years and a half would have been	9,445,890
Their actual gross revenue was	9,902,130

Excess in Sandfield Macdonald's four and a half years only $465,240 more than the average income of the Mowat Government after deducting over five million dollars from their gross receipts. So that, charging both Governments with exactly the same annual income, the first accumulated a surplus in four years of $3,810,915, less the $456,240 of extra receipts above mentioned, making it $3,454,675, while the present Government, outside of their surplus and railway payments, have spent, over and above the same income, for practically the same objects, $2,838,085, less $166,830—$2,661,255!

An Unsuccessful Dodge.

When the division was taken in the House of Commons upon Mr. Mackenzie's amendment to the tariff, there were as a matter of course a number of gentlemen on both sides of politics absent, amongst others Mr. Doull, one of the members for Pictou, Nova Scotia. It so happened that a day or two before the vote was taken, a telegram reached Ottawa to the effect that the Pictou Board of Trade had held a meeting and had passed resolutions condemnatory of the tariff, whereupon the Grit press set upon Mr. Doull, accusing him of having shirked the vote for fear of incurring the displeasure of his constituents, and asserting that the Maritime Provinces were in a ferment against the National Policy.

These assertions, which had been bandied about for some days, have been most effectually disproved by Mr. Doull, who on the 16th stated to the House, as a matter of privilege, that he had been prevented by indisposition from recording his vote, which he manfully stated would have been in favor of the policy of the Government. He was about to proceed to give further explanations, when Messrs. Mackenzie and Holton endeavored to apply the gag by raising a point of order. This attempt to prevent the truth becoming fully known was, however, fruitless, as Sir John Macdonald took up Mr. Doull's cause with vigor, and, the Speaker ruling in his favor, the member for Picton proceeded, [illegible] of the Grit leader, to state the whole facts. From this statement it appears that this so-called meeting of the Pictou Board of Trade was not a legal meeting, as a number of members sufficient to form a quorum did not attend. Of the seven who put in an appearance, six were Grits, who, seeing a favorable opportunity for giving expression to their views, proceeded to transact business in contravention of the rules of their organization. It is not difficult to imagine the chopfallen appearance which the gentlemen who would have closed Mr. Doull's mouth presented when the whole facts were revealed, and the object of their efforts to gag that gentleman was made apparent. Thus another petty slander of the Grit press has been exposed, despite the unworthy efforts of their friends to suppress the truth, but we venture to say that few of the newspapers which gave currency to the false statements will give publicity to the correction. However, now that the true state of the case is known, Mr. Doull can afford to laugh at the impotent malice of his traducers, and the public of Ontario and Quebec will be the better able to gauge the assertions of the Grit press with reference to the reception accorded to the tariff in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, as Prince Edward Island has already spoken with thunder tones on its own behalf in that regard.

A Thrilling Scene. — The Montreal Star says of the break up of the ice bridge at that city on the 17th:—"When the ice commenced to move four teams were upon the Longueuil side crossing to Montreal. In a moment all was consternation on the shore, and the utmost concern was felt for the safety of the men. Uncertain which way to turn, the teamsters unharnessed the horses, and endeavored to escape to Montreal. Here they saw, to their terror, that they were cut off, and they turned to face the clear water between them and Longueuil. The inhabitants here had canoes in waiting, and these were quickly manned. It was with much difficulty that they were pushed past the masses of ice which blocked their way. But they eventually reached the floating ice, and soon men and horses were safe upon the Longueuil shore."

The Canadian Cattle Trade.—A despatch from Ottawa on the 17th says: "In the Committee on Immigration and Colonization to-day, Mr. Cramp, agent of the Dominion Steamship Company, was examined relative to the cattle trade. He advocated the appointment of an inspector by the Government to examine cattle coming from the north-western States, where, he said, no pleuro-pneumonia ever was known, in order to secure the removal of the embargoes placed on the trade by the recent Order-in-Council. The value of stock shipped from Montreal last year was two million dollars, giving freight payments of $500,000. There were 18,000 head of cattle and 41,000 sheep shipped last year, and the effect of the order was to deprive the Grand Trunk Railway of a carrying trade worth $30,000 per annum. He was of opinion that the Order-in-Council should be modified, or we would lose the North-west cattle transport trade."

Parliamentary Printing.—The Ottawa Free Press of the 17th says:—"The Printing Committee met this morning and opened tenders for the printing, binding and paper. There were fourteen tenders in all, but one was struck off on account of having been received too late. The tenderers were: P. Boyle, Hamilton Spectator Printing Company, Wm. Angus, McLean, Roger & Co., C. H. Mackintosh, James Hope, John Lovell, A. Buntin, A. S. Woodburn, E. J. Charlton, Barber Bros., A. Mortimer, and J. C. Boyce & Co., The lowest tender for the printing is apparently that of C. H. Mackintosh, the principal items being 20c. per 1,000 ems for composition, and 12½ cents for presswork. James Hope & Co., is next, his tender being 19 cents for composition and 15 cents for press work. The tender of the present contractors, McLean Roger & Co., is 25 cents for composition, and 18 cents for press work. For paper the tender of A. Buntin & Co., of Montreal, appears to be the lowest, and that of A. Mortimer the lowest for binding. The tenders, of course, are given in detailed form, and it is hard to say just what the relative position is. They were referred to a sub-committee to report upon."

Palatable Medicines.

Not many years ago all medicines were copious in quantity and nauseous to the taste. In the advancement of medical science, nauseous drugs have been made palatable and small doses have taken the place of large ones, until recently Cod Liver Oil, the greatest food and medicine in the world for the Consumptive or Emaciated invalid, has been intolerable to take. But in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with the Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda this has been entirely overcome, and it is as pleasant as sweet milk.

Chancery Spring Sittings.

Friday, April 18.

Cameron vs. Ontario Mining and Manufacturing Company.—This important case has engaged the attention of the Court for two entire days, the Vice-Chancellor finishing his judgment at nearly 8 o'clock last evening. The bill was filed to set aside a patent issued by the Crown for lots 56 and 57, free grant east-side of the Hastings road, Tudor, to John Wesley Wellington, and subsequent conveyance by him to the defendants, upon the ground that the issue of the patent to Wellington had been induced by fraud and perjury, of which the defendants had notice. The lands were located about twenty years ago by John Orton, who, having performed settlement duties, became entitled to the patent, and by the rules of the Department no one but him or his representative could get it. In 1864 Orton's wife went to England and in 1865 he went to Watertown, New York, intending to go on to England, there he met with an accident, was taken to the local Asylum and died. In 1872-3, when iron was at so high a price and the iron mines in our back townships were being eagerly sought after, the large deposit of iron ore on these lots attracted the attention of several, who applied to the Department to purchase. But the invariable reply was that the lands belonged to John Orton or his heirs. J.B. Maas & Co., an American firm, having a local agent named Wm. Coe, of Madoc, were desirous of securing this lot, and Coe applied to Ray, one of the plaintiffs, who had been negotiating on behalf of himself and the plaintiff, Hugh Cameron, with the widow of John Orton for his title, to purchase from or through him. Cameron had several months before this proposed to Ray that they should buy the Orton title, which they ultimately did, the deed being to Ray alone, but each paid part of the purchase money and expenses. In the mean time and before Ray got his deed from Orton's heir in England back, Wellington appeared upon the scene and resurrects John Orton, and a deed purporting to be from the original John Orton is produced by Wellington, dated September, 1873, executed at Brighton, and a patent demanded. But Mr. Coe, who was watching closely the proceedings at the Department, informed the Deputy Commissioner that he had the best of reasons for believing that the deed was a forgery, and the patent was stayed until Wellington produced a number of affidavits dated in November and December 1873, purporting to have been made in the town of Oswegatchie, St. Lawrence County, New York State, by old settlers on the Hastings road. Amongst others by John Lewis, and Mary Lewis his wife, and by Patrick Donoghue, sworn before two Justices of the Peace, Peter Hill and Richard Clark, and upon Wellington filing their affidavits the Deputy Commissioner required Wellington to corroborate the framers of the deed and affidavits by his own oath, which he did, whereupon the patent was issued to him and he immediately afterwards deeded to Maas, who subsequently conveyed to the Company. Considerable delay was experienced by Ray and Cameron in getting proper deeds from Orton's heirs in England, and it was not until 1876 that they were complete, and then Ray filed a bill in Chancery to have the patent and subsequent conveyance set aside. That Bill was dismissed by the Court on application of Maas upon the ground that it had not been served upon him in Michigan within the time required by the rules of the Court, and then the present suit was commenced. The defences raised compelled the plaintiffs to prove the death of Orton, who his heir was, and the execution of the deeds by such heir, nearly all of the witnesses required to prove these facts living in England or New York State. Two commissions had to be issued; as no one who knew him here saw him die, his death could only be proved by circumstantial evidence. It was proved by Joseph Bateman that in 1865 Orton went with him and Mr. Allan Campbell with a drove of cattle to Watertown, and there hired with one Henderson, a tile manufacturer. On a subsequent visit Bateman learned that Orton had gone into the asylum, and died there in December of that year. The then keeper of the asylum deposed that the John Orton who came into the asylum from Henderson's tile yard died there, and gave the plaintiff's agent a carpet bag and pocket book, which belonged to the same man. The pocket-book had the name "J. Orton" written on it, and the bag was identified by Bateman and Campbell as being like the one the John Orton had when they went with him, and Mr. Henderson, the tile manufacturer, gave the same agent a watch key which belonged to this John Orton he had hired and sent to the asylum, and Mrs. Orton in England identified it as having belonged to her husband. The evidence taken in England proved that there was a small scar on one of his arms below the elbow, occasioned by a burn from a hot iron in childhood. A similar mark was proven to have been on the arm of the John Orton who died in the asylum, and his age, as entered in the record the e, corresponded exactly with that given by the relatives in England of the veritable man, and the accounts and history of himself given to the superintendent of the asylum and Henderson corresponded with what was known of the real Orton. The evidence taken in Watertown also established conclusively that no such magistrates as Peter Clark or Richard Hill ever lived in St. Lawrence County, New York, and witnesses from the Hastings Road proved that there was no settler of the name of John Lewis there, and only one of the name of Lewis, whose first name was David. Sarah Dougherty was called, and said she was formerly the wife of said David Lewis, since deceased, and that her name was Sarah, not Mary; and Mrs Patrick Donoghue testified that in 1873, when the affidavits were dated at Oswegatchie, she and her husband were living in Detroit, and that he never went further east in the States than Buffalo. The evidence as to the fraud upon the Department was so overwhelming that the defendants did not offer a particle of evidence to supplant it, although Wellington was in the court room all day. The defendants submitted the point first, that John Ray in procuring the deeds from Orton's heir was acting as their agent, and contradictory evidence was given on this point; and secondly, that the deed given Orton's heir having been procured after the patent had issued, was void, as being in contravention of the law against champerty and maintenance. It was shown that a few weeks ago Ray had conveyed his undivided one-half interest to the defendants, and the court felt relieved from deciding on the contradictory evidence whether or no he was an agent for Maas in filing the deed, but held that it was clearly and without any contradiction proven that Ray was an agent for Cameron for a half interest in the property, and that the appointment by both being valid, he was as much bound to one as to the other—to Cameron as to Coe and Maas. Upon the same grounds it was held that as the deed to Ray passed the estate as well as the right to set aside the patent, the transaction did not come within the law relating to champarty and maintenance. The working up of the case involved a very large amount of labor—two commissions, one witness from Ohio, another from Barrie, another from Toronto, and a number from the Hastings road. To the commission from England were attached photograph copies of the letters and forged signatures filed by Wellington, and found by his wife spurious. The bill as against Maas and Coe was dismissed, but as against Wellington and the Company affirmed with costs, the patent being declared to have been procured by fraud, and ordered to be cancelled. Hon. Ed. Blake, Q.C.; Mr. Dickson and Mr. Fraleck for plaintiffs; Mr. Moss and Mr. Burdett for defendants. Geo. D. Dickson, Solicitor for plaintiffs, Belleville; Moss, Solicitor for defendants Coe, Maas and the Company; S. B. Burdett for Wellington.

(Mail's Special.)

London, April 17.

The Sportsman of to-day says the boat constructed by Swaddle & Winship, of Scotswood, for the use of Hanlan in his match against Hawdon, was launched yesterday in the presence of a large company of spectators. The weather was bright and warm, with little wind. There was scarcely a ripple on the river. The ceremony took place at 11 a.m. Amongst those present were Messrs. Ward of Toronto, Davis of Windsor, Coulson of Montreal, James Heasley, and John Bright. The boat is thirty-one feet 7 inches over all, beam eleven inches, height amidships 5⅜ inches, height forward 4 inches, height aft 2¾ inches, weight (fixtures included) thirty-one and a half pounds. The sliding seat has a run of sixteen inches, is lifted on Swaddle & Winship's improved system, and works on steel and lignum-vitæ. The boat is built of Mexican cedar.

Before the launch took place, Hawdon, with Percy and Kirton double sculling, rowed down against the flood as far as the Dunn Street ferry landing, whence he came up at racing speed to the suspension bridge. In the afternoon he had a good pull on the ebb to the head of the Meadows, in the company of the double scullers.

Hanlan and Bright left their boat house at 4, and rowed to Blaydon, whence they had a steady spell of rowing to the head of the Meadows.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

Wednesday, April 17.

In the House of Commons, after routine, Sir John A. Macdonald, in reply to a question informed the House that the Government intended to erect a monument to Sir George E. Cartier, as was determined in 1873.

Mr. Doull rose to a question of privilege, and denied he shirked the vote on the tariff, and stated that his absence was due to indisposition. He had been charged with shirking the vote because of a resolution passed by the Pictou Board of Trade, but he showed that the meeting of the board consisted of six Grit politicians and a chairman, who was the other way, and the resolution was carried by that charming combination.

Mr. DeCosmos withdrew his motion relating to the anti-Chinese petition, and substituted one providing for the appointment of a Special Committee to enquire into the alleged grievances. In his speech he proposed that no Chinaman should be permitted to exercise the right of a citizen, to be employed on public works or in vessels, to purchase or sell real estate, &c.

The Premier said the Government saw no objection to the motion passing.

The motion was carried.

A motion by Dr. Fiset asking for the papers respecting the dismissal of the station master at St. Cimon was after some discussion passed.

After recess, the House occupied considerable time in Committee on two private and public Bills, after which Mr. Casey moved the second reading of his "Civil Service Bill." He explained its provisions and the past history of the agitation, with the whole of which facts the public is conversant. The discussion was, however, brought to a close by an announcement from the Minister of Finance that the Government intended during the recess to consider the whole question and introduce a Bill remedying some of the evils complained of. The Bill was withdrawn.

Mr. McCarthy moved the second reading of a Bill to amend the Act to regulate the construction and maintenance of marine and electric telegraphs. After some discussion, during which Mr. Mackenzie objected to the passing of the Bill because it was calculated to establish a monopoly, the Bill was read a second time on a division of 54 yeas and 28 nays.

After several other public Bills had been advanced a stage, the House adjourned at 11:30 p. m.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills. They will right them.

Bishop Strachan School.—This popular institution for the higher education of young ladies is being very successfully conducted by Miss Grier, the lady Principal, to whom applications for admission must be addressed. See advertisement.

Opera House.—From advertisement in another column it will be seen that Mr. Geo. F. Rowe, supported by McDowall's "Shaughraun" company, will appear in his own play of "Engaged" at the Opera House on Monday night, and on Tuesday night in his drama of "Little Emly." Mr. Rowe is one of the ablest character actors now travelling.

Agricultural.—Although the weather continues dull and unpleasant, farmers whose lands lie high are taking advantage of the prevailing dryness to sow barley, a large acreage of which has been sown within a few days past. It seems probable that the area of barley planted this season will be fully equal to, if not greater than that of last year.

The Little Birds.—Remember the little birds that have just come from the sunny climes to make our spring time bright and cheery with their melodies. Let every one put in a plea for these songsters of the grove, and see that they are not destroyed. They are the farmer's and gardener's best friends, and help to fight the worms and insects.

Concert To-Night.—A grand concert and tableaux vivants, in aid of St. George's Church, will be given in the Opera House to-night. The best of local talent has been secured, also several vocalists of reputation from Toronto and Kingston, and the entertainment promises to be one of the best ever given in the city. It is for a most worthy object, and we hope that the attendance will be large.

The Fire Tournament.—The Kingston News says:—"Chief Young, Secretary of the Dominion Firemen's Association, is in correspondence with the Cobourg authorities relative to holding the next tournament there. If $1,500 can be raised it will be held there. Belleville couldn't raise the wind." This is another instance of news from a distance. So far as we can learn, no effort was made to procure funds for holding the tournament here, nor was it desired by the principal officers of the local Fire Brigade that it should be held in this city.

New Peddling Waggon.—The old-fashioned, unwieldy peddling waggons of our forefathers' time are pretty much done away with, their place being taken up by vehicles much lighter in build and altogether more convenient. We were shown a very neat peddling waggon yesterday, fresh from the shop of Mr. W. P. Hudson, of Roslin, where it had been built for Mr. Paterson, of Brantford, who does a large cracker trade in this county. The waggon was built for the use of Mr. Paterson's traveller, Mr. M. Y. Legate, and is fitted up on platform springs with covered top, and in every part has been constructed with a view to economy of space and convenience. The waggon is a credit to the enterprising manufacturers.

The Grand Junction.—The Campbellford Herald says:—"The site for the station in this village has been selected, and the preparation of the grounds is now being proceeded with. Its location is on the Cummings estate, on Sebastopool street, just under the hill, a lot west of the residence of Mr. T. McKelvie. Mr. Ferguson, the gentleman engaged building the road, says it is as convenient a spot as could be chosen, and that for a grain storehouse, it will offer unequalled advantages. Grading is going on rapidly, and there are now about one hundred and twenty men at this part of the work alone. With those employed on the bridge, the number of workmen, we believe, will shortly reach one hundred and seventy-five."

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

Physicians having Consumptive patients, and having failed to cure them by their own prescriptions, should not hesitate to prescribe Allen's Lung Balsam. It has cured cases where all other remedies have failed. It is harmless to the most delicate child.

North Hastings.

(From the Madoc Review, April 16.)

Unsafe.—Notice is given by the County Surveyor that the Deer Creek bridge, over the mill pond, Madoc, is unsafe for heavy loads or rapid driving.

Serious Accident.—On Friday last an accident occurred to Mr. B. C. Sills, which it was feared for some time would prove fatal. He had been out driving, and alighted from his buggy to take out the bars leading into his own premises. Before he succeeded in this, however, the horse rushed in and endeavored to jump over the bars, when Mr. Sills was knocked down, the horse either striking or trampling on him, inflicting internal injuries, so that he was rendered unconscious, and was therefore unable to tell clearly how he was hurt. Dr. Sutton's services were immediately secured, and although his patient's condition was at first considered doubtful, we are glad to learn that he is since recovering.

Another Accident.—Mr. Richard Brooks, while attending on a circular saw in Chard's saw-mill, on Monday last, had the top of the first and second fingers of the right hand cut off, and the third badly lacerated. He was lifting an armful of edgings from the saw when one of the pieces from some cause or other struck him over the fingers with the above result. It was supposed by some that the fingers must have come in contact with the saw, but Mr. Brooks affirms his hand was two feet from the saw at the time, and that it was the piece of edging that inflicted the injury.

Oddfellows' Celebration.—The Madoc Lodge of Oddfellows have made arrangements for celebrating the anniversary of the Order on Monday, the 28th inst., in this village. The Belleville lodges, accompanied by their fine band, will arrive here by special train on the B. & N.H. Railway about noon. At 1.30 p.m. a procession will be formed at their Hall, and march through the principal streets, headed by the handsomely uniformed band of the Society, to the Masonic Hall, where a sermon will be preached at 2.30 by Rev. R.W. Marsh. In the evening a concert will be given by the Belleville band, assisted by the best available local talent, which we have no doubt will eclipse anything of the kind given in this village for some time.

The Archangel Chief of Police Stabbed.

MARTIAL LAW AT ODESSA.

The Czar's Assailant Confesses.

London, April 17. — The Daily News understands that very cordial communications were exchanged between the Czar and Earl Beaconsfield after Solovieff's attempt. The Czar, replying to Lord Beaconsfield's congratulations, expressed his belief that the preservation of good feeling between Russia and England was essential to the bests interests of Europe, and he counted on Lord Beaconsfield for the maintenance of such feeling.

A Berlin despatch states that the Chief of Police of Archangel has been stabbed.

The Chief of Police of Yalta, in the Crimea, has been arrested as a revolutionist. The reported arrests at Charkoff and Kieff number several thousands.

Berlin newspapers assert that Russia has demanded the extradition of certain Nihilists from England.

It is rumored at St. Petersburg that Solovieff, the would-be assassin of the Czar, has confessed the names of his accomplices.

Another Berlin despatch states that Gen. Gurko, prefect of St. Petersburg has resigned, because of threats to assassinate him.

The Hamburger Nachrichten states that England has declined to accede to any proposal for the extradition of the Nihilists.

Marseilles, April 17.—La Petit Marseillaise says several Russian officers on furlough at Nice, Monaco and Marseilles have been recalled in consequence of the projected repressive measures since the attempt on the life of the Czar.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

St. Louis, April 18.—The name of Vicar General McMullen, of the Chicago Diocese, heads a list forwarded to Rome from which Bishop Foley's successor will be selected. McMullen's elevation is probable.

Hastings, Neb., April 18.—Olive and Fisher, charged with being leaders in the murder and burning of Ketchum and Mitchell, were found guilty of murder in the second degree. Sentenced to imprisonment for life.

New York, April 18.—D.J. Morrill, President of the American Iron and Steel Association, writes to the Tribune stating that whatever reason Vanderbilt had for purchasing English rails, economy was not one of them. He denies the assertion that the limit of wear for American rails is five years and accuses Vanderbilt of being opposed to the American steel interests.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

London, April 18.—The Times, commenting on yesterday's Bank of England's return, which shows a reserve of £9,000,000 higher than the corresponding period last year, says, money is gathering more and more into a stagnant mass in London markets. Were the people's minds at ease gigantic schemes and speculations would spring into being. The Government's requirements on behalf of India and South Africa are the most likely means now visible for absorbing idle money. There is no business enterprise, no confidence in business prospects, and a strong sense of insecurity in nearly all business departments which prevent a free employment of loans. There is able capital in mercantile affairs.

The appointment of Aleko Pasha as Governor of Roumelia for five years with the approval of the Treaty Powers is announced. An International Commission is to participate in the administration, and its functions are prolonged a year. It is hoped that the serious difficulties apprehended on the departure of the Russian troops a fortnight hence will be thus avoided. The Bulgarian Assembly will meet on the 27th inst. for the election of Prince.

Wells, Maine, April 18.—The town farm buildings were burned last night. Geo. Dykerman, keeper, and Emilus Hill, pauper, perished while endeavoring to save the stock. Loss $5,000. It is supposed to have been caused by a tramp who took lodging in the barn.

Washington, April 18.—The Secretary of the Treasury announces the proposal of a syndicate to take $150,000,000 4 per cents and $40,000,000 refunding certificates. A circular offering bonds for sale will be at once rescinded. The subscriptions made by other parties, previous to the receipt of the syndicate telegram last evening, amounted to $48,000,000. The Secretary states that the bonds will be divided between these subscribers and the syndicate, but is not prepared to present to the State the nature of the allotment.

Athens, April 18.—The Turks are fortifying the coast of Epirus, particularly in the neighborhood of Prevesa, and Turkish war vessels are cruising off the coast. These precautions are ostensibly to prevent the Greek incursions, but is believed to be really the consequence of apprehension of landing a band of Italians and Albanians in Epirus, with the object of securing Albanian autonomy.

Brussels, April 18.—Of 240 miners imperilled by the fire-damp explosion in the Agrappe coal pit, 89 have thus far been rescued.

The Pesth rivers, Maros and Koros, have again broken their dams in several places. Zerende has been destroyed, and the town of Arad endangered.

Dr. Deal, who is a Veterinary Surgeon of great skill, writes from Bowersville, Harrison Co., O.: I have given Perry Davis' Pain Killer in many cases of Colic, Cramp and Dysentery in Horses, and never knew it to fail to cure in a single instance. I look upon it as a certain remedy.

Hawley, picture frames, &c., stocks were damaged by the smoke; all fully insured. The building is owned by J. J. Perry. The damage will not exceed $1,000; fully insured. SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is Acute Catarrh or Cold in the Head. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of Chronic or Ulcerative Catarrh.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that Sanford's Radical Cure is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

To the Electors of
NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN :—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers ; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals : Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

Domestic Hints.

TO STAIN FLOORS A BEAUTIFUL BROWN.

Get from the paint store a can of burnt umber (two and a half poundsin the can; it comes all ready). Add to this quantity a quarter of a pound of burnt sienna, which brightens the color. Add half a teacupful of Japan dryers to each kettle of the paint, or can of paints. To thin the paint, take a gallon of linseed oil and spirits of turpentine, half and half. When put on the floor it should be as thin as water. Put on with a paint brush. The day after painting the floor varnish it. Get two pounds of No. 2 gum-shellac; dissolve this in three pints of alcohol in an iron or tin vessel closely covered. Stir it well and let it remain a night then strain it through a coarse cloth. It will require at least a gallon and a half of alcohol to thin this varnish enough for use. While painting the floor do not let your brush go to the bottom of the can or stir your paint; but when near the bottom of the can, thin it again and then use it.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE.

One ounce sheet isinglass, or eight or nine sheets of the transparent Russia isinglass; cut in small pieces, wash in cold water and dissolve in a cup of sweet milk. To avoid curdling care must be taken that the milk does not become too hot. Line the pans with sponge cake before commencing. Beat the yolks of four eggs with six heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, a trifle of salt and vanilla to the taste or sherry wine if preferred; whip to a stiff froth one pint of rich cream, and also beat stiff the whites of seven eggs; when the isinglass is all dissolved, strain it into the yolks, stirring briskly all the time; next, mix in very gently the whipped cream ; then leave it for five minutes to stiffen a little, and last of all add the whites, stirring lightly, and fill your pans and place in a cold temperature. The best way to dissolve the gelatine is to place the cup over a teakettle of boiling water.

TINWARE.

Every housekeeper may not know of what they are capable in the line of keeping their tinware in order. If a pan or any other vessel leaks, take a sharp knife and scrape the tin around the leak until it is bright, so that the solder will stick. Then sprinkle on a little powdered resin, and with your soldering iron melt it on. Do not have the iron too hot or the solder will adhear to that. After two or three trials you will do a job to be proud of. If you do not own a soldering iron, procure one by all means ; but when hard pressed, the knob on the end of the fire shovel or a smooth piece of iron will do, or you may hold a candle under the spot to be mended.

TRI-COLOR CAKE.

One coffee cup of white sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, whites of four eggs, two-thirds of a cup of sweet cream, one heaping cup of flour, half a teaspoon of soda, one of cream tartar. Make another cake the same, using yolks ; then another using red sand in place of white sugar. Bake in sheets, as jelly cake. Lay three sheets thus, the red in the centre, the yellow underneath, the white above. Lay them together while warm, putting jelly or cocoanut frosting between.

MOTHERS, THINK OF THIS.

The following suggestion is worthy the consideration of parents :—" Nervousness with a child is almost always a matter of the stomach. A crust of bread will usually put an end to the most obstinate perverseness. Children, for this reason, should never be allowed to go to bed, after a fit of crying, with an empty stomach. A bit of bread and jelly, or a cup of custard, will bring back smiles and happiness when all the moral law fails, and for the soundest of reasons."

BLACKING.

The following receipts for making blacking are taken from a reliable source : Liquid blacking: Rub well together one pound of ivory black in fine powder, three-quarters of a pound of treacle, and two ounces of sweet oil. Afterwards add one pint of vinegar, and the same quantity of beer. Paste blacking: Ivory black, one pound ; treacle, half a pound ; olive oil and oil of vitriol, of each, two ounces ; water, a sufficient quantity.

NANCY PUDDING.

Take any pieces of bread that may be left from making stuffing or from other dishes, cut it into very small pieces, and pour over it sufficient boiling water or milk to soak it ; then beat it smooth with a fork, and stir into it three ounces of fine moist sugar, a little nutmeg, the peel of a lemon grated, and half a pound of raisins or currants. Mix all well together with two or three beaten eggs, and bake it in a buttered pie-dish.

THE EYES.

Favor your eyes in every possible manner. If you sit down to write or to read, manage to do so in a way to bring the light over your shoulder. Do not front the light —that is very trying to the optic nerves, and will in time seriously injure them. A little care in this matter will give you good eye-sight ten years later in life than if you neglect such simple and easy rules.

RAZOR PASTE.

A razor can be kept sharp and bright at all times by using the following paste :— Emery reduced to an impalpable powder, two parts, spermaceti ointment one part, mixed carefully together and put evenly on a leather strop. This used daily to strop the razor before and after shaving, will keep it sharp for years. Grinding, or honing a razor, is hardly ever needed.

POTATOES.

To have your potatoes well done and mealy, they should be put into boiling water when first put on to cook, and when sufficiently done the water should be poured off, and the kettle kept carefully covered until ready to serve. Potatoes can be baked at a very short notice, if they be boiled first until partially done, then bake quickly. Five minutes is long enough.

EARLY RISING.

Of all apparently innocent habits, lying in bed is perhaps the worst. Amidst all the different habits through which people have attained to a long life, it is said that in this one respect, and this only, they have all agreed. No very long lived man has been a late riser.

HAIR INVIGORATOR.

Bay rum, one pint ; alcohol, one-half pint ; castor-oil, one-half ounce ; carbonate of ammonia, one-quarter ounce ; tincture of cantharides, one-half ounce ; mix them well. This mixture will promote the growth of the hair and prevent it from falling out.

SUET PUDDING.

One cupful molasses, one cupful suet chopped fine, one cupful milk or water, one cupful fruit (raisins or currants), one teaspoonful soda, four cupfuls flour ; put in buttered pail, cover tight, and steam three hours ; eat hot with sauce.

LEMON JUMBLES.

One pound of flour, one pound of sugar, five-eighths of a pound of butter, four eggs, the juice and grated rind of a lemon, and as little flour as will enable you to make the whole into small cakes with your hands. Bake quick.

FEATHER CAKE.

One egg, one cup of sugar, one tablespoonful of butter, half a cup of milk, one and one-half cups of flour, one teaspoonful of cream of tartar, half a teaspoonful of soda. This combination makes a nice cake. Eat fresh.

Our American Cousins.

Are much exercised about the "Almond Eyed" incursion of their Pacific Coast. One of their latest acts is the passage of a bill to allow no more than fifteen Chinese to come on any one ship into the country. They might as well pass an act that Lake Erie should not rise above so many feet, or that Niagara should not disgorge what it will over its falls. The Chinese could not do worse than this. Surely any country is wide enough to receive all who wish to come, and should be strong enough to make the unruly behave themselves, coming whence they may. The law of supply and demand will arrange the price of labor, and Legislatures cannot alter it. It is like the laws of the Medes and Persians, unalterable. What folly it would be for our Legislature to declare that A, B and C may do business, while D, E and F may not. If all do an honest business there is no necessity for such a law, any law would be tyrannical that would so order. The fittest will survive. So in the medical world ; a preparation which is good will be sought and the bad discarded. This is why DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS are so popular.

A WONDERFUL CURE OF LAMENESS of twenty-five years' standing.—The second vice-president of the Excelsior Savings Bank, 23d street and 6th Ave., (Booth's Theatre) E. P. Lawrence, was lame for twenty-five years. Contraction of the muscles of the left leg—had no faith at first in the Liniment—was induced to try it from his knowledge of Dr. Giles, who is a scientific and able chemist, and who has never yet made a poor article. Seeing its good effects on others—tried it, and to Mr. L.'s surprise and satisfaction, the stiffness left the cords of his leg, and it became as elastic as the other.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages ; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health.

Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle ; six bottles for $5.00.

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—" By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

BEN AZIM'S CREED.

In an old city under Eastern skies
There lived Ben Azim, whom men called the Wise

And all sweet youths on noble deeds intent
For golden counsel to Ben Azim went.

Thus in the silver silence of the night
The sage beheld a Brahmin, strong and bright,

And young as Neptune when his lover-hand
Caught back the waves from the enamored land,

Standing within the tent. "Master," he said,
"The way is long to seed the wiser dead ;

"Therefore I come to thee. Tell me, I pray,
What best sufficith for life's fitful day ?

"What dreams are whitest when the day is spent
And memory and moonlight fill the tent ?"

Then rare Ben Azim, loving wider brow
And broader gaze than puny spirits know,

Made answer: "Come, O Prince, the moon is high;
Beneath its shining thou shalt find reply."

He led him onward where a glistening pile
Of marble makes the solemn moonshine smile,

And willing winds may draw the curtain's fold,
And fair and ravishing the scene they hold.

Beneath a hundred prisoned moons swung low
In alabaster vases, glow on glow,

One lay in silken case, and smiled to see
The happy dancers in their graceful glee,

And sighed a little with the sighing lyre,
Whose lulling seems diviner than desire ;

And smiled again because his Nonrmahal
Answered with lifted, lighted eyes his call.

"No tumult save the viol's enters here,
Where cyclaymec and musk are atmosphere.

"No schemes make discord in that charmed air,
Where to be careless is the only care.

"And age shall wither and the dead leaves fall,
And still some amorous, fawn-eyed Nourmahal

"Will feed his heart. Roses and maidens die,
But love and bloom and fragrance are for aye."

The Brahim faced the teacher, with surprise
And swift reproaches in his eager eyes.

"If this be life, I comprehend," he said,
"The smile upon the faces of the dead."

Ben Azim's glance grew fond. "I do not say
Brahma hath left us no more royal way ;

"But they who choose it walk with unshod feet,
As one I know walks yonder stricken street,

"Where dying children, feeling his caress,
Take it for their dead mother's tenderness ;

"And men the plague had crushed are men again,
His courage being stronger than their pain.

"Poorer than lean pariahs, none may leave
A gift 'twould make him richer to receive,

Whose empty hands fall free of selfish cares ;

"And he who only prays for other men
Is nearest Him who gives nor asks again ;

"A ruler in a world which has no sway
O lives so rich they give themselves away.

"The choice is thine, O Prince ; this purple state,
Or that high loneliness : the night grows late."

"Yes stay, my master," said the proud young voice ;
Life is too lavish for this narrow choice.

"She gives her poets bay, her conquerors palm,
And power to princes, and to sages calm.

"Is there no boon of all she holds more fair ?"
It was a sage who heard and answered there.

"Pleasure will feed the body, love, the soul,
Nor flesh nor spirit crave a meaner dole.

"Crœsus has all of earth, the pure have heaven ;
Is there a midland unto mortals given ?"

—FANNIE R. ROBINSON, in Harper's Magazine for May.

Sunday Reading.

The One Name.

Upon this text, in Phil. ii., 9, Dr. Cuyler preached on Sunday morning in Lafayette Avenue Church, Brooklyn. He said there is a triumphal arch in Paris with the names of all the military heroes of the empire upon it except one, and that one the greatest of them all, and the commander of all. The explanation is that the arch as a whole meant Napoleon. In like manner there is a sublime edifice in heaven, built of living stones, each bearing the name of a true Christian, but the whole meaning Christ. His name was above every name. There were a great many synonyms of this wondrous name, each revealing some phase of Jesus' character, and all might be studied out with advantage. He was the Saviour, the Redeemer, the Intercessor, the Advocate, the Brother, the Friend, the Shepherd, the Vine, the Rock, the Door, the Way, the Truth, the Life, the King, the Lord, the Master, the Captain and the Judge. Some of these names are not fully understood. For instance, the way is not merely a path to follow, but includes the means to follow it. Two children are playing on the sea sand, whilst a dangerous tide is coming in. Some people on the shore shout to them to come out by a way that is yet open, but will soon be covered. One man, seeing the danger, mounts his horse, dashes through the fast filling pools, takes one child before and another behind, and putting spurs to the horse brings them out safely. That man was the way of escape for these children, and when, in the Acts of the Apostles, there was no small stir about this way, it is to be understood that the way of salvation is meant. The same idea is expressed where it is said that in the name of Jesus every knee shall bow ; that is, that every one who worships God shall do so in the name of Jesus.

It was an unhappy translation which made this text say, "At the name of Jesus every knee shall bow," thus giving it a different and ritualistic sense instead of the spiritual sense of the original. Again, the name Redeemer involved deep meanings. An old gentleman once witnessed one of the auctions of the slaves which used to disgrace our land, when a lovely girl was put on the auction block. Knowing the vile purposes for which she would in all probability be purchased, he bid higher than all the evil men around him, and obtained the deed for her in the legal form common in those times, which he presented to her, making her free. She could not, however, leave her deliverer, but with entire consecration said she would serve him for life. And this is just what we should say and do to our glorious Redeemer and deliverer. No service to Him is menial or degrading. There was a class of girls in a Sabbath-school, each of whom was to do something for Jesus through the week, and when asked next Lord's day what they had done as a service to Him, one said she had tended baby, another that she had helped a little hunchback to and from school, and others had done other things. The youngest was asked what she had done for Jesus, and replied, diffidently, that she had scrubbed the floor, and this was just as honorable a service as any other. Let all our aspirations and efforts aim high, and let our fellowship be with Him whose name is above every name.

Too Late.

What sad words ! Too late to ask pardon for unkind speeches or ungenerous actions. Too late to offer the helping hand to bear the weary burden, or offer words of kindness to cheer the sad heart, to make amends for wrongs done, whether intentionally or not.

When the clay covers from our sight the form and face so dear, how many things we regret. We remember words that were spoken, as we thought, kindly, that, had we been able to foresee the future, would have been uttered very differently. How many a jest would have been unexpressed, how many frowns smoothed away, how many harsh accents made tender.

When we look on the work of hands now grown cold forever, or gaze on the garments no more filled out by the loved form, when memory pictures the presence of the dear ones in the scenes where they once moved, and recall the tones we will hear no more in this life, oh, how terrible are those little words : Too late! HOPE VERITE.

Sins of the Tongue.

The Episcopal Register says :—"We all admit the positive sin and culpability of speaking evil of others falsely, and regard the person who is guilty of it as deserving the most severe condemnation. Certainly the injury that is thus inflicted is very great and often causes life-long affliction and suffering. Yet we are accustomed to tolerate those who do not hesitate at any time to give currency to the evil reports which they hear without investigating their foundation. There is probably more harm done by such indirect censure than by the purest inventions.

Certainly if there were no strict accountability for our words, we cannot be indifferent to the happiness and well-being of others. As Christian men we are bound to consider how the rumors we repeat will affect the character and interest of those concerning whom we speak. We cannot acquit ourselves of injustice by saying that 'we thought it was true,' or 'believe it.' This furnishes no sufficient excuse for the propagator of that which is not true in fact. But more than this, it is not our duty to lay open or reveal everywhere what may prove prejudical to another. The latter may possibly have done an act entirely out of harmony with his usual course of conduct, or may have so repented, that the matter should no more be brought forward to this discredit, than are the sins which we have committed, charged against us by Him who forgiveth our iniquities."

How to Win Success.

Among the first requisites to ultimate success is steadfastness of purpose. "No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God," or for any other kingdom. The line of battle having once been chosen, the battle must be "fought out on that line," if it takes a lifetime ; and if the warrior falls, as fall he may, he falls with his face to the foe, and with [illegible] words of Philoctetes on his lips, ceed." Another requisite, scarcely less important than steadfastness, is courage. "Desperate courage makes one a majority." Planting himself against the eternal granite—not of quartz, moss and feldspar, but of faith, hope and courage, the fearless explorer may shout to his enemies :

"Come one, come all, this rock shall fly
From its firm base as soon as I."

Underlying this steadfastness of purpose and this courage must be the profound consciousness of personal integrity, singleness of aim, and a certain unselfishness. The man who tries to live to himself miserably fails. "No man can live unto himself, no man can die to himself." Self-love is ineradicable, but he who loves himself last, who loves his profession, his trade, his occupation, first and best, is the man who succeeds. A certain elevation of soul is necessary to the grandest success. We have learned lately that there are electric currents a few feet above the earth, tapping which we can converse with others miles away without any wire or other mode of communication than the electric currents.

When the aspirant has once found the way up into the region of high motive, of pure thought, of earnest endeavor, of unselfish devotion to worthy ends, he finds himself in the fellowship of all noble souls. He sees "eye to eye" with the leading spirits of his age—and as he ever rises higher, his companionships increase, and deepen, and widen and grow sweeter and stronger, and more satisfying, until he feels himself one of "the elect." After this, all that remains is easy. While threading his way across the dark continent, the pains, privations and perils of the journey may be beguiled by reading the records left by previous explorers ; hope may be quickened, courage strengthened, and faith in ultimate success assured.

Business Immorality.

All kinds of deception practised upon others for personal advantage are as forbidden as they are frequent. In a show window an article is ticketed at a certain price. You enter the shop and are shown another article similar, but inferior, which, with many assertions and protestations, is declared to be identical in quality. You see an advertisement of "special bargains," in consequence of a bankruptcy, or a fire, or a wreck, and while the initiated pass it by with a smile, some for behoof it was placed there, have no suspicion that it is a lie. You purchase a piece of calico "warranted" thirty-six yards, which measures thirty-one; and a piece of tape measuring fifteen yards which is warranted eighteen. Herbert Spencer tells the story of one manufacturer who, hesitating to follow this custom, had his goods returned to him, and finally, as a great favor, he was permitted to satisfy his scrupulous conscience by sending in blank! It is argued: "all this is understood in the trade, and price is lowered in consequence, so that no harm arises." But what does that mean ? It means that at first some unscrupulous manufacturer reduced the length "warranted," and so made unjust profit till he was detected ; others, finding themselves unable to compete with him, were compelled to follow his example, the weakest men first, the strongest last, until the practice became tacitly allowed. But how that diminishes the immorality of the practice we fail to see. Examples of deception might be adduced, however, which have not even that flimsy excuse. A clever salesman will sometimes present samples in such an order as to disqualify the eye, or the taste, or even the touch of the purchaser ; or, amusing an air of singular honesty, he will point out defects in the first purchases, till, having won the confidence of the customer, he abuses it by passing off inferior goods. In all such acts the sin lies in the deception of the more ignorant or weak. If you sell milk and water, or shoddy, as such, no wrong is done ! but if the one is sold as cloth, and the other as milk, then the very sin is committed of "selling the refuse for wheat," on account of which Amos threatened punishment from an offended God. Such deceit does not prevail only in trade transactions. The barrister commits who takes his fee for the work he does not mean to do ; or advances a plea in court which he knows to be invalid. The candidate for municipal or parliamentary elections commits it when he makes promises which will never be fulfilled to gain the suffrages of the electors. The politician is guilty of it if he keeps the people in ignorance till their passions and pride are sufficiently aroused to impel them to an unrighteous course, from which a false sense of humor will not allow them to draw back. All such offences stand condemned at the bar of God, by the great and changeless law, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." —Sunday at Home.

Make Your Son Industrious.

Fathers, bring up your sons to be industrious—to love labor. It is essential for a young man to learn a trade, even though he does not intend to obtain a livelihood by it. He will then have something upon which to fall back in case of need. Should misfortune in years to come assail him, he will have something on which to rely—the skill which will enable him to earn a living. Boys who are allowed to idle away their time make the dronish men we so often see, who hate next to absolute starvation everything that bears the name of work, and never accomplish anything, either for themselves or for the world. "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Gems of Thought.

You'll not sweeten your mouth by saying "honey."

More is learned from conversation than from books.

A great proof of superiority is to bear with impertinence.

If thy foe be as small as a gnat, fancy him as large as an elephant.

If a man would live in peace he should be blind, deaf and dumb.

A foolish friend is, at times, a greater annoyance than a wise enemy.

Bear with your neighbor's defects, that he in return may put up with yours.

Lay by a good store of patience, but be sure to put it where you can find it.

The man who mounts his high horse is invariably the one who gets the least pity when he falls.

Whoever will not in his turn serve those who serve him will go under, and as in the small so in the great.

Harsh words and harsh requirements have many a time alienated a child's feelings and crushed out all love of home.

Good temper is like a sunny day ; it sheds a brightness over everything ; it is the sweetener of toil and the soother of disquietude.

A true friend is one who will tell you of your faults and follies in prosperity, and assist you with his hand and heart in adversity.

Put your heart in your work ; in business concentrate your thoughts upon it. Be ever ready to learn, strive to excel ; be in earnest.

Great effort from great motives is the best performing it.

There are few things in life more interesting than an unrestricted interchange of ideas with a congenial spirit ; and there are few things more rare.

There are some men who are busy in idleness and make the leisure of peace not only more troublesome but even more wicked than the business of war.

A man's charity to those who differ from him upon great and difficult questions will be in the ratio of his own knowledge of them. The more knowledge, the more charity.

Education is not a preventative of crime, but its diffusion will certainly help the people to know the advantages of obedience, the policy of honesty, and dangers of doing wrong.

A man to be a success must not be a pure idealism, but he must have ideas. He does not want to be sun-dazzled or sun-blind, but he must keep him from knocking him against the wall.

The despised of some people are the looked-up to of others. Were it not so, the little ones of the earth would not be able to hold up their heads under the contumely of the great ones.

The wise man makes equity and justice the basis of all his conduct, the right forms the rule of his behavior, deference and modesty mark his exterior, sincerity and fidelity serve him for accomplishments.

Witty sayings are as easily lost as the pearls slipping off a broken string ; but a word of kindness is seldom spoken in vain. It is a seed which, even when dropped by chance, springs up a flower.

All the paths of knowledge are connected. They all run into each other. They are all one. There is no end to the things we must learn in order to have what may be called knowledge of any one thing.

If you would be exempt from uneasiness, do nothing which you know or suspect is wrong; and if you wish to enjoy the present pleasure, always do everything in your power which you know to be right.

Some unknown philosopher observes : "A little girl who can put on a square patch may not be so accomplished as one who can work a green worsted dog on a yellow ground, but she is of far more value in the community."

The great high road of human welfare lies along the old highway of steadfast welldoing, and they who are the most persistent and work in the truest spirit will invariably be the most successful ; success treads on the heels of every right effort.

The only certain test by which we can ascertain the sincerity of our regard for our friends is the feeling with which we receive the news of their happiness and aggrandizement, and more especially when fortune has raised them above our level.

To live with our enemies as if they might one day be our friends, to be with our friends as if they might become our enemies, is neither according to the nature of hatred, nor in accordance with the rules of freindship. It is not a moral, but really a political maxim.

Don't live in hope with your arms folded. Fortune smiles on those who roll up their sleeves and put their shoulder to the wheel that propels them on to wealth and happiness. Cut this out and carry it about with you in your vest pocket, ye who idle in bar-rooms or at the corners of the streets.

A smooth sea never made a skilful mariner. Neither do uninterrupted prosperity and success qualify a man for usefulness and happiness. The storms of adversity, like the storms of the ocean, rouse the faculties and excite the invention, prudence, skill and fortitude of the voyager.

The greatest man is he who chooses right with the most invincible resolution ; who resists the sorest temptation from within and without ; who bears the heaviest burdens cheerfully ; who is the calmest in the storm and most fearless under menaces and frowns ; whose reliance on truth, on virtue and on heaven, is most unfaltering.

Tempter and Tempted.

For all sorts of corruption—from the open purchase of votes to the stuffing of ballot boxes, as shown in the Jacques Cartier case—commend us to the self-styled "party of purity." With the loudest expressions of purity on their lips, they have been detected at the same time in practicing rascality of all the various kinds known to unscrupulous politicians in corrupting men, intimidating voters, or by other means seeking to defraud electors of their franchise, until the name of the party has become a synonym for electoral corruption.

One more glaring instance of the venality of this dishonored party was made known to the world by the Minister of Finance in the debate which took place in the House of Commons on Thursday night, when Mr. Tilley read to the House the following letter, the seal of privacy placed on which had been removed during a recent discussion by the writer:

[CONFIDENTIAL.]

DORCHESTER, December 1, 1877.

MY DEAR TILLEY,—Before leaving for Ottawa, which I shall do on Monday next, I propose to carry out a purpose which I have had in contemplation for some time but which I would prefer to have done (if opportunity had offered) by personal communication instead of by letter. I hope you will regard it as strictly confidential and not consider it out of place. It is this. What are your personal wishes as regards the future? Do you desire to return to active political life or would you prefer to continue in the position you now occupy! I need not say how successful you have been as Governor. All parties unite in bestowing the highest enconiums on your administration as such and your reappointment would, I am quite sure meet with universal approbation. If you and I could sail in the same political boat, I do not hesitate to say that I shall be heartily glad to have you resume political life, but I suppose this is too much to hope for. You feel yourself, I presume, allied to the other side, although I cannot but feel that your normal position is with the friendly spirit in which I intended. Old friendship, too, must plead in my behalf. If you do not wish to answer these questions say so without hesitation. I shall receive it well from you, and we will consider the correspondence as absolutely obliterated, leaving no trace behind. I may add that Mackenzie has no knowledge of my writing this letter, and if you answer, address me at Ottawa. I shall be there till Christmas.

Sincerely yours,
A. J. SMITH.

To properly appreciate the above, it is necessary to recall the following facts:—Mr. Tilley, who had been for a number of years the leader of the Liberal party in New Brunswick, and who had warmly advocated the confederation of the Provinces, took office as Minister of Customs in the first Government of the Dominion. On February 25th, 1873, he became Minister of Finance, and continued to occupy that position until the resignation of the Government in November of that year, when he received the appointment of Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick. Sir Albert J. Smith, at the date of his letter, was Minister of Marine and Fisheries in the Mackenzie administration, which, being about to appeal to the country in the following year, as the term of the then existing Parliament would shortly expire, felt very uneasy as to the future conduct of Mr. Tilley, whose lease of office was drawing to a close, and whose opposition, as being the foremost man in New Brunswick, would very seriously weaken the Government not only in his own Province, but in the Maritime Provinces generally. Hence, judging Mr, Tilley, despite his untarnished character and uncompromising honesty, to be as purchasable as one of themselves, the Ministry, through Sir Albert Smith, made a bold attempt to buy Mr. Tilley's support, or purchase his silence, as they had done in the cases of others before him. Thus a second term as Lieutenant-Governor was offered as a reward of his continued removal from the field of politics, with the alternative of a seat in the Cabinet as the price of his desertion of his political friends; and to make the latter proposition more effective, Sir Albert urged that the Government was certain to be sustained and consequently assured of another five years in office. This gross attempt at corruption, although worthy of the notorious Walpole in his worst days, failed most egregiously, as the agent of the Government evidently feared might be the case, judging from the trouble which he took to cover up his tracks by imposing the seal of secrecy upon the gentleman to whom his infamous propositions were addressed, and by his cunningly worded statement that "Mackenzie has no knowledge of my writing this letter." The very propositions contained in the document, authoritatively made as they are, forbid the idea that Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues were ignorant of the matter. It might be true that the then Premier did not see Sir Albert write the letter, but that the matter had been talked over and agreed upon privately it would be folly to deny, in view of the great importance to them of the correspondence. Mr. Mackenzie has never passed for a fool; and so far as our knowledge of constitutional practice extends, Prime Ministers do not allow their colleagues—no matter how influential or prominent they may be—to dispose of Lieutenant-Governorships and seats in the Cabinet at their own will and pleasure and without consulting with their official superior. If the late First Minister did so he was little short of an idiot, and his public record does not go towards confirming any such idea. On the contrary, he was shown to be dictatorial, self-assertive and fully prepared at all times to resent any intrusion on his privileges as head of the administration. Hence we can come to no other conclusion than that he and his colleagues were fully advised of all that was taking place, and that the corrupt offers to Mr. Tilley were made with their consent—a proceeding which must add heavily to the load of obloquy which has deservedly sunk them to the low level on which they now stand as politicians.

To complete the record of this scandalous transaction, we give herewith Mr. Tilley's reply, as well as the letter of Sir Albert Smith, which closed the correspondence. They are as follows:—

[PRIVATE.]

FREDERICTON, Dec. 21, 1878.

Hon. A. J. Smith:—

MY DEAR SMITH,—In your note of the 1st inst. you ask if I desire to return to active political life, or would I prefer to continue in the position I now occupy. I have to say in reply that I have no particular desire to return to active political life, but I have to add that I see objections to my acceptance of a second term. I thank you for the frankness of your note and I will be equally frank in return. My re-appointment would secure to me, should my life be spared, five years more of rest and quiet and freedom from political strife—matters of some consideration I admit to a man in his sixtieth year. But considering the readiness shown in certain quarters to charge me wrongfully with being influenced by selfish motives for standing by my old colleagues to the last, I am the more careful not to lay myself open to the charge that I have placed myself beyond the reach of my old political friends in St. John, from personal consideration. I am sensitive on this point—possibly too sensitive—but let the consequence be what they may to me personally, I cannot take a step that my judgment has failed to approve. Personally it would afford me pleasure to "sail in the same political boat with you," but as your Minister of Finance, in his addresses to the electors of Ontario, makes as some of his chief charges against the Administration of which I was Finance Minister the terms on which Prince Edward Island was admitted into the Union, the redistribution of the debts of the Provinces, and the payment of the $150,000 a year to New Brunswick in lieu of export duty, and other acts for which I claim personally some credit for having aided their passage through Parliament, you will see that were there no other points of difference I could not be expected to approve of the policy of your Government. I feel that I ought to be free to defend my personal acts from erroneous statements and inferences, and to justify my financial policy. This I cannot well do as long as I hold my present non-political position. I thank you very much for your kind reference to the manner in which I have discharged my duties as Lieut.-Governor. It is most satisfactory to be assured that my re-appointment would meet with universal approbation. I assure you I could desire no higher compliment. Thanking you for the friendly character of your note,

I remain, my dear Smith.
Yours sincerely,
S L. TILLEY.

P. S.—I see by the papers you are to spend Christmas at Dorchester. I will send this note there instead of Ottawa as I previously intended.

S. L. T.

[PRIVATE.]

DORCHESTER, Dec. 27, 1877.

MY DEAR TILLEY,—Your note of the 21st inst. is received. I am sorry you could not have seen things in a different light, either to have accepted the Governorship or taken sides with us in the approaching contest. And allow me to say that I think you are too sensitive with regard to the references to the past. These are only in answer to charges made. If we should [illegible] have him with us; and that we will succeed at the next election is my firm conviction, whatever may be the result in New Brunswick. Sir John calculates without his host when he talks of gaining fifty-five seats in Quebec. The current in that province is setting strongly in our favor, and the opinion of many well-informed persons is that we shall have a majority. There are several causes for it, one of which is that the Local Government is in a state of decadence, and becoming more and more unpopular every day. However, all this is matter of opinion, and I may be quite astray. To me personally, as you are aware, it is not of much consequence. I care very little for being in a Government. That is my honest view of the situation. To conclude, we will consider the correspondence as obliterated.

Believe me to be,
Yours very sincerely,
A. J. SMITH.

Mr. Tilley has always stood high in the estimation of his fellow Canadians, and his unhesitating rejection of the proposals laid before him by his unscrupulous tempters will strongly confirm that idea of his character. The tempted will hereafter be more highly than ever before esteemed by his countrymen; the tempters will be regarded by all honest men with the disapprobation and displeasure which their conduct so richly merits.

Mackintosh, of the Citizen, at $27,133, the next lowest being James Hope & Co., at $28,560. The tender of McLean, Roger & Co., was $34,133.

The Queen has a hatred to fringes. Last year one lady appeared at a Drawing Room with her hair over her eyes. The next day she received a message from the Lord Chamberlain informing her that until her hair had grown she would not be required to attend any more Drawing Rooms. I am glad her Majesty has set her face against such an idiotic custom."

In spite of the stupid howling in England of tha Manchester school of erratic, one-sided free-trade economists, the wisdom of the world is everywhere evidenced against Bright & Co., by foreign nations, and our own colonies, almost one and all, enter the witness box against those stupid and blatant economists who have led England to the brink of ruin, and the English workman to the point of starvation for want of employment."

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 19.—There is a ukase just issued ordering the appointment of Governor-Generals for six of the most populous districts. It begins by stating that the recent events shown exists in a band of criminals, not numerous, but very determined, which aim at undermining the state. After referring to the recent murderous attacks upon the officials the ukase continues: "These crimes have necessitated the provisional adoption of exceptional measures to permit exemplary punishment to guilty persons, and provide the Government officials with the necessary powers to maintain order."

A ukase announces the provisional appointment of the Governors General of St. Petersburg, Charkoff and Odessa is invested with extraordinary powers. Similar powers are conferred upon the Governors General of Moscow, Kieff and Warsaw. A DANGEROUS COUNTERFEIT.—The Montreal Star says: "An admirably executed counterfeit upon the Dominion $1 note, Toronto issue, was yesterday detected by the Deputy [illegible] office in this city. With the exception of one little detail the bad note was so cleverly executed as almost to force the conviction that it was printed from the original and genuine plate. The way it was detected was by the defect referred to, the quality of the paper, which was thin and uneven in feeling, having evidently been submitted to some process with acids to give it an old and genuine look. Besides the red figure numbers of the bill are slim and of a darker red than the genuine figures, which are also much more plump in shape. We understand the counterfeits are all upon the bills payable in Toronto, known as the "D" issue. The note-number figures in the genuine notes Toronto issue are red, those in the Montreal issue blue, and those in the Halifax and St. John are black. A remembrance of this may be of service when scanning a doubtful note.

A Public Benefaction.

The heart must be hard indeed that does not commiserate the abject wretchedness of the child when told that it must take a dose of Castor Oil. The aversion to the taste and smell of this most efficient and inestimable of laxative and cathartic medicines, seems to be universal, not only with children but with grown-up people. The chemist who could overcome these nauseous properties will ever be looked upon as a public benefactor. This has been fully accomplished by SCOTT & BROWNE in their PALATABLE CASTOR OIL. It is pleasant to the taste, and within the reach of all. Price, only 25 cents a bottle.

Anti-Fat Chemically Examined.

The analytical chemist, W. B. DRAKE, of Buffalo, N. Y., recently analyzed Allan's Anti-Fat, and gave the following:

CERTIFICATE.

I have subjected Allan's Anti-Fat to chemical analysis, examined the process of its manufacture, and can truly say that the ingredients of which it is composed are entirely vegetable, and cannot but act favorably upon the system, and it is well calculated to attain the object for which it is intended.

We are selling a great quantity of Corsets.

The reason is, that our makes of Corsets give such general satisfaction, both as regards durability and shape.

Our Corsets at 75cts. are unequalled at the price. They are well shaped, and wear unusually well. (In White and Drabs.)

Our Corsets at $1.00 are shaped equal to the best French, and wear longer than Corsets generally sold at $1.25.

Our Corsets at $1.25 and $1.50 are beautifully made and a perfect shape, and give such universal satisfaction that we are unable to sell Corsets at any higher price. Ladies who have not already tried our Corsets are invited to do so.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 19.

City and Vicinity.

POLICE.—There were five tramps and one prisoner in the cells last night.

CITY COUNCIL.—A regular meeting of the Council will be held on Monday night.

PERSONAL.—The Hon. C. F. Fraser, Commissioner of Public Works for Ontario, was in town to-day.

CONTRACT LET.—The contract for the mason work for the foundation of the Mayor's new block of stores has been let to Messrs. Fahey Brothers.

SCULLING RACE.—A match sculling race between David Downey and John Johnson will take place in Picton harbor on the 15th of June. Distance, 5 miles.

THE ROYAL CITY.—Alex. Robertson, Esq., Mayor, has been invited to attend the civic inauguration of Guelph, which is to take place on Wednesday next, 23rd inst.

HENRY WARD BEECHER.—Look at our advertising columns and read the sensible advice given by this eminent divine, and profit by it by calling in at J. A. Brock & Co.

THE SEASON.—The Mill Point Echo says:—"Very little snow remains now, except where the sun cannot reach it. The bay is nearly clear of ice, and the general opinion is that ere long we shall get some warm weather."

THE HARBOR DUES.—The lumbermen have not as yet signified what their course of action will be in reference to the tariff of harbor dues, as amended at the last meeting of the City Council, but it is believed that they will accept the amended tariff as a compromise.

OBITUARY.—We regret to learn that Mr. T. S. Carman, proprietor of the Ontario, has lost one of his children—aged two years and eight months—by that fatal disease scarlet fever. General sympathy will be felt with the parents in their bereavement.

THE FISHERIES.—Heretofore the fisheries of Prince Edward have been under the superintendence of five Overseers. Now the Government has confided the work to one man, and Mr. Joseph Redmond, of Picton, has received the appointment of Overseer of Fisheries for the whole district.

If your food distresses you, take a little SANFORD'S JAMAICA GINGER.

AMUSEMENTS.—Geo. Fawcett Rowe and the Shaughraun Company at the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday nights in "Engaged" and "Litte Emly."—Cool Burgess and the Spauldings are at St. John N. B.—Tony Denier's famous Humpty Dumpty troupe will on Wednesday night next produce the old yet ever new and favorite pantomime.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY.—On Wednesday next the English residents of the city will celebrate the anniversary of their patron Saint, the chivelric dragon slayer and knight errant. The members of the St. George's Society will meet at the marble Hall, at 2:30 p. m., and proceed to Christ Church, where a sermon appropriate to the occasion, will be preached by the Rev. Dr. Clarke, the Rector. All Englishmen and descendants of Englishmen are invited to take part in this procession. In the evening the annual dinner will take place at the Dafoe House, where an excellent spread may be anticipated.

CONCERT AND TABLEAUX.—The grand concert and tableaux given in the Opera House last night in aid of St. George's Church attracted a good audience and proved satisfactory to the auditors. There were eight tableaux vivants, which were put upon the stage in good style and some of the personations in which were very clever. The musical portion of the programme was excellent, embracing a piano duet by the Misses Van Allen, two piano quartetts by Misses Davy, Jones, Richardson and Mr. Richter, a piano duet by Mrs. Carmichael and Miss Row, a Dutch comic song by Mr. Spangenberg, songs by Miss Sisson and Mrs. F. S. Campbell and a song by Mr. Milburn, all creditably executed. Messrs. Mockridge and Wilkins, who were announced to sing and give a comic recitation respectively, did not appear. Mr. Carmichael gave a recitation from Shakespeare with his usual effectiveness, and the Oddfellows' band contributed some selections in excellent style. We hope that the result will be a substantial contribution to the worthy purpose for which the proceeds are designed.

OPERA HOUSE.—On Wednesday night next, the 23rd inst., Tony Denier's great pantomime company, with the famous clown Grimaldi (Geo. F. Adams) will produce the famous pantomime "Humpty Dumpty." The Montreal Gazette has the following notice of the performance of the company in that city:—"The performance excels anything of its kind ever produced in Montreal, and embraces an endless array of mirth-provoking scenes, from the sublime to the ridiculous, the gay to the grave. The plot of "Humpty Dumpty," whose figure-head is the Village Torment, is well known to Montrealers, but the charming feature of the performance is Grimaldi's own peculiar grimaces and tricks, which are countless and unique. Following in Grimaldi's tracks is Old One Two, the pantaloon (Mr. C. K. Fox), who is not to be beaten in his field, while Mr. Wm. Eunice as the "Harlequin," and Miss Ada Boshell as "Columbine," are masters of their profession. Taken as a whole, the performance, with its varied and laughable adjuncts, is the cream of pantomimic humor. As an interlude between the first and third acts, is presented "Humpty's Kaleidoscope," which comprises a first class variety show itself. Here is Miss Victoria North in choice songs and gems of melody; Mr. Phil Heath, a reputed ventriloquist; Lester and Williams in eccentric saltatorial sketches; Grimaldi in something new and original, an acrobat on stilts; Clifton and Fox, suberb in their business on the triple tourniquet; Miss Moulton, as a model female performer with Indian clubs: Charles Diamond, a performer to be seen to be appreciated, in his control of the harp and jig-dancing together, and last but not least, Venus and Adonis, in a rare exhibition on velocipedes. A clown in a pantomime has ample scope to introduce the vulgar, but the show of last night is free from everything of that description, and is such as could be produced in the most refined parlor circles among our own homes." Seats can be secured at Reynolds' book store.

PICTON RACES.—Owners of thoroughbred race horses object to the small amount of money to be given at the Picton race meeting on May 24th, when the Queen's Plate is to be run for. The Gentleman's Journal states the views of a number of correspondents as follows:—"In the Queen's Plate it is submitted the entrance money should have been given to the second horse, as at present all the money goes to the first horse. It is again advanced that the plate is given for the encouragement of running horses, and any Association favored with the royal bounty should on that occasion at least give some encouragement to thoroughbred horses. Instead of this only $100 in three days' meeting is devoted to the thoroughbred class, there being four trotting events and only one running race. The small amount of money for a Queen's Plate meeting is strongly spoken of, only $490, not a decent purse in itself, being given by the Club for a three days's meeting." The Journal also objects very strongly to the provision in the regulations that no official time will be given, as illegal, and the editor refuses to act in the position to which he has been appointed in connection with the races, unless the proviso in question be stricken out.

AGGRAVATED ASSAULT.—A day or two ago, one John Bonter and a person named Kemp were at the Carrying Place together, and during their interview Kemp unfortunately displayed a quantity of money, which rather excited the cupidity of his companion Bonter. The latter managed to entice Kemp to a retired place near the creek, and boldly demanded his money. Upon Kemp's refusing, Bonter began to beat him with a club, but this failed to draw forth the money, and he continued beating him, inflicting several severe wounds on the head. After a while Bonter repented of his rash deed, took his victim down to the creek, washed the blood from his head and face, and made him get down on his knees and promise that he would not disclose the name of his assailant, but represent that a certain railroad man committed the assault. Kemp was taken home, put under the doctor's care, and although the wounds are not dangerous, still they are sufficiently severe to confine him to his bed. Bonter meanwhile escaped, but was captured near Colborne, tried yesterday before Justices Cadman and Beach, of Consecon, and committed to Picton gaol for trial.

Seasonable Topics.

Now is the time to clean up the back yards.

Front Street remains in the same disgraceful condition as a week ago, and unless some steps are taken to remove the ice and filth, it promises to be an eye-sore for weeks to come.

There is still considerable snow in the woods.

Advertising is the life of trade, as our live business men daily testify.

If you want a servant pay 20 cents for an advertisement in the INTELLIGENCER, and you will be able to choose from a dozen.

The inside market was so crowded to-day as to necessitate the use of the floor for large quantities of butter and eggs, the counters all being fully occupied.

Eggs and butter were in plentiful supply to-day, the former selling at 9 to 10cts, and the latter at 15 to 18cts.

Steps will have to be taken very soon to increase the accommodation in what is called the butter market. Could not the basement be utilized?

The crowded state of Front Street to-day, and particularly the thronged state of our principal houses, was a source of general satisfaction. The live business men who made a liberal use of our advertising columns did, as usual, the cream of the trade.

For cheap, tasty printing, call at the INTELLIGENCER office.

The market to-day was the largest of the season.

Lots of "sweetness" to-day on the market in the shape of maple sugar and syrup.

Among the Zulus, a nation of the Caffres, according to etiquette, the mother-in law cannot face the son-in law, but must hide, or pretend to hide when she sees him. In this country the custom is reversed. It is the son-in-law who does the dodging.

Now let somebody engage in a forty eight hours' wood sawing or carpet beating match.

The early bird is trying to get his ulster out of soak.

Horses generally choose the busiest streets to run away in.

Horse Bills printed at an hour's notice at the INTELLIGENCER office. A number of cuts to select from.

"Blow, gentle breezes, blow," sighed the Spring poet the other day, and the next moment he was chasing down the street after his hat, and yelling, "stop'er! stop'er!" at every jump.

The plague of dust is again upon us. Better material for road making would very materially lessen this nuisance.

The Moravian arrived at Halifax this afternoon.

Twenty cents will advertise a house to let in the INTELLIGENCER.

The Police should clear the temporary sidewalk in front of the Mayor's property of loafers. It was nearly impossible for any one to pass on that walk to-day.

The Bank of Commerce are moving into their new quarters to-day.

Marine Notes.

The harbor at Kingston is free from ice but the American channel is blocked.

The Erie Canal opens next week.

The Chicago Times says the Chicago board of vessel owners has fixed the opening rates on corn to Buffalo at 6 cents per bushel, and on wheat 9½. These are higher rates than the average in previous years.

Marine insurance on grain from Chicago to Buffalo is 35 cents per $100 for steam, and 40 cents per $100 for sailors.—The grain toll on the Erie canal this season is 1 mill on the ton.

The Kingston News says: The Hastings is expected to start up the Bay of Quinte next week, by which time it is hoped the Bay may be clear of ice.

The schooners David Andrews, Jane Maw and W. W. Grant, which wintered at Napanee, are being fitted out.

The Toronto Mail says: The first grain charter of the season has been reported. The schooner J. Bently is loading grain for Kingston at 1½c.

The Mail says: The schooners Mary Grover and Minnie Blakeley are loading timber for Oswego at 75c.

Morning Despatches Condensed.

At the foot-race at Gilmore's Gardens, Panchot's score was 369 miles; Merritt, 360; Krabane, 354½; O'Brien, 339½.

A tidal wave was perceptible at Gloucester, Mass., raising the water two feet and a half.

The tornado that visited South Carolina also swept Alabama, killing several people and doing a large amount of damage.

The recent tornado at Walkerton, S. C., destroyed half the dwellings, killed five people, and injured others.

The New York Herald cables say that it is probable England's trade with China will have to be abandoned. It is admitted that American opposition and enterprise have entirely killed English rivalry in that part of the world.

A company of capitalsts has been organized in New York to build model tenements for the poor.

Vanderbilt in a letter to the Tribune says he is not inimical to American Railway matters, but he saw it was to his interest to purchase rails in England and he did so.

Failures in New York—J. D. Rawling, commission merchant, $50,000; Gen. Ira Beebee, paper dealer, $50,000; Mr. G. Harding, fruit, $27,000.

The World has a general review of the business in the country, showing a prosperous outlook and returning confidence.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, April 19.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region, winds gradually decreasing in force, partly cloudy to clear warmer weather. For the St. Lawrence, brisk to high north to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, brisk to high northeasterly to northerly winds, cloudy weather with snow and rain.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Indications:—To-day, cloudy, followed by clear; to-morrow, slightly warmer, fair.

DR. DEAL, who is a Veterinary Surgeon of great skill, writes from BOWERSVILLE, HARRISON CO., O.: I have given Perry Davis' Pain Killer in many cases of Colic, Cramp and Dysentery in Horses, and never knew it to fail to cure in a single instance. I look upon it as a certain remedy.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

PHYSICIANS having Consumptive patients, and having failed to cure them by their own prescriptions, should not hesitate to prescribe Allen's Lung Balsam. It has cured cases where all other remedies have failed. It is harmless to the most delicate child.

Another scandal has turned up in New York. A daughter of Mr. A. Townsend, one of the wealthies citizens of New York, married her father's coachman, and Fifth Avenue is shocked thereat.

Special Notice.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D, New York City. 1y

Charles Cluthe's Pat'd Spiral Truss Pad has been the result of many years' study and material experience. Its perfect adaptability for Rupture is proven by the thousands now in use. Among its many advantages are, a gentle, constant and even pressure; it gives to the motion of the body without friction; complete ventilation (as shown in engraving); a clamping pressure which does not open (as all oval pads) but closes the aperture of Hernia, hence only one-third pressure is required. It is this latter feature that has made this truss so eminently successful and proved a Radical Cure of from 50 to 70 per cent. of cases treated. This Truss cured persons of over 90 years of age. Only one belt round the waist, no leg straps and no springs required for its use.

Apparatus for straightening Spinal Curvature, Hip Disease, Bow Leg, Wry Neck, Club Foot, etc., made on most scientific principles. Price same as at my office.

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.
MANCHESTER, MASS.

A Boston Physician says:—

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

OVER THE BARS.

'Twas milking time, and the cows came up
From the meadows sweet with clover,
And stood in the lane, while pretty Jane
Had a quiet chat with the drover—
Such a quiet chat that it scarcely seemed
That a single word was spoken;
While a magic spell with the night dews fell,
And the rythm of song was unbroken.

The cattle stood at the lovers' side,
Without any show of vexation,
As though impressed with a five-bar rest
Was a part of their rest oration.
And as Jane listened to the notes that came
Right under the bars and over,
Her heart took wing, the silly thing,
And nestled up close to the drover.

She heard him say his home was poor,
That he'd nothing but love to give her;
And she smiled content as though love had spent
Every arrow he had in his quiver;
She smiled content, when the evening air
With voices of birds are ringing,
And her lips confessed that a lowly nest
Should never prevent her singing.

So over the bars the lovers lean,
In the joy of their sweet communion;
And their looks declare that poverty ne'er
Shall be a bar to their union;
O, sweetest music, go thread your rhymes,
Now under the bars and over;
Where pretty Jane in the fragrant lane,
Bewitched the heart of the drover.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

THURSDAY, April 17.

In the House of Commons after routine, a resolution providing that whenever under any Canadian Act or law tonnage dues are to be levied on any ship in a Canadian port such tonnage shall be exclusive of any space added to the ship's registered tonnage by the 23rd section, Merchants' Shipping Act, 1876, was passed and incorporated in a Bill to the same effect.

A similar course was adopted with a resolution providing for the appointment of two additional judges in British Columbia at $4,000 each per annum.

Mr. COCKBURN (Northumberland) introduced a Bill established the right of appeal against arbitration by the Public Works Department.

The Premier, in reply to a question by Mr. Mills, said that news had been received by the Department stating that a band of Indians at Qu'Appelle had forcibly possessed themselves of stores.

A resolution providing for the fees payable into the hands of the Minister of Agriculture on application for the registering of trade marks or industrial designs was passed, and incorporated into a Bill, which was read a first time.

The following Government measures passed the final stages:—

An Act to amend and consolidate the Acts respecting duties imposed on bills of exchange and promissory notes.

An Act respecting the offices of Receiver-General and Minister of Public Works.

An Act to provide against contagious diseases affecting animals.

An Act respecting "The Andrew Mercer Ontario Reformatory for females."

Several other Government measures were advanced a stage.

The tariff debate was resumed by the Hon. Mr. TILLEY. Of the hon. gentleman's speech and the debate which ensued, the Mail gives the following synopsis: His opening remarks were taken up with a defence of the consistency of his personal position. He defied hon. members to put their hands on a single statement in any of his protection speeches that was inconsistent with his present propositions. He directed his attention to the anti-Confederate cries that had been raised among some of the New Brunswick members. He said that if he had erred at all he had erred in underrating the wonderful prosperity that had arisen out of Confederation. With reference to the statement that the taxes of New Brunswick had been raised since Confederation, he showed that on a true test the province of New Brunswick received dollar for dollar for all she paid into the public chest. He devoted some time after this to discussing the questions that had been raised as to the manner of carrying the Confederation in New Brunswick. Before going into the more general topics of debate, Mr. Tilley pointed out the fact that this country had enjoyed from 1869 to 1873 a good measure of protection in consequence of the depreciated currency and other disturbances in the United States, and that we now had a measure to make up for what had been lost by the change of circumstances. Mr. Snowball had complained about the probable sufferings of some manufacturers at Miramichi. Mr. Tilley said there was something in that. There was at least one industry in that neighborhood that would suffer from the change of Government. He believed that no firm would now be able to sell deal ends at $2 per cord to the railways under the present Government. This was a sharp hit at the enterprising member for Northumberland, whose position as a lumber king is not incompatible with a little shrewd dealings in slabs and lumber ends at double prices. The House enjoyed it very well. Even Mr. Snowball seemed to think that somebody had made a good point. At the close of his speech, Mr. Tilley referred to the personal matters in dispute as regards the second term as Governor. The first letter was in December, 1877, from Sir A. Smith, suggesting a second term; not only that, but suggesting also a seat in the Cabinet. Then followed Mr. Tilley's reply, stating that he had been charged with selfishness and was most reluctant to allow any one to say with truth that he had deserted his old friends from personal motives. In this reply he stated his desire to be in a position to reply in Parliament to the attacks on his past administration. Then came Sir Albert Smith's reply, again suggesting either a second term or a seat in the Cabinet. This letter contained most amusing prophecies as to Grit success at the election.

Sir ALBERT SMITH rose to complain of the manner in which he had been treated. He made an attack on the St. John Sun editor, which was not appropriate to the personal question at issue at all. He endeavored to paraphrase his letter but not to deny it. He admitted he had hoped to see Mr. Tilley in the Grit Cabinet.

At this point Mr. DOMVILLE put in a very happy interruption. He said, "What would you have done with Mr. Burpee?" But that momentous question remained and still remains unanswered. What, indeed would have become of Mr. Burpee? What a Minister of Customs the Dominion was nearly losing. Sir Albert's explanation were no explanations at all. They explained nothing, but confirmed in effect everything that Mr. Tilley had said, and a telegram from Mr. Dunn fully confirmed the position of Mr. Tilley also, although Sir Albert read it as a contradiction. Sir Albert paraphrased his letters and complained that he had been ill-treated by the Ministerial side of the House. Mr. Tilley, in reply, simply pointed out that he had been compelled to take the position he did. The fact is, no other course was opened to him. He had been attacked, his veracity questioned and his public honor assailed, and the men who did these things knew that Mr Tilley had in his pocket the letters that would confute and confound them. From these letters Sir Albert Smith removed the seal of secresy and that without conditions, though in this last debate he professed to have put conditions on the removal of that seal. Mr. Tilley fully bore out all he had said in regard to the relations between himself and Sir Albert Smith

Mr. SNOWBALL complained that Mr. Tilley had been unfair in referring to those expensive deal ends before the papers had been discussed by the House. But the papers have been on the table for a week, and there is nothing in them that is not public. Mr. Snowball said he had no personal dealings with the Intercolonial railway, and only sold the deal ends as manager of a railway. There are two remarks to make on this:—First, there is not a line in the papers to show that Mr. Snowball acted as a manager; the letters are signed by his own name only, the money is charged to him only, the replies are addressed to him only. Second, that even as a manager it is still clear that he charged the railway an average of $2 per cord for wood that was not worth more than $1.25 to $1.20.

In the course of the debate Mr. Domville said that Mr. Burpee had told Mr. Levi Young, of St. John, that if elected Mr. Mackenzie's Government was "going in for protection." Mr. Burpee denied it. Then Mr. Domville went on casually to remark that Mr. Snowball had tried to join the Liberal-Conservative party, and this also being protested against, Mr. Domville said that Mr. King, of Queen's, had authorized a man to buy off his election protest up to $4,000. The House was a good deal amused with these personal references, and if the session was not so far advanced the members might have relished them better. As it was, some cries of "question" showed a growing desire to stop the discussion.

The Opposition platform as formulated by Mr. Cartwright seemed to consist of the following points:—First, that the tariff will oppress the poor man; second, that it will oppress the lower Provinces; third, that it will be condemned in England; fourth, that it would take more money out of the people than it would afford them in protection; fifth, that it would be injurious to the carrying trade. Events have already supplied almost all the necessary replies to these arguments. The common knowledge of the country of current business transactions will afford to every reader the reply he needs to Mr. Cartwright's position. He then attacked Mr. Tilley's estimate of revenue, and endeavored to show that it could not possibly be fulfilled. It is singular that such a charge should be made by a gentleman who never once during his whole ministerial course accomplished the fulfilment of his estimates on any point at all. "The country had entered on a downward path;" we were going "contrary to the practice of civilized nations," and so on. That was the fashion of Mr. Cartwright's oration, which he did not continue very long. It seemed if one had heard all before in various quarters. Mr. Cartwright was not less dictatorial in one than usual, but seemed to labor under a melancholy impression that he was talking to a benighted house, and that he would have to look to foreigners and the next generation for approval.

The House rose shortly after 1 a. m., nine of the resolutions having been passed.

The debate closed with Mr. Cartwright's speech, and the first two resolutions were read by the clerk and explained by the Finance Minister. The bearing of the sugar duties in relation to England and the United States was aptly stated by Mr. Tilley. The English had no drawbacks or bounties. The Americans had. Therefore our duties bore less heavily on England than on the United States, and the English refinery was able to come to our market on more favorable terms than the American. In fact the tariff in affect exhibited the importation of American refined sugar. Mr. Cartwright contended that the American refinery actually had no bounty, as he had now no drawback, and could only obtain a bounty by fraud.

Mr. BUNTING (Welland), in reply to Mr. Mills, gave a statement of the exact facts in relation to the drawback enjoyed by the United States refiner, which has been calculated to run from 25 to 75 cents per 100 pounds on various sugars. He supported strongly the resolutions of the Finance Minister. Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Holton seemed to entertain a good deal of doubt as to the grammatical construction of certain phrases of the resolution, but Mr. Tilley and Mr. Bunting contended that the resolution as to drawbacks was perfectly well understood by the trade, and only one mistake had been made in the interpretation of it.

A Word to Doubters.

There is a good old English maxim that teaches us to "believe every man honest until we know him to be villain. American custom seems to have reversed this law and appears to make every man a villain until he has proved himself an honest man. As with people, so with things. Every article placed in our markets can lay claim to popular favor upon instrinsic merit and value alone. Continued popularity, therefore, is proof positive of instrinsic excellence. Dr. Pierce's Family Remedies are far more popular to-day than ever before. The people have tested them and know them to be genuine remedies for the diseases they are recommended to cure. The Golden Medical Discovery and Purgative Pellets are the best alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies that can be used in chronic diseases of the stomach and liver. The worldwide popularity of the Favorite Prescription, as a never-failing remedy for Female Diseases, would have alone secured to its discoverer the fame he has so richly won. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, of which Dr. Pierce is also proprietor, is recommended by those who have tested its virtues as a safe and reliable remedy for catarrh in its worst forms.

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS. They will right them.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

A Visit to King Cetewayo,

About eighteen months ago a native of Natal in the employment of Bishop Colenso made a visit to some friends in Zululand and called upon King Cetewayo. The man wrote, in the Zulu language, an account of his journey; and an English translation of the same, forwarded to London by the Bishop of Natal, was soon afterwards published in Macmillan's Magazine. The King, on being interviewed, showed himself very anxious to discredit the stories circulated as to his ill-treatment of missionaries and converts. But he could not deny that both missionaries and converts had been put to death in Zululand; and he was of opinion that the missionaries, as a body, "had better go away and not come back any more." The visitor, Magema, by name, agreed—Christian as he was—with Cetewayo, that "they had better not come back, since they had made a fool of the King; for he had given them bread out of kindness without them paying anything for it, and they had gone away without saying good-bye."

Descending to details, King Cetewayo admitted that at one place, where some people had a chance to get hold of some meat of a diseased ox and had died from eating it, the survivors had killed a convert who, it was alleged, had handled the meat. But the King declined to be held responsible for the man's fate. The matter, he said, had only been reported to him after the convert had been killed. "I was startled," he said, "when I heard it, and blamed the people very much for killing a man without my orders. But they answered me positively that he did that. I said that they ought to have brought him bound to me that I might hear the charge against him. But the convert did, no doubt, a very bad deed. The King told an anecdote of another convert who had been killed without orders, and who, his majesty said, had done "the sort of thing converts do." He had taken out of the Royal harem a girl whom the King had intended for another man; and the convert's former co-religionaries were so indignant at this that they killed him and "ate up his cattle." More than once Cetewayo, while maintaining that he had treated the missionaries exceedingly well, showed that he had no sort of regard for them. They wanted, said he, that all his people should be converted, together with all his soldiers. But he "had them there," and he told them that they had better go and make converts of the soldiers of their own people after which it would be less unfair to try and convert the Zulus generally. Again and again Cetewayo declared that he would rather have nothing to do with missionaries. He allowed, however, that they would be just tolerable if they could be induced to pay proper respect to the authorities.

Next to the misssionaries King Cetewayo seemed to have a particular objection to the medicines of the whites. Magema had pointed out to his Majesty that "the land was governed by witchcraft." "I know," continued Magema, "that you are wiser than other men; I thought, also, that as wisdom advances gradually day by day, therefore we of the present time must be wiser than the generation that have passed. I do not approve of that matter of the wizards; it is bad, they are madmen; the rule of the King will not come clearly into the light if he allowed himself to be governed by such practices. Why, in Zululand the sovereign power is—the wizards; and the judges are—the wizards also; for there is not a case heard in which the accused has not been smelled out beforehand by wizards." The King, in reply, admitted that there were too many wizards about. His father had killed them wherever he could find them. But now a new race of wizards had sprung up. Nevertheless the sickness from which his people were suffering might be traced to the potions brought to them from among the white folks in Natal.

Cetewayo's visitor found him very attentive to business, especially in connection with judicial proceedings. He was unwilling to "hear with one ear only." If one man informed against another, he summoned him who had been informed against, and investigated the case thoroughly. "During all the time I stayed in Zululand," said Magema, "I saw Cetewayo sitting in his seat judging the causes of his people; and his judgment was excellent and satisfactory."

In the course of his travels Magema passed through a sacred grove reserved for the interment of the Zulu kings and princes. No wood from these groves is ever used as fuel; for the Zulus hold, with a certain amount of truth, that in burning wood sprung from the soil in which their kings lie buried they would be burning the transformed substance of the kings themselves. Once upon a time wood was said to have been chopped from a grove in which the remains of a chief named Lambede had been laid; upon which Lambede showed himself in the form of a snake, and was very angry and went to the kraal which had chopped the wood, until a number of cattle were turned out and eaten to make atonements; after which the snake returned to his grove.

King Cetewayo is described as a black "head-ringed" man, resembling his father, the late King Panda, and firm in flesh. He is large, but his body is firm, not flabby, like the bodies of other large men among the Zulus. His face does not look so well as it did formerly, which is not astonishing, as Magema had not set eyes on him for 17 years. His Majesty was attired in a spotted blanket, which he wore with a certain grace. In Zululand the King has certain times of abstinence, and the people, too, in alike manner. The chief time of abstinence is that of the new moon. Another is on a day when hail falls or when a fresh wind blows, or when lightning strikes anything, or when a neighbor dies, on which day they neither work nor leave the kraal. Magema talked very little to Cetewayo on political subjects. He complained, however, that the white men were always "talking, talking, talking," and that they "wanted to come down with might upon him." He was sure, meanwhile, that he had done them no wrong: "And as I have done no wrong," he added, "I shall not run away, though I know that through that the ruin of this land will come."

There are some men who are busy in idleness and make the leisure of peace not only more troublesome but even more wicked than the business of war.

The Zulu Assagai.

The word assagai does not belong, says a contemporary, to the vernacular, but—like "Kaffir" itself, the Arabic for infidel; "kaross," a cloak made of skins of beasts or birds; "kraal," a conglomeration of huts and cattle-pens which does duty for a town or village, and many other terms—is borrowed from a foreign tongue. The Zulu name for the weapon is "umkonto." The shaft, with an average length of nearly five feet, and a diameter equal to a man's little finger, is cut from the assagai tree (Curtisia jaginea), which is not unlike mahogany. The wood is brittle yet elastic, the latter quality giving the spear that peculiar vibratory motion on which its accuracy of flight so much depends. On account of the brittleness, a novice will break many shafts before he learns to throw his assagai secundum artem. Inaptly cast, the shaft as soon as it reaches the ground, is liable to whip forward and break off short above the blade, a circumstance which was astutely taken advantage of, on one occasion, by a celebrated chief. Before joining battle he made his followers cut half way through the staff just above its junction with the metal head. The consequence was that when the spear went home into a human body, the shaft remained intact, but if it struck a shield, a tree, or the ground, it snapped and became useless to the enemy. The assagai heads are generally blade-shaped, some consist of a mere spike, and a few are barbed. When the first shape is adopted, whether with or without the barb, there is invariably a raised ridge along the centre of the blade, which is concave on one side and convex on the other. The reasons assigned for this peculiarity of form are that this blade acts like the feathers of an arrow, and that, as the heads are always made of soft iron, they can be more easily sharpened when blunted by use. By making the tang of the head red-hot the former bores a passage for itself into the thickest end of the shaft, where it is secured by binding a narrow strip of raw and wet hide round the wood. The hide contracts on drying, and thus a simple band is made nearly as strong as if of iron. There are two principal kinds of assagais, the throwing and the stabbing, the latter with a long and straight blade. To a Kaffir this weapon is literally the staff of life. With it he kills his enemy and his game, slaughters and cuts up his cattle, trains their horns, shaves his own or his neighbor's head, does his carpentry and furriery, and countless other jobs of various sorts. In its original form, the assagai was essentially a missile, but the renowned Chaka, among other military reforms, converted it into a shorter and heavier stabbing spear, unfit for throwing, and only to be used at close quarters. His soldiers were armed with a very large shield, and only one assagai, instead of the half dozen or even more with which they used to go into action. This necessitated a change in the old tactics. Thenceforward the men were taught to move swiftly on the enemy in a compact body, and after the hostile assagais were expended on their shields to close. Prospects of reward, and the certainty of the fate that awaited them in case of failure, rendered them almost invincible when opposed to native tribes, and justified the adoption of the new weapon; but when, in the course of time, the Zulus came to encounter the Dutch Boers, new conditions of war arose, and the missile assagais and old style of fighting were restored to favor. Chaka's uncompromising weapon and tactics were found to be useless against horsemen who, after delivering fire, galloped away out of reach to reload. It would appear, however, from the description of the action at Isandula, that Cetewayo has reverted to the stabbing assagai of his uncle, while retaining the original missile, in addition to the firearms with which many of his soldiers are now armed. The true Kaffir rejects the use of the bow and arrow, as unbecoming the dignity of a warrior, but he will slave cheerfully a twelvemonth or more to become the possessor of a rifle and ammunition.

Notwithstanding the prohibitory laws about the importation of firearms into the South African Colonies, there is reason to believe that four hundred thousand guns of various kinds have passed into the hands of natives. Cetewayo is known to have received several thousand rifles through St. Lucia and Delagoa Bays, some of which went from Birmingham and some from Genoa at a time when war between England and Russia was hanging in the balance.—Public Opinion.

MR. GEO. SEWELL, of Memramcook, N. B., writing from Moncton, N. B., under date of May 7, 1878, says:—

Dear Sir—In January last I came to Moncton from Memramcook to consult a physician as I was in the last stage of consumption. When I arrived here I had at once to go to my bed and was so low I never expected to leave it. A physician was called who pronounced my case as hopeless; that I might live a week or two, but certainly not more. As a last resort he recommended Robinson's Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. I purchased a bottle and after taking the first dose I commenced to improve. It seemed, after taking a dose, as if I had eaten a good, hearty meal. I have continued taking it ever since and am rapidly improving. I am confident had it not been for your Oil I would have been in my grave to-day. You are at liberty to use this in any way you wish as I am anxious to let others, who are afflicted in the same way, know, in hope they, too, may receive the same benefit.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours respectfully, &c.

Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. For sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

An article upon grief in the chimpanzee is contributed to the American Naturlist by Mr. Arthur E. Brown, of the Zoological Garden at Philadelphia. He shows that the feelings manifested by one of the chimpanzees in the collection there at the death of his mate were undoubtedly those of extreme sorrow. The most marked manifestations of his grief were moans, plaintive cries, and efforts to tear the short hair with which he is clothed. Since the death of his companion the surviving chimpanzee also evinces a stronger attachment to his keeper than before. Mr. Brown thinks that the first intensity of the animal's sorrow has not been succeeded by any vivid memory of the lost mate, however, and he believes that any high degree of permanence in grief of this nature belongs exclusively to man.

Nothing is more certain than that human conduct produces its effect upon human character and determines its future weal or woe. Virtue and uprightness give the pure heart and clear conscience, whose working is an ample reward for effort and sacrifice. Vice and wrong inevitably leave marks upon the soul, and tend to misery.

The Ontario Elections.

The Globe announces to-day that the writs for the Ontario Elections will be issued so that nominations will take place on Thursday, 29th of May, and the polling on Thursday, 5th of June. Thus it will be seen that there is but little time for preparation, but we have no doubt that our friends will make the most of the time at their disposal.

The selection of the Conservative candidate for West Hastings will take place on Saturday next, when the Convention will assemble in the rooms of the Liberal-Conservative Association, INTELLIGENCER building.

The gentlemen appointed to select a candidate for the East Riding have not been able to agree on the merits of the several aspirants, and in consequence have relegated the selection to a mass meeting of the party, to be called by the President of the Liberal-Conservative Association.

There is fortunately no lack of material from which to select candidates, and we hope that in each instance the best man may be selected and that the party will, as heretofore, go to the polls with that hearty unanimity which has heretofore characterized them, in which case they will carry all three divisions of the County. This is no time for divisions or lack of unanimity or spirit. The political enemy is in the field; he is wily and corrupt, but his forces are wavering and hesitating. A united charge of the Conservatives will secure the victory, and we hope and believe that that movement will be made in the manner and with the result which we have indicated. Let all work together harmoniously, and there will be no room for doubt, in Hastings at least.

MEXICO.—It is reported from Ojo Caliente, New Mexico, that Victoria and his whole force of warm Spring Apache Indians escaped on the 15th inst., to San Mateo mountains. The cavalry will endeavour to capture the Indians before they commit depredations.

AFGHANISTAN.—A London special of the 20th inst., says:—A Lahore despatch says decisive news of Yakoob Khan's intentions is expected on the 23rd or 24th inst. He will most probably consent to receive Major Cavagnari, although those who think he will shortly come to terms are in a decided minority.

BURMAH.—A London cable of the 20th inst. says:—A Bombay despatch says according to intelligence received from Mandalay, the King has declared to his counsellors that fear had hitherto made him yield to the British demands, but henceforth he would neither listen nor speak of proposals for accommodation with England.

$1,000,000 FIRE.—At Eureka, Nevada, on the 19th inst., a fire burned half the town, including the heaviest business houses, hotels, newspaper offices, telegraph office, the Masonic building, and a great number of dwellings. Three hundred families are destitute, and 2,000 people without shelter. A relief committee has been organized. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

STEAMBOATS IN THE DOMINION.—The report of the chairman of the Board of Steamboat Inspectors show that 1,178 engineers' certificates were granted during the year and $2,880 paid on this account. The gross tonnage of steamboats in the Dominion in 1878 was 155,064, as against 118,588 in 1877 and 91,298 in 1873. The registered tonnage in 1878 was 95,337, in 1877 71,713 and in 1872, 56,454. The number of steamers in 1869 was 401 and in 1878, 771. The number of steamers lost, broke up, or put out of service during 1878 was 38.

A WARNING.—A warning to emigrants en route for Manitoba and the Northwest Territory is published by Mr. Wm. C. B. Grahame, Dominion Government Immigration Agent at Duluth, Minn., U. S. It reads as follows:—"You are requested to beware of laand agents and others similarly interested, while on the American side, who will meet you at railway depots and on board trains, and who will use every maans in their power to dissuade you from going to Manitoba. These men will doubtless offer you wonderful inducements to remain and settle in the Western States. They will very likely tell you plausible stories of the severe climate, the unproductiveness of the soil, the fearful plague, and of the hundreds of their 'personal acquaintances,' who would be glad to leave the Province if they only had the means. To all of which, I would say, 'Turn a deaf ear.' Go on to your destination, and when there, exercise the right of judgment for yourselves."

NOTES BY THE WAY.

BY RAIL TO CAMPBELLFORD.

Accepting the invitation of Mr. Bickford, contractor of the Grand Junction Railway, the writer, in company with that gentleman, Mr. Kelso, President of the Road, Mr. Fauquier, and two or three others, started, on Friday morning the 12th inst., on a trip to Campbellford by rail. Our train comprised the engine, in charge of Harry Kelly, a very careful and experienced driver, a platform car laden with iron work for the railway bridge at Campbellford, and a conductor's van. The iron work, which, by the way, consisted of bolts, rods, and other material used in the construction of a bridge, was brought all the way from Peterborough by the Midland to Port Hope, by Grand Trunk to Belleville, and thence to Campbellford by Grand Junction. It looked like "bringing coals to Newcastle," for with our large iron works in Belleville, surely such material could have been obtained as readily and as cheaply here as at Peterborough, and thus the cost of transportation over two roads would have been saved. But we presume the contractor, Mr. Dinwoodie, figured the cost before selecting his market.

The road to Stirling was in fair condition, but of course until thoroughly ballasted cannot be expected to be very even. The work of ballasting is now going on, large gangs of men being employed at the gravel bed about a mile this side of Wallbridge's Mills, and at different points on the road. The work is being done in a most thorough manner, and when completed it will be one of the best roads in the country. Repairs are being made to the bridges between the Junction and Stirling—the one which was burned last fall has been substantially rebuilt, and the large one over Rawdon Creek is being strengthened by new supports. The ties seem to be nearly all number one, the road bed appears to be well made, but to non-railroader's eyes rather narrow in places where the embankment was high. Cautiously our driver crept at the rate of five or six miles an hour over what seemed to be uneven surfaces and defective places, and then again when his keen eye discovered a good roadbed, he would push his iron horse on at a speed of twenty miles an hour.

At Stirling station a brief halt was made to take on a few carts and shovels; and although only remaining here some fifteen minutes it was time enough to attract nearly all the small boys of the village and a few of the old ones, whose curiosity was excited as to the cause of all the uproar which the continued shrieks of the whistle and the ringing of the bell as the train passed through the village, had produced. The station building, by the way, is in a most dilapidated condition for a new building, the floors in some places having been taken up, some of the windows and doors being wanting, altogether presenting a picture somewhat resembling the "ruined factory" in Mechanicsville Village, during the reign of Kings Mackenzie and Cartwright. However, we presume this will all be put to rights in the good time coming, and the Station building will be made worthy the good town in which it is located. A cursory glance from the platform of the car as the train passed through the village showed most tangible evidence of its growth and and prosperity. To the right and left of us were new and imposing buildings—private residences, which would compare favorably with any in our own beautiful City—Churches, whose lofty spires, and substantial surroundings, showed, that while in the pursuit of the riches that perish, the people were at the same time anxious to secure that wealth, which does not take wings and fly away—massive school buildings, giving additional evidence that the people value and appreciate the great bulwark of our nation's greatness—a free education and an open Bible—fine blocks of brick stores, filled with the choicest fabrics the country is able to produce, as the advertisement would say. Most of these improvements have been made within a few years, and are evidences of the village's growth and prosperity. No doubt when the Railway is fully opened for traffic, the business of the village will improve with still greater rapidity.

Leaving Stirling about 11 o'clock, our driver moved still more cautiously, for no ballasting had been done on this section of the road, and in fact no engines had gone over the track since last fall. The frost was not out of the ground in some places, and wherever there was a low marshy spot the track was very uneven. About a mile from Stirling, while quietly smoking our Havanas, and creeping along at the rate of probably four miles an hour, our van made some mysterious movements which were due to something more than an uneven track. We were not long left in doubt, for in a moment more it was evident we had left the iron and were endeavoring to make headway over the ties. This was slow work, however, and very soon the train came to a stand-still, and all hands went out to view the situation. It was soon comprehended, and various were the speculations indulged in as to the future of the journey. Some said, the train would be all right again in an hour—others that it would be nightfall before the cars could be put on the track again—and others that there were worse places ahead, and we would never get to Campbellford until the frost was out of the ground, and the track put in thorough order. Two or three thought of footing it back to Stirling, and there taking stage for home; but after a closer examination of the wreck and consultation with the driver, all determined to stick to the ship. It was not a very bad wreck, after all. The front truck of the tender was off, the brake smashed, and the forward truck of the van was off. Anticipating some such trouble, all the machinery for getting a train on a track had been provided, and it was not long before the jack was in its place, levers were procured, and operations commenced. The work, however, necessarily progressed but slowly, and it being high noon by this time, a foraging party started out in quest of something to satisfy the inner man. Fortunately a farm house was close by, which the "captain" entered and made known our wants. The good housewife speedily responded by inviting us in, and made us happy by giving each a bowl of fresh milk and home-made bread, which, we need scarcely say, was right heartily relished.

The track where we got off was in a sort of quagmire, frost was out of the ground on one side of the track, while on the other the ground was hard as a stone. Willing hands there were, however, and good engineering skill, so that in the course of two hours the train was again on the metals; the whistle sounded, brakes were loosened, and for the next quarter of a mile our progress was snail-like, the roadway being in a low, swampy place, and the word "danger" seen at every tie. A section gang were at work here, and instructions were left to have the track repaired by the time the train returned. During the remainder of the journey nothing of importance occurred, except that every mile or so the train would have to stop in order to let down the fences, which the farmers living along the line had put up to keep their cattle from straying on the track. At the slow rate of speed at which we were going, ample opportunity was given to view the state of the road. With the exception of one or two such places as above described, the roadbed appeared to be in capital condition. The culverts seemed to be well constructed, the ties number one and close together, and Hoar's bridge—the only one between Stirling and Campbellford—is built in a most substantial manner. The track is laid with steel rails throughout, with the exception of about three quarters of a mile on which Great Western Rails were used. These are to be taken up at once and replaced by steel rails. When completed, this piece of the road between Stirling and Campbellford, will be one of the finest on the whole line. The road goes through a level country, there are no bridges except the short one at Hoar's Creek, no cuttings, and only one small embankment of a few rods in length.

Arriving at Campbellford about half-past three o'clock, we only had time for dinner and to unload the car of iron work, as our party was anxious to get back over the bad spots before nightfall. The writer had therefore to forego his intention of taking some notes of Campbellford and the progress it had made since his last visit some years ago; but this can be done at no distant day. It only needed a glance, however, at the main business street to find that though repeated fires had devastated considerable portions of the village, scarcely a vestige of the ruins remained, but in their stead fine blocks of stores had been erected with large plate glass windows, presenting nearly as attractive an appearance as the finest in our own city. Campbellford is situated in a fine farm growing country, and possessed of ample water power to run a hundred mills. With an active, industrious and enterprising community, with extensive factories already established, it needs only an outlet to the front such as will be afforded by the Grand Junction Railway, to put it on the high road to a prosperous future.

At this point a wooden bridge is being built over the Trent for the railway by Mr. Dinwoodie, who has a large gang of men at work. Between Campbellford and Hastings Mr. Bickford has a large number of men grading for the road, a distance of 11 miles. He intends putting on a ballasting train at once between Campbellford and Stirling, and promises to have the road thoroughly finished to Hastings in time to secure the Belleville bonus.

Let us hope that he may succeed, and that then the road may be pushed on without delay to Peterborough and thence to Georgian Bay. Unless the original scheme of opening up connection with the western trade in lumber and grain, by making Georgian Bay the objective point, the grand advantages which have been again and again pictured to us as flowing from the construction of this road, will not be gained. Of course we expect to reap some benefit by the road being opened to Stirling, to Campbellford, to Hastings, and to Peterborough, by securing a portion of the trade of these villages and towns and country surrounding them; but these would be only a small portion of the benefits to be derived, compared with those which we would receive by having Georgian Bay the western terminus of the road. We repeat, therefore, the hope, that the Grand Junction Railway Board will lose no time in perfecting arrangements by which this consummation so long and devoutly wished for, may be achieved.

Leaving Campbellford at half-past four, our train proceeded cautiously on the return, and without any further mishap, we reached Belleville at half-past seven o'clock.

He who climbs above the cares of the world and turns his face to his God has found the sunny side of life. The world's side of the hill is chill and freezing to a spiritual mind, but the Lord's presence gives a warmth of joy which turns winter into summer.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

FRIDAY, April 18.

In the House of Commons the discussion on the items of the tariff was resumed. Up to recess the items on the published list from acids to brass manufactures, twenty-seven in number, were concurred in.

A discussion took place on the item of agricultural implements, 25 per cent., during which Mr. Tilley admitted that he did not expect to derive any revenue from this tariff, but as the price of coal and iron was increased, some compensation had to be given to the agricultural implement manufacturers.

On the items of books a brief debate took place, in which the Opposition, while opposed to the tariff as a whole, requested that religious literature for Sunday Schools be admitted at a lower rate of duty. This the Finance Minister said he could not see his way clear to do.

After recess the items on breadstuffs were considered. Those of barley, 15 cents per bushel; buckwheat, 10 cents; Indian corn, 7½ cents; rice, 1 cent per pound; rye, 10 cents per bushel, were passed with little discussion.

On the item of wheat 15 cents per bushel, Mr. Houde (Ministerial) moved to amend it so as to read that in times of scarcity the Governor-General in Council shall be authorised to issue an order in Council reducing or abolishing the duty on wheat.

Mr. Bourassa (Opposition) moved in amendment to the amendment that the duty of 15 cents per bushel on wheat be eliminated, and wheat be placed on the free list.

The amendment to the amendment was lost on a vote of—yeas, 61; nays, 109; majority against, 48.

Mr. Charlton moved in amendment to the amendment that wheat, coal, and pig iron be placed on the free list. The yeas were 53; nays, 116. Majority, 63.

Mr. Robertson (Shelburne) moved in amendment to the amendment, that the duty of 40 cents per barrel on cornmeal be eliminated, and the same be placed on the free list. Yeas, 57; nays, 113. Majority against, 56.

The Premier requested the mover of the original amendment to withdraw it, and promised that in periods of scarcity his wishes would be carried out.

After discussion the amendment was withdrawn, and the original item was carried, as well as those of peas, beans, buckwheat, also meal and flour, cornmeal, oatmeal, and rye flour.

On the item of wheat flour, fifty cents per barrel, Mr. Vallee (Ministerialist) moved in amendment that the duty be eliminated, and that wheat flour be placed on the free list.

The debate was adjourned.

The House rose at 1:15 a. m.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, APRIL 21.

City and Vicinity.

COUNCIL.—The City Council will meet to-night.

COURT OF CHANCERY.—This Court rose on Saturday, the business brought before it being then concluded.

POLICE.—On Saturday night there was but one tramp in the cells. Last night there were eleven tramps and one prisoner.

OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE.—Amongst the official assignees gazetted in the Canada Gazette of Saturday, we notice the name of George Jackson, of Trenton, for the County of Hastings.

THE TARIFF.—As we anticipated, Mr. Brown voted with the Government in some divisions on the tariff which took place during Friday's sitting of the House of Commons.

ROWING CLUB.—In consequence of other matters there will be no meeting of the Rowing Club held to-night, as was understood. Notice will be given in these columns when the meeting will be held.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Wm. Taylor, brother of Sheriff Taylor, arrived here from San Francisco on Saturday. The climate of the Golden State seems to agree with friend Taylor, judging from his youthful appearance.

GOT A DUCKING.—A young man fell from the ferry pier at the foot of Dundas Street yesterday afternoon, and of course got a thorough ducking, as the water there is about five feet deep. He afterwards tumbled out of a skiff in shallower water.

RETROSPECTIVE.—The first vessel to arrive at Belleville last year was the steamer Shannon, from Picton, which reached here on the 19th of April. The first vessel in 1877 was the schooner Highland Beauty, which arrived from Mill Point on April 14th.

VOTE OF THANKS.—At the Kingston Assizes, Thos. Holden, Esq., of Belleville, conducted the Crown business, and in their presentment the Grand Jury tendered their thanks to that gentleman for his attention and assistance to them in the discharge of their duties.

ENTERED FOR CONSUMPTION.—A return brought down to the Commons shows that the total dutiable goods entered for consumption from the 1st to the 14th of March last, the date of the commencement of the new tariff, were $2,601,482; duty, $635,910; total free goods, $709,227.

DEPUTY JUDGE.—The Canada Gazette of Saturday, contains the following appointment:—"S. S. Lazier, of the City of Belleville, in the Province of Ontario, Esquire, barrister-at-law, to be a Deputy Judge of the County Court of the County of Hastings, in the said Province."

THE BAY.—From Zwick's Island eastward to Massassaga Point and beyond, the bay is clear of ice, except along the shores, where some ice adheres. Big Bay is still covered with strong ice, and west of the island above named the ice, although weak, and rotten, is still unbroken, except in small spots. A southwesterly wind would clear the ice out nicely, and open navigation, at least as far as Mill Point, where the bay is as open as it is here. The Reach is still, we believe, covered with ice.

OPERA HOUSE.—Mr. G. F. Rowe, the celebrated English author and actor, will appear to-night in his excellent dramatization of Dickens' novel "David Copperfield," entitled "Little Emily." Mr. Rowe will be supported by Mr. McDowell's favorite company. The London Times says of Mr. Rowe's "Micawber":—"There are two actors to-day, who have presented dramatic portraits—absolutely perfect in form, spirit and detail. They are Joseph Jefferson, as Rip Van Winkle, and George Fawcett Rowe, as Wilkins Micawber."

A NEW SERIAL STORY BY JEAN INGELOW.—A new serial story by Jean Ingelow will begin in the number of Littell's Living Age for the week ending April 27th. It is published from the author's advance sheets, and opens in a very interesting way. The progress of a new story by this popular author will be eagerly watched. A new volume of The Living Age, by the way, began with the first number of April, affording a good time for the beginning of new subscriptions. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with the Living Age for a year, both post paid. Little & Co., Boston, publishers.

INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS.—A Court of the above order was organized in Napanee on Saturday evening last by Dr. Oronhyatekha, R. W. H. C. R. The officers are as follows: E. James, Esq., Mayor of Napanee, W. C. Ranger; W. S. Williams, V. C. Ranger; W. C. Scott, Sec.; Donald McLiver, Trea.; W. N. Walters, Per. Sec.; D. Henwood, Woodward; S. R. Higley, Senior Beadle; J. Wheeler, Junior Beadle. After election of officers the Court adjourned till this afternoon for the installation of officers. It was named Court Napanee, and starts under very favorable auspices with a membership of seventeen. The order is increasing rapidly throughout Canada, and Courts are about to be established in Belleville, Trenton, Brighton, Cobourg, and Frankford.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.—We learn that leave of absence for six months has been granted to the Hon. George Sherwood, County Judge, on account of ill health. It is to be regretted that the hon. gentleman's health has given way, but we trust that at the expiration of his leave, he will return to the discharge of his duties with health and strength fully restored. T. A. Lazier, Esq., Junior Judge, will officiate as County Judge during the absence of Judge Sherwood, and S. S. Lazier, Esq., who has been appointed Deputy Judge, will act as Junior Judge.

STOLEN PROPERTY RECOVERED.—After quoting our paragraph anent the stealing of a horse and buggy, from Mr. Lawrence O'Brien, of this city, the Brighton Ensign adds:—"The horse and buggy have been recovered by the owner but the alleged thief escaped. It appears that Whitney, alias Henry Denight, the party charged with the theft, has been teaming for Mr. P. Pollard, farmer, 4th con. Hope, for some time past; and a little over a week ago, he left home to go after his horse and buggy, which he said he had left at Belleville. On arriving there he hired the rig from Mr. O'Brien to go to Trenton, ostensibly, and drove home to Pollard's. Mr. O'Brien and the constable accompanying him met Mr. Pollard on the road to market last Wednesday, and having verified the statement that a man answering the description of Whitney was working for him, they employed a man to watch Mr. Pollard's team, and all went back to the farm, and secured the rig, but owing to the undue excitement of Mr. O'Brien, it is said, Whitney became aware of their approach in time to make his escape through the fields and he has not been heard of since. It is stated that the alleged thief was once sentenced to serve two years in the Penitentiary for stealing a horse from Whitmore & GcGee, of Port Hope."

Marine Notes.

The ice is all out of Kingston harbor.

The St. Clair river is badly blocked with ice, and latest advices say that the straits will not be open until May 1st.

The Kingston News says: The steamer Armenia will ply between Kingston and Picton this summer, anything to the contrary in any wise, notwithstanding.

The tug Despatch, arrived at Goderich on her return trip from Cockburn Island, on the 19th. She reports Lake Huron free from ice.

The sailors of Kingston having completed their union, wages have been fixed at $25 a month on this lake, and $1 per day through the canal.

The Port Hope grain is to be shipped to Kingston, thence to Montreal for Europe. The port is open for navigation.

The schooner Annie Mulvey, that was owned by Rathbun & Son, was sold last week to Capt. D. Peace, of Hamilton. She is rated "B 1," carries 17,000 bushels wheat, and is in good condition. The price was said to be $6,000.

Insurance rates this spring are on "A 1" 5 per cent.; "A 2" vessels, 5½ per cent.; "B 1," 7½ per cent.

West Belleville Canada Methodist Church Sunday School.

At the close of the Sunday School yesterday afternoon the Rev. Mr. Locke moved the following resolution:—"Having learned that this is the last Sunday that Bro. J. N. Yeomans will be with us in our Sunday School, and as Brother Yeomans was the organizer and first Superintendent of this West Belleville Sunday School, which he conducted with marked efficiency till he resigned the management in other hands, and as he has up to the present time had charge of one of the most important Bible Classes in the School, which has greatly increased under his care, I therefore desire to move the following resolution, viz, That we, the officers, teachers and scholars of West Belleville Sabbath School, now assembled, hearing of Bro. Yeomans' intention to remove to the City of Winnipeg, do desire to express our sincere regret at losing so eminently successful a Sabbath School worker and so sincere a friend of our school as Bro. Yeomans has proved himself to be, and so earnestly pray that he and his family may arrive in safety at their new home, where we desire they will enjoy all the blessings of a smiling providence, and where we hope Bro. Yeomans will at once find a suitable sphere for Sabbath School work for which he is so well qualified, and to which he is so warmly attached.

R. Richardson, Esq., in rising to second the resolution, regretted that Mr. Yeomans was leaving the school and city. It reminded us that time and things are constantly changing, but he hoped we shall meet again in that place where parting will be unknown. He said he had known Mr. Yeomans for thirty years, and spoke at some length of his zealousness in the cause of the church and Sabbath School both at home and abroad. He never knew any harm of Mr. Yeomans, but quite to the contrary he knew nothing of him but good. He nor no one else could point a finger at any act of Mr. Yeomans where there was the least color of wrong. He hoped that the blessing of the Almighty would accompany Mr. Yeomans and family to their new home. He was sure his zealousness would soon lead him to be actively engaged in Sunday School work there. He had great pleasure in seconding the resolution.

The resolution was also supported by Mr. I. Diamond and Mr. James Ross. The latter put the resolution, which was unanimously carried by all the school rising to their feet.

Mr. Ross, in behalf of the officers and teachers of the school presented Miss Eliza Yeomans with a nice Bible in recognition of her services as organist of the school.

Mr. Yeomans made a very affecting reply, and Miss Yeomans sang and played a beautiful parting hymn.

Secretary.

When the Doctors Don't Disagree.

The Doctors usually let a novelty in medicine or any change in existing remedies, work its way to recognition through a long period of neglect or antagonism, but with unprecedented unanimity they have accepted and prescribed SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH THE HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, and universally declare it to be in consumption, wasting disorders of children, and all scrofulous affections, the finest remedy known. It is also perfectly agreeable to the taste.

Seasonable Topics.

Yesterday was the first real Spring day of the season. The sun shone out brightly and warmly, the birds made melodious music as they fluttered to and fro amongst the leafless trees and soared far up into the blue above—the buds on the soft maples grew measurably larger, and appeared almost ready to burst—the grass in some places showed a decided green—and there was an increasing warmth in the human blood as we felt the first warm breath of spring in our nostrils.

Fall grain on the line of the Grand Junction Railway to Campbellford presents rather a promising appearance.

The Churches were generally filled yesterday, because few could find a really sensible excuse to absent themselves.

The watering cart was out for the first time to-day.

Now that the warm sun is upon us, no time should be lost in observing the Rules of the Board of Health and have a general "clean up."

MORNING DESPATCHES.

VICKSBURG, Miss., April 21.—Jack Burton, captain of the night police, while intoxicated at a low music hall on Saturday night, shot John Dent dead without any provocation.

Capt. Boynton arrived yesterday. His condition is very bad. Fever blisters are beginning to show on his limbs. He is nervous from fear of failure.

SALEM, Va., April 21.—Jas. Adams and Winteer Paine, negro farm hands, quarreled on Saturday. Adams' dead body was subsequently found with the skull crushed. Paine has disappeared.

BALTIMORE, April 21.—The mangled corpse of Patrick Sullivan, laborer on the waterworks, was found on the highway on Saturday night. It is believed he was murdered and robbed by a negro named John Conwell.

BRISTOL, Tenn., April 21.—Deputy Collector Dotson and four assistants were attacked on Friday night in Scott County Va. by moonshiners, near John Cox's illicit still house. A single shot fired from Dotson's party killed Cox.

MONTEZUMA, Ia., April 21.—Owen Cammat beat his mother to death on Saturday night and threw her body on the wood pile. Cammat was captured with difficulty. It is believed that he is insane.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Tennessee bond holders on Saturday adopted a resolution advising a compromise with the State at 50 per cent.

The oil conduit running under East river from New York to Hunter's Point burst yesterday. The oil which covered the river became ignited, and the water presented a sheet of flame for some time.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Washington specials: The Sun says that Mississippi Democratic politicians say now, their Congressmen will hardly oppose Chinese immigration if planters are compelled to seek the services of celestials.

The Times says that an ex-confederate Brigadier and dashing confederate cavalry Major, have been appointed door-keepers in the Senate gallery.

The Herald says, it will be difficult to keep Congress here much longer. Congressmen are getting impatient to go home. If any one on either side had the audacity to offer and advocate in a forcible speech a joint resolution to continue last year's appropriations until 1st January, and adjourn at once, it would get a strong vote, if it did not carry. Republicans fear the President will sign the army bill.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, April 21.—The Times congratulates Sherman upon his success in converting 10-40 bonds, and says that the converstion of the 6 per cent bonds in 1881 is likely to depend more than the present operation on the maintenance of credit in the United States and abroad. It is reviving trade in the United States and will by '81 probably render it impossible to obtain money there at 4 per cent. The Times suggests that Sherman should direct the attention of the Congress and the nation to a policy reducing the capital of the debt, which has been for some time neglected.

A correspondent at Newcaslo-on-Tyne commenting on the firmness shown by the Durham colliery strikers says that in the great strike of 1844 the miners were less possessed of means even than now, yet they were able to hold out four months. Now, as then, the battle will be fought out on moral rather than financial grounds, and when the worst passions are aroused and the strongest prejudices offended of 40,000 to 50,000 men the end is difficult to forecast.

PHILLIPOPOLIS, April 21.—Gen. Stolpine has received instructions to take the necessary measures to commence the evacuation of Roumelia on the 3rd May.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Capt. Brown, commanding the steamer Alaska, reached Victoria on Thursday on his return from Sitka, and reports everything peaceful. To guard against any possible danger, however, he has been ordered to return to Sitka and remain until relieved by the steamer Jamestown.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., April 21.—The steamer Pierrepont arrived at Cape Vincent from Kingston on Saturday evening, the first boat of the season, 41 days later than last year.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 21.—Hon. Wm. H. Kelsey of Geneseo, died last night.

GLASGOW, April 21.—Arrived, State of Indiana.

YPSILANTI, Mich., April 21.—On Saturday night burglars entered the jewellery store of Geo. Larne, and carried off several thousands worth of jewellery.

BRISTOL, April 21.—Arrived, the Devonia.

POKEEPSIE, N. Y., April 21.—Martha Sladder, of Groveville, was found burned to death in bed yesterday with a bottle of whiskey and a pipe by her side.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Gen. Dix's condition is unchanged. He may live until night-fall.

LONDON, April 21.—Mrs. Rousby, the famous actress, is dead.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Indications:—To-day, warmer, partly cloudy; to-morrow warm partly cloudy, rain toward night.

The booty taken by the Zulus at Isandula consisted of 128 waggons, with $250,000 worth of commissariat stores, 300,000 rounds of ammunition, 1,200 Martini-Henry breech-loaders, two Armstrong guns, rocket battery, all the baggage of the General and officers and men of the headquarters camp, and volunteers and mounted police attached to it, about 2,000 oxen, 300 horses, and 50 mules.

FROM St. JOHN, N. B.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 21.—A St. Andrew's despatch states that the schooner Julia Clinch, of that port, had struck on Barthom ledge, and was a total loss. Capt. Maloney and the crew were all saved. They are now in Boothbay, Me.

A despatch from Boston says that the vessel has been found dismantled. The Julia Clinch was 133 tons register, and built in 1865 at St. Andrews.

DR. DEAL, who is a Veterinary Surgeon of great skill, writes from BOWERSVILLE, HARRISON Co., O.: I have given Perry Davis' Pain Killer in many cases of Colic, Cramp and Dysentery in Horses, and never knew it to fail to cure in a single instance. I look upon it as a certain remedy.

PHYSICIANS having Consumptive patients, and having failed to cure them by their own prescriptions, should not hesitate to prescribe Allen's Lung Balsam. It has cured cases where all other remedies have failed. It is harmless to the most delicate child.

In the hard dry cough of Chronic Bronchitis, with its difficult expectoration and labored breathing, the demulcent properties of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime manifests itself in its healing and soothing effect upon the irritated mucous membranes of the Bronchial passages; the cough quickly yields, the breathing is eased, while Nature, thus aided reasserts herself, and where once gaunt Consumption stared the victim in the face, now Hope beckons on to life and health. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00.

SANFORD'S

RADICAL CURE

For

CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

MANCHESTER, MASS.

A Boston Physician says:—

"Since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

How to Prepare a Garden.

Many people commence the preparation of their gardens too early in the season, before the soil has become sufficiently dry and friable. If digging is done when the earth is wet and cloggy, the operation causes the soil to become like unbaked bricks, which afterwards gives a large amount of additional labor to sufficiently pulverize it and render it suitable for seed-sowing and for setting out young plants. It should not, therefore, be commenced until the sun and drying winds have evaporated all excess of water. Spading with a spade is now seldom done by first-class gardeners, the flattened spading fork being used in preference, as the soil can be more thoroughly and better pulverized with it than with a spade. It is also a far better implement for spading among fruit trees, shrubs, and hardy plants in the flower garden, as it does not cut and destroy the surface roots.

Preparing the soil for the kitchen-garden is the first work to be done, as many vegetable seeds do not vegetate freely if sown when the ground is too warm. The first operation is the spreading of the manure, horse manure being the best for general purposes. If hog, sheep, or chicken manure is to be used, it should be first prepared by mixing in with plenty of good dry soil, and breaking down and pulverizing all lumps. This will enable it to be more evenly and easily spread, for if left in a lumpy state one plant is liable to have too much manure, while another may not have any, ar at any rate less than its share. Horse or stable-yard manure should have all the long straw, corn stalks or other rubbish well shaken out of it. It is not necessary for ordinary garden purposes that the manure should be rotted. It may be applied quite fresh, only less of it being used than when rotted, as it is much stronger. Manure should always be very evenly spread, and in small quantities at a time, as when exposed to the action of the sun and the high, drying winds of March and April, a large proportion of its strength is evaporated, and so wasted. The spading fork, when used in digging unoccupied soil, should always be inserted nearly perpendicularly to the depth of eight or nine inches, the slices are not being more than five or six inches wide ; if much wider, the soil cannot be sufficiently pulverized, and if the fork is not inserted to a sufficient depth, the root of the young plant will not penetrate deep enough to enable them to withstand any drought.

The operation of trenching, or digging the soil two or more spades deep, is generally wrongly performed, as the bottom soil is brought to the surface and the top soil buried below. In such cases the soil brought to the surface is almost always poor and of a hungry nature, totally unfitted for young plant life. The proper way of doing it is to open a trench two or more feet wide and a spade deep, throwing the top soil to one side, then spread some manure in the bottom of the trench, and spade it into the bottom soil ; on this throw the top soil of the next trench, incorporating with it some manure, and so on, trench after trench, until the plot is finished, filling up the last trench with the top soil taken from the first trench.

In spading among fruit trees or shrubs, the fork should be much more inclined in the hand, and only thin layers of soil turned over, for if thrust deeper the roots near the surface will be broken and destroyed, to the great injury of the tree. Trees and shrubs require very little manure at any one time, only needing as much as will prevent the exhaustion of the soil by their bearing fruit, and this does not require to be deeply dug in. Flower beds should not be spaded until all the plants have made their appearance above ground, for if done too soon they are liable to be injured by the fork or spade. They do not need much manure, as a general rule.

It is a very common practice for men who are employed to work in gardens, especially when spading among groups of shrubs, to work the beds much higher in the centre than at the sides. This is wrong, as it throws all the rain-fall from the centre to the edges, and the central shrubs do not get their proper supply of moisture. In all cases the surface should be kept quite level. It is a sure sign that the so-called gardener is an ignoramus, and does not understand his business. The operation of spading is considered by most people as a very simple one which any laborer can perform, but it is really a test whether the man employed to do it is a practical gardener or only a common laborer. In the very many cases where a regular gardner cannot be kept the work has to be done by a common laborer, but in such cases his work should be supervised by an intelligent employer, for the success of the garden for the season may largely depend upon its being properly done at first. If the soil is not well pulverized, seeds sown in it do not vegetate freely, or they grow irregularly, and young plants set out in it do not take root freely, and in the case of long-rooted vegetables, produce deformed, tough and stringy roots.—Harper's Bazar.

A Light Soil for Fruit.

"If you ask a gardener what soil he would choose for a garden, he will say a warm, light soil," is the language of Harry Stewart in the Rural New Yorker. "The bugbear of a gardener is a cold clay. Between these two extremes there are many degrees ; but they all verge from the zero of a cold clay soil up to the living, life-giving warmth of the light sandy or gravelly loam. At least such has been my experience and the results of my observation. In a rather wide range of observation, East and West, I have seen that the gravelly soils of the Hudson River counties of New York, the 'oak' soils of Oakland county, Mich., and the light alluvial loams of Kansas, not to forget the sandy loams of Delaware and Maryland, all produce fruit of the finest flavor, the fairest quality and richest color ; while the trees arrive at good old age in the highest health and vigor. Light soils are naturally well drained ; they are soon warmed by the sun's rays, and retain their warmth for a long period ; they respond immediately to the application of manure and are thus soon made rich. For these reasons I would choose a light loam wherein to plant fruit trees, with a fair proportion of gravel in it derived from limestone or micaceous rocks if possible."

Palatable Medicines.

Not many years ago all medicines were copious in quantity and nauseous to the taste. In the advancement of medical science, nauseous drugs have been made palatable and small doses have taken the place of large ones, until recently Cod Liver Oil, the greatest food and medicine in the world for the Consumptive or Emaciated invalid, has been intolerable to take. But in SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL WITH THE HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA this has been entirely overcome, and it is as pleasant as sweet milk.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party ? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh ; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS. They will right them.

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS ?

Sickness prevails everywhere, and everybody complains of some disease during their life. When sick, the object is to get well ; now to say plainly that no person in this world that is suffering with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and its effects, such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, palpitation of the Heart, Depressed Spirits, Biliousness, etc., can take GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER without getting relief and cure. BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP can now be purchased right at home, it is the most successful preparation ever introduced to our people. It works like a charm in all cases of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhages, Asthma, severe Coughs, Croup and all other Throat and Lung Diseases. No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

NIHILISM IN RUSSIA.

History of its Origin, Rise and Progress.

The attempt on the life of the Czar, taken in connection with the recent assassination of Prince Krapotkine and the attempted killing of General Von Drentelin, attracts renewed attention to the secret order which now keeps the people of Russia in a state of terrorism. A brief sketch of the rise and progress of this dreadful society will, therefore, be read with interest. The birth of free ideas in Russia dates from a few years previous to the accession of Emperor Nicholas I., in 1825, at which time a secret society was formed, under the name of "Decabristy,' (Decemberists), called after the month in which a revolution occurred at St. Petersburg. Citizens of St. Petersburg remember that terrible day, December 19, 1825, as one of dreadful carnage. All the principal streets of the capital were red with the blood of the victims. The principal leaders of this secret society were Pestal, Rylieff, Bestuzaff Roumin, Mouravieff Apostol, (all of whom were hanged,) Ogareff, Bakounin, Hertzen Iskander, Satin and Toutchkoff. Though many members of the society were hanged, and thousands sent to Siberia by Nicholas I., many escaped or were unsuspected, and continued their work. The object of the secret organization was to dethrone Nicholas I., in order to force a constitutional government, with Constantine Paulovitch (an elder brother of Nicholas I.) at its head. Followers and members of the secret society established a journal in London, called the Kolokol (the Bell,, whose proprietor and editor was the famous red revolutionist, Hertzen (Iskander), who died in Switzerland a few years ago, an exile and under the death sentence of his native country. Hertzen's ideas were exalted, although he sometimes carried them to extremes. Possessing great power of language he acquired much popularity and a powerful influence over Russian youth, who recived, secretly read and hid his journal as some sacred relic, believing in Hertzen as in God. The most remarkable of his productions published in the Kolokol were "Letters from This Side." They contain minute accounts of the most secret affairs of the Imperial Government, as well as the Czar and his family, together with the editor's views and hopes of the future of Russia. His sympathisers and agents penetrated the seclusion of the households of the highest circles of Russian society as well as the private chambers of officials. Hertzen's chief objects were to bring about a representation of the people, to sweep from the face of the earth every member of the Czar's family, the titled aristocracy and the priests, and to make an equal division of all lands. These letters contain much valuable historical material, from the fact that their statements are true to the smallest details. His influence continued strong in Russia until 1858.

The boldness and fascination of his writings, promulgated everywhere, though secretly in Russia, had the tendency to encourage the formation of new societies under various names, such as "Young Russia" (Molodaia Rossia,) "Land and Freedom" and others, all having a common sympathy and purpose with Hertzen. Leaving in the back-ground many of his opinions and views as belonging to a past generation, these societies advanced and adopted new ideas more in accordance with the new era of which they believed they saw the dawn. These ideas were first expressed through two popular journals, Sovremiennik and Ruskovie Slowo' which were suppressed about ten years ago by the Russian Government, and some of their writers sentenced to hard labor for life in the mines of Siberia. Among these were Czernyshevski, who wrote the celebrated Russian romance, "What To Do," Mikhailoff (a poet) and others. The principal leaders of Nihilism at that time were Czernyshovski, Mikhailoff, Antonovitch, Dobroluboff, Pissureff and Nietchaieff. Switzerland gave up the last named person in 1870, on the demand of the Russian Government, under accusation of being one of the assassins of Ivanoff, a member of the Nihilists, who attempted to betray their secrets. They had had opportunity to spread their nihilistic ideas through these journals under most favorable circumstances, as during the interval between 1858 and 1872 comparative freedom of the press existed, which had never been the case previous to that time. On June 7, 1872, an order was issued from the Czar giving power to the Minister of the Interior to punish any undue freedom of the press. Since then there has been nothing but persecution. The above men (except Nietchaieff) were well known and distinguished writers, exercising a powerful influence in the conversion of the opinion of the Russian youth.

The sympathies of the women were so far engaged that they became willing to make great sacrifices to show their total disregard of the existing customs of society. They cut off their long hair, and many entered professions. Many studied successfully and became doctors of medicine. As such stand prominent the names of Souslova, Tangantzovaand Pavlova. Following recklessly the examples of men, they affected contempt for the ceremony of marriage, and entered into the relation of wife without the performance of the legal formalities declaring their intention of renouncing every time-worn custom as a trammel upon the freedom of thought and action. They ridiculed the old notions of their parents, pronouncing them "Otistaloi." They declared that they were no longer satisfied to be only well dressed dolls, with painted faces, but demanded the rights which man enjoyed, and the same opportunities of knowledge; to have position everywhere, and to be useful members of society. "We shall resist our oppressors as enemies to the improvements and progress of women." Tourganieff, in his his novel of "Fathers and sons," attempted a contrast of the old and new generations, struggling for the defence of their respective opinions. But his story does not by any means afford a clear comprehension of the subject. It required a more powerful hand to represent faithfully the shadows and lights of the past and present of the social and political life of the Russian people

Following this work appeared a series of letters by Oknerouzam (Antovitch), published in the journal Otscherki (1864), under the title of "Confessions of a New Generation in Russia," seemingly prepared for the purpose of showing how little Tourganieff really understood, and how poorly he had portrayed the true picture of the direction and progress of opinion among the liberal men of his country. He applied to these representatives of new ideas the name nihilists (from the Latin word nihil, nothing), and from that time the name has been retained and applied. There existed, and still exists, even in private life, a terrible struggle between the old and new representatives. Children adopting the new ideas go to the extreme and disregard all respect or regard for the old order of things. They hold in contempt their parents, who retain cherished beliefs, and consequently the most bitter enmity often exists among those of the closest ties of relationship. Czernyshovski, in "What to Do," presents with great cleverness his opinion of the young generation of Russia. From 1870 the Nihilists began to take decided and important action. The young men spread themselves through the different provinces, propagating the new ideas among the peasantry, presenting them with books and instigating them to revolution. Young ladies, even of the highest ranks of society, dressed themselves as peasants and sought menial employments, that they might instruct others in their peculiar views. Tombovskoie, a wealthy princess, and moving in court circles, was discovered among peasant washerwomen, with a like object. In the schools the young girls nearly all became converts, and no restrictions, no persecutions have been able to arrest the rapid growth of Nihilism.

The result must finally be terrible bloodshed, such as has never been surpassed in the history of mankind. Such a sacrifice of the educated portion of the Russian youth will have its effect for all future time on the history and progress of the nation. Already there is organized a secret government named the Society of General Freedom. The present strength of the movement may be judged from the following facts. From St. Petersburg it was announced, under date of September 14, that, in consequence of an attempt to assassinate Generals Mezentzoff and Makaroff, the local police are in search of the secret government which calls itself "The Society for the Freedom of Russians," and has branches in every province of the empire. The funds of the Geneva committee for the aid of political criminals are already wholly transferred to Moscow. In the city of Rostoy, recently, a spy named Nikonoff was assassinated for revealing a few of the nihilists or socialists to the police. The "Society" issued a proclamation in which it openly avowed its armed organization, and that the sentence of death had been passed on all spies. These declarations caused a panic in St. Petersburg among the agents of the police. The following order of the Czar was issued under date of August 21, 1878:

In the frequency of late of political crimes having the character of clear disobedience and resistance to the powers of the government His Imperial Majesty recognizes a ring of secret criminals, who under the influence of social, revolutionary and other theories, would destroy the whole constitution of the State. These criminals refusing to recognize the necessity of social order, the rights of property, the sacredness of metrimonial ties, or even faith in God, do not hesitate to employ any means, however infamous, in carrying out their plots. They boldly attempt the most heinous crimes, they destroy the public peace and endanger the power of the State—the sacred duty of which is to defend society and counteract criminal purposes. The constant repetition of these unheard of crimes demands the immediate institution of such measures as will inflict the most severe punishment. For that reason we order that all above mentioned criminal cases be tried under the jurisdiction of the military courts, and punishment to be enforced according to the criminal code. We order all such above mentioned persons charged with armed existence to the laws of the government, or charged with attempting to resist military or police agents during the performance of their duty, to be brought under the power of the military courts and sentenced according to Military Order No. 279, issuad 1875. This order appertains to all cases which are not left to the ordinary courts

The great Russian secret society is administrated under the following rules: Six members can form a seperate body, or circle, with full power to act and receive new members, but only with the greatest precautions. A candidate for admission must be recommended as a trustworthy man upon whom reliance can be placed under any circumstances. After satisfactory investigation the circle, in full meeting, votes on the new member. Two votes against him are sufficient cause of rejection. One may be if the opposing member can support his opposition by undoubted evidence of disqualification. A newly chosen member is invited to a meeting of the circle, where he must take the following solemn obligation.

I. A. B., do solemnly, before the altar of my mother country, promise and swear that I will never disclose, under penalty of death, any of the secrets of the "Russian National Secret Society" before any agent of the tyrannical Russian Government, having the Czar at its head, or any one whom I do not actually know to be a member of this Society; that I will sacrifice my life and all that is sacred to me in the struggle against the bloodthirsty tyrants and oppressors of the Russian people; that I will obey and execute every unanimous decision of the circle without hesitation, being ready to sacrifice my life and regardless of any personal danger I may encounter in so doing. I know that I must be ready to fight in the name of the liberty of the Russian people when the moment of rising shall arrive and the grand sign be given calling all to arms. I do solemnly swear that I will resist, in case of an attempt to arrest me or any other member of the Society by the Government agents with whatever weapon is at my disposal at the moment, without fear or regard for personal consequences; that I will not recommend any new member without the knowledge that he is a true friend of the oppressed Russian people; that from the moment I become a member of this "Secret National Russian Society" I regard myself as a sworn enemy of the Russian despotical Government and begin to act against it by every means I can command.

When a circle reaches the number of sixty it is subdivided into ten circles of six each, so that if discovered by the police only six persons will suffer arrest. Into these circles, which meet ostensibly only for social purposes, gathering about the Somaiwar as in the enjoyment of friendly hospitality, it is sought to draw in members from every class of society; military officers of every rank, common soldiers, the middle classes and peasantry. Very few priests favor enough to be admitted. The system is similar to that which existed among the Italians before they gained their freedom.

It is the passion of the day, and the dreadful mystery which envelopes the order add to the fascination. Every member according to his means, makes weekly or monthly payments to the treasurer. Money is used for the purchase of arms, the propagation of free ideas among the peasantry—each circle sending an armed agent on this errand. In every town and large village of Russia there are so many circles that had the government a true conception of the extent of their number it would be even more seriously alarmed than it is.

Besides this there are 14,000,000 of the socalled old faith men (Starovier). They are divided into various sects, among whom exist most dangerous elements. They employ agents who go from village to village spreading their faith, and declaring that the Czar and his family are agents of the devil. They endure every form of persecution, and in the event of a general uprising of the people could be counted on as firm friends of the Nihilists. They are scattered from Astrakhan to the White Sea, but are more numerous about the Volga River. The Starovier are all able to read and write and are liberal in their ideas, having much sympathy with peasants. There are multitudes of Poles among those circles waiting for the promised uprisings to recognize their opportunity for freedom. No oppression, no knouts, no chains in Siberia can stay the progress of events which hastens the fierce death struggle which will be made for freedom of press and opinion in Russia.

The Zulu War.

The important news which we print from the seat of war in Zululand, will be welcomed with hearty feelings of satisfaction by every one of our readers. Not only have the barbarian Zulus been defeated with immense loss, thus revenging the massacre of a portion of the gallant 24th and their native allies, but Col. Pearson and his little band who held Ekowe for two months against the swarming hosts of the Kaffirs, have been delivered from the horrible fate which seemed to be impending over them. With the few particulars as yet learned, it is impossible to speak at length of the achievements of the relieving column, whose appearance must have been as welcome to the small garrison of Ekowe as was that of Havelock and his troops to the despairing defenders of Lucknow during the mutiny in India. The action seems to have been a most stubborn one, as the savage enemy appear to have yielded only after one-fifth of their total number had been placed hors de combat; but British pluck and vim are not to be denied; the breech-loader is a decided overmatch for the assegai; and the savages have been punished with a severity which may not improbably cause their leaders to sue for peace. The loss of the British has been severe, but such an enemy cannot be subdued without bloodshed, and those who have fallen have died doing their duty in the service of their country, yielding up their lives at the call of duty, to save those of their beleaguered fellow countrymen. A soldier's death has been theirs—dead on the field of honor should be their epitaph.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—The report of Col. Brunel, Commissioner of Inland Revenue, on Weights and Measures, shows the total expenses for the year ending 30th June, 1878, to have been $76,719, and the receipts $29,838. During the same period 4,954 gas-meters were presented for verification.

NORTH WEST RECRUITS.—The Ottawa Citizen says:—"The 500 recruits for the Manitoba Mounted Police will leave for the scene of their labors on the 1st of May. Ottawa only furnishes 35 of the whole number, and Montreal about 37, out of several hundred appointments. The remainder of the force comes from the West. The men are all said to be of fine physique and young.

INVITATION TO VISIT ILLINOIS.—The Governor-General has received an address from the inhabitants of the village of Argyle, Illinois, comprising nearly four hundred families, formerly tenants of the Duke of Argyle, inviting him to visit them on the occasion of their exhibition in September next. The Marquis, in his reply, while not declining the invitation, feels constrained to say that he will be unable to visit them at so early a date.

EMIGRATION FROM GREAT BRITAIN.—The emigration in 1877, according to British returns, was 113,439 of British origin—an increase of 25 per cent. over the emigration—unusually small—of the previous year. The increase in 1878 was, English, 22 per cent., Scotch 34, Irish 27. Of the British emigrants, 54,065 went to the United States, 10,697 to Canada, and 36,057 went to the Australian colonies, each of these showing a marked increase over the previous year. It is thought that the emigration from England this year will be far larger than it has been during any former year, and that a very large proportion will come either to Canada or the United States.

LOSS IN TEMPERANCE RANKS.—The temperance ranks of Great Britain have met with two severe losses—the first is the death of Sir Walter Treveylan, at the advanced age of 80 years. It was at a liberal banquet, in honor of Sir George Gray, in 1818, that Sir Walter avowed his temperance principles. He was President of the Alliance of the National Temperance League and of the London Temperance Hospital. Over the Alliance he presided for twenty-six years. Mr. John Fraser, also just dead at the age of eighty-five years, brought out The True Scotsman, in which he advocated total abstinence at a time when such advocacy was considered an act almost of madness. His family, as vocalists and instrumentalists, are known on this side of the Atlantic under the title of "The Fraser Family."

Our Insolvent Law.

We a short time ago gave a general expression of our views on the question of the Insolvent law of the Dominion. A recent number of the Fortnightly Review contains a concise yet comprehensive article on the subject of bankruptcy legislation in England, expressing views identical with those we have advocated.

We offer no apology for making several extracts from the article in question, which we commend to our readers for careful perusal. It is to be found in the March number, at page 469. The objects of a bankruptcy law are summed up as follows:—

> The ideal of a sound bancruptcy law is that it shall accomplish swiftly, cheaply, and justly four things, viz. (1) the collection and distribution of the property of the bankrupt among his creditors according to their rights and priorities; (2) the realization of that property, whatever may be its multifarious or scattered character, in the best manner and at the smallest cost; (3) such an examination of the bankrupt himself, his conduct, affairs, and character, as will in the public interest effectually distinguish in the verdict of final discharge between the honest, the unfortunate, the reckless, and the bad; and (4) lastly, that all this shall be done by a practical blending of the functions of the public tribunal, seeking only the ends of justice; and of the action of the private creditor, devoted chiefly to his escape from the loss he has incurred by turning the bankrupt's assets to the best account."

There has been a bankruptcy law in England since the time of Queen Elizabeth, frequently repealed and amended, and never working satisfactorily; and the practical difficulty experienced in England is the same as here,—by substituting the word "insolvency" for "bankruptcy" and we adopt the language of the article referred to as follows: "Oddly enough as it may appear, it is not the less true that the root difficulty of a good bankruptcy law in this country consists in the unwillingness of the creditors—that is, of those who have actually lost money frequently to a large amount by the bankrupt—to follow up with activity and energy the measures necessary to expose misconduct, or even to realize assets in the best way." This "root" difficulty, we venture to assert, will continue to exist so long as the liquidation of the estate and the realization of the assets, remain in the hands of the creditors. The experience of the past is warrant for our prediction for the future. We will not repeat the reasons for this anomalous state of affairs. Sufficient to know such is the fact, here and in England; and we believe the same practical difficulty existed in the United States when they had a bankruptcy law.

Now it is in this "root difficulty" that all the practical objections to an insolvent law consist, for if the creditors would in every instance give prompt and continued attention to each estate, realizing every cent possible, tracing up and punishing every fraud, resolutely refusing almost every compromise, determined to lessen the facilities for insolvency and to destroy the traffic in bankrupt estates—the number of insolvencies would soon diminish, trade would be in a much more healthy condition, and the insolvency law would be a blessing instead of an evil. The honest deserving retailer would more readily be able to pay 100 cents on the dollar, and live; the deserving wholesale man would have less anxiety in selling goods, and the public at large would be a vast gainer. As things are now, commercial morality has, since the introduction of an insolvent law, sadly retrograded. Honest traders have become poorer, while speculative dealers, with everything to gain and nothing to lose, knowing little and caring less about business rules and morality, have increased most alarmingly.

In England there have been three schemes and theories of Bankrupt law, all failures:—

> First, there was the mixed system of creditors' control and legal interference, in the form of the Commissioners of Bankrupts, which prevailed to 1831, combined with an oppressive power of imprisoning the debtor. Second, there was the Officialism of the Court of Review, the District Courts, the official assignees, messengers, ushers, brokers, &c., placed by the law in compulsory charge of the estate, to the practical exclusion of the creditors. And lastly, there is the Paid Trustee system set up in 1869, on the abolition of officialism and in pursuance of the theory that, as the realization of the property in the best manner was for the direct benefit of the creditors, they would vigilantly superintend the process.

Our system, amended several times since 1864, has been based upon the last of the three, and this system in Canada has proved as great a failure as in England. The second or official system has not been tried here, but after 38 years trial in England it was proved to be an "utter and disastrous failure."

The English Government have introduced into the present Parliament a bill which will constitute a fourth system, by a blending of the "official" and the "paid trustee system," and as we understand the report of the Committee of our own House of Commons is in the same direction. At first sight nothing can be fairer than that an insolvent and his estate should be left entirely in the hands of his creditors, but as we have pointed out, they cannot, will not, attend to it; under the present system a good estate is liquidated any way and a dead insolvent gets through some way. Whatever machinery be provided for the liquidation of insolvent estates, we are persuaded that it is absolutely necessary that each estate should be liquidated on the spot. The abuse of the system of creditors chosing their own trustee in England is clearly pointed out in the article quoted above, and we know there are other equally cogent objections here, if the right to select be given to the creditors the choice should be limited to some one residing in the same locality as the insolvent, where there will always be a few creditors able and willing to assist in the liquidation. The proposal to appoint Insolvent Judges is, we believe, a good one, and we question whether or no the County Attorney or some other professional man specially appointed by the Government ought not to be intrusted with the duty of seeing that every estate is liquidated properly in the interest of the creditors and public.

It is admitted on all hands that it is not simply a private question, of interest to the creditors and insolvent alone, but a great public question in which the public at large are concerned, the same as they are with any other question which affects any of the industries or matters of the State; and it having been conclusively proved that the creditors, apparently the most directly interested, will not perform their duty to themselves and so not to the public, does it not follow that the public should take hold of the question in the interests of the public and see that its interests are protected, and in so doing save the creditors from themselves? It not unfrequently happens with us that the attorney selected by the assignee in behalf of the creditors is or has been selected and feed by the insolvent, perhaps on account of a reputation he has, and mayhap cultivated for procuring compositions and discharges from a body of creditors for whom he often acts.

Our Act, as well as the English Act, is pervaded by the fatal defect of supposing that the vigilance and zeal of the creditors for their own and the public interest will be sufficient to ensure the best realization and earliest distribution of the assets, as well as the most fitting treatment of the bankrupt himself on grounds of commercial merit and public justice. And our system has developed the same abuses as the English, and here, as well as there, "the exceedingly lucrative nature of the office of paid trustee has, speaking generally, rapidly created a large body of persons, accountants, solicitors, and others who seek to extend their occupations and their gains by establishing a reputation among debtors for the audacity, astuteness, and the stubborness with which they protect from disagreeable consequences even the most questionable insolvents who become their clients.

ZULULAND.

ANOTHER BATTLE.

The Zulus Defeated.

EKOWE RELIEVED.

LONDON, April 22.—Advices from Capetown, April 6th, via St. Vincent, says:—"Lord Chelmsford's camp at Ginglelova, on the road to Ekowe, was attacked at daybreak, on April 3rd, by 11,000 Zulus, who made frequent and desperate attacks on all sides, but were repulsed and pursued with great loss.

Four hundred and seventy-one Zulus were found dead round the trenches. The final attack was led by Dabulmanzi, who commanded at Isandula. Lieut. Johnson of the 99th Regiment and four privates were killed. Colonel Northey of the 60th Regiment, the surgeon and fifteen men were severely wounded. Colonel Crealock, Major Barrow and ten men were wounded.

On the 4th inst. Lord Chelmsford, with the 91st, 60th and 57th Regiments and a body of marines, left the camp and relieved Ekowe during the night. Col. Pearson and his garrison have reached Umsindusi, and will arrive at the Tugela on April 7th.

During the investment 28 men died, and one hundred and twenty-eight were put on the sick list. Ekowe had been totally evacuated.

NOTE.—The evacuation mentioned above is presumably by the old garrison.

IMPORTANT RUMORS.

LONDON, April 22.—A despatch dated Cape Town, April 8th, to Reuter's Telegram Company, says: In the fight between Col. Wood's command and the Zulus on the 22th March, the retreat of the Zulus was cut off, and a hand-to-hand fight ensued.

Col. Weatherly, his son, Capt. Barton, Baron Vonsteelroka, and 70 men were killed, and on the 29th Lieuts. Nicholson and Bright were killed; Major Hackett was severely wounded, and Lt. Smith and Captains Gardiner, Cox, and Pearce, were wounded. The total of British losses in both engagements is estimated at 220 killed and wounded. The Zulus lost 2,500 men.

It is rumored at Pretoria and Natal that the Boers intend investing Pretoria, and thereafter detain Sir Bartle Frere as a hostage, unless their demands are complied with. It is rumored also that Frere is returning to Natal.

The transport Clyde has been wrecked on Layer's island. All the crew were saved, but the stores were lost, and the ship sunk.

STILL LATER.

ANOTHER SANGUINARY BATTLE.

ZULUS REPULSED.

BRITISH LOSS 400.

LONDON, April 22.—A telegram dated Cape St. Vincent, April 22d, says that Col. Wood's column had been attacked near Luneberg by a large number of Zulus, and the enemy repulsed with great loss. British loss, 7 officers and 400 men. The troops fought gallantly, but appear to have been taken by surprise.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous diseases.

MR. GEO. SEWELL, of Memramcook, N. B., writing from Moncton, N. B., under date of May 7, 1878, says:—

Dear Sir—In January last I came to Moncton from Memramcook to consult a physician as I was in the last stage of consumption. When I arrived here I had at once to go to my bed and was so low I never expected to leave it. A physician was called [who pronounced my case as hopeless; that I might live a week or two, but certainly not more. As a last resort he recommended Robinson's Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. I purchased a bottle and after taking the first dose I commenced to improve. It seemed, after taking a dose, as if I had eaten a good, hearty meal. I have continued taking it ever since and am rapidly improving. I am confident had it not been for your Oil I would have been in my grave to-day. You are at liberty to use this in any way you wish as I am anxious to let others, who are afflicted in the same way, know, in hope they, too, may receive the same benefit.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours respectfully, &c.

Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. For sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

When the Doctors Don't Disagree.

The Doctors usually let a novelty in medicine or any change in existing remedies, work its way to recognition through a long period of neglect or antagonism, but with unprecedented unanimity they have accepted and prescribed SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH THE HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, and universally declare it to be in consumption, wasting disorders of children, and all scrofulous affections, the finest remedy known. It is also perfectly agreeable to the taste.

POLICE.—There were one prisoner and three tramps in the cells last night.

CITY COUNCIL.—A quorum of members did not assemble last night, consequently no business could be transacted.

THE VICTORY IN ZULULAND.—The flag of the No. 1 Belleville Rifles was flung out to the breeze to-day in honor of the success achieved by British arms in Zululand.

THE BAY.—The ice in the upper part of the bay was breaking up to-day before a gentle south-west breeze, and the ferry steamer had some difficulty in making her trips owing to the floating ice. The early opening of navigation may now confidently be looked for.

A POPULAR SONG.—The Minstrel and Concert troupes are all singing Will L. Every lover of a pretty song will want this piece. Send 35 cents to the publishers, W. L. THOMPSON & Co., East Liverpool, Ohio.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES. — From the official report as to weights and measures, which forms supplement No. 11 to the report of the Ministers of Inland Revenue, we learn that the expenditure in the working of the Act in this County during the year ending June 30th, 1878, was $761.25, being $75 for office rent, and $600 for the Inspector's salary, $86.25 for travelling expenses and contingencies, whilst the fees collected amount to $227.58, being an expense to the county of $533.67. The Inspector verified 718 Dominion weights, 48 tolerated weights, 239 Dominion measures, 24 toterated measures, 2 measures of length, 58 equal arined balances, 8 steel-yards, 127 platform scales, weight bridges, &c., and 15 irregular weights.

OPERA HOUSE.—The performance of Mr. George Fawcett Rowe's dramatization of Charles Dickens' highly popular novel "David Copperfield," under the title of "Little Em'ly," by the author, supported by Mr. McDowell's dramatic company, attracted a large audience to the Opera House last night and gave much satisfaction. Dickens' novels are admittedly very difficult to dramatize, but Mr. Rowe has succeeded in making a deeply interesting drama of the portions of the story which he has selected. His rendition of the role of Micawber was one of the finest things ever seen on the local stage, or for that matter anywhere, every shade of the character being brought out with the most amusing effect, and the audience testified their approbation by loud and frequent applause. Mr. Ford Hight and Mr. Charles Arnold gave admirable portraitures of Daniel and Ham Peggotty, both playing with a naturalness and power which did great credit to their abilities. Mr. Gilmour as David Copperfield and Mr. McDowell as Mr. Wickfield and James Steerforth, were acceptable, whilst Mr. Mark Smith cleverly personated that "'umble" scoundrel Uriah Heep. The female characters were also well sustained. Mrs. McDowell's "Little Em'ly" was an artistic and touching picture of the trusting and deceived young girl, whilst Miss McCall exhibited a good deal of emotional power as Martha Endel, the outcast. Miss Theresa Newcomb enacted the totally dissimilar characters of Mrs. Micawber and Rosa Dartle with marked ability, and Mrs. Allan was sufficiently "crusty" as Betsy Trotwood. Miss Carlotta Evelyn looked the character of Agnes Wickfield and enacted it fairly, except in the scene where the detested Heep demands her of her father in marriage, in which she lacked in feeling and expression. The company is on the whole a strong one and deserving of success. To-night the famous burlesque comedy "Engaged," by W. S. Gilbert, author of the libretto of "Pinafore," will be given, with Mr. Rowe in his celebrated portraiture of "Cheviot Hill." The play will be handsomely mounted, as Mr. McDowell procured new costumes especially for it from Madame Grainger, the celebrated costumer of New York.

St. George's Day.

To-morrow the members of the St. George's Society of this city will celebrate the anniversary of their patron Saint, and invite all Englishmen and descendants of Englishmen who are not members of the Society to join with them in doing so. The programme is as follows: Assemble at the Marble Hall at 2:30 p.m., and proceed in procession to Christ Church, where a sermon appropriate to the occasion will be preached by the Rev. W.C. Clarke, LL.D., the Rector, who is one of the Chaplains of the Society. The annual dinner will take place in the evening at the Dafoe House, at which the usual programme of toast, speech and song will be gone through with. We hope that fair weather will smile upon the occasion, which promises to be one of much interest.

As there is a good deal of doubt concerning the history of St. George, which is legendary, the following extract regarding the origin and career of the chivalrous saint will be of interest in this connection:—Butler, a very reliable historian, maintains that St. George was born of Christian parents in Cappadocia, obtained high distinction in the army, and was beheaded for his faith under the Emperor Diocletian. A thousand heroic achievements have been accredited to St George. He slew an immense and ferocious dragon, and is said to have saved a king's daughter as the monster was about to devour her. It is in the performance of this chivalric deed that he is represented on horseback, armed with a lance and piercing the dragon. St. George was the patron saint of Genoa, as well as of England, and he is particularly honored in Russia. In ancient times in England, when knighthood was conferred the Sovereign, addressing the knight, used to say, "God and St. George make thee a good knight." Whoever may have been the real character of the saint he has been held in the highest honor in England from a very early period. In the calendars of both the Greek and Latin Churches he shared the 23rd of April in common with other saints. A Saxon Martyrology, however, declares that the day was dedicated to him alone, and ever since the time of the Roman Conquest the day had been celebrated by Englishmen in the most approved manner. In 1344, the feast was made memorable by the creation of the Order of the Garter, of which St. George is patron, and other knights of which have their stalls in in St. George's Chapel, Windsor, England. The order of St. Michael and St. George, has recently been instituted. Among Englishmen's forefathers, by both feast and tournament, the day became the occasion of great rejoicing throughout the nation. Many of the old customs have become obsolete, but the day is still honored by all Englishmen, in all parts of the world particularly so in Canada and the United States, and, through the instrumentality of St George's Societies, the name of the Saint is perpetuated, and a large amount of charity is dispensed. According to tradition, St. George was brave, gallant, noble and chivalrous, and to those who have ranged themselves under his banner and cherish his memory he is not only the ideal hero of romance, but the source of inspiration to benevolence and Christian love towards their fellow-man. Let every Englishman and their descendants strive to be worthy of St. George, and the Societies bearing the noble Saint's name will have to complain neither of lack of numbers nor of funds.

A Very Serious Accident.

Mr. Henry Wilkins Falls from a Ladder in St. Thomas' Church.

FEARS OF A FATAL RESULT.

Between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning a very serious accident happened in St. Thomas' Church. Mr. Henry Wilkins, mason and plasterer, who was engaged with Mr. Northcott, the contractor, in the restoration of St. Thomas' Church, went up a ladder placed in the inside of the building, for the purpose of digging with a crow-bar a notch in the wall for the reception apparently of a support for the scaffolding, from which to reach the top of the wall. During his ascent, Mr. Wilkins, who carried in one hand a small crow-bar and in the other a piece of scantling, was speaking with his son-in-law, Mr. Sidney Savage, who stood on the outside of the building, and when from 18 to 20 feet from the ground missed his footing and made a grasp for the side of the ladder, but encumbered as he was missed his grip and fell backwards. In descending his shoulder struck the ladder, and he fell with a sickening thud to the floor, his head and shoulders striking with great force against a piece of square timber, which lay a little to the right of the ladder.

Drs. Potts and Higginbotham were at once sent for and quickly arrived. They found the injured man to be unconscious, with blood flowing freely from a deep gash in the skull, and examination revealed that whilst a very severe concussion of the brain had resulted, it was not found at that time that any bones had been broken though it was afterwards discovered that two ribs on the left side had been broken. Our reporter arrived shortly afterwards, and Dr. Potts stated his belief that the patient could not recover.

The Rev. J. W. Burke, Rector, was very attentive, and provided a mattrass, upon which the injured man was conveyed to his home.

LATER.

We regret to learn that Mr. Wilkins died at about 1:30. It was thought about noon that an improvement was visible in his condition; but a little later it was apparent that he was sinking, and he died as above stated. Deceased leaves a widow and family of four, who will have the sympathy of every resident of the city in their sad and sudden bereavement.

Deceased, who was about 55 years of age was a native of England, having been born near London, and came to Belleville about twenty-three years ago. He was an excellent mechanic, of sober and industrious habits, he had long carried on business as a master plasterer, and a few years ago entered largely into the manufacture of artificial stone. Strangely enough, it is stated by Mr. Thomas Gardner, who was his business partner at the time, that when St. Thomas' Church was being built, Mr. Wilkins and himself fell from a scaffold when they were plastering at about the same spot in the church as that at which the accident of to-day occurred. Deceased was for several years one of the Churchwardens of Christ Church, and also an active member of the St. George's Society, upon whose celebration to-morrow his untimely death will cast a serious gloom. In every regard Mr. Wilkins was esteemed as a citizen, and his death will be lamented by a very large circle of acquaintances.

PHYSICIANS having Consumptive patients, and having failed to cure them by their own prescriptions, should not hesitate to prescribe Allen's Lung Balsam. It has cured cases where all other remedies have failed. It is harmless to the most delicate child.

A harmless, half-witted creature was accosted by a saucy fellow, who thought to make game of him. "I say Jack, lad, dost want a place? Master wants a fool." "Ay, indeed," replied Jack; "wants a fool, does he? Then are you going to leave, or does he want a couple?"

The Sole Objection Removed.

The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile source of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed by the fact that SCOTT & BROWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL is odorless, and has a most agreeable flavor. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

The Signs of the Times.

The Montreal Journal of Commerce says:—Some indications of an improvement are already discernable if we may judge by the more hopeful tone that pervades business circles throughout the Dominion. There is a confident looking forward to more prosperous times; capitalists are beginning to consider the policy of investments in various industrial enterprises, and considerable enquiry has been directed to the natural resources of Canada, and to the possibilities and best means for their development; in short, everywhere are perceived those initiatory stages of improvement conducive to real progress and full activity of the producing forces. To expect a rushing torrent of change would be absurd. Probably no task of statesmanship is more difficult than that of adjusting the duties on imports, with a view to the protection of domestic industry, when the tariff is the main source of revenue, when an increase of revenue is indispensable, and when a multitude of conflicting interests enter into the problem.

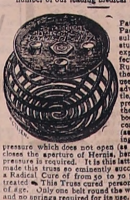
INFORMATION FOR PHYSICIANS.

RUPTURED AND DEFORMED PEOPLE.

Grand Medal and Diploma at the Centennial, Philadelphia; Grand Medal at the Universal Exhibition, Paris, France. Recommended by a large number of our leading medical men.



Charles Cluthe's Pat'd Spiral Truss Pad has been the result of many years' study and material experience. Its perfect adaptability for Rupture is proven by the thousands now in use. Among its many advantages are, a gentle, constant and even pressure; it gives to the motion of the body without friction; complete ventilation (as shown in engraving); a clamping pressure which does not open (as all oval pads) but closes the aperture of Hernia, hence only one-third pressure is required. It is this latter feature that has made this truss so eminently successful and proved a Radical Cure of from 50 to 70 per cent. of cases treated. This Truss cured persons of over 90 years of age. Only one belt round the waist, no leg straps and no springs required for its use.

Apparatus for straightening Spinal Curvature, Hip Disease, Bow Leg, Wry Neck, Club Foot, etc., made on most scientific principles. Price same as at my office.

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

MANCHESTER, MASS.

A Boston Physician says:—

"Since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

CARPETS.

WE are now showing a large stock of Carpets, new patterns, in Brussels,—Tapestry,—All Wool,—Union, &c., &c.

These goods were bought by us previous to the rise in the Tariff, and we guarantee that the prices we offer the several makes are as low as the same qualities can be had anywhere in the Dominion of Canada.

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

Wholesale Influence of the National Policy.

TESTIMONY FROM ALL OVER CANADA.

Our industries still continue to revive, as can be seen by one who carefully surveys the signs of the times. We give another instalment of evidences from all parts of the country:

Mr. Prior, manager of the Lybster cotton mills, Merritton, says: "We are adding twenty-five looms for fancy colored work."

In Action Mr. W. H. Storey has started a manufactory for the manufacture of his patent glove fasteners.

The Aylmer foundry and machine shop are again in full blast for the season.

Mr. Heneker, of the Paton woollen factory, at Sherbrooke, writes to the Gazette denying the false report that the mill was about to reduce wages or working time. He adds: "Please state that without the prospect of change by reason of the National Policy, we should have been obliged to close altogether, whereas, we are about to resume working full time."

Mr. Ronald, of the Brussels steam fire engine works, is about shipping engines to the Lower Provinces.

Owing to the new tariff the contractors for the St. Cunegonde water works have changed their plans so far as ordering the engine, machinery, and other details in England is concerned, and will give Canadian manufacturers a chance.

The London Furniture Manufacturing Company now employ 150 men. Before the new tariff was put in force they employed very few. With the new state of matters the company will be able to sell very cheaply.

Messrs. Hughton & Hughes have just started their woollen mills in Kngston, and will give employment to a considerable number of hands.

Mr. H. J. Bird, Bracebridge, while on a visit to England purchased a set of carding and spinning machinery, and purposes going into the woollen manufacture on a large scale.

The tide of business activity has set in, confidence in the country has been restored, and an era of general progress and prosperity has dawned with the declaration of the country's fiscal affairs.—Barrie Examiner.

New marble works have been started in Galt by Mr. Wm. G. Martindale.

The agitation has been started in Victoria, B. C., to erect a woollen mill, and as capitalists are favorable to the scheme, it bids fair to be a success.

The new oatmeal mill at Norwich will be running in three weeks.

As a result of the National Policy, the Cornwall Manufacturing Company have resumed the manufacture of blankets.—Montreal Witness (Grit.)

Mr. James Domville, M.P., is engaged in raising the necessary capital to start a large sugar refinery in St. Jaliu, N. B., which will give employment to a large number of hands.

In Picton county N.S., coal mining is being conducted with greater vigor than for years past.

The Nova Scotia Forge Co. of New Glasgow are now carrying on business under a full head of steam in their new building, outside New Glasgow. The operations of the Company are very extensive, requiring a large investment of capital, and employing many workmen.

The Dominion Printer refers to the action of the new tariff and its business, and states that they do not intend to raise the price of their own manufacture. On the contrary if their sales increase as they expect, they hope soon to be able to announce a reduction in prices.

Mr. Haggarty, the well-known Brampton manufacturer, who cannot be accused of Toryism, writes to the Brampton Times as follows: "I am in hope that the new tariff will multiply industries hitherto unknown in Canada, and that they will not only give employment to the unemployed, but that they will pay all their obligations, and that the two great producers of wealth in our country, the farmers and manufacturing interests, are so closely identified one with the other, that those who are endeavoring to teach the contrary will soon be heartily ashamed of the position they seem to have taken."

Mr. Josiah Ross, of Buffalo, an extensive manufacturer of wood-working machinery, etc., has addressed a circular to his patrons in Canada, in which he says:—"I, therefore decided to commence the manufacture of my planers, etc., in Canada, and have now works running in full blast and facilities for turning out three to four machines per week, so that I am able to give you the benefit of a good, cheap, complete and reliable machine without the expense and annoyance of paying duties, especially should the tariff be raised to the point that is now fully expected and earnestly wished it may be. With this proposed increase I am in full accord, for why should not the Canadian producers and manufactures be protected by their tariffs as we are by ours?"

Cows.—Incoming should be treated with great care. The dry feed will have rendered them liable to inflammatory diseases. Garget, milk fever, abortion, and such troubles affect well fed cows more than others. The blood needs cooling by laxative food. One quart of oil-cake meal mixed with bran; scalded, and given at a drink once a day will be useful. No corn should be given for several weeks before calving. Bran or middlings will be more cooling and healthful, but if good hay is given very little grain of any kind will be needed. Caution now will prevent trouble hereafter. When the calf is expected the cow should be turned into a loose stall or into a quiet stable alone.

Cheap Hot Bed Covers—The following directions for making a cheap covering for hot beds which was previously published in the Kansas Farmer, was recently inquired for by a correspondent:—Cotton cloth covers, although not so good for the earliest beds, is preferred for all later ones. Make cloth covers a few inches wider and longer than the frame, hemmed and provided with small curtain rings fifteen inches apart around the border, stoutly sewed on, and by hooking over nails the cloth is drawn airtight over the frame. One quart of linseed oil, one ounce of pulverized sugar of lead and four ounces of pulverized rosin are heated, dissolved and thoroughly mixed in an iron kettle and one coat applied while hot to the upper side of the cloth. This renders it tight and nearly transparent.

Read the following:

Salt Rheum Cured.—I had salt Rheum on my hand for two years; I tried every doctor I could hear of. The salves, ointments and soaps without number; nothing benefitted me. A 50c. bottle of Gile's Liniment Iodide Ammonia cured me in less than a week.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills. They will right them.

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS?

Sickness prevails everywhere, and everybody complains of some disease during their life. When sick, the object is to get well; now to say plainly that no person in this world that is suffering with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and its effects, such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, palpitation of the Heart, Depressed Spirits, Biliousness, etc., can take Green's August Flower without getting relief and cure. Boschee's German Syrup can now be purchased right at home, it is the most successful preparation ever introduced to our people. It works like a charm in all cases of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhages, Asthma, severe Coughs, Croup and all other Throat and Lung Diseases. No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

The Interviewer.

The independence of the press seems to be in danger of destroying the sacred privacy of home, and of reversing the good old English tradition that the man's house is his castle, or, as the irreverent poet of the club sings.

"An Englishman's house is his castle.
An Englishman's hat is his crown,"

The interviewer blandly ravages the castle, and smashes the crown about the royal ears, and the general feeling of society seems to be a good deal that of a kitchen circle in the presence of a company of masked burgulars—that interviewers must be treated politely, or the consequences may be unspeakable.

A ludicrous illustration of this treatment of private persons—and it is the same with public persons in their private relations—appeared in some performances of Jenkins in a Californian paper last year. Jenkins is the original interviewer, although he interviews by perference the furniture and upholstery, the linen-room and wardrobe and bureau drawers, the gaiters and back hair, the embroidery on the towels, and the charms of personal manners, rather than the 'views' of the denizens of the household. An amusing editor commenting upon these pen-pictures, says that the excellent heads of families who appear in them, instead of taking a little turn hunting up Jenkins with a club, probably look upon him as a noble fellow full of the exuberance of the golden coast. We omit the names which Jenkins carefully prints, and present for public meditation these specimens of the kind of oblivion of the private life which characterizes the Inquisition and Interviewing. Jenkins is, indeed, an incomplete interviewer; for, otherwise, having described with honeyed tongue Miss Dottie and Miss Mamie and Miss Sadie and Miss Carrie and Miss Lulie and Miss Gracie and Miss Mattie, he would have recorded their remarks.

"Miss Dottie——," says Jenkins, "daughter of ———, real-estate operator, with gold tinted tresses soft and warm, has stolen fragrance and sweets of our semi-tropical luxuriance Highly cultured, bounding her life by the sacred impulses of a pure and noble womanhood, she represents one of California's most endeared productions.' His hand once in, he proceeds currente calamo. ———, the efficent Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge, F. and A. M., has two estimable daughters—Miss Mattie and Miss Sarah ——. Twin beauties, moulded by harmony and resplendent with wealth, highly educated, skilled in the requirements of society, which they adorn, these fair sisters justly claim a foremost place among our girls.' And finally, 'Miss Minnie——, whose natural talent and acquired accomplishments shed lustre upon the luxurious home of our railroad magnate, Colonel——, is a demibrunette with quite dark hair, and eyes that speak from the fullness of intelligence. Besides a most perfect education in Eastern convents, this young lady has travelled beyond almost any of her sex, including not only Europe and the Continent, but China also.'

It is possible that there are Dotties and Matties and Mamies who are pleased with this, and who grieve if Jenkins overlooks them in his story of a ball. If that be so, it shows merely that the mischief has done its perfect work, and that so many are pleased as are thoroughly vulgarized. In this part of the world it is pleasant to see that Jenkins has been less obstreperous of late, and it is some time since we have had a chef-d'œuvre from his hand. By some chance Dean Stanley's pockethandkerchiefs eluded Jenkin's admiring observation and description.—Harper's Magazine.

The Powder-Play.

Several times during the year in Morocco, the Arab inhabitants of a town hold certain half-religious festivals called the Feasts of the Aissouia, which, in many ways, are as revolting as the orgies of the lowest savages.

Though the Arabs are shy of foreign eyes at their rites, the tourist may get an invitation to these performances, if he happens to have a friend among the natives. Following his guide through a maze of tortuous streets, and up a great many flights of stone steps, he will finally be conducted to a small hall of Moorish architecture, with a characteristic horse-shoe arches supported upon marble pillars, and no roof except, perhaps, a fragment of striped awning. Around the inside runs a gallery occupied by vailed Moorish ladies, and ornamented with a few flags, which alone relieve the glare of whitewash on all sides of this queer building. The floor is laid with octagonal tiles of red and white, and upon red mats, around a small "altar" in the centre, sit the musicians and performers, while the spectators find places behind.

The chosen performers will dance barefooted upon red-hot plates of iron and on beds of living coals; will lick rods of red-hot iron; will take burning torches between their teeth, and hold flaming oil-wicks until the blaze has burned straight into the palms of their hands; will swallow nails and stones; will even snatch up a living scorpion and crunch it between the teeth, with as keen relish as that with a newsboy eats a shrimp. All this is gone through with (for money) to the harsh tumult of half a dozen rude drums and horns, which make a fit accompaniment to these horrid remnants of pagan fire-worship.

A much more interesting, though no less noisy, recreation, is the powder-play, a game that may take place on foot or on horseback, for these Moors, as everybody knows, are nearly as much at home in the saddle as afoot. The horsemen engaged in the game ride at an exceedingly rapid pace, carrying loaded guns which they discharge as they dash about in all kinds of positions,—above, below on either side, and straight forward. The noble horses seem to enter into the wild rush and noise of the fun as much as their masters, and the celerity with which the various movements are executed is wonderful. Not only do the younger men take part in the sport, but old, gray-headed men enjoy it with keen interest and equal spirit. Another kind of powder-play is performed on foot. The band strikes up a fearful din under the name of music, and in the midst of the distracting medley two lines of men, that have formed opposite one another, rush together, and, throwing their bodies into wonderful attitudes, fire their guns, and shout and yell as though in actual battle. The Arabs call this powder-play Leb el-barode.—Ernest Ingersoll; St. Nicholas for May.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

MONDAY, April 21.

In the House of Commons the day was devoted to the legislation and motions by private members.

Mr. KEELER introduced a Bill providing for the repeal of the Supreme Court and Exchequer Act He explained the object of the Bill to be the complete abolition of the Court, which he claimed was unpopular and unnecessary.

The Minister of Justice spoke favorably to the continuance of the Court, and expressed a belief that the mover of the Bill must be amusing himself in introducing such a measure at so late a period in the session. The Premier took similar grounds.

Mr. MACKENZIE strongly deprecated the introduction of such legislation, and after further discussion he moved that the Bill be not read a second time till that day three months.

The Premier was opposed to the three months' hoist, but a vote being demanded the amendment was lost on a vote of 44 years, 120 nays, majority against 76. Seven French-Canadian Liberals voted for the Government against the amendment, and Mr. Cockburn (West Northumberland) voted against the Government.

The debate was continued until 6 o'clock by a number of hon. members, and among the number Mr. Mackenzie, who cited a precedent for the course he had adopted in moving the amendment.

After recess a day was appointed for the second reading of the Bill.

The Bill to provide for an increased representation of the shareholders of the Northern Railway Company on the Board of the said Company was read a second time, but not until Mr. Mackenzie had entered a protest against the further passage of the measure, which he claimed would materially damage Canadian credit on the English money market, because it was a breach of faith with the bondholders.

A number of questions were put to the Government, and in reply to one by Mr. Skinner, the Minister of Finance said there would be no change in the Order in Council passed in 1873 respecting the manufacture of beet-root sugar.

Several motions for returns were passed.

At eleven o'clock Mr. Wallace's motion on the national currency question was reached, and as the discussion on this question was likely to be protracted, Mr. Charlton suggested that the consideration of the motion be postponed till Monday next, when it will be the first order.

The House then adjourned.

Bees on the Wing.

When a swarm leave for the woods they are off before you fairly know it. They drift away from the hive in a wide-spread and apparently aimless concourse, then suddenly gather up their skirts, draw together their forces, and away they go, a humming flying vortex of bees, the queen apparently in the centre and the mass revolving about her as a pivot, over orchards and meadows, across creeks and swamps, or woods and deep valleys, straight for the appointed tree, slow at first, so that you can keep up with them, but presently with a speed that would tire a fox-hound. In this flight the individual bees do not move in right lines, or straight forward like a flock of birds, but round and round like chaff in a whirlwind; unitedly they form a whirling, revolving, nebulous mass fifteen or twenty feet across that goes as straight as a projectile to its mark. They are not partial as to the kind of tree,—pine, hemlock, elm, birch, maple, hickory,—any tree with a good cavity high up or low down. A swarm of mine ran away from the new patent hive I gave them and took up their quarters in the hollow trunk of an old apple tree across an adjoining field. The entrance was a mouse-hole near the ground. Another swarm in the neighborhood deserted their keeper and went in the cornice of an out-house that stood amid evergreens in the rear of a large mansion. But there is no accounting for the taste of bees, as Samson found when he discovered the swarm in the carcase (or more probably the skeleton) of the lion he had slain.—John Burroughs, in Scribner for May.

Writers' Cramp.

The term writers' cramp is not a happy one, for the affection is by no means confined to those who wield the pen. It—or a practically identical disorder—may be found in the artist, and may prevent him from painting in oils; or it may occur in the violinist or the pianist, and hinder the musical performance of either; it may be met with in the seamstress or the smith or the milkmaid, and may limit or destroy their powers of work. In fact, analogous conditions occur in almost all avocations. Of late years it has been met with in those female stage dancers who are accustomed to balance themselves on the tips of their toes. It is usually a chronic and slowly-developed disease. A difficulty is experienced in executing a particular movement, such as that of writing or playing on a musical instrument, other movements of the same limb being perfectly easy of performance. The patient experiences at first a sense of stiffness or weariness after unusually prolonged exertion. The author or copyist finds that his pen no longer readily obeys the mandates of the will, it will not move as it ought to, and the writing is altered in character and looks unnatural. The pianist makes blunders in striking the chords, the fingers falling on the keys they were intended to avoid. The movements which from years of constant practice had become almost involuntary—a kind of second nature—are now performed with effort and difficulty. The violinist can no longer control the movements of his left hand, and his fingers feel cramped and stiff. The poor needlewoman can no longer ply her needle, she pricks her fingers in her now bungling efforts, and the stitches are irregular and the work badly done. The premiere dansuese is seized with severe pain or cramp in the calves of her legs, and is temporarily obliged to desist from her efforts.—Family Physician.

The Sole Objection Removed.

The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile source of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed by the fact that SCOTT & BROWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL is odorless, and has a most agreeable flavor. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23.

Dominion Issues and Ontario Politics.

By their appearance on the platform during the general election for the House of Commons last year, in opposition to the National Policy, the Ontario Ministers not only violated the principle which they had previously laid down, that the Provincial and Dominion Governments should maintain an attitude of strict neutrality towards each other, but at the same time they left it open for the Conservative party to retaliate in kind, by bringing against them, in the Provincial elections, their efforts to defeat the protective policy which Conservatives were at that time struggling for. Having thus raised an issue, Mr. Mowat and his colleagues, seeing that their own official sins are weighty enough to sink them without taking into account their importation of Provincial issues into the Dominion contest, at present cry out loudly against being held to answer for their opposition to the commercial policy which has met the approval of an overwhelming majority of the people. The Globe, also, although it professes to believe that the people of the Province are strongly against the National Policy, yet inferentially advises its friends to drop the subject as dangerous, by saying: "We are "glad to see a disposition on the part of "Ontario Liberals to refrain from import-"ing Dominion issues into the contest."

There can be no doubt whatever that the practice of importing Dominion issues into Provincial elections, and vice versa, is improper; but who began it in this instance? The Ontario Ministers, of course, who lent their aid, as officials of the Province, and threw into the Dominion contest influences of a purely Provincial character. They and their organs now, with characteristic meanness and trickery, try to evade the issue which they themselves raised; but indications are that their opponents will not allow them to shirk the responsibility of their actions.

The Conservatives of Hamilton are evidently determined to hold Mr. Mowat and his colleagues to their record, as at a convention recently held in that city for the nomination of a candidate for the Legislature, the following resolution was moved by Mr. Adam Brown and seconded by Mr. Tuckett—a gentleman who had for twenty years previous to September last been a Reformer:—

> "That this convention recognizes in the new tariff now before the House of Commons a faithful and honest fulfilment of the promises made to the people by the leaders of the present Dominion government.
>
> "That, in the opinion of this convention, the new tariff is well calculated to promote the prosperity of the country and to develop its industrial resources.
>
> "That the Ontario government having used its influence and its patronage to prevent the adoption of the said tariff, there is grave reason to apprehend that it would use them to embarass the Dominion Government, in their efforts to give the said tariff full effect, should the said Ontario Government be sustained in the approaching elections.
>
> "It is therefore resolved that, in the opinion of this convention, the Ontario Government is not entitled to the support of the electors of this province."

There is much force in the belief expressed in the resolution that the Mowat Government, if sustained, will do all in their power to embarrass the Dominion Government in their efforts to give full effect to the tariff. It would be quite in keeping with their previous actions were they to do so, because they, whilst professing, as a matter of principle, neutrality towards the Dominion administration, threw their professions to the winds and engaged in the Dominion elections actively and with all their influence in behalf of the Mackenzie Government. That they would as actively oppose the Macdonald administration and do all in their power to thwart the action of that Government may be taken as the logical sequence of their opposition last year to the principle embodied in the present tariff. We are certainly opposed to the importation of Dominion issues into Provincial politics, and of Provincial issues into Dominion politics. Still, if the Grit party wish once more to test the sense of the people on the trade question, Conservatives will be quite willing that it should be done; and should they introduce Dominion issues of any kind whatever into the pending contest in the constituencies in this part of the country, we shall not be shown to retaliate and to advise the friends of the Conservative candidates to pursue a course similar to that of their opponents.

The Travel Westward.—The Montreal Witness says:—"During the past two or three weeks an unusually large number of passengers have passed over the Grand Trunk Railway for Manitoba and the Western States. Mr. O'Brien of this city received at the St. James street office $7,000 on Monday and Tuesday of last week, for second-class and what are called emigrant tickets. Up to noon to-day $3,000 had been received. One party of a dozen paid $117 each for passage to Montana Territory."

A Slim Cause for Grievance.

Whenever one of the unnecessary officials with whom the Grit Government crowded the public service is dismissed, a great howl is raised about it by the Opposition press. The dismissal of a Mr. McNeff from the London Custom House has formed the text for the London Advertiser to launch a furious diatribe against the Minister of Customs, to which the Free Press of the same city makes the following most effective reply:—"The 'Tiser seeks to make some political capital at the expense of Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, the Minister of Customs, respecting the discontinuance of the employment of a gentleman, Mr. John McNeff, in the Custom House. The facts in connection with the case will show that Mr. Bowell has acted in entire accordance with the public interest in this matter. It so happened that one of the usual staff employed at the Custom House was taken seriously ill, and the services of Mr. McNeff were temporarily engaged to perform his work. Upon the recovery of the officer spoken of Mr. McNeff was still kept on, his salary being paid out of the "contingent fund." He was never appointed a permanent member of the staff, and his aid was not required after the return to duty of the official who had been sick. It thus happened that upon the "contingencies" in connection with the London Custom House being enquired into, it was discovered that there were two persons under pay to do the work that had formerly been done by one. Hence Mr. McNeff received an intimation that his services were not any longer needed. Is there anything wrong in this? Was it Mr. Bowell's duty in the public interest, in these days when economy is so much required, so much demanded, to insist that there should be two persons to do the work which one was capable of performing? Surely not. The Tizer in its usual hypocritical style, drags in the religion which Mr. McNeff happens to profess. What has that to do with the matter? Mr. J. Gillean, jun.; who is a protestant, found his services discontinued under precisely similar circumstances some weeks ago, yet there was no 'religious howl,' raised on that account. In fact, the speciality of a man's religion is no reason why he should be a burden upon the public pay-roll. It is an intolerable nuisance destructive of all attempts at economy. If Mr. McNeff's services were needed they would have been retained in preference to any other, but as they were not required they were simply discontinued."

A Union Exhibition. — The Quebec Provincial Agricultural Association has decided by vote not to hold any special exhibition this year, but will unite with the Ontario Provincial Association for the purpose of holding a Dominion show.

Victoria Assizes.—The Victoria spring assizes opened at Lindsay on the 22nd inst., before Mr. Justice Morrison. There is a docket of about fifteen cases. There being no prisoners in gaol awaiting trial, his Lordship was presented with a pair of white gloves by the sheriff. Mr. Henderson, Q. C., of Belleville, is the Crown counsel.

Addington.—At a meeting of the Liberal Conservative Association of Addington on the 22nd inst, Mr. J. W. Bell resigned the candidature on account of ill health, and Mr. Geo. Dennison, ex-Warden of Frontenac, was chosen as the Conservative candidate.

Afghanistan.—A London special says:—"In the Commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote said the Viceroy of India telegraphed on the 3rd of April that no advance on Cabul would be ordered without the consent of the Home Government; but it may be necessary to advance the vanguard in order to give a better face to the negotiations. The advance on Gandamak may be desirable on account of the climate. Major Cavagnari is now at Gandamak. Messages are still passing between him and Yakoob Khan."

The Campbell Divorce Case.—The Campbell divorce case, as our readers are aware, is again before the Senate, and is at last working some progress towards a settlement. The special Committee to whom the matter is referred had a protracted sitting on the 22nd inst. Both Mrs. and Mr. Campbell were present, and it was reported to the committee, on behalf of them, that they had a conference for several hours last evening and could not arrive at a settlement—the difficulty being that Mr. Campbell is only willing to allow his wife to live in the same house with him, something in the capacity of a servant. She refused most decidedly to agree to any settlement except by which he will have to acknowledge her innocent of the crimes he has charged her with. The Committee, after careful consideration, agreed to report the bill granting her alimony, to the Senate, where there can be no doubt but that it will be finally adopted.

FIRE AT BURRITT'S RAPIDS.

Burritt's Rapids, April 23.—Yesterday about half-past 12 while the men were at their dinner, fire broke out in the steam shingle mill owned by Dr. Ferguson, M. P., and occupied by Gordon Bros. The fire increased so rapidly that it was impossible to save anything, though in a few minutes there were over one hundred persons on the ground, who exerted themselves to their utmost. The building and machinery were insured for $900. The loss will be over $2,000, besides about 100 cords of shingle wood belonging to T. A. Kidd, and Edward Kidd, and a few other customers. There was also about 50,000 shingles ready for delivery. The whole was entirely consumed.

—Vice-Admiral Inglefield's flagship, the Bellerophon, accompanied by two or three war vessels, will leave Bermuda on 7th May for Halifax, and may be expected there on the 12th.

Dr. Deal, who is a Veterinary Surgeon of great skill, writes from Bowersville, Harrison Co., O.: I have given Perry Davis' Pain Killer in many cases of Colic, Cramp and Dysentery in Horses, and never knew it to fail to cure in a single instance. I look upon it as a certain remedy.

Trenton Correspondence.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

I must confess it is with some degree of apprehension that I take up my pen to address your readers for the first time, but remembering that all public writers have, at the commencement of their career experienced the same sensation, I grow bolder and proceed:—

The all-absorbing topic in this vicinity is the revised tariff, and I apprehend I am within the bounds of truth when I affirm that no event since the establishment of Confederation has caused so much comment pro and con. On the day of its appearance in the daily press, miniature congregations were to be seen in all prominent resorts of the town, wrapt in the commanding theme. Here one could have noticed the deep-dyed Grit, who filled with the nostrums which his party orators had crammed into him, was ready to speak the little piece his Toronto oracle had taught him, though his face belied his words, and there one could have noticed the thankful Conservative ready to meet the objections of his Reform friend by simply referring him to the benefit obtained from protection years ago. Yes, in the post-office, in the hotels, on the street corners, &c., your correspondent heard little else but discussions on the tariff, and though it is now a thing of the past, the interest centred therein has waned but very little. I must confess, however, that it has been a source of disappointment to its most enthusiastic opponents in this place, for they had told to the people so often "no revision of the tariff will be made," that when it made its appearance to redeem the pledges given to the people prior to the 17th of September last, by its present revisers, the opponents, as Mr. Mackenzie so dramatically expressed it early in the debate, were more disappointed than if it had not appeared. And if not, why not?

Indeed this has not been their only disappointment. The manner in which the debate progressed filled the would-be destroyers of the new document in this town with a most unenviable feeling. They had been led to believe that when once Cartwright, Mackenzie and Company had placed their vocabulary strength against the revised sheet, it would be knocked higher than Jules Verne's excursionists to the moon; but when they found them harping upon the same string until it would hardly bear rosining their expectations fell, particularly so, when the cry of loyalty to the mother country was raised. It is still fresh in the memory of people in this locality that the opponents of the present tariff harbor in their ranks a man who once expressed himself antagonistic to the British flag, and who, perhaps even now, "would like to tear it from the citedal." In the face of this fact the Opposition's sudden and purgative dose of loyalty is slightly transparent, and should be received, as Mr. Fraser will be received should he go back to his former constituency. Perhaps an echo to this feeble complaint, is the Opposition's sudden fear for the poor man. So often has this latter wail gone forth from the Globe's summer residence that the compositors of that establishment will hereafter keep the editorial standing, to be corrected a la markets, or other standing matter, and should the corrections decrease a storeotyope plate will be cast. However, the poor in this place seem quite contented, and I am confident, would give a Government candidate a very large majority, should an appeal be made to them to-morrow.

Trade is growing brisker, markets are very fair; and yet we have the National Policy.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 23.

City and Vicinity.

THE WEATHER.—The continued dryness of the weather has been favorable to early sowing, but the fall grain and the pastures need rain, which it is to be hoped will come ere long.

LICENSES IN NORTH HASTINGS.—The License Comissioners for North Hastings have issued twenty-three tavern licenses and five shop licenses to applicants in their jurisdiction.

RAIDING.—The police on duty last night made descents upon three alleged disorderly houses kept by Mrs. Westlake, Ida Cole and Catherine respectively. Several women were arrested.

WALKING MATCH.—A ten hours, walking match will take place in the Metropolitan Hall to-morrow between H. E. Beasley and J. Garratt. Match to commence at 1 p. m., and terminate at 11 p. m. Seats will be reserved for ladies.

MOUNTED POLICE.—Captain Crozier of the North-West Mounted Police, who passed the winter here with his parents, and whose leave of absence will shortly expire, left for Kingston yesterday for orders. He expects to leave shortly in charge of a party of recruits.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We regret to learn of the death of Mr. James Nightingale, a well known resident of Ameliasburg, who died suddenly at his home on Huff's Island, aged 70 years. Mr. Nightingale had been engaged in doing some light work out-doors, and entering the house sat down in a chair, where a few minutes later he was found dead, having expired without a struggle.

GENEROUS.—Mr. Cole, of Ottawa, flag manufacturer, offers to present to the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club a large and handsome Club ensign, to be competed for by the yachts belonging to the Club. We have no doubt that this generous offer will be accepted by the Club in the spirit in which it is made, and that the flag will be competed for under the rules of the Club and on such special conditions as the donor may prescribe.

POLICE.—The Police Commissioners met yesterday afternoon and appointed Charles W. Logan to fill the vacancy in the force, for which position there has been a number of applicants. No action was taken with reference to the case of Constable Rankins, who is under suspension. The Council ought most certainly to meet, and declare, either by their action or inaction, whether they intend to assume such jurisdiction over the police force as the law now gives them the option of taking.

THE WINNIPEG "DAILY TIMES."—The Conservatives of Manitoba have had a long wait before securing a fitting representative in the press of their opinions, but at last their wants have been fully met by the issue of the Daily Times, published at Winnipeg, the first number of which was issued on the 13th inst. This new venture is in many respects a credit to the Prairie Province, being far ahead of any newspaper previously published there. It is a neatly arranged, well printed sheet, of thirty-two columns, containing a large quantity of original and selected matter, the whole of which bears impress of careful preparation by able hands. The editorials are well written, and the local department is filled with sprightly items and interesting paragraphs. The Times is certainly deserving of a liberal patronage, and it makes an excellent commencement, its advantages as an advertising medium being evidently largely appreciated.

"ENGAGED."—In what he describes as his burlesque comedy of "Engaged," which was produced at the Opera House last night, Mr. W. S. Gilbert has struck a new vein of humor, which is as original and funny in its way as were Artemus Ward's productions when first introduced. As he makes his hero Cheviot Hill say of each of his female enchanters, there's a something about it that attracts, which we interpret to be the delicate vein of satire which, though scarcely observable, yet runs through the whole comedy, and has the most pronounced effect in exciting the risibilities. To over-act in "Engaged" would be to lower it to the level of a mere burlesque, whilst to underdo it would render it dull, in spite of the brilliance of the dialogue; hence to say that Mr. George Fawcett Rowe and Mr. McDowell's company as a rule struck the happy mean is to award them high praise, which they deserve. Mr. Rowe's Cheviot Hill was a masterly performance in every respect, deserving to stand with Owens' "Solon Shingle" and Clarke's "Wellington de Boots." It will not soon be forgotten by those who had the pleasure of seeing it. Mr. McDowell gave a clever rendition of Belvawney, whilst Messrs. Hight, Smith and Taverner filled their parts with much ability, barring a tendency on the part of Mr. Smith to overacting in places, which fault he will easily correct with more experience in the role. Mrs. McDowell, who is always clever and pleasing, fairly excelled herself as Belinda Treherne, and was presented with a handsome bouquet from the officials of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb. Miss Evelyn depicted the apparently artless, yet cunning Minnie Symperson to perfection; Miss Lizzie McCall looked prettily and played with much archness and spirit as Maggie McFarlane, the Lowland lassie, and the minor parts of Parker and Mrs. McFarlane were effectively performed by Miss Newcome and Mrs. Allan respectively. The costumes were new and handsome, and a more enjoyable performance has not been given here in a long time. The company will reappear here on the 7th of May, when Boucicault's favorite Irish drama "Orroh Ma Pogue" will be produced for the benefit of the Rev. Father Davis. On this occasion special trains will be run from Napanee, Madoc and Trenton, stopping at all intermediate stations.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn that Judge Jellett, of Prince Edward county, was thrown from his buggy on Tuesday at Picton, and received serious injury in his hip and shoulder.

THE LATE HENRY WILKINS.—Members of the St. George's Society are requested, as per advertisement, to attend the funeral of their late fellow member Henry Wilkins, which will take place to-morrow at 3 p. m.

EAST HASTINGS.—A mass meeting of the the Conservatives of the East Riding is to be held at Chisholm's Mills, Tyendinaga, on Friday, May 2nd, for the purpose of choosing a candidate for the Ontario Legislature.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY.—A number of flags were flying in different parts of the city to-day, in honor of the anniversary of St. George, and the weather was all that could be desired, being cloudy and not too cool. At 3 p. m. the members of the St. George's Society proceeded to Christ Church, where the annual sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Clarke, Rector of that church. The proposed procession was abandoned on account of the death of the late Henry Wilkins, who was an active member of the Society. The annual dinner will be held at the Dafoe House to-night.

FIRST OF THE SEASON.—The Oddfellows of this city, whose anniversary falls on Saturday 26th inst., will hold their celebration, which will take place in connection with that of the Madoc brethren, at Madoc village on Monday the 28th. An excursion to Madoc over the North Hastings Railway will accordingly take place on the date mentioned, and as this will be an attractive novelty, it will doubtless be largely patronized. The train will leave the Grand Junction depot, Pinnacle Street, at 9:30 a. m. sharp, and will start on the return from Madoc at 6 p. m. Fare for the round trip only 75 cents. The Oddfellows' band will accompany the excursion.

THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENTARY COMPANION AND ANNUAL REGISTER.—We have received from the publishers, the Ottawa Citizen Printing and Publishing Company, the annual issue of the above work for 1879, which has been compiled by Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, the talented editor of the Ottawa Citizen. The Companion, which is indispensable to all interested in political affairs as a book of reference, is this year much more interesting than usual, as it contains full returns of the Dominion elections of last year, together with biographical sketches of all the members. In addition to this, it contains similar returns for all the Provincial Legislatures, a list of the Clubs in Canada, and a vast amount of information of the most authentic nature with regard to many other political matters, which it would occupy too much space to enumerate. Much new matter has been added, including the Fishery clauses of the Treaty of Washington, Judicial decisions in re contested elections, index to divisions in the House of Commons, a list of political organizations, much miscellaneous information, and a copious index. The book, which is handsomely bound and neatly printed, ought to be in the hands of every one who wishes to keep well informed in the political history of the country.

"HUMPTY DUMPTY."—This pantomime, the name of which is a household word, but which is constantly being re-constructed and new scenes, situations and tricks added, will be presented at the Opera House to night by Mr. Tony Denier's famous New York company, the fame of the principal members of which is identified with that of the pantomime. The late George L. Fox is succeeded by an equally clever man as clown, namely Mr. George F. Adams, the American Grimaldi. The New York Herald of March 13th says of the performance:—"The new clown, Mr. Grimaldi, is, without doubt, the best that has appeared on this stage since Fox. Young, active, quick in all his movements, and a good gymnast, with a face capable of much expression, he bids fair not only to become a great favorite with the public, but one of the best American clowns. The general excellence of every one in the cast last night is a matter of commendation. The small parts were played in a capable manner, and none of the hitches and drawbacks which, as a rule, characterize first night productions, were noticeable. Scenes, tricks, transformations and the usual intricacies of a pantomime worked as if the piece had been running for weeks."

A little rain fell early this morning, but not enough to lay the dust.

THE ZULU WAR.

Details of the Battle.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR NATAL.

COL. WOOD'S ENGAGEMENT.

LONDON, April 22.—A special despatch to the second edition of the Times from Gingle-lova, April 7th, says the relief column on reaching here on the 1st inst. was informed of the advance of great masses of the enemy. The troops at once formed a laager and strengthened their entrenchments. At four o'clock in the morning the Zulus appeared skirmishing on the right, in front of the rifles and naval brigade on the north east. We first engaged a large force, which appeared on the surrounding heights. The Zulus fought bravely, advancing within thirty yards of our entrenchments.

The attack lasted nearly an hour, when the Zulus retreated precipitately, followed by the mounted infantry and native contingent. On April 3rd, the relief column under Lord Chelmsford started for Ekowe. It was comprised of the 57th and 60th Regiments, six companies of the 91st, the marines, two rocket companies, one Gatling gun, two nine-pounders, the mounted infantry and Dunn's scouts. The rest of the column remained to guard the baggage. The mounted natives and volunteers led the way. No Zulus were seen. After a successful march of 15 miles, Col. Pearson with a few companies of the 99th, and the seamen of the "Active," were met at 5 o'clock. The force reached Ekowe at 9:30 o'clock. The garrison had plenty of food. There were a hundred sick, and thirty dead. Lieut. Evelyn, of the Buffs, and Lieut. Davidson, of the 99th, were dead from fever. The camp was very strong.

On April 4th, Col. Pearson marched for the Tugela, and April 5th, Lord Chelmsford started for Ginglelova.

In consequence of a false alarm the pickets fired into the bush. Dunn's scouts returning, the 60th fell back at their approach in disorder; one scout was killed and nine were wounded. Five men of the 60th were also wounded. Of 34 whites wounded, remaining in Ginglelova, one died. Sixteen are dangerously and twelve severely wounded. A new entrenched camp will be formed. Part of the force is returning to Tugela. The Zulus lost twelve hundred in the engagement.

A Captain, a Lieutenant, and one hundred men of the 60th Rifles are ordered to be ready for immediate embarkation for Natal.

In the Commons this afternoon, Colonel Stanley, Secretary for war, in reply to an enquiry, said he believed the news respecting Col. Wood in Donald Currie & Co.'s St. Vincent telegram refers to a new affair.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

LONDON, April 20.—A telegram to the War Office from St. Vincent, dated March 22, says Lord Chelmsford intends to abandon Ekowe, as bad roads make it difficult of approach. He will establish a post on the coast road.

A Portsmouth despatch announces the naval Commander-in-Chief has received instructions for a troop-ship to be ready for sea immediately, to take out 1,200 men for the Cape of Good Hope.

A despatch from Ginglelova, April 4, says the day after the battle Cetewayo's brother sent a flag of truce proposing to surrender. Lord Chelmsford replied the only terms he could grant were that all the chiefs and men surrender themselves as prisoners. The proposal was believed to be a feint to delay the probable advance of the British on Ulundi.

A correspondent at the camp at Nyzane says Ekowe was burned by the Zulus on April 5th, after its evacuation.

There is strong evidence that the transvaal Boers are tampering with Chief Mapoch endeavoring to induce him to join them against the British.

The wrecked steamer Clyde had on board 120 tons of amunition and some Gatling guns, but it is not expected the loss will occasion any serious inconvenience.

A despatch from Pietermaritzburg, April 8th, says it was reported that the Boers had surrounded Praetoria.

A correspondent at Capetown says it is reported Cetewayo has fled beyond Black Umvelosi River.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, April 23.—The papers say that "Parole" won simply on his merits, and that Lorillard won over 20,000 pounds.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The reported arrival last night of the steamer Wyoming was premature.

LONDON, April 23.—The Times scouts the rumor relative to the intention of the Boers to seize Sir Bartle Frere.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The Consul-General at Frankfort on the Main reports that the police have issued a "Warning" against American pork on account of the danger of trichinae. He deems the alarm groundless. The butchers of Germany are exceedingly jealous of American meats.

LONDON, April 23.—Glover & Co., general merchants, Manchester, failed for £50,000.

The Republique Francaise says that Aleko Pasha, the newly appointed Governor of Roumelia, leaves Paris to-day for his post. He intends to accept the throne of Bulgaria if offered.

BERLIN, April 23.—Letters from Cracow announce that the moderate Liberal party in Poland are apparently induced by Salovieff's attempt now to adopt a more conciliatory policy toward the Czar. An influential deputation is about to congratulate him on his escape.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—The High Court of Criminal Justice under the Presidency of Grand Duke Constantine, brother of the Czar, has been appointed for the trial of Solovieff.

CINCINNATI, April 23.—Chas. Behlen's carriage factory was burned. Loss $30,000.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 23.—Twelve hundred coal miners are on a strike in this neighborhood.

DETROIT, April 23.—Work on the Vanderbilt tunnel, at Grosse Isle, crossing of the Canada Southern Railroad, commenced yesterday.

LONDON, April 23.—A Berlin correspondent says: Lieut. Dubrovin has been arrested near Novgorod, suspected to have been one of the chief members of the revolutionary committee, also the assassination of another spy who betrayed the whereabouts of a secret printing office at Toprovo.

It is reported that the Czar, who until lately drove out unattended, now has his carriage surrounded by Cossacks.

Marine Notes.

The first vessel to leave port this season was the little schooner Rapid, which started yesterday afternoon for Indian Point for a load of gravel. She found the Big Bay ice unbroken and is anchored near Massassaga Point.

The steamer Hastings is expected to leave Kingston to-morrow morning for Belleville, but she cannot get through until the ice breaks up.

Capt. Waters is at Northport fitting out the schooner Mary Foster, which wintered there.

Capt. Howard is fitting out the schooner Florence.

The ice still remains in the bay west of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.

The B. W. Folger made a clearance at Kingston on the 22nd for Oswego.

Navigation is opened at Hamilton.

The Southern Belle is to be run this year between Hamilton, Niagara and Queenston and Toronto, as an excursion boot.

The Oswego branch of the Chicago Seamen's Union have decided upon $1.50 per day out of that port.

The average date of the opening of navigation at the head of Lake Superior for the past sixteen years ending 1871, was May 1st; the average date at Buffalo for sixty-one years is April 22.

The Mail says:—"The schr Herbert Dudley has been chartered for flour to Halifax, and returning will bring with her a cargo of coal. Her owners will receive $29,000 for the round trip. This is the first maritime charter of the season."

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, April 23.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region fresh to brisk winds and partly cloudy weather, possibly rain in some localities. For the St. Lawrence, brisk westerly to northerly winds, partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, increasing westerly to northerly winds, cloudy to partly cloudy weather with rain areas.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Indications:—To-day, warmer, increasing cloudiness, followed in northern portion by colder winds and possibly light rain. Slight changes to-morrow.

CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

To the Electors of NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN:—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals: Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

APRIL.

BY L. FRANK TOOKER.

Oh, strangely fall the April days!
The brown buds redden in their light,
And spiders spin by day and night;
The willow lifts a yellow haze
Of springing leaves to meet the sun,
While down their white-stone courses run
The swift, glad brooks, and sunshine waves
A cloth of green for cowslip leaves
Through all the fields of April days.

Oh, sweetly fall the April days!
My love was made of frost and light,
Of light to warm and frost to blight
The sweet, strange April of her ways.
Eyes like a dream of changing skies,
And every frown and blush I prize.
With cloud and flush the spring comes in
With frown and blush maids' loves begin,
For love is like rare April days.

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

DOINGS AND SAYINGS AMONG THE GOTHAMITES—PREPARATIONS FOR DECORATION DAY—THE COAL INTERESTS—DISCONTENTED WORKINGMEN—RAILROAD DISSENSIONS, &C., &C.

(From our regular correspondent.)

NEW YORK, April 19, '79

Active preparations are being made for the celebration of Decoration day. The first division, National guards, will parade, under command of Maj.-Gen. Shaler, as an escort to the procession. An invitation, tendered by Gen. Graham, grand marshal, has been accepted by Maj.-Gen. Hancock, commanding the Department of the East, to take part in the procession, with a detachment of United States troops from the forts in the harbor. Gen. Hancock has directed specially that the famous "Bragg's battery," Third artillery, and Fort Hamilton band shall prrade. Gen. Chittenden, superintendent of the general recruiting service, has also accepted an invitation to assist in the celebration, and offered the services of the Governor's island band; Capt. Luce, commanding the training ship "Minnesota" has accepted, in behalf of the sailors and marines from that vessel.

The report that a strike of coal miners was anticipated during the next few days in the Lehigh coal region by reason of their present low wages is not credited by many of the large coal operators in this city. One of the officers of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company says they can not say whether there was any truth in the report or not, as they had received no definite information. He thought, however, that only a local strike would take place, and that a general strike would not result from it, as the men would prefer to work at small wages rather than go out of employment. Another large coal operator said it would be ridiculous for the men to close up the mines. Speaking about the new coal combination, this gentleman said it was only a question of time that some settlement would have to be arranged by the operators. Every company had been for a long time suffering from low prices, and the loss would be very heavy.

A circular has been issued to the workingmen of New York, signed by P. M. Dowd, D. C. Connery, John McGuire, Nicholas Scott and Michael O'Brien, calling upon them to organize against the oppression of capital, and to use their influence toward forming a union of workingmen throughout the United States. The document condemns the Federal Government, particularly John Sherman. It says that there are four million unemployed men in the United States at present, upon whom many millions more are depending for support. It refers to the unfulfilled promises of the anti-Tammany politicians, who, instead of finding employment for suffering workingmen, removed a faithful public officer, who was fairly elected, and put in his place an enemy of workingmen, Hubert B. Thompson. This man, they further say, while in the department of public works, was the friend of contractors. They enter a protest against the action of Gov. Robinson, in the matter, characterizing it as "a high-handed outrage." They also condemn Campbell, Commissioner of Public Works, who, they say, has persisted in giving work to contractors that ought to have been done by day's work. They call upon their brother workingmen to watch the "reform Mayor," and see that he carries out his promise to them.

It is stated here that the breaking up of the southwestern railroad pool would not affect the rates between Chicago and St. Louis and the East, and the cutting on freights to the Mississippi valley points would be confined to the St. Louis and Chicago roads. Commissioner Fink says until the rates are permanently established again west of Chicago and St. Louis (of which due notice will be given) all freight from the seaboard cities and New England, destined for the Missouri River points, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Leavenworth and Atchison, will be billed at the full proportion of the established through rates to St. Louis, Hannibal, and Chicago only, without giving or guaranteeing a through rate to the point of destination, except in case of shippers demanding such through rate, when the present full tariff will be inserted in the bill of lading. The freight to be billed by a route by which it is directed, and, in order to divert the Missouri river, freight is, for the present, suspended, but the division of this freight between the lines east of the Mississippi river and Chicago will be carried out as per existing agreement.

Among the prisoners in the Court of Special Sessions the other day, was a lady of refinement and cultured address named Elizabeth L. Chapman, who was charged with the larceny of twenty dollars' worth of books, the property of Thos. L. Hynes. On her arraignment at the bar she almost fainted from sheer feebleness and the court assigned Mr. Abe H. Hummel to act as her counsel. The testimony showed that the complainant's property had been stolen on the 21st of March last, and was found with a bookseller named Dugan, who swore he purchased them from the prisoner. Mr. Hummel led the accused to the witness stand, where, in reply to his question, she stated that she was the widow of an army officer who was killed by the Indians in the Custer massacre. She was under no necessity to steal books, but, had purchased them and sold them to Mr. Dugan, who had previously purchased from her other books from her late husband's library. Mrs. Chapman's manner was so genteel and sincere that Counsellor Hummel said he would leave the case with the court without comment, except to move her discharge, which motion the court granted after finding her not guilty.

The Duke of Argyle will shortly reach this country on his way to Canada to visit his son, the Marquis of Lorne, Governor General of Canada. As the Duke has lately suffered severe family afflictions in the death of the Duchess of Argyle, and has also been an invalid for some weeks, he has expressed in a letter to a friend the desire to maintain strict privacy while in the United States.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS. They will right them.

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS?

No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

TUESDAY, April 22.

In the House of Commons after routine the consideration of the tariff in detail was resumed. The matter immediately under discussion was Mr. Vallee's amendment; proposing that wheat flour be placed on the free list. After speeches by Messrs. Bergeron and Pickard against and for the amenment respectively, it was lost on the following division:—Yeas, 61; Nays, 121; Government majority against, 60. All the members for Hastings voted with the majority. The original item was then adopted, as also were the items of rice, sago, brick, brooms, brushes, butter, buttons, candles (tallow, wax and parafine), carriages, waggons, railway cars, &c., and cement (all kinds).

In reply to Mr. Casey

Mr. BOWELL said the arrangements with respect to locomotives and boats sent over to the United States for repair would be the same as hitherto, but with this difference, it was the determination of the Government to collect duty instead of allowing the repairs to go free. The practice in the United States had been that when ten dollars worth of repairs were done to an American vessel in Canada, immediately that vessel touched an American port, the Government collected the $10 duty. It was the intention of the Government to carry that principle out. It would be the same with cars and engines. If cars were brought in with freight, they would be allowed to pass through, but if brought in for use, duty would be charged. It was the intention not only to collect for repairs, but to endeavor to make those who had had repairs done out of the country during the past few years, and had not paid the duty, to pay what they owe.

On the item, cheese, 3 cents per pound,

Mr. CHARLTON pointed out that our country had always had a large quantity of this article to export. Our export of cheese last year was 38,054,000 lbs., while we imported 88,484 lbs., of which half went to Manitoba and British Columbia. It was absurd to attempt to benefit the agricultural community by imposing duties on articles of which we exported a surplus.

Mr. WALLACE (Norfolk) said that before a duty was imposed on cheese, we imported nearly all we consumed from the United States, and it was the imposition of that duty which created the cheese factories in the Dominion. He disputed the declaration that the price of cheese was regulated by the English market. That market was regulated by the cheese markets of the world, and the English people had to give the price which manufacturers required. It was as absurd to say that the English market regulated the price as to declare that the barometer regulated the weather. It was simply an index to the condition of other markets.

Mr. JONES (Leeds) pointed out that when the duty was placed on cheese, in 1865, we imported nearly all the cheese we used. When the duty was put on, the manufacture of cheese commenced, and what had been the consequence? Instead of importing all our cheese now, as we used to, we manufactured all our own cheese and exported 38,000,000 pounds. (Hear, hear.) The farmers knew this matter was no fraud, as proved by their votes in September.

Mr. OLIVER said that the Finance Minister had admitted that the price of the article was decided by the highest market. We had already a duty of three cents on cheese and butter, and if it did not increase the price to the farmer, where was the use of it? But while the duty on cheese had not been increased, the duty on the salt that goes into the manufacture of cheese, and the duty on cotton used in cotton bandages had been increased also.

Mr. TILLEY said any cotton wrapped on cheese and sent out of the country would have the drawback.

Mr. WHITE (Hastings) said the statement of the member for Oxford that cotton bandages had increased, was incorrect. He could buy it for 5½ cents a yard last year, and this year he could buy it for 4⅞ cents. (Hear, hear.) Then, in his butter factory, he used 15 or 20 bushels of salt. Last year he gave $1 a barrel for salt. He had given the same this year. Hon. gentlemen were both inconsistent and dishonest in making statements that were uncalled for.

Mr. OLIVER said the bandage cloth he had alluded to was cloth at 1½ cents a yard.

Mr. HESSON said the hon. gentleman then spoke about what he did not understand. Bandage cloth cost a penny half-penny a yard in the old country, and if he could lay it down for 1½ cents, he had better go into the importing business.

Mr. MACKENZIE said that whatever price the hon. gentlemen from Hasting paid, he must have paid one cent more a yard than he would have paid if there had been no duty.

Mr. WHITE said that if the people could buy cheaper under the present tariff than under the tariff of the hon. gentleman opposite, that was all they cared for.

The item was passed, and those of chicory, china, porcelain, and clocks.

After recess an interesting debate arose on the item of coal, anthracite and bituminous, A number of members spoke for and against the proposition.

The item was adapted.

About twenty-five items, including the manufacture of cotton, were adopted with a slight passing criticism, but on the item of earthenware, &c., a warm discussion ensued.

Some discussion took place on the item of furniture, which was passed.

On the consideration of the items under the head of manufactures of iron,

Mr. BOURASSA moved that pig iron and nails, hardware, &c., be placed on the free list. After a speech by Mr. Landry in respect to the amendment, it was declared lost on a division.

After some further discussion, the items on iron to the item on car wheels and axles, 25 per cent, were passed.

The House adjourned at 1:30 o'clock.

The Sole Objection Removed.

The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile source of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed by the fact that SCOTT & BROWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL is odorless, and has a most agreeable flavor. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

Stick to one thing until it is done and done well. The man who chases two hares not only loses one of them, but is pretty sure to lose the other also.

Romantic Breach of Promise Case.

A MAN SUES AND RECOVERS DAMAGES FOR A LACERATED HEART.

(From the London Daily News.)

In these days of feminine claims and masculine concessions, it is satisfactory to find that the ladies do not always have it their own way. Mr. Herschell's bill will, if it is carried, not operate to the disadvantage of what is ironically called the weaker sex alone, as may be seen from the case of Friday vs. Avery, tried yesterday before Mr. Justice Manisty. This was an action for breach of promise to marry, and the gentleman was plaintiff. The defendant owned the soft impeachment so far as to admit that there was a promise, but she declared that it was conditional on Mr. Friday's so far remembering what was due to her as to execute a marriage settlement, and that he had never done so. He was a shoemaker living in Batavia, Ill., U. S. His counsel urged on his behalf that "he did not seek to recover sentimental damages, but only to recover the expenses he had been put to through the capricious and indefensible conduct of the defendant." Whatever may be the case now, "he entertained a sincere attachment for the defendant, and wished to make her his wife," a fact which is satisfactory from a moral point of view. The plaintiff's counsel unkindly said that "both parties had long since passed the heyday of youth." He also observed that the plaintiff "was an illiterate man," but he certainly had a turn for epigrammatic expressions, such as "a brave man can face a lion in his den, but he can't face a lady." We should have thought, however, that the plaintiff's deafness, which was so great as to make it necessary that he should be examined through his brother-in-law, might have helped him to face even feminine wrath, though it must have somewhat interfered with the more articulate, if less important parts of his courtship. The defendant seems to have been more than once called by rather a rude name, for when she wanted Mr. Friday to go to Maidstone he "told her she was a fool," and after she had been to Maidstone herself she was found crying, because "her lawyer and friends said she was a fool." The plaintiff's remark may have been owing to the surprise of not finding her all his fancy painted her, when he last saw her nineteen years befor; but for the lawyer and friends no excuse can be made. In cross examination Mr. Friday admitted that "while waiting for an answer to his offer of marriage from the defendant he wrote to a widow offering her marriage," but "if she was a widow he did not know it," and "it was all a bit of fun." The jury apparently took that view of the whole transaction, for, though the lady was possessed of means, they only awarded the plaintiff £20. We hope Mr. Friday is not confirmed in his opinion that "all lawyers are rogues." He is, after all, exceptionally lucky in recovering any damages at all, for such actions have come to be regarded as a woman's privilege.

Horrors of the Plague.

FRIGHTFUL RAVAGES OF FAMINE AND TYPHUS IN MOROCCO—STARVING ARABS EAT THEIR DEAD.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 17.—Nothing more horrible has ever been recorded than the ravages of the plague now raging in Morocco. A letter to a gentleman in this city from the United States Council at Tangier, dated March 19, 1879 gives the following terrible account of the suffering from the famine and from starvation. Living human beings eating the dead is almost an unheard of horror. The Consul writes as follows:—

"All who can are running away from this most unfortunate country, where famine, cholera and typhus has and is more than decimulating its population, At Tangier alone we have from thirty to forty cases of typhus per day, and at the city of Morocco the daily mortality by typhus is from 200 to 250 persons. The ordeal of death is complete. Parents eat their children, and at Mogador, Suff and Casabianca the starving Arabs eat their dead. The atmosphere is impregnated with deadly poisons emanating from the thousands that are half buried and rain. The European residents take every precaution; nevertheless nearly one-half have already succumbed to the dreadful disease. The fatalist Moslems ridicule all such expedients to avoid contagion, believing that all is written by God, and they must die if so decreed. The garments of the dead by disease are sold at auction for a trifle, put on by the wretched buyer, who soon after is generally taken sick and follows in the wake of the former wearer."

A Gigantic Project.

A scheme of colossal proportions has been projected by capitalists in Canada, which, when the plans have been completed, will provide for one of the most remarkable roadways in the world. It is proposed to build a roadway under the Canadian bank of the river, below the great falls, from the ferry landing, opposite Prospect Park, to Queenston, opposite the village of Lewiston, where connection can be had with the lake steamers. The proposed road will be laid out above high water mark, will be 36 feet wide, with an elevated foot path on the outer edge, and will be built as level as engineering skill can make it. Such a road, properly built and maintained, would afford one of the most magnificient drives in the world. The project is in the hands of a number of Canadian capitalists, among whom are Messrs. Pierce, Howard & Co., of Clifton, Mr Swinyard, of Hamilton, and others. The right of way for such a road will be obtained by a charter from the Dominion Government, and the construction will be undertaken by a stock company with not less than $100,000 capital. It is estimated that the building of such a road will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000 per mile. It not proposed at present to contemplate the extension of the road further than from the ferry landing to the whirlpool, but the charter will provide for the right of way to the village of Queenston, a distance of about seven miles.—Niagara Falls Gazette.

Prof. Lockyer is of the opinion that human life on the planet Mars might be very much like human life on the earth—the light cannot be so bright, but the organs of sight may be so much more susceptible as to make the vision quite good; the heat is probably less, as the polar snows certainly extend farther, but by no means less in proportion to the lessened powers of the solar rays. He agrees with others, that several very remarkable seas—including inland seas, some of them connected and some not connected by straits with still larger seas—are now definable in the southern hemisphere, in which, as is the case also with the earth, water seems to be much more widely spread than in the northern hemisphere. There is, for example, a southern sea, exceedingly like the Baltic in shape; and there is another and still more remarkable sea, now defined by the observations of many astronomers—one near the equator, a long straggling arm, twisting almost in the shape of an S laid on its back from east to west, which is at least a thousand miles in length and a hundred in breadth.

The Sugar Trade.

The prophecies which were so freely indulged in by Mr. Cartwright and the Grit press, that the price of sugar would be largely enhanced to the Canadian consumer by opening our market to the productions of refineries in this country, have failed of fulfilment. The Montreal Gazette makes the case clear as follows:—"The only extenuating circumstance to which the Liberal Government could point, for the destruction of the sugar refining industries in Canada and direct trade with the West Indies, was the presumed reduction in the cost of sugar to the consumer. "Perish the commerce of the country, rather than increase prices to the consumer," was their battle-cry. Well, the National Policy has come into operation, sugar-refining has again become a leading industry, and the home market has been opened to Canadian refiners, yet, to the condemnation of Grit theories, the consumer is enjoying to-day a better sugar purchased at the same price as that paid under the old tariff. Before the introduction of the tariff "Extra C," a bright grade of American refined yellow sugar, was quoted in Montreal at 7⅞c to 8c per lb.; immediately after the announcement of the change in duties, this same sugar was quoted at 8¼c to 8⅜c, and woe and lamentations went up from the whole Grit press on behalf of the poor consumer. But within a week past the Redpath sugar refinery has been able to place yellow refined sugars in the market, and these are now selling at 7⅞ to 8¼c, or actually at as low a figure as American refined was selling before the new tariff came into operation. But there is another point to be taken into consideration, and it is this, that the amount of saccharine matter in Redpath's sugars is very much greater than in American sugars; so that taking "Extra C" and Redpath's yellow at 8c, it will be found that while the former is lighter in color, the latter has much greater strength. The theory of the National Policy increasing the price of sugar is thus exploded, and we are shown to have been sacrificing a large home industry and an important foreign trade to acquire a benefit which existed only in the imagination of the gentlemen who controlled the fiscal policy of the late Government."

Hanlan and the English Critics.

The English critics continue to criticise unfavorably the comparatively slow stroke of our Canadian champion sculler, as contrasted with the shorter stroke of the English oarsmen. They are quite satisfied with the mode in which his boat travels, with the power of the stroke, and the rapidity of the recovery, but they profess to be unable to conceive how an oarsman who strikes but from 28 to 32 per minute can outspeed one who makes from 36 to 40 strokes in the same time, and come to the conclusion that the man who puts his oars into and draws them out of the water the greatest number of times in a minute must necessarily make the fastest progress. Seemingly they forget that Chambers and Kelley, two of the most expert and successful watermen that England ever produced, pulled much the same length of stroke that Hanlan does, although even their fine skill was probably inferior to that of the young Canadian. The shortening of the stroke dates from the time of Renforth, but he was an exceptional man, and others who are physically his inferiors, whilst following his example and in fact enlarging upon it, have not the same power to sustain the immense additional exertion that the increase in the rapidity with which the oars are pulled through the water requires.

As an English writer has recently stated, the results of the sculling contests in that country now-a-days are decided in the first mile or mile and a half, and that the remainder of the distance is in effect a mere paddle, the swift stroke having exhausted the competitors. Hanlan, on the contrary, can maintain his long stroke over a five mile course, never falling below 26, as he proved at Lachine in October last in his race with Courtney, and still be comparatively fresh at that. On that occasion the five miles, with a turn, in water with numerous currents and eddies, and roughened by a rain squall, were gone over in 36 minutes and 22 seconds—an achievement which it would seriously puzzle the best of the present generation of English oarsmen to rival, even could they maintain their rate of striking at 40. In truly skilful hands the long stroke has always proved the most effective in a long race, and if Hanlan keeps well we incline to the opinion that he will, on the 5th of May, show to the world that previous experience was well founded and that the desire to ignore it has been a mistaken one.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY.

THE ANNUAL DINNER.

The St. George's Society held their annual dinner last night in the Dafoe House, where the company sat down at about 9 o'clock to an elegant spread, surpassing anything in that line they have ever had before. The attendance numbered between 60 and 70, and amongst those present were the Mayor, the Rev. Dr. Clarke, Thos. Wills, Esq., M. P. P., Col. S. S. Lazier, Thos. Kelso, W. H. Ponton, President of St. Andrew's Society, Mr. E. McMahon, President of St. Patrick's Society, Aldermen T. Holden, J. Panter, E. Hayne, G. D. Dickson, and D. B. Robertson, Messrs. James Nosworthy, Joseph P. Reeves, Dr. Potts, Mr. Harry Wills, Thos. Lockerty, Wm. Boswell, Samuel Ross, W. C. Nunn, and many others.

The chair was occupied by the President of the Society, Lieut.-Col. R. Croft Hulme, and the vice-chair by R. Newbery, Esq., 1st Vice-President.

The edibles having been disposed of, the Chairman said it was with pride and pleasure he rose to do the honors devolving on him as President of the Society. He thanked the sister Societies for their aid in sending their respective Presidents to support him. On his right was W. H. Ponton, Esq., President of the St. Andrew's Society, and on his left was E. McMahon, Esq., President of the St. Patrick's Society. He also thanked the Rev. Dr. Clark for his presence, and the excellent sermon he preached to them to-day. The Society was formed in 1843. Its motto is "peace on earth and good will toward men." They desired to accumulate money to be better able to dispense charity, and assist those who are unable to help themselves. He congratulated the relief committee on the success of their efforts. On Christmas day that committee had provided thirty-two families with good substantial English dinners, who otherwise would not have had the luxury; and during the year, that committee had ministered to the wants of thirty-seven families. He was not aware, until he became President of the Society, that so much poverty existed among the English people; hence the necessity of this Society. He was glad to have been in a position to relieve his fellow countrymen. Through the kindness of our present excellent Mayor, he had succeeded in obtaining passes for the destitute to different parts of the country, and he took this opportunity of thanking him for his kindness. He regretted to announce that two had died during the year who had to be buried at the expense of the Society, which motives alone were worthy any Englishman to contribute to the funds of the Society, which he hoped to see largely increased. He urged upon the members the necessity of a regular monthly attendance, and take more interest in the business of the Society, which is now done in committee. The roll of membership is 480. He was sorry the Society had been allowed to run down. In concluding, he proposed the health of "The Queen," which was heartily responded to.

The next toast was the "Prince and Princess of Wales and the Royal Family," which was also duly honored.

The President sang "God bless the Prince of Wales."

The third toast was "the Governor-General and Princess Louise."

Song by Mr. Taylor "Red White and Blue."

The succeeding toast was "the Army and Navy and the Volunteers."

Col. S. S. Lazier, on rising, said he felt proud to respond to this toast, as it was an honor to have the Canadian volunteers coupled with the army of England. He referred at considerable length to the achievements of the British army, and to the desperate battles they had been engaged in, such as Alma, Balaclava, &c. It made our hearts beat with emotion when we thought of being allied; yes, part and parcel of that noble army which performs such great deeds of valor, always willing to do or die. He referred at some length to the action of the British soldiers in Zululand, saying numerous examples of this sort might be quoted. The daring exploits of the Army and Navy are emblazoned on every page of history.

Mr. Graham then sang "The Battle of Trafalgar."

The next toast was the "Day and all who honor it." Replied to by the Rev. Dr. Clarke, who said he thought all civilized nations ought to honor the day. He had not the pleasure of the acquaintance of St. George. No doubt he did exist either bodily or spiritually—probably he was an Israelite who made his way west and the English adopted him as their patron saint. If a man, he said, was to go to England and then return again, he would not wonder that Englishmen were proud of their country. England does not only rule the waves, but the whole world. The whole world is adopting the English language. When we see foreigners, how soon we perceive them learning the English language. Whence came we? Who were our ancestors? Here the Rev. gentleman gave a long dissertation as to who they were, which we would like to give in full if space would permit. Suffice it to say that the people whom Julius Cæsar found there were not they. It would be interesting to discover that the English Queen had descended from the house of David, and that the ancient prophesies are now being fulfilled. In the chapel of Henry VII. there is a stone which the English would expend any amount of money to defend. It is believed that that stone is a stone of destiny, which will some day point out that Victoria is not a Gentile Queen. The men called Jews may be our brothers, who are always to aid England with their money. All English people want is fair play and no favors. They are not given to treachery, and some other nations have taken advantage of their bluntness. It has been said that Englishmen have been defeated again and again, but they being so bull headed have not known it.

The next toast was, "The land we left and the land we live in," responded to by J. H. Holden, Esq., who on rising said it gave him pleasure to respond to this toast. The land we left is still fresh in his mind—let us reflect. Here he pictured the early history of childhood to manhood when they took delight in daisies, primroses and gathered blackberries, &c., listened to the cuckoo and sky lark and the song of the nightingale. He pictured vividly the scenes of youth in the humble cottage, the devotion in chapels, the shady castles. He traced childhood to manhood and left them there "John Bull" a terror to all nations. He next took up the arts, sciences and mechanics. He said England was the strongest power on earth.

W. C. Nunn, Esq., also responded. On rising, he said when I came in here I thought I was an Englishman, but since being here and listening to the remarks of our excellent Chaplain I am beginning to think I am an Israelite. Canada was noted for big things. It is a big country. Take the trip from Duluth in the west to Prince Edward Island, that is a big trip. Big bridges, rivers and lakes and we soon hope to have the biggest railroad in the world. We do not think enough of this country. Children should be brought up to love its flag as children of other countries are their flags. The time will soon come when we shall be better known and take our stand among the nations of the earth. He referred to the rapid strides Canada had made in the past few years in exports of cheese, &c. We had a bright future before us.

Mr. Livingston Howse sang a song "There's no one seems to know me now because I'm broken down."

The next toast was "Our Sister Societies," responded to by W. H. Ponton, Esq., on behalf of St. Andrew's Society. He was glad that the best of feeling existed between the different societies. Canada gave many a chance of meeting with friends which would not otherwise be if the different societies did not exist. If St. George had a pic-nic the other societies were sure to join in and the lads and lasses become acquainted. It would be quite out of place to say what the world owes to the St. George's Society. They have reason to be proud of their country, while other societies have quite as good reason to be proud of their own country. He must say when the English form line the others soon follow.

Mr. E. McMahon rose and responded in behalf of the society which he had the honor to represent, viz., the Sons of St. Patrick. He regretted to observe that some who has been observed from year to year were not now with them. He had always been met with the most kindly feelings. Nothing but unity existed between the different societies. They should all be of one mind as regards the interest of this country and true fellowship. All national and religious differences should be annihilated. Look at the trouble in the East, while some English fell, three hundred or more Irish died fighting for the good of the world. He here referred to names which his country could boast of such as Burke, Dufferin, Wellington, &c. He was glad to be among them fostering a love for home, and a spirit of liberality which is the object of each society represented here.

Song by Mr. Palmer.

The next toast was "The Legislative Assembly." Responded to by Mr. T. Wills, M. P. P., who on rising said it is a pleasure to have such a toast. If we direct our attention to the different parts of the world, how differently the existence of things were, you would not hear the toast of the Government given. The Government and the people did not work together in unison, but were warring with each other. How different in this country. The people made their own Government in choosing their own representatives, and he hoped the people at the coming election would send good men and true.

Mr. Churchward sung "A Motto for every Man."

Mr. R. Newbery, 1st Vice President, gave "The Mayor and Corporation of the City of Belleville."

His Worship the Mayor said among other timely remarks, that it had been said to him that in this our great cosmopolitan country the love for the mother country should not be fostered. He thought it would be a great mistake to allow it to drop. While travelling both in England, Scotland, and other European countries, his mind had lovingly wandered to the country of his birth, dear Canada. He was glad that the best of feeling existed in the Council. He was also proud of the position he occupied, and more so because he was returned by acclamation. He was struck forcibly with the remarks of the Chaplain, and remarked that the man now at the head of affairs in England was a Jew, and ruled the destinies of the world.

On behalf of the Council Ald. Holden also responded, expressed his satisfaction of the Council and believed the people were satisfied with their actions as there was no grumbling. He referred to the proposed visit of the Princess Louise during the summer and hoped all Englishmen would co-operate in giving her a right royal welcome.

Ald. G. D. Dickson also responded.

Chief McKinnon sang in good style "Dear Canada."

The next toast was "The mercantile interests of the City of Belleville," coupled with the name of Thos. Kelso, Esq. Mr. Kelso said the mercantile statistics of the country are a dry subject. He referred to the Customs returns, and observed that the country had suffered, but all countries had suffered alike. With the people rested in a great measure the destiny of the country. The talents given to men are not given them to be buried, but to be used for the good of the country. True, some may fail in business, that does not prove they are dishonest, but they have directed their talents in a wrong direction. It is a puzzle to all countries how we of various nationalities get along in business and prosper; he could not explain how it is, but it is so and we have the evidence for it. While other countries are ruined with strikes, &c., no such thing exists here; look at England with all her strikes; the people do not grumble against the Government because she takes care of the poor. A new era is opened before us, take the great North-West Territory, we must settle down to manufacturing to supply the demands of that vast territory. It would pay us to mortgage this country and build up the North-West, which is destined to become the homes of millions of families; we are destined to become the strongest nation in the world. Space will not permit of giving more of Mr. Kelso's excellent speech.

Mr. S. Ross also responded.

Mr. J. A. Dawson sung "Pulling hard against the Stream."

Mr. D. B. Robertson responded to the toast of "The ladies."

Mr. Taylor sang "The Englishman."

"Our Guests" was responded to. Ald. G. D. Dickson, Esq., following up the remarks of Mr. Kelso, and speaking of the future of this country and the city of Belleville.

"The Press" was responded to by Mr. J. W. London.

The President made some fitting remarks to the untimely death of their late Brother, Mr. H. Wilkins, whose sad loss was keenly felt by all present.

The gathering was brought to a close by singing "God Save the Queen."

THE DEATH RATE IN MONTREAL.—The Montreal Star is doing good service to that city in urging the authorities to enforce the sanitary regulations of the Board of Health. It has been censured for so doing, but when it gives the appalling fact that during the month of December, with a population of 133,000, there were 438 deaths, while in Buffalo, with a population of 170,000, there were only 149 deaths, it is certainly justified in using all possible efforts to put a stop to this alarming death rate. It would indeed be deserving of severe censure, did it not keep ringing the changes upon this subject until the evils were remedied.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.—A Chicago despatch says that Edwin Booth while playing there on the 23rd inst., was twice shot at by Mort Grey, aged 23, who sat in the upper gallery of the theatre. The would be assassin is a dry-goods clerk from St. Louis, and says he has been preparing for the deed for three years. He refuses to disclose his motive. Booth is unhurt. Later despatches from Chicago this morning say that Grey is supposed to be crazy. He says he bought a pistol for the purpose of shooting Booth, and the only thing that surprises him is that he missed. A letter to his sweetheart was found on him, in which he intimated his intention. He is from Keokuk, Ia., but had been employed in St. Louis. Booth after leaving the stage to console his wife, returned and finished the play.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 24.

City and Vicinity.

POLICE.—There were two prisoners in the cells last night and three tramps.

FIRE IN CONSECON.—On the night of the 22nd inst., the house occupied by James Roultstin, Consecon, was burned. Loss $1,500; insured in Isolated Risk for $1,000.

A CHEAP DISINFECTANT.—A gentleman who has tried the experiment informs us that a perfect disinfectant can be manufacturen by placing a tablespoonful of turpentine in a pail of water.

FIRE IN MARMORA.—On the forenoon of Wednesday, the 23rd, the dwelling house of William Crawford, of Marmora, was entirely destroyed by fire. Loss about $1000; no insurance.

GOOD RESULTS.—As one of the results of the New Tariff, the Hon. Dr. Tupper stated in Parliament yesterday that the Cape Breton Coal mines had received orders for 50,000 tons of coal against 25,000 this time last year.

WESTWARD HO!—A Grand Trunk Railway special excursion train passed through Toronto on the 23rd en route for Manitoba comprising 27 cars of live stock, farm and agricultural implements, with about 550 passengers.

BUILDING OPERATIONS.—The contractors (the Messrs. Fahey) have commenced work on the foundation for Mayor Robertson's new block of stores on Front Street. The work will doubtless be pushed forward vigorously to completion.

MR. WILKINS' FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Henry Wilkins, whose melancholy death by accident on Tuesday has already been recorded, took place this afternoon. There was a large attendance, the St. George's Society meeting at their rooms and attending in a body. The remains were conveyed to the cemetery in the ferry steamer Prince Edward.

DISGRACEFUL SCENES.—We understand that for some time past there has been some very disgraceful conduct at the Station, in pulling and hauling for passengers, and which last night ended in a free fight. Our informant says that one of the hotel porters caught hold of a package of goods belonging to a passenger, broke it open and threw the stuff on the ground, and then followed the gentleman to the street-car and knocked him over. If this be so, it is certainly very strange that the party in question does not cause the arrest of his assailant. Subsequently the porter and some others got into a free fight, which resulted in considerable blood being spilled, and not a few bruises; one party was bitten in two places on his thigh. The police authorities ought to have a special policeman detailed for the Station, to put a stop to these disgraceful proceedings.

HUMPTY DUMPTY. — A large audience witnessed the production of this favorite pantomime by Mr. Tony Denier's company at the Opera House last night. Mr. Denier has been identified with "Humpty Dumpty" ever since its first production, and being a liberal manager, he presents it with a company and with accessories of a character to ensure its success. Mr. Geo. H. Adams, the clown, is a young man, but he well deserves the distinction which he has won as the first clown in America, his features being most expressive, whilst his gymnastic facts are executed with rare skill, and his "business" throughout is admirably given. In Mr. C. F. Fox, the pantaloon, he had an able assistant, whilst Mr. Ennice, the harlequin, is a very clever performer and Miss Ada Boshell is a sprightly and engaging Columbine. The support was good and the scenic effects precisely of the character used in New York. The second act of the pantomime, entitled "Humpty's Kaleidoscope," includes a variety of performances of much merit, including the children Venus and Adonis in very clever roller skating and velocipede acts, in which latter speciality they are unequalled. Miss Victoria North sang a number of motto songs and gems of melody; Mr. Phil. Heath, ventriloquist, gave a most amusing and entertaining exhibition of ventriloquism, with his comical puppets. Messrs. Lester and Williams might have improved on their vocal and saltatorial efforts, but Mr. Adams' (Grimaldi) feats on stilts were wonderful and never equalled here. Messrs. Clifton and Fox, the American gymnasts, gave a very fine exhibition on the triple tourniquet, as also did Miss Emma Moulton, with the Indian Clubs, in the use of which she is a proficient. Mr. Charles Diamond, the Milanese Minstrel, gave a fine performance on the harp, and also danced to the admiration of the audience. Everything moved off smoothly, and the performance was much relished by the audience. Mr. Denier promises to visit Belleville next year.

APPLETONS' JOURNAL.—The contents of Appletons' Journal for May are as follows: "A Seat in the Chair of Destiny," being the real and traditional history of the Stone of Scone placed in the Coronation Chair in Westminster Abbey; "The Golden Mesh," a story br M. E. W. S; "The Position and Influence of Women in Ancient Athens;" "A Comedy of Superstition," being a description of a remarkable play by the Spanish dramatist Calderon; "On the Choice of Books," by Frederic Harrison; the beginning of a new novel by Walter Besant and James Rice, entitled "The Seamy Side;" "Apples: a Comedy," by Julian Sturgis; "A night with the Sardines," an adventure in the bay of Biscay. Then follow the editorial departments. The editor writes of the Academy Exhibition, the success of "Pinafore," and "The Discipline of Education." There are a number of book criticisms, Dr. Busch's "Bismarck" and Hamerton's "Life of Turner" being reviewed at considerable length.

SCRIBNER FOR MAY—Is the most attractive number issued during the year. Among the summer announcements of SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY are a new serial of four to six numbers by Henry James, jr., and a number of authoritative papers on the inventions of Mr. Edison, including a full account of his Electro-Motograph and its applications; a paper on his Electric Light, another on his unapplied inventions composed of material entirely new to the public) etc., etc. The first of these will appear in the June number.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR MAY.—Has a May-song, in it, and a coronation, of course, but no May Queen. It is sort of story number, and has nearly forty pictures. Besides the two serials, there are: a spider story, an an elephant story, a gunpowder story, a bear story, an astronomical story, a mythological story, a botanical story, a mathematical story, a story of a girl who couldn't, and more than one of girls who could, besides an astounding tale of a boy who made a man and found him a very difficult person to manage. Published by Scribner & Co., New York.

WALKING MATCH.—The ten hours walking match between H. Beasley and Jno. Garrat begun at 1 o'clock to-day. Beasley started off with the lead, but his style of going for the first few laps was certainly open to question, and in this wise he gained a lap upon his oponent. The match will be concluded at 11 p. m. unless one of the competitors should retire before that hour. At 3 p. m. Beasley had covered 10 miles and 17 laps, and Garratt 10 miles and 15 laps. Both were going strong and well, and would endeavor to cover 50 miles, as they were to receive a dollar per mile for every mile over 45.

THE SEASON.—At length the dreary winter with its arctic cold, its ice-fields and snow-banks, is gone, and spring with all its freshness and joyousness is here. The warm sun is swelling the buds on the maples and the lilacs. The brimming rivulets sing aloud in their glee. The sparrow and the robin and the oriole and the blue bird make glad melody as they flit to and fro amongst the branches of the leafless trees. The grass is rapidly turning into emerald green. The blue violet peeps forth from its winter's bed, and the cowslip with its yellow flowers and fresh green leaves, make a beautiful border on the meadow stream. At such a time who does not recall Mrs. Hemans' "Voice of Spring."

"I come, I come! ye have called me long;
I come o'er the mountains with light and song;
Ye may trace my step o'er the wakening earth,
By the wind which tells of the violets birth,
By the primrose stars in the shadowy grass,
By the green leaves opening as I pass."

Who does not rejoice in the coming of the queen of the seasons? All nature is glad, and man and beast welcome with loud acclaim the advent of Spring.

Seasonable Topics.

Wearers of early and loud spring overcoats look like proud checkerboards.

Many of the sidewalks on the principal streets are in a terribly dilapitated condition. Nail them down.

There is nothing that makes life sweeter, nothing that gives one more encouragement in the midst of hard work, than a loyal friendship. It is this that makes it a meanness unspeakably base to put on the disguise of friendship in order the better to serve personal ends. And yet how often this disguise is worn by those who use the loyal friend until their ends are served, and then kick him aside. Such is life.

That was a bright little boy who spelled out the words of the text, "pray without ceasing," and then concluded not to show it to the minister because he thought his prayers were long enough already.

Now the small boy is walking his legs off and prates of "gate money," "laps," "favorites," and other pedestrian nonsense.

Bits of branches of cherry, apple, pear, lilac, and other trees and shrubs, taken into the house now and kept standing in a vase of water, will blossom in a week or two.

When putting up your window curtains this spring, use no improper violence of manner or speech, nor curse the inventor of the spring roller, but speak softly, and if you sing, try the new air, "When the Evening shades are Falling."

At this season of the year it is of vital importance that refuse matter in back yards and outbuildings should be cleared up. There are any number of idle men waiting for a job.

Several sidewalks in various parts of the City need repairing at once. Better have them mended now than to pay damages for broken limbs.

During the past week farmers hereabout have been busy, ploughing and sowing. Some have already got nearly all their seed in the ground.

Chancery Spring Sittings.

FRIDAY, April 18.

HERRING vs. SCOTT.—Bill filed to investigate the affairs of and wind up the Napanee Mills Paper Manufacturing Company, alleging fraud and improper conduct on the part of the majority of the directors having control of the company. The case occupied the whole of one day, during which the Managing Directors and Secretary underwent a rigid examination as to the manner in which the affairs of the company had been conduct. At the opening of the Court on the second day the plaintiff's counsel admitted that the examinations of the day previous did not show such improper dealings as his client had believed existed, and by arrangement the following decision was pronounced: Bill dismissed. Plaintiff to pay his own costs. Defendant's costs to be paid out of the Company's funds. Charges of fraud withdrawn. Jas. Bethune, Q. C., C. Moss, Esq., and J. A. Rawden for pl'ff; Hon. E. Blake, Q. MR. GEO. SEWELL, of Memramcook, N. B., writing from Moncton, N. B., under date of May 7, 1878, says:—

Dear Sir—In January last I came to Moncton from Memramcook to consult a physician as I was in the last stage of consumption. When I arrived here I had at once to go to my bed and was so low I never expected to leave it. A physician was called [who pronounced my case as hopeless; that I might live a week or two, but certainly not more. As a last resort he recommended Robinson's Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. I purchased a bottle and after taking the first dose I commenced to improve. It seemed, after taking a dose, as if I had eaten a good, hearty meal. I have continued taking it ever since and am rapidly improving. I am confident had it not been for your Oil I would have been in my grave to-day. You are at liberty to use this in any way you wish as I am anxious to let others, who are afflicted in the same way, know, in hope they, too, may receive the same benefit.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours respectfully, &c. Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. For sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

Faces.

The human face is not only "the index of the soul." Every bodily sensation leaves its indelible trace upon the features. Every human face, if studied attentively, reveals the physical and mental history of its possessor. On the crowded street of the city what volumes of these histories are open to all who would search them. The miser with his features drawn as tightly as the openings of his money bags; the debauchee with his sensual, semi-animal face; the young man with the future fair and broad before him, every line of his countenance revealing energy and ambition; the maiden's face bright with innocent love and hope,—each of these face-histories is as legible as the printed page before you. But there are other faces in which we may read sad histories—faces of work-weary women, to whom living has become an irksome task. The fatal alphabet of disease is written in every line of their countenances. Why will these women suffer from debility and those painful diseases and weaknesses peculiar to their sex, losing besides the charm and beauty of a bright, healthful face, when Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a sure and effectual remedy? Ladies who have used it pronounce it to be woman's elixir of health. Sold by druggists.

When the Doctors Don't Disagree.

The Doctors usually let a novelty in medicine or any change in existing remedies, work its way to recognition through a long period of neglect or antagonism, but with unprecedented unanimity they have accepted and prescribed SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH THE HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, and universally declare it to be in consumption, wasting disorders of children, and all scrofulous affections, the finest remedy known. It is also perfectly agreeable to the taste.

WEATHER REPORTS.

TORONTO, April 24.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region fresh to brisk easterly to southerly winds and partly cloudy weather, followed by local showers to-morrow. For the St. Lawrence (upper), winds shifting towards the east and southeast, fair weather. St. Lawrence (lower) cloudy to partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, fresh to brisk northerly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy to clear weather.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Indications:—To-day, cooler, followed by slightly warmer, clear or hazy. To-morrow warm, fair, threatening indications towards night.

DR. DEAL, who is a Veterinary Surgeon of great skill, writes from BOWERSVILLE, HARRISON CO., O.: I have given Perry Davis' Pain Killer in many cases of Colic, Cramp and Dysentery in Horses, and never knew it to fail to cure in a single instance. I look upon it as a certain remedy.

Read the following:

SALT RHEUM CURED.—I had salt Rheum on my hand for two years; I tried every doctor I could hear of. The salves, ointments and soaps without number; nothing benefitted me. A 50c. bottle of Gile's Liniment Iodide Ammonia cured me in less than a week.

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

To the Electors of

NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN:—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals: Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

The Workshop.

India-rubber wheel-tires are used.

Rivets are cut from round metal rods.

African ivory is preferred to the Asiatic.

Platform scales were used in England in 1796.

The soil on which timber is grown increases or deteriorates its value.

The tensile strength of lance wood is double that of chesnut or beech.

Pig-iron is the crude metal from the smelting furnace, cast into bars or pigs.

Petroleum is refined by treatment with sulphuric acid and by distillation.

The winding drums or pulleys for wire ropes should be 100 times the size of the rope.

The first iron-works in America were established near Jamestown, Virginia, in 1619.

Plate glass is formed of silica 78 parts, potash 2, soda 13, lime 5 and alumina 2 parts.

Red ink is a solution of alum colored with Brazil-wood, or an ammoniacal solution of cochineal.

Oak warps and twists much in seasoning and shrinks in width about one-thirty-seventh part.

Split timber is more durable and stronger than that with is sawn, from the continuity of the fibres.

The Florida cedar is used by all of the principal pencil-makers in the world, on account of its fine grain, softness and strength combined.

Rubber tubes are made by wrapping slips of rubber or rubber-cloth around a mandril of glass, which is afterwards withdrawn, the layers and the edges being joined by salvants or heat.

To make leather adhere closely to metal, the leather is steeped in an infusion of gall nuts, a layer of hot glue is spread upon the metal, and the leather forcibly applied to it on the fleshy side. It must be allowed to dry under the same pressure.

Enameled slate, as it is called, is worked for chimney-pieces to represent marbles and for other decorative purposes. The process, which is simply painting dried at great heat, requires to be well done to be really lasting.

Marble for mantels, tombstones, and generally where thin pieces are required, is divided by a saw, which is a plain narrow plate of steel, and effects the division of the stone by attrition, being constantly supplied with sand and water.

Rubber belting is formed by laying together a sufficient number of layers of the vulcanized gum or gum cloth, and subjecting them to the action of a flat press at a heat of 280°. Additional hardness is attained by the use of a larger proportion of sulphur and the application of greater heat.

In Holland the preservation of the woodwork of drawbridges, sluices, gates and other works, is conducted by the application of a mixture of pitch and tar, whereon are strewn pounded shells, with a mixture of sea sand, or again with small and sifted beaten scales from a blacksmith's forge.

Limestone, taking an average time, requires burning about sixty hours to reduce it to lime when the heat is strong and well regulated: though no general rule can be laid down, since different species require different periods of time. The principal object to be accomplished is the expulsion of the carbonic acid gas which enters into its composition.

The covering of pulleys with leather, in many establishments where there is a deficiency of power, would produce such an improvement as to astonish those not acquainted with its value. Large pulleys and drums may be covered by narrow strips of leather, wound around sprially; but narrow pulleys should be covered by leather of same width as pulley face.

India paper is the name given to a paper made with one exceeding fine surface, and used for taking the finest impressions of steel, steelplate and wood engravings. It is made by the Chinese from the inner bark of the bamboo. It is imported in sheets 25x26 inches. The Chinese also make paper of the barks of the elm and mulberry, of the cotton-tree, hemp, wheat-straw, rice and rice-straw.

When water freezes it undergoes a sudden expansion. The amount of its expansion is found to be about ten per cent.—more exactly, 1000 cubic feet of water at freezing point becomes 1102 cubic feet of ice at the same temperature. The force of this expansion is almost irresistible. The common accident of the bursting of water pipes in frosty weather can therefore be easily understood. The rupture takes place of course, during the frost; but the rent being closed up with ice, no leakage of water takes place. It is only when the thaw sets in that the damage done to the pipe becomes apparent.

A Romance of the Hub.

An umbrella figures in a Boston romance, which might be named "One Winter." On January 16th, as the Hub correspondent of The Detroit Post and Tribune tells the story, two people, with umbrellas tilted forward, met in a driving storm. One was a hale and hearty gentleman of about fifty, and the other was a little, slight woman, perhaps a year or two younger. He was coming round the corner from the Washington street side; she was going around the same corner from Winter street. Both were in a hurry. Natural consequence, a sudden collision of umbrellas, the shock of which caused the little woman's feet to slip upon the treacherous walk. The gentleman picked her up, thereby getting a good look at her face, when, exchanging a few astonished exclamations, the pair recognized in each other long-lost friends, and walked off together. Thirty years ago she was a factory girl, in Lowell, and he was a medical student at Harvard. Both were poor in pocket, but rich in love and hope; he worked hard at study, and she worked hard to raise the money to help him on through his course.

When the California fever broke out in 1849, he resolved to try a quicker route to fortune, and started for the golden shore, sending back a letter of farewell to this young girl. The upshot of the separation was that letters became less and less regular, and at last there was'll ence. The years passed on; he grew rich and influential, completed his studies, and became a noted physician in one of the largest California cities; he married and had two children. Two years ago wife and children were carried off by fever. A year to a day before the meeting in the snow-storm, he dreamed that his youthful love was living, and in distress, and the dream made such an impression upon him that he sent East and made enquiries, which resulted in his coming himself to search for her. But six months had been spent unsuccessfully, and he had just despaired of ever finding her, when the two bumped umbrellas at the corner of Washington and Winter streets. And she—poor soul!—had married late in life, and now was a widow with two children who were too young to work much, and whom she was trying, with her old devotion, to keep at school. What followed! Why, of course, minister, wedding cake, wine, etcetera, etcetera.

The best thing in the world is to be able to live above the world.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS. They will right them.

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS?

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

THE GEORGIAN BAY BRANCH.

Mr. Read's Speech in the Senate.

(From the Official Report.)

MONDAY, April 21.

Hon. Mr. READ moved: "That this House is of the opinion that in view of the large deficits for several years past it is inexpedient to continue the construction of the Georgian Bay Branch Railway, or make further payments as a subsidy to the Canada Central Railway, until such time as it is found that the revenue meets the expenditure of the country." He said: I need hardly apologize to the House for the frequency with which I have brought this matter before the House. It is one in which I have taken a deep interest ever since its inception. I am led to the conclusion set forth in the resolution which I now submit to the House from the best information that I could obtain as to the usefulness of the work when it is completed. When we consider that necessary public works which we have now on hand will absorb all our means for years to come, we may well ask ourselves whether we should not discontinue this Georgian Bay Branch The history of this undertaking is not new. It has arisen since the Pacific Railway policy has been changed. I am led to believe that that change has not been in the best interests of the country at large. It was effected by an Act of Parliament passed in 1874. In allowing that measure to pass without amending it, I admit that I was as remiss in my duty as any other member of the House. There seems to be a misconception as to our agreement with regard to the construction of the Pacific Railway. I understand that the road was to have been commenced at Lake Nipissing. The language of the Act is as follows:—

> "A railway to be called the Canadian Pacific Railway, shall be made in conformity with the agreement referred to in the preamble to this Act, and such railway shall extend from some points on or near Lake Nipissing, and on the south shore thereof, to some points on the shore of the Pacific Ocean, both the said points to be determined by the Governor in Council."

Now, there seems to be a misconception in the minds of some of the people of this country as to the starting point; they seem to think that it should be much further east. I notice, in an interview which was held by some gentlemen with the Minister of Public Works a few days ago, the following statement was made:

> "That from the time the Pacific Railway scheme had been first adopted, it had been held by the people of the Province of Quebec that the Government of the Dominion was pledged to construct a line of railway which would connect the Quebec Provincial Railway with the waters of Lake Huron."

I do not understand it so, and I do not think that the people of this country comprehend it. I have taken a little pains to read the speech made by the lamented Sir George E. Cartier, when he introduced the Pacific Railway Bill in the House of Commons, and he did not say so. What he did say was this:

> "Lake Nipissing will be the junction where the lines both for Ottawa and Toronto could meet."

Now I think that that this was perfectly understood, and that was the agreement on which it was understood by the people of this country, the Pacific Railway was to be constructed—that Lake Nipissing was to be the point of junction. That being the agreement, I am loth to consent to it being deviated from to any great extent. It is hardly necessary for me to show that it has been deviated from very considerably. The original agreement for the construction of the Pacific Railway is set forth as follows:

> "Whereas the House of Commons of Canada resolved at the said now last session that the said railway should be constructed and worked by private enterprise and not by the Dominion Government, and that the public aid to be given to secure that undertaking should consist of such liberal grants of land and such subsidy in money and other aid, not increasing the present rate of taxation, as the Parliament of Canada shall hereafter determine."

I think that we have evidence enough to show that this work, so far as we have got, is increasing our taxation very materially. We find that our public debt is increasing, and that our revenue does not meet our expenditure. In the last four years the deficits have been as follows:

1876	$1,900,800
1877	1,460,000
1878	1,120,100
1879 (estimated)	2,400,000
Total	$6,880,900

With these facts before us, we should ask ourselves whether it is prudent to proceed with a costly work which will yield no return from the outlay, and will be a constant bill of expense, while it will be of very small benefit to the country. Already we have expended upon the Pacific Railway for surveys:

1872	$489,428.16
1873	561,818.44
1874	310,224.88
1875	474,529.89
1876	791,121.19
1877	754,624.57
1878	322,695.42
	$3,604,442.55
1879 (estimated)	300,000.00
For construction, Steel Rails, etc.,
1875	$1,071,711.78
1876	3,346,567.06
1877	2,275,296.16
1878	1,906,677.71
	$8,599,252.71

This does not include the expenditure since 1st July, 1878. The estimated cost of works already under contract for the road to Selkirk, from Thunder Bay and the Georgian Bay Branch, all under contract, with the exception of the Canal to the mouth of French River from Cantin's Bay:

Canada Central 120 miles	$1,440,000
Georgian Bay Branch 52 miles	2,000,000
Canal from Cantin's Bay, with harbor improvements at the mouth of French River	1,500,000
Contract A. Marks and Ginty for 118 miles	2,236,000
Contract B. Frazer & Co., 67 miles	4,130,000
Buildings, Rolling Stock, and other necessaries to complete the road from Thunder Bay Branch	1,500,000
	$12,806,000

To complete the section between Thunder Bay and Selkik, will involve an outlay of $10,000,000. That estimate does not include the Fort Frances Lock, and other incidental expenses in connection with it that have been charged generally in the Pacific Railway accounts. While upon this subject, it is well to consider for a moment the expenditures upon the canals of the country, and the amount which this contemplated French River canal will involve. They are as follows:

Welland Canal	$8,967,754
Lachine do	4,010,341
To complete Welland Canal	3,592,246
do Lachine do	1,904,659
Total	$18,475,000

Over $18,000,000 have been and are being expended on the Lachine and Welland Canals. I see it stated that the Government contemplate the construction of a canal from the mouth of the French River to Lake Nipissing—either a canal or a Railway—at a cost of 3,500,000. I find in Mr. Shanly's report that to canal the French River, from its mouth to Lake Nipissing, will involve the construction of eight locks and eight dams. A reasonable estimate for these works would be $3,500,000.

Hon. Mr. DICKEY—Where do you find that?

Hon. Mr. READ—In the report of Mr. Shanly, made in 1858. He says there is natural navigation for 49 miles, which would leave 31 miles to be canalled. Of that, one mile would have to be cut through the rock, and there is a fall of 67 feet between Lake Nipissing and the Georgian Bay. He says that the rock through which the canal would have to be cut is of the hardest description. His statement is:

> "The greatest difficulty to be encountered is the hard unyielding nature of the material to be worked upon, chiefly Syedite, Gneissoid, harsh, naked and repellant, over the whole distance."

Mr. LUMSDEN, who surveyed the Georgian Bay Branch in 1876, says in his report:

> "From the commencement of the line from French River to the 48th mile, the country is generally rocky, with very little soil fit for cultivation."

The character of the rock throughout that country is of the hardest description—primitive rock. Upon that point we have Mr. Fleming's statement, and he gives us an idea of what it will cost to remove such rock. Mr. Bell was sent up to survey the mouth of French Biver for this canal when it was first projected, and his estimate of the cost of constructing one rock was $484,550 with a dam and $515,700 without a dam. He tells us that he estimated the cost of removing rock under water at $6 per yard in one instance and $7 in the other. Mr. Fleming says in a foot note to this report:

> "Our experience would require us to estimate this work at $20 per yard; some softer rock have actually cost us $28 per yard."

Out of the $575,700 which he estimated as the cost of the lock, $416,000 is for rock excavation, and we can readily understand how far that is below the actual cost of such a work. The whole country in that neighborhood is exceedingly sterile. There is nothing but granite rock for twenty miles square. There is not earth enough in all that section to bury a man. I have confirmation of that statement from a man who knows that country well. He says, "I worked for Cook Bros.; one of our men was drowned in French River, and we had to carry his body sixteen miles before we could bury him." I have heard similar statements from many others who have visited that country. We know that when Mr. Foster was given the contract to build a road there, after exploring it he said he could not build the last twenty-six miles, the country was so rough, and he asked to have his contract changed. Last fall when a tug was brought from Buffalo to French River for the use of the contractors, great difficulty was experienced in getting her through the narrow channel. These rocky channels must be widened and the cost of such a work must be very great. If we built a canal there it must be one wtih sufficient capacity to compete for the Western traffic. Mr. Shanly's estimate is for ten feet of water, but we will require twelve feet at least, and we can readily understand how the increased depth will add to the cost of the work. We can recollect the large sum which was sunk in the Chats Canal which was ultimately abandoned, and remains to this day an illustration of the difficulty of excavating that unyielding primitive rock.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—What Government?

Hon. Mr. READ—The Government of Canada.

Hon. Mr. CAMPBELL—That was prior to Confederation.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—You supported that Government, did you not?

Hon. Mr. READ—I have always supported that party. We have this evidence of the unyielding nature of that rock; and we can have no conception of the cost of the work. I have made an estimate of how we shall stand if we finish all these works in connection with the Pacific Railway. From information brought down, I find that after these works are completed, we will have nearly $30,000,000 expended.

Hon. Mr. DICKEY—Up to what point—the Red River?

Hon. Mr. READ—From Thunder Bay to the Red River at Selkirk. After the Georgian Bay Branch Railway, and its Canal, with the Canada Central Extension, are completed, and the road from Thunder Bay to Selkirk is finished, and from Selkirk to Pembina in operation, we will then have expended on these works very little short of $30,000,000. That, of course, includes surveys and all the cost of construction.

Hon. Mr. TRUDEL—What proportion will be expended on the Georgian Bay Branch and the Canada Central Extension?

Hon. Mr. Read—$5,000,000.

Hon. Mr. SCOTT—Oh, no.

Hon. Mr. READ—The hon. gentleman may say "oh, no," but I say that I believe it will. Let us take the length of the road, and then estimate what it is costing, and I think you will come to the same conclusion that I have. The contract appears to be for 52 miles. I do not quite understand that, because I find that Mr. Lumsden calls it 63 miles, but it is 52 at any rate, and I will take it at that for the sake of argument. In a country so remote and unsettled as that through which this line is to run, we may safely estimate that the cost of construction will not be less than $40,000 a mile. That is $2,080,000 for 52 miles. Then we pay for the Canada Central Extension $1,400,000 more, and after these two sections are completed, where do they leave us? In the woods! To get to the mouth of French River will cost $1,500,000 more. If my figures are right, that will make the cost not less than $5,000,000. It is this enormous outlay that I am objecting to, because I cannot see that the country is to receive any corresponding benefit for it. We are spending $18,000,000 on the St. Lawrence and Welland Canals, and here, on the other side, we are attempting to construct works to compete with those canals. It has been stated that the road was to have been commenced at Lake Nipissing, as well as at the Pacific, but I don't understand it so. I see that the resolution, which was adopted at the time the question was before the Parliament, read as follows:

> "They shall commence at the Pacific Coast, and also west of the Rocky Mountains, and work eastward."

It does not say that they shall commence at Nipissing and go west. Now, when this canal is completed, the only class of vessels which can navigate it, are propellors. It is not argued either by Mr. Clark or Mr. Shanly that any other class of vessels will be useful for the purpose; and I ask what, in a rock formation like that, would a propellor do at night in a canal 80 miles long. I do not care what lights you put up, you cannot navigate it after dark. There will be eight locks and eight dams—each lock, I suppose, 270 feet long, 45 feet wide, and 10 or 12 feet deep.

Hon. Mr. TRUDEL—How do you estimate 80 miles of canal? Do you call the French River a canal?

Hon Mr. READ—You can call it what you wish. It is part of the canal system. It is estimated that 30 miles out of the 50 will be canal, and Mr. Shanly calls the river a canal; and I use his words. But there are two or three dams built on Lake Nipissing, and there is a mile of canal to be made in the rock in the French River. I think that we should pause a little before entering upon such a gigantic work in the present state of our finances. My resolution goes no further than to ask this. It merely declares that we should not continue the construction of these works until the revenue meets the expenditure; and if the revenue does not meet the expenditure, does any one imagine that we would be warranted in going on with this work. It seems to me suicidal to build one canal and then open up a competing route. That is the view I take of it, and I have not the slightest feeling in the matter. The enterprise does not affect me one iota, and it does not effect the locality from which I come. I condemn in the public interest, and on that ground alone. There are several railways already in operation which tap the Georgian Bay, and one of them is two miles shorter than the Georgian Bay branch, taking Montreal as the starting point.

Hon. Mr. DEBOUCHERVILLE—What railway is that?

Hon. Mr. READ—The Midland Railway. And if the deviation is made that is in contemplation now, it will be some 20 or 30 miles shorter. A serious objection to this Georgian Bay Branch is that for five months of the year at least it will be useless; and another objection is that it is premature. We are not prepared to go on and connect it with the Pacific Railway proper, because we are not prepared to build the 620 miles of railway which would be necessary to reach Thunder Bay. For twenty-five years to come these $5,000,000 which we are spending on the Georgian Bay Branch and the French River Canal, and the Canada Central Extension, will not only be so much money lost, but will involve a continual expense to the country. We must either build the 620 miles of railway to connect it with the Pacific Railway proper, or at least 180 miles to carry it to Sault Ste. Marie. I think that the House will fully understand that I am not an advocate for constructing the Georgian Bay Branch Railway.

WEDNESDAY, April 23.

In the House of Commons during routine, Mr. Speaker informed the House that in his opinion the memorial from the Reciprocity and Free Trade Association of England could not be received.

The consideration of the tariff in detail was resumed. After a number of items had been disposed of a debate rose on the proposal to tax a manufacture of iron known as wood screw 35 per cent.

The next discussion of any consequence was on the item of printing presses, 15 per cent.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) directed attention to the complaint by salt manufacturers that they were not sufficiently protected, while the cost of protection was largely increased. He requested the Finance Minister to allow the item to stand for a day, so as to enable him to make personal enquiries as to the grievances, but the request was refused.

On the item of sugar a long debate took place.

The whole of the items classified as sugars were concurred in, and the debate was adjourned.

The House adjourned at 1:55 a. m.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous diseases.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, APRIL 25.

West Hastings.

The Conservative Convention for West Hastings will meet to-morrow for the purpose of choosing a candidate for the Ontario Legislature. We trust that the strongest candidate will be chosen, irrespective of the locality in which he resides, in which case there can be no doubt that success will attend the efforts of the party.

Immediately after the nomination has been made, a meeting of the members of the Liberal Conservative Association for the Riding will be held, for the transaction of important business. We hope that there will be a large attendance at this meeting, as the time remaining for work is short, and organization ought to be perfected at once.

Only Five Weeks.

Five weeks from Thursday and the elections for the Ontario Legislature will be upon us. In the North Riding the Conservatives have already made choice of their old, well-tried and faithful representative, Dr. Boulter, and with proper effort they can elect him by a triumphant majority. In union there is strength, and notwithstanding the attempt to divide the party forces, we trust and believe the Conservative party will put forth their united strength to secure his re-election.

In West Hastings a candidate will in all probability be chosen on Saturday; and next week East Hastings will select its standard-bearer. We have no doubt in both constituencies the party will lay aside all jealousies and divisions, and present an unbroken front to their political enemy. With careful and judicious management, and proper effort, there is no reason to doubt that the three constituencies of Hastings will send to the next Local Legislature men who will give a loyal support to the new Conservative Government which will take the place of the present incapables.

From British Columbia.

The following sensational despatch from Victoria, British Columbia, must be received with caution, as it comes through San Francisco sources: "The public feeling is daily more unsettled as the 1st of May approaches. The situation is alarming, as it threatens the permanency of the Canadian connection on the Pacific, if it does not imperil British connection. The Parliament is now sitting with closed doors. The best friends of Canada are despondent, and discuss secession as probable. Parliament has risen. The secret discussion was long and exciting. A stringent resolution was passed and directed to be cabled to London to-night. It demands, failing the fulfilment of treaty obligations, that the Province be allowed to secede on May 1st. The action of the House seems to meet with popular endorsement.

Mr. Tilley and the Mackenzie Government.

The Toronto Telegram says:—"The discussion that has been going on in Parliament between Sir Albert Smith and the Hon. Mr. Tilley, on the subject of the Lieut.-Governorship of New Brunswick, seems to have established this fact—that the Reformers were desirous that Mr. Tilley should join them, and failing that, that he should accept a second term in the Lieut.-Governorship. This is what Sir Albert Smith proposed, and nobody believes that he proposed it without the approbation of his colleagues in the Government. Mr. Tilley declined both propositions, and re-entered political life as a supporter of Sir John A. Macdonald, with whom he fell at the time of the Pacific Scandal. We must infer from all this that the Grits were not so painfully exercised about the wickedness of the Pacific Scandal as they let on to be, or they would hardly have offered Mr. Tilley his choice of a second term in the Lieut.-Governorship or a seat in Mr. Mackenzie's Cabinet if the Reformers should carry the elections."

Something Like a Factory.—Operations on the Hudon cotton mills at Hochelaga, commenced on the 24th inst. The new extension will be 178 feet long and 175 feet wide, and five stories high, and it will afford room for 400 first-class looms or 16,000 spindles. The new factory will give employment to 400 extra hands, and adding the number employed in the old mills, the operatives will number in all over 750. The whole will be completed and in running order by 1st August next. It will turn out 11,000,000 yards of cotton per annum, and the total product of the mills will be $750,000 per annum. Who will say that the National Policy is not helping to build up the industries of our country

Parliament Yesterday.

After some routine business, the tariff debate was resumed. Some discussion took place on the item of wool manufactures but it was passed without amendment. The remaining items in the schedule subjected to duty were adopted without discussion. The Free List was taken en bloc and passed. The only item on the free list at all commented on was that exempting steel rails from the operation of the tariff till January 1st, 1881. The remaining items of the tariff were passed with scarcely any discussion. The Minister of Finance introduced the Tariff Bill embodying the resolutions, and the said Bill was read a first time, and, in reply to a question put by Mr. Cartwright, he stated that the first portion of this afternoon would be occupied in consideration of several Government measures, and afterwards the House would go into Committee of the Whole on the estimates. The House adjourned at 10:45 p. m.

The Grand Junction.

The Campbellford Herald says:—"On Monday night last, Mr W. Sutherland, Treasurer of the Belleville and North Hastings Railway, arrived here and paid out upwards of three thousand dollars to the men employed on the Grand Junction Railway, in this village. The payment was made in the corner store of the Trent Block. This step has won the confidence of the men. Mr. Bickford is the person in whose possession the road now is, a gentleman of means, and one who will deal fairly, we are sure, with all those under him. The railway men are building a bridge over Ranney street that will avoid a deep filling, and thus teams may pass under the track. Little embankments will cover both Rear and Front streets at the crossings. By the present route of the railway, it will cross five regularly travelled streets in this village, Ranney, Rear, Front, Queen and Sebastopool. If it had been built below, further down the river, what seems the natural causeway, so to speak, and where it was thought the railway would ultimately cross, only one much traversed road would have been interfered with,—the gravelled road. As it is with this exception we will be benefitted by location and beauty."

Grand Trunk Traffic.—The traffic returns of this Company for the past week show an increase of $418 over the corresponding week of last year, the figures being $171,024 against $170,606.

Canada Temperance Act Adopted.—A telegram from Charlottetown P. E. Island says:—"The poll was held to-day according to the provisions of the Canada Temperance Act of 1878. It resulted in the adoption of the Act by a vote of 857 to 233."

Afghanistan.—A cable special says:—"A despatch from Safed Sang says:—According to trustworthy information from Cabul Mahomed Hasham, son-in-law of Shere Ali, now the only claimant to Yakoob Khan's throne, is endeavoring to excite an insurrection and has opened negotiations with the English."

Government Printing.—An Ottawa report says:—"The Committee on printing met this morning, when all the tenders for Government Printing were withdrawn except that of McLean, Roger & Co., the present contractors. They were consequently awarded the contract, and are ready to put up security. The paper contract was awarded to Barber Bros. of Georgetown, and the binding to A. Mortimer, of Ottawa.

A $32,000 Job which did not go to England.—The Montreal Witness says:—"On Saturday the contractors for the Ste. Cunegonde Water Works gave a contract to the Messrs. McDougall of this city for the greater portion of the pipes required for the new works, and also to a Hamilton, Ont., foundry for the balance, together with some machinery. The amount that will be thus retained in the country instead of going to England where, before the new tariff, the contractors declare it would have gone, they having had already partial arrangements made there for the pipes, will be over $32,000. The pipes are to be all delivered by the Messrs. McDougall and the Hamilton manufacturers between the 15th of May and the 15th of July ensuing." Tally another for the new tariff.

The National Policy.—As an evidence of the benefits of the National Policy, it may be stated that the Ottawa Gas Company have ordered from the International Coal Mine Company, Nova Scotia, since the new tariff came into effect, 3,000 tons of bituminous coal. The company state that they can lay it down in Ottawa at a cheaper rate than the American coal could be brought in under the old tariff. And Messrs McRae & Co., of Ottawa, have ordered 200 tons of Spring Hill (Nova Scotia) coal. This will be shipped to Montreal in Nova Scotia bottoms, the vessels returning with Canadian freight. It is calculated that this coal can be laid down in Ottawa cheaper than the American coal under the old tariff, the Nova Scotia vessels taking return freights from Montreal.

Recent Losses in Zululand.—A cable special from London says:—"In the attack on Wood's camp on the 29th Lieutenants Nicholson, R. A., and Bright, of the 9th, were killed; Major Hackett, Lieut. Smith, of the 9th and Captains Garner, severely, and Cox and Persse, slightly wounded. Weatherley's corps were all killed with the exception of Capt. Denison and a few men. Also their fine frontier light horse under Captain Barton, of the Coldstream Guards, seven only escaping. Eleven officers and eighty men are returned as killed, including Captains Campbell and Barton, of the Coldstream Guards; Lieut. Williams, 58th; Col. Weatherley, Capt. Rico Hamilton, Lieuts. Von Sterten, Crawleys, Pool, Weatherley, Poitweys and Lloyd, of the Colonial corps. Of Lord Chelmsford's relieving column—Lieut. Johnson, Ptes. Smith and Lawrence, 99th, Pte. R. Marshall, 91st, Pte. J. Pratt, 60th Rifles, and Dr. Longfield, of H. M. S. Tenedos, were dangerously wounded. Major Barrow, 19th Hussars, and Capt. Hinxman, 57th, are slightly wounded. 29 soldiers and sailors are wounded."

—The annual crop of tobacco (raw leaf) is estimated at 420,000,000 pounds. About two-thirds is exported. More than one hundred thousand people are employed in its preparation for consumption.

—A Pittsburg paper reports that the steel trade of that city is in a more satisfactory condition as regards prices than at any time within the past four years, and the different works are crowded with orders.

—The dead body of a young woman was found in a garden plot in Fergus, and an inquest was held, which was adjourned. Before the jury met again, the body had been taken away. Foul play is suspected.

—It is stated that two members of Parliament, both of whom turn the scales at 200 pounds, will compete in a five-mile walking match for a sack of flour, to be given to the Protestant Hospital, at Ottawa.

—The death of the Hon. Francis Kelley, of Prince Edward Island, is announced. The deceased gentleman had been a member of the Prince Edward Island Legislature for twenty-five years.

—A party of from 75 to 100 started for Manitoba on Wednesday afternoon from the Lindsay and Peterboro' districts by excursion train in charge of A. Burton, of Lindsay, and Messrs. Wilson and Davis, of Peterboro'.

—Alexander H. Stephens was so poor when he commenced the practice of law that he had to live on $6 a month. This is said to be the secret of his assistance to poor young men, over fifty of whom he has assisted to a liberal education.

—An Illinois man sleeps every night on a spot of ground left bare for the purpose in his house, and has an attendant shovel clean earth over him, to take the place of bedclothes. He believes that in this way he guards against disease.

—There is a tremendous dispute raging in Madras over a hair from the prophet Mohammed's beard. This holy relic is enclosed in a case, guarded by an official, who has a Government pension of 100 rupees per annum, and six fanatical Mussulmans are disputing before the Madras High Court for its possession.

Stock Raising in the West.—We notice by the American papers that an influential company has been formed for the purpose of stock raising in Colorado upon the Hermasillo and Huerjano ranches, together containing in all nearly 100,000 acres of excellent land. It is said in that section a fat steer can be turned out at four years old at a total cost of $4, being able to live out all winter—the expense of herding being the whole expense. The new company is going to farm part of the ranches in order that the steers may be finished off with corn as well as grass. Vanderbilt is a member of the Association. It is singular that so far no company has been formed to do grazing upon an immense scale in our Western country, where, it is reported, that the conditions are not unfavorable.

Croup.—This disease is caused by the formation of a false membrane lining the windpipe, and obstructing the passage of the air, and is known by the shrill, croup-sounding cough and rattling in the throat. This membrane must be removed by expectoration. Take a double dose of Allen's Lung Balsam every ten or fifteen minutes, which will reduce it, after taking a few doses. The Balsam will and has saved the lives of thousands of children attacked with Croup, where it has been taken in season.

INCENDIARISM.

FIRE AT NAPANEE.

(By Special Telegram to the Intelligencer.)

Napanee, April 25.—Another unsuccessful attempt to burn the Pruyn block was discovered by night watchman Emerson; as he was passing the building about 12, midnight, he saw a light which proved to be a fire in the hall. The fire took under the stairs, on the ground floor, and had burned through the stairs and reached the third flat of the building. The fire engine was quickly at work, and after working half an hour the fire was extinguished. The damage will amount to considerable, and far exceed the loss just a week ago in the same block. W. A. Ross's stock was badly damaged by fire and water; J. J. Perry's stock was damaged by smoke and water—insured for $3,000 in the Scottish Commercial. E. Hooper & Son, dry goods damaged by smoke, insured. Parties occupying the upper flats, damaged by smoke, insured. The same Insurance companies are interested as paid the losses last week. Building badly damaged.

The Tribune reports that the Equitable, Globe and Universal Companies paid their policies on the life of Col. Dwight of Binghamton. Other companies with policies aggregating $205,000, have not paid.

The Tribune publishes an interview with Garfield, in which he says he thinks the dead lock in Congress will end by throwing the question over till the regular session, and passing a joint resolution to continue the appropriations for 6 months pro rata. Garfield said he had an intimation from a Democratic source yesterday that the Democrats expect to adjourn in about a fortnight. Garfield said that if there should be no change in the current before next year Grant would be nominated by an irresistible popular movement.

Gen. Dix.—Gen. John A. Dix, who died on the 22nd inst., was born at Boscawen, N. H., July 24, 1798. He entered the army in 1812, but resigned in 1828, studied law, and was admitted to the bar. He actively entered politics as a Democrat in 1842; was elected to the Assembly in 1845; was made a Senator of Congress for the unexpired term of Silas Wright in 1852; was appointed Assistant Treasurer of the United States in New York, and in 1859 was made Postmaster; in December, 1860, he was appointed President Buchanan's Secretary in place of Howell Cobb. He served under President Lincoln's Administration, taking decided grounds for the Union, and has always been ranked one of the strongest adherents of the Republican party. At the outset of the war he was appointed a Major-General of the New York National Guard; in May, 1861, commissioned Major-General of United States Volunteers, and subsequently received the same rank in the regular army and had charge of the Department of Maryland in 1862, from whence he was transferred to Fortress Monroe. During the riots in New York he was military commander of that department. He was appointed Minister to Paris in 1866, and in 1872 elected Governor of New York. He was again nominated in 1874, and defeated by Tilden. This ended his political career. He has contributed to a number of journals and published several works. Of late he has lived in retirement.

The African King,

Who listened to the white man's story of travelling upon an ice bound river, was incredulous. How could such things be? It was all a lie. But if that same ebony ruler had visited our country in the cold weather, he would have seen many a gay, dashing team of animals drawing huge sleighs, full of happy people, for miles and miles upon the frozen water. In fact, Winter is our carnival season for out door romps and flirtations. There are some oldtime doctors in our remote villages who let people die according to prescription, and if one of their patients should tell them that he knew a neighbor who had been cured by using Dr. Herrick's Sugar Coated Pills, he would, like "King Niger," look incredulous. "All bosh and nonsense" would be his assertion. But the king might just as well deny a frozen river as for a doubting novice to deny the benefits of these pills. Oh, King! come to Canada and learn that there can be ice! Oh, sufferer, try Dr. Herrick and know that they will cure you!

Pain Killer is a purely vegetable preparation, safe to keep and to use in every family. The simplicity attending its use, together with the great variety of diseases that may be entirely eradicated by it, and the great amount of pain and suffering that can be alleviated through its use, make it imperative upon every person to supply themselves with this valuable remedy, and keep it always near at hand.

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, APRIL 25.

City and Vicinity.

THE "UTICA."—This steamer will commence her trips between Trenton, Belleville and Picton on Monday next.

ANOTHER RAID.—The police made another raid last night on two alleged houses of ill-fame and captured four of the inmates, two males and two females.

PERSONAL.—W. J. Spicer Esq., General Superintendent of the Grand Trunk, passed east yesterday at 7 p. m., on the mixed train. He is engaged in making an inspection of the road.

THE ROW AT THE STATION.—We are informed that the row spoken of yesterday as having occurred at the Grand Trunk Station, took place outside of the station yard. Consequently, no blame can attach to the railway authorities.

PISCATORIAL.—Public attention is directed by the Commissioner of Fisheries to the new regulations, which alter the close season for bass to from the 15th of April to 15th of May. In all other respects the regulations are the same as last season.

A MONSTROUS EGG.—The big egg mania has at length made its appearance, and the largest of the species at least for the season, has just been exhibited here, by Mr. Jos. Todd. It is from an ordinary goose, measures 12 inches by 9 inches, and turns the scale at eleven ounces. Next!

IRON MINING.—We are informed that although a full report as to the iron ore from the Seymour mine, Madoc, which was shipped by Mr. Pusey, to Buffalo to be smelted has not been received, yet he is so satisfied that the report will be favorable, that he has commenced permanent work with a large gang of men.

NEW FERRY.—The steamer built in Trenton during the winter for the new ferry route between the Bay side cheese factory in Ameliasburg and the north shore, will be launched on Thursday next. She will accommodate sixteen teams, has an engine of forty horse power, and will make trips every half hour from sunrise until after sundown.

FANCY DRESS BALL.—Lieut.-Col. Irwin, and the officers of the Ontario School of Gunnery, Kingston, gave a fancy dress on the 23rd inst. Amongst those present from Belleville, we notice the names of Lt.-Col. Campbell, as Highlander; Miss Campbell as Maid Marian; Major Crozier, 49th Hastings Rifles, as King of Mexico; and Captain Crozier, uniform of North-West Mounted Police. It was a very successful affair.

PEDESTRIANISM. — The walking match between Beasley and Garratt came to an unexpected conclusion about 5 o'clock, when Garratt, whose stomach had got out of order, fell in a faint. He was at once attended to, and is but little the worse. The race was a splendid one as far as it went, and the manner of its ending is a matter for regret. At night a go as you please match, lasting for an hour, took place, which Ferguson, who covered about seven and one-half miles, won.

THE ACCIDENT TO JUDGE JELLETT.—We learn that the accident to Judge Jellett took place whilst he was on his way from South Bay to Picton. The Judge's horse shied at a fishing net which was hung up to dry, and the buggy coming in contact with a fence, Judge Jellett was thrown out, receiving painful injuries. His many friends will learn with pleasure that he is in a fair way of recovery, and is expected to be able to be about again in the course of a week.

MASONIC FUNERAL.—On Tuesday the 15th inst., we learn from the Trenton Courier, the funeral of George Albert Rose eldest son of Baltis Rose, Esq., 4th con. Sidney, was conducted under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, the Stirling and Frankford lodges being well represented, there being some brethren also from Trenton, Belleville, &c., present. The Rev. Mr. Seymour, of Frankford, officiated at the church and the remains were interred with Masonic honors. The funeral was one of the largest in that section for some time showing the respect entertained for the family in their bereavement. The deceased was ailing over a year of consumption, aged 23 years and 6 months.

GRAND TRUNK TRAFFIC. — Passenger traffic on the Grand Trunk is good at present, having been increased largely by the emigration to Manitoba. Freight business is rather dull. It is gratifying to be able to state that the receipts of the road for the past week show a small increase, as compared with the same week of last year. This is the first increase in the receipts of the road that has been recorded for some time. The Company are endeavoring to make the journey to Manitoba as pleasant as possible, by placing first class cars at the disposal of the emigrants who travel by the special trains, although they pay only second class fare.

THE LOCAL RAILWAYS.—The ballasting of the Grand Junction is being rapidly proceeded with. The line is now laid with ballast as far south as the street in rear of Mr. Doctor's hotel. We are informed that the North Hastings Railway will be operated by the Grand Trunk, temporarily at least, and that regular trains will be placed on the line between Belleville and Madoc within a few days. Messrs. James and Blackwell, Grand Trunk Engineers, inspected the road yesterday, and report it in fit condition for passenger traffic. It is also understood that the Grand Junction will be operated to Campbellford so soon as the ballasting is completed to that place. The operation of these lines by the Grand Trunk will probably bring the project for a union station to completion, as the present station is altogether too small for the requirements of the city.

DROWNED IN BIG BAY.—At about 12:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Jacob Covert was drowned in Big Bay off Northport. Deceased, together with John Hart and John Young, had been trapping during the winter, and with the proceeds of their work each started in a separate skiff for Shannonville. The water was rough, and as Covert had but one arm, it is supposed that his boat became unmanageable and upset. Hart's boat also upset, and he remained for some time clinging to its bottom, whence he was rescued by Young, who went ashore, deposited his load there and returned, securing Hart. The unfortunate man Covert resided in Shannonville and leave a wife and five children. He was famous in these parts as a duck hunter. An attempt was yesterday made to recover the body, but without success.

Seasonable Topics.

A fire burned up a small portion of a sidewalk and part of a fence on George Street yesterday. It was extinguished without doing much damage.

The manner in which some of the sidewalks are "doctored" can hardly be commended. It may be economy to put a "chunk" of plank in a broken walk, but those who stub their toes against it, can't see where the economy comes in.

Those who are "house hunting" will save time and money by advertising in the INTELLIGENCER. It will only cost 25 cents.

The windows of some of our shopkeepers present a very showy appearance just now.

Ladies before going "shopping" would do well to consult our advertising columns. It will save you time and money, for those who advertise always have the best goods and sell the cheapest.

Ald. Sherwood of Belleville, is on a visit to his brother, Chief of Police Sherwood, of Ottawa.

The sparrows are beginning to show themselves again. Either the cold weather thinned them out greatly, or they have joined the emigration movement westward.

Everybody wishes for rain, but Jupiter Pluvius is obstinate, and the hoped for showers, though frequently promised of late, are slow in coming.

Gardeners have made a commencement of active operations by burning up last season's rubbish.

Attend to the request of the Board of Health and clean your premises before the 1st of May.

The early frog croaking in the morass is singing, "Spring, spring, gentle—well here goes for a spring."

A complaint is made that bakers work seven days in the week. Do they never get a loaf?

Baseball is breaking out everywhere, and fingers and noses are breaking in consequence.

The Associated Press Despatches from the United States are half the time not worth the paper they are written upon. Whoever gets up the morning budget of news for the Canadian press ought to be invited to emigrate.

Now that warm weather has set in citizens should not fail to use plenty of lime and other disinfectants in the outhouses, and thus take away a great source of disease.

The volume of water in the river is lessening rapidly. Unless heavy rains come it will soon be down to summer level.

One would think from the look of the average back yard, that old boots and shoes were considered first class fertilizers.

The sportsman is now overhauling his fishing tackle. The sport becomes more popular every year.

Do not shoot the little birds- however if you do, you render yourself liable to a severe penalty under the law, which protects insectivorous birds.

Marine Notes.

Big Bay is now open. The first vessel arrived from Mill Point this morning, and reports all clear.

The ice has been pretty well cleared out of Picton Bay, and a steamer is expected on Monday.

It was generally reported that the steamer Hastings was to have left Kingston for Belleville yesterday, but Messrs. Campbell & Co., wharfingers have no advices concerning her.

Water will be let into the Lachine canal on May 3rd, and navigation will open on the 5th.

The Kingston Whig says: The steamers Maud and Hastings are expected to make a start on Saturday.

The schooner Aurelia was the first vessel to arrive at Montreal on the 24th inst.

A steam barge arrived at Buffalo on the 24th inst., from St. Clair River—the first arrival of the season.

The water will be let into the Rideau canal on the 2nd of May.

Lumber freights from Ottawa will open up at the following rates for the ensuing year: To Montreal, 90 cents per 1000 feet; to Quebec, $1,60; to Burlington, $1.60; to Whitehall, $1.75; to Albany, $2.75; to New York, $3. This shows a reduction of about 25 per cent. between Ottawa and Quebec, Burlington and Whitehall. The through rates to New York are the same as last year.

Port Colborne harbor is clear of ice.

The Kaministiquia River is open, but Thunder Bay is still solid ice.

The Straits of Mackinac are open.

Hanlan and Hawdon.

BOTH INVALIDS.

LONDON, April 25.

The Sporting Life says that Boyd is determined not to row any more matches. If this is correct the match of the 16th June, for which Elliott is now actively training, will necessarily be with Hanlan.

The Sportsman says the continuance of cold easterly winds greatly inconvenienced both Hawdon and Hanlan. The former has a severe attack of influenza. Hanlan did not go on the water yesterday, in consequence of stomach disorders.

From observation under the microscope, of the Blood of patients (using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites) taken from to time to time, positive proof has been obtained of the steady removal of diseased and dead blood particles, and the substitution of vitalised discs, so necessary to the construction of healthy muscles.

—A dress woven from the webs of the large spiders common in South America has been presented to Queen Victoria by the Empress of Brazil. It exceeds in fineness any manufactured silk known, and is very handsome. Spaniards, nearly two hundred years ago, endeavored to make gloves, stockings and other articles of spiders' webs, but they yielded so little profit, and necessitated so much trouble, that the manufacture was abandoned. In 1710 the calculation was made that the webs of 100,000 spiders would be required to make 40 yards of silk. Such dresses are occasionally seen in South America.

A Detroit young woman tried to be aristocratic, and did not look at the money that she gave to the horse-car conductor, but he meekly gave her back her lozenge, on which was inscribed, "I'll never cease to love thee," and said he was an orphan with five little brothers to support and must be excused.

A certain lawyer was compelled to apologize to the court. With stately dignity he rose in his place and said: "Your Honor is right and I am wrong, as your honor generally is." There was a dazed look in the judge's eye, and he hardly knew whether to feel happy or fine the lawyer for contempt of court.

The Sole Objection Removed.

The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile source of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed by the fact that SCOTT & BROWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL is odorless, and has a most agreeable flavor. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

WEATHER REPORTS.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE For CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.
MANCHESTER, MASS.

A Boston Physician says:—

"Since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

Price, with Improved Inhaler, Treatise, and Directions, $1.

A Canadian Sleighing Party!

Who does not enjoy a sleighing party? Not the "Sulky Ride," with no one but oneself. But the real big party of men and women. It is splendid to crowd the sleigh; the closer the better, especially if your next one be a good looking girl. How timid she is of falling out, and how strong your arm around her waist to keep her in. Then the whisperings, the jolts, the snow banks, the bright moon peeping out ever and anon to take heed of you, and the wicked stars twinkling at you. Then the loud song and chorus. Then the drawing up before the old hostelry and the glimmer of fire, which finds it way through the windows and tells of log fires and fiddlers, and dances, and jokes, and turkeys, and pies, and coffee, and all the etceteras which make up a night's revel. Oh, it is jolly to go a sleigh riding. I am old now, but I often think longingly of the days gone by, and wonder if I would not still love to do as I did then. After such a time it is always well to clear away the debris from the room and system, the former with brushes, the latter by DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS. They will right them.

MR. GEO. SEWELL, of Memramcook, N. B., writing from Moncton, N. B., under date of May 7, 1878, says:—

Dear Sir—In January last I came to Moncton from Memramcook to consult a physician as I was in the last stage of consumption. When I arrived here I had at once to go to my bed and was so low I never expected to leave it. A physician was called who pronounced my case as hopeless; that I might live a week or two, but certainly not more. As a last resort he recommended Robinson's Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. I purchased a bottle and after taking the first dose I commenced to improve. It seemed, after taking a dose, as if I had eaten a good, hearty meal. I have continued taking it ever since and am rapidly improving. I am confident had it not been for your Oil I would have been in my grave to-day. You are at liberty to use this in any way you wish as I am anxious to let others, who are afflicted in the same way, know, in hope they, too, may receive the same benefit.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours respectfully, &c.

Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. For sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

Read the following:

SALT RHEUM CURED.—I had salt Rheum on my hand for two years; I tried every doctor I could hear of. The salves, ointments and soaps without number; nothing benefitted me. A 50c. bottle of Gile's Liniment Iodide Ammonia cured me in less than a week.

DR. GILES,

Trial size 25 cents.

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

IS YOUR LIFE WORTH 10 CENTS?

Sickness prevails everywhere, and everybody complains of some disease during their life. When sick, the object is to get well; now to say plainly that no person in this world that is suffering with Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint and its effects, such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Heart Burn, palpitation of the Heart, Depressed Spirits, Biliousness, etc., can take GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER without getting relief and cure. If you doubt this go to any Druggist in Belleville and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it. Regular size 75 cents. Two doses wil relieve you. d&w

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP can now be purchased right at home, it is the most successful preparation ever introduced to our people. It works like a charm in all cases of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhages, Asthma, severe Coughs, Croup and all other Throat and Lung Diseases. No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Trade supplied through the Wholesale Drug and Patent Medicine Houses of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and London.

SOLD BY ALL ENTERPRISING DRUGGISTS.

THE TWO LIGHTS.

*"'When I'm a man!' is the poetry of youth.'
'When I was young!' is the poetry of old age.'"*

"When I'm a man," the stripling cries,
And strive the coming years to scan—
"Ah, then I shall be strong and wise,
When I'm a man!"

"When I was young," the old man sighs,
"Bravely the lark and linnet sung
Their carol under sunny skies,
When I was young!"

"When I'm a man, I shall be free
To guard the right, the truth uphold."
"When I was young I bent no knee
To power or gold."

"Then shall I satisfy my soul
With yonder prize, when I'm a man."
"Too late I found how vain the goal
To which I ran."

"When I'm a man these idle toys
Aside forever shall be flung,"
"There was no poison in my joys
When I was young.

The boy's bright dream is all before,
The man's romance lies far behind.
Had we the present and no more,
Fate were unkind.

But, brother, toiling in the night,
Still count yourself not all unblest
If in the east there gleams a light,
Or in the west.

RIVERS.

See the rivers, how they run
Through woods and meads, in shade and sun!
Sometimes swift, sometimes slow,
Wave succeeding wave, they go
A various journey to the deep,
Like human life, to endless sleep.

HOME.

O Nature! though blessed and bright are thy rays
O'er the brow of creation enchantingly thrown,
Yet faint are they all to the lustre that plays
In a smile from the heart that is dearly our own.

The gentle native of all lands and climes;
Who hymns alike man's cradle and his grave,
Lulls the low cot, or peals along the nave.

Sunday Reading.

The Wanderer's Prayer.

On a cold, dreary evening in Autumn, a small boy, poorly clad, yet clean and tidy, with a sack on his back, knocked at the door of an old Quaker in the town of S——. "Was Mr. Lanman at home?" The boy wished to see him, and he was speedily ushered into the host's presence.

Friend Lanman was one of the wealthiest men in the county, and President of L—— Valley Railroad. The boy had come to see if he could obtain a situation on the road. He said he was an orphan—his mother had been dead only two months, and he was now a homeless wanderer. But the lad was too small for the filling of any place within the Quaker's gift, and he was forced to deny him. Still he liked the looks of the boy, and said to him:

"Thee stop in my house to-night, and on the morrow I will give thee the names of two or three good men in Philadelphia, to whom thee may apply, with assurance to a kind reception at least. I am sorry I have no employment for thee."

Later in the evening the old Quaker went the rounds of his spacious mansion, lantern in hand, as was his wont, to see that all was safe, before retiring for the night. In passing the door of the little chamber where the poor wandering orphan had been placed to sleep, he heard a voice. He stopped and distinguished the tones of an earnest, simple prayer. He bent his head nearer and heard these words from the lips of the boy:

"O Good Father in Heaven! help me to help myself. Watch over me as I watch over my own conduct! Bless the good man in whose house I am sheltered, and spare him long that he may continue his bounty to other suffering and needy ones, Amen."

And the Quaker responded another amen as he moved on; and as he went his way he meditated. The boy had a true idea of the duties of life, and possessed a warm, grateful heart. "I verily think the lad will be a treasure to his employer!" was his concluding reflection.

When the morning came the Quaker had changed his mind concerning his answer to the boy's application.

"Who taught thee to pray?" asked Friend L.

"My mother, sir," was the soft reply, and the rich brown eyes grew moist.

"And thee will not forget thy mother's counsels?"

"I cannot; for I know that my success in life is dependent upon them."

"My boy, thou mayst stay here in my house; and very soon I will take thee to my office. Go now, and get thy breakfast."

Friend L. lived to see the poor boy he had adopted rise, step by step, until he finally assumed the responsible office which the failing guardian could hold no longer.—Selected.

Morning.

Beautiful descriptions of the morning abound in all languages, but they are the strongest perhaps in those of the East, where the sun is so often an object of worship. King David speaks of taking to himself "the wings of the morning." This is highly poetical and beautiful. The "wings of the morning" are the beams of the rising sun. Rays of light are wings. It is thus said that the Sun of righteousness shall arise "with healing in his wings"—a rising sun, which shall scatter light and health and joy throughout the universe. Milton has fine descriptions of morning, but not so many as Shakespeare, from whose writings pages of the most beautiful images, all founded on the glory of the morning, might be filled. I never thought that Adam had much advantage of us, from having seen the world while it was new. The manifestations of the power of God, like his mercies, are "new every morning," and "fresh every evening." We see as fine risings of the sun as ever Adam saw, and its risings are as much a miracle now as they were in his day—and I think a good deal more, because it is now a part of the miracle that for thousands and thousands of years he has come to his appointed time without the variation of a millionth part of a second. Adam could not tell how this might be! I know the morning. I am acquainted with it, and love it fresh and sweet as it is, a daily new creation, breaking forth, and calling all that have life and breath and being to new adoration, new enjoyments, and new gratitude.—Letter of Daniel Webster.

The world should have the docket called,
And sluggards all defaulted,
And those should be the upper ten
Whom labor has exalted.

Home Religion.

Home religion is a thing of the heart—which is the same as saying it is a thing of love. It may exist in connection with forms; and it may exist in its sweetest unfolding, independent of forms. It may say grace at the table. It may be gifted to sustain a family altar; and it may not have the gift requisite. But if the heart is right, there shall be grace and prayerfulness albeit forms be lacking in the family. There is a way of eating your food which thanks God better than any formal grace-saying that can be devised. There is a way of kissing the wife after the meal and the husband is leaving for his office which covers the whole ground between husband and wife intended to be covered by the influence of the family altar. We have known a man ask a blessing on food which he himself condemned in the very next breath. To thank God for food and scold your wife or the cook in the next breath because the steak is overdone, or the cakes are not browned to your suiting, or the tea is too strong, is something more, friend, than impiety; it is indecency. Home religion should be—loving. It should be very patient, too—especially on those days when it is hard to be patient. It should be cheerful, especially when it takes wit to invent occasions of mirthfulness. It should be brave, not to face the troubles that are without, but the troubles that are within A kind word, a pleasant speech, a cheerful or sympathetic look, a touch of the hand in the old tender fashion of the courting days, a stroking of the cheek and the soft movement of the palm over the hair—"Foolish tricks?" You are a fool if you say it, friend. You didn't think they were foolish tricks once, and you were wiser then than you are now that you have dropped them. A little more courting in married life would keep married life what courtship is The foolishness of love is wiser than the wisdom of hate; and the more foolish you are in these directions, the happier will your homes be, and the sweeter will be your home religion.—North-western Christian Advocate

Stop a Minute.

Don't hurry so. Move slower, it may be that you will go surer. Grind, grind, grind; one everlasting grind, from five in the morning till ten at night, chasing the bauble of human riches. What is the need, pray tell me? You are heaping up wealth for others to waste or quarrel over when you are dead. And half your heirs, instead of remembering you gratefully, will contemplate your departure from this hurrying scene with infinite satisfaction. Do rest awhile! You are wearing out the vital forces faster than there is need, and in this way subtracting years from the total sum of your life. This rush and worry, day after day, this restless anxiety after something you have not got, is like cobblestones in machinery; they grate and grind the life out of you.

You have useless burdens; throw them off. You have a great deal of care; dump it. Pull in the strings. Compact your business. Take time for thought on better things. Go out in the air and let God's sun shine down on your head. Stop thinking of business and profit. Stop grumbling at adverse providence. You will probably never see much better times than these in this doomed world. Your most opportune time is now; your happiest day is to-day. Calmly do your duty, and let God take care of his own world. He is still alive and is the King. Do not imagine that things will go to everlasting smash when you disappear from this mortal stage; and don't fancy that the curse of heaven, in shape of the vain task of righting up a disjointed earth, is imposed on you. Cease to fret and fume; cease to jump and worry, early and late. The good time is coming, but you never can bring it; God can and will. Take breath, sir. Sit down and rest, and draw a long breath. Then go calmly at the tasks of life and do your work well.

Thanking God for Trials,

Ease is what most persons long for. A young man setting out in life commonly looks forward with intensest desire to a position of ease through acquired property, and would be ready to stop work as soon as he attained that position. All the accumulations of the professional or business men have an added value in their supposed hastening to that good day when their possessor can retire from toil and lay by at ease. Parents who can leave a fortune to their children, so that the latter need not be compelled to work for a living, think that they have given a good start to their offspring. Most mothers would pray that their offspring might be spared trial and suffering in life, and that no rough winds of adversity should blow upon them. Yet there is no stalwart manhood to one who has not struggled; and no man, young or old, will struggle unless he has to; hence any position of ease which takes from a man the necessity of a continued struggle is incompatible with a progress in manhood to its highest earthly attainment. A fortune to start with is a misfortune to any young man. If he gets on well in life with that fortune, it must be in spite of the fortune, not in consequence of it. And in any event, he would probably do better and rise higher without the fortune than with it. If indeed he must retain the money, he needs sore trials of some other sort to offset it, and to keep it from working his ruin. The young man who has nothing to live on, and who must work or starve, ought to thank God that he has this stimulus and help to prosperity and high manhood. Daniel Webster would have remained a common-place clerk of the courts during his lifetime if he had accepted the position of ease with its handsome salary which was pressed on him as a young man by his father and friends. It was his poverty, through refusing that position, that subsequently impelled him to greatness. Disraeli would never have come to his world-wide prominence but for his earlier failures in public life, and the necessity thereby laid on him of struggling for success; for genius which enables a man to accomplish great things without hard work, which puts a man beyond all question of failure in his efforts, would be hardly less of a curse to a young man than a fortune is. An easy time is a hard time for any man. If it doesn't really prove his ruin, it greatly endangers him.

The Bible is explicit in its oft-repeated declarations on this point. "Blessed are they that mourn;" not Blessed are they that never know grief. Happy is the man that God correcteth;" not "Happy is the man that God never disturbs. "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth;" not Whom the Lord loveth He spares from trial. "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy;" not they that sow in smiles shall have the richest harvest "Count it all joy when ye shall fall into divers temptations;" not count it all joy when ye shall have an easy time in life. "Many sorrows shall be to the righteous;" not many delights and no sorrows shall be to the children of God. Nor is it alone into the kingdom of God in the heavenly rest that we must enter "through much tribulation." In the life that now is we cannot have truest joy, highest blessedness, greatest beauty of character, supremest refinement of nature, fullest maturity of soul, without that tribulation which worketh patience, that patience which in turn worketh experience, and that experience which in turn worketh hope.

A heart that has never sorrowed has its tenderest depth yet unstirred, and can never thrill with the richest emotions of joy.

There must be the tightest tension
Ere the tone be full and true.

We never look up admiringly to one who has not been tried. We never rest confidently on one who has always lived a life of ease. Why then should we pray for ease for ourselves, or for those whom we love? For what, indeed, have we greater reason to thank God than for our trials, unless, indeed, it be for strength to bear them, and for grace to improve them?

Father, hear the prayer we offer,
Not for ease that prayer shall be,
But for strength that we may ever
Live our lives courageously.

Lost Opportunities.

The following is a portion of a sermon recently delivered by Rev. J. E. Twitchell, D.D., to his people in Cleveland, Ohio:

Each period of life has necessities and opportunities of its own, which belong to it, which must be met and realized in it, if they are ever met and realized at all.

If opportunities go by, therefore, they are lost. Life lived cannot be lived over again. The possibilities of childhood, for him who has passed out of it, are behind him, and there they will ever be. He who has gone beyond youth cannot go back to his youth again and gird himself for the growth of that period. He who is treading now amid the stern scenes of life's meridian, cannot start again and climb the eastern slope. If age has come and the shadows have begun to lengthen, there is no vigorous manhood to be retraced—little if any of the work of manhood that can now be done. Rivulets run into rivers; rivers pour into the sea; vapors rise out of the sea, to be borne back over the hills, whence they came, and there distil and flow, a second time, a third time—possibly a thousandth time—through the same channel to the sea. This is nature, but there is nothing in the economy of life corresponding to this. No river of humanity runs back into a rivulet; no sea back into a river. There is but one passage from the cradle to the grave.

* * * *

It takes no far look to find the poor, the sick, the sad, the lonely, the tearful, the stricken hearted. The opportunities are many—unremitted. The trouble often is that we wait for large things to command us, and slight the invitation of little things close on us. A word frequently is of wondrous cheer to some sad heart. A little offering of remembrance—so small that it seems hardly worth while to carry or send it—may relieve a want that is immediate and intense. Life is made up, not of large things that cost and dazzle, but of words and deeds thrown into the hours as they hurry by.

* * * *

There was a motto on the temple of Delphos which read: "Know thy Opportunity." This is one of the great lessons of life which should be learned early. Many do with opportunities as children do at the seashore—fill their little hands with sand and let the grains fall through, one by one, until all are gone.

* * * *

After all it is contact of soul with soul that wins; and there is an open highway to every soul; and you shall find it if you search for it in the spirit of the Master. God brings men of all classes close to us, that we may love them, and reach them with the truth. Some are scarred all over with sin and crime; are so degraded and repulsive that we shrink from contact with them; but they are men—immortal; and down deep within them there is a yearning for the life of God.

This is your time to warn and serve. Here is your opportunity. Don't miss it. You cannot do to-morrow the work of to-day. He whom you would save will be elsewhere. You will be elsewhere, or other things will engage you.

RELIGION.—Religion, that messenger of heaven, dwells not in cells or cloisters, but goes forth among men not to frown on their happiness, but to do them good. She is familiar and cheerful at the tables and firesides of the happy; she is equally intimate in the dwellings of poverty and sorrow; she encourages innocent smiles of youth, and kindles a glow of sincerity on the venerable front of age; she is found, too, at the bedside of the sick when the attendants have ceased their labor, and the heart is almost still; she is seen at the house of mourning, pointing to the "house not made with hands;" she will not retire so long as there is evil that can be prevented, or kindness that can be given; and it is not until the last duty is done that she hastens away and raises her altar in the wilderness, so that she may not be seen among men.—Bonn.

Gems of Thought.

Many mistake the love of life for the fear of death.

The winter of discontent is the coldest of all winters.

The fool may laugh, but the wise man thinketh soberly.

In talking or writing, let your words be few, but well chosen.

Let not the stream of your life always be a murmuring stream.

The best way to condemn bad traits is by practising good ones.

All persons know when they are knaves; few when they are fools.

Every art is best taught by example; good deeds produce good friends.

The main difference between men, insignificant and great, is energy.

The foundation of domestic happiness is faith in the virtue of women.

The majority of mankind use their first yeasf to make their last miserable.

Whoever can love nothing but his own likeness has nothing but himself to love.

A quarrel is nine times out of ten merely the fermentation of a misunderstanding.

The things we remember are few and unimportant when compared with those we forget.

He who is always grumbling at others is sure to be a fit subject for criticism himself.

Many persons of considerable importance don't understand that it is all self-importance.

We should read books, not to quote them, but to strengthen our minds and stimulate thought.

The happiness and unhappiness of men depend no less upon their humors than their fortunes.

It is easy to pick flaws in other people's work, but more profitable to do better work yourself.

If you would pass for more than value, say little. It is easier to look than to talk wise.

If patrons were more disinterested, ingratitude would probably be a great deal more rare.

The best friend is virtue; the best companions are high endeavors and honorable sentiments.

Keep the horrors at arm's length. Never turn a blessing round to see whether it has a dark side.

The following gentlemen were nominated, namely: Messrs. Baltis Rose, of Sidney; Charles Francis, of Trenton; Thos. Wills, and Alex. Robertson, Belleville.

Messrs. Wills and Rose declined, and the names of Messrs. Francis and Robertson were submitted to the vote of the meeting, which was taken by ballot.

The result of the voting was as follows:

The nomination of Mr. Robertson was then made unanimous, which he accepted. Report of proceedings on Monday.

The Dairy Interests and the New Tariff.

The small minority of members of the House of Commons who constitute "Her Majesty's loyal opposition" in that body are great in one sense—that is, they are great on objections. In consonance with a declaration once made by Mr. Mackenzie, their present leader, they are mere factious obstructionists. In the debate on the tariff they objected to every proposal of the Government, no matter how clearly it was apparent that the increase in the duty was calculated to benefit the mechanics or agriculturists of the country. These gentlemen know perfectly well that the people, by their recorded votes in September last, declared emphatically in favor of a radical change in our commercial policy; they are equally well aware that additional taxation must have been imposed by themselves, had they remained in power, in order to make the income of the country balance its expenditure; but with a stubborn, stupid persistence which under certain conditions might be praiseworthy, they persisted in opposing themselves to the wishes of the people by objecting to every alteration which has been made in the tariff. They know full well that the position which they took cannot be sustained, and that, by their futile talk, they have increased to a very large extent the expenses of the country; but they exhibited no concern whatever on that account, and continued to object to and to debate almost every item in the tariff as it was brought up for consideration. True, they only succeeded in having immense majorities rolled up against them, which fact alone is sufficient to show the purely factious nature of their conduct.

One of the illustrations which they affected to take vast interest in was the dairy business. They objected to the duty on the cotton used for wrapping cheese in; but the Minister of Finance knocked the bottom out of their arguments, fine-spun and plausible though they were, by stating that the duty upon all wrappers on cheese exported will be refunded under the drawback system. They also complained of the duty on the salt used in the manufacture of cheese, but supposing that the highest duty which is imposed, namely 12 cents per 100 lbs., were placed upon the article, the enhanced cost of each 100 lbs. of cheese, in the manufacture of which but from 2½ to 3 lbs. of salt is used, would be but one third of a cent or thereabouts, an infinitesimal increase, which would never be felt by the manufacturer. Therefore, the attempt of the Grits to make capital out of the dairy interests will be a miserable failure. The establishment in Canada of the business of manufacturing cheese on the co-operative principle is due not to the Grits, but to the Conservatives, who, by placing a duty upon cheese, shut our marktes against the productions of the United States dairies and caused the establishment of that vast industry, which brings into the country from two to three dollars per annum for cheese and a very large sum for butter. Under such a policy as that of the late Government we would still be importing cheese and butter from the United States, but a measure of judicious protection gave to our farmers a new industry, the profits and advantages of which it is not necessary to enlarge upon, as they are well known to our readers.

Thus it is with other industries. They have, under the auspices of the present Government, received a sufficient amount of protection to ensure their commencement and to warrant their continuance, but the Opposition would have had it otherwise. They refused all counsel and opposed everything, instead of accepting the inevitable, bowing before the will of the majority, and aiding in perfecting the patriotic propositions of the Government. Their conduct was therefore purely factious and partizan, and they will hereafter be held to the strictest accountability for their unpatriotic course in needlessly and uselessly delaying the business of Parliament, and thereby largely increasing the expenses of legislation.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

OTTAWA, April 25.

After routine in the House of Commons the Premier introduced a Bill to amend the Indian Act.

Mr. Bechard introduced a Bill to reduce the salaries of Ministers, Lieutenant-Governors, and the indemnities of Senators and members of Parliament.

Mr. Bergeron introduced a Bill to regulate the charges in Pullman and sleeping cars.

A number of Government measures were advanced a stage, and the Bill respecting the census and statistics, with amendments made in the Senate, was concurred in, and read a third time.

House went into Committee of Supply, and passed the following resolutions with little discussion:—Charges of management, $65,600; civil government, $657,615; administration of government, $40,785; Dominion Police, $12,000.

On the penitentiary items, on which there was a decrease of $38,406,

Mr. MCDONALD (Pictou) said it was intended to bring the expenditure of maintenance of penitentiaries as nearly as possible into line. In Kingston the maintenance of prisoners was $78 per capita; St. Vincent de Paul, $148; St. John, $75; Halifax, $92; Manitoba, $252. The cost of the penitentiaries was as follows:—Kingston, $170 a head; St. Vincent de Paul, $324; St. John, $261; Halifax, $267; Manitoba, $561; British Columbia, $570. The difference was very great, and it was the intention of the Government to make the expenditure all over more like that of Kingston. It was also the intention to provide that the clothing for St. Vincent de Paul should be made at Kingston.

After some discussion the item was carried.

Some discussion took place on the item of $25,000 for salaries of immigration agents and employees. During the discussion Hon. Mr. Pope, (Campton) said he had been asked in various parts of the country to provide further agents, and considering the number of people going to Manitoba he was not sure that he would not have to do more than he had already done to protect and take care of the people who had newly arrived here. There was no time in the history of this country when it was more important that a proper class of immigrants, men with capital who would settle on small farms, should be induced to come here and become contributors to the revenue of the country. Nothing better could be done now for the country than to bring in people who would take up our waste lands. While he was anxious to encourage this class of immigration he would not feel justified in contributing one dollar towards bringing in men who would go into competition with our own workingmen and laborers.

It transpired during the discussion that the expenses of the London office had been considerably reduced.

On the item, cattle quarantine, $10,000, Hon. Mr. Pope said the time for the expiring of the quarantine was the 6th of May, but he feared the Government would not be able to dispense with it, without exposing our own cattle to slaughtering immeditely on their arrival in England. He further said he had done all he could to remedy the existing state of things and had laid before the Privy Council the fact that our railroads and steamboats were suffering. He had also made representations to Washington setting forth that if the United States Government would send an inspector into the western States to inspect the cattle, the Canadian Government would also send one to inspect them thoroughly as they entered the Dominion. He had also promised if the exportation of cattle from the West through the eastern States was stopped to endeavor to get permission for the cattle from the western States to be broght through Canada. But the American Government had made no reply; and he presumed that they did not want to come to any arrangement as they thought it would not be in the interests of their steamboats and railroads. He had submitted the question to the Privy Council whether if we made a thorough inspection of cattle from the West, placing an inspector at the port of entry and an inspector at the port of shipment, cattle could be brought through. The answer was distinctly:—"That if United States cattlle were allowed transit through Canada we must be scheduled like the United States."

Some other items passed and the House adjourned at 10:45 p. m.

Mining News

The Madoc Review says:—

"Mr. Stewart, of the firm of Stewart & Grey, lessees of the Feigel Gold Mine, Malone, was in this village yesterday, and informed us that they were meeting with good success there, taking out from $400 to $500 worth of gold per week. Several improvements have lately been made to the machinery, etc., and a large force of men are constantly at work. We are glad to know that this enterprising firm are meeting with such good returns for their large expenditure of time and money in getting everything in good working order.

"Capt. Mitchell, one of the proprietors of the Dufferin Iron Mine, has been in this place for some days past, and with Mr. Coe, has engaged a number of men to take out ore at the above mine. We understand the intention is to get out some two or three hundred tons at present, in order to have it thoroughly tested.

"Mr. Pusey informs us that work has commenced at the Seymour Iron Mine, as he has engaged several men, some of whom are already at work. He has not yet heard the result of the test made of the ore shipped from here some weeks ago, but has no doubt as to the result.

"Work has commenced at the celebrated Richardson Gold Mine, Eldorado, Messrs. Bailey Bros., of Quebec, having leased it, and commenced operations this week. We hope soon to hear of good returns coming in to the new lessees.

"Mr. E. O. Bickford is making arrangements for a number of men to commence operations at the Moore Iron Mine, as he intends to take out a large quantity of ore shortly."

IRON IN NEW ZEALAND.—The Government of New Zealand has, within a few years, constructed more than one thousand miles of railroads within its colony, all the material for which, except the sleepers, having been transported, at a heavy cost, from England. The present Minister of Public Works, Mr. James MacAndrew, has undertaken the experiment, with a view of promoting the iron industry of the colony, of advertising for proposals for one hundred thousand tons of steel rails, to be made from the native ores of New Zealand.

CROUP.—This disease is caused by the formation of a false membrane lining the windpipe, and obstructing the passage of the air, and is known by the shrill, croup-sounding cough and rattling in the throat. This membrane must be removed by expectoration. Take a double dose of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM every ten or fifteen minutes, which will reduce it, after taking a few doses. THE BALSAM WILL AND HAS SAVED THE LIVES OF THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN ATTACKED WITH CROUP, where it has been taken in season.

HANLAN AND HAWDON.

Both Practicing Yesterday.

"BELL'S LIFE" ON THE CANADIAN CHAMPION.

LONDON, April 26.—Hanlan was better yesterday. Both he and Hawdon were out for practice on the Tyne twice, despite the unfavorable weather.

Bell's Life says much nonsense is being printed about the conduct of Hanlan's English trainers. It is needless to say no English trainer has had anything to do with Hanlan's preparation. He has been entirely in the hands of Heasley, who came from Canada with him. He is still several pounds above his proper weight.

Many Tynesiders affect to disbelieve the reports of Hanlan's indisposition. Betting is now about 7 to 4 in favor of Hanlan.

WASHINGTON SPECIALS.

DONATION TO FREEDMEN.

BALTIMORE, April 26.—Rev. A. J. Faust, Episcopalian clergyman of Washington, has entered the Roman Catholic Church.

OMAHA, April 26.—A rumor from Plum Creek, 200 miles west of Omaha reports 900 Indians approaching, and the inhabitants fleeing.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The Herald's Albany special reports an alleged split between Conkling and Merritt, Republicans.

Washington specials:

The Tribune says it is confidently asserted that the President will shortly veto the Army Bill, after which the Republicans will allow the Legislative Bill to pass without much debate. Probably the majority will refuse to make appropriations, and a second special session will be called. It is impossible to discover any signs of final adjournment with the necessary bills passed and signed before the 1st of July.

The Times says that Lowe, greenback Congressman from Alabama, challenged Senator Logan to a duel. Lowe, in a newspaper interview, recently charged that Logan enlisted soldiers for the Confederate army, and contemplated entering that service himself. Logan published a card denouncing Lowe's statement as "a malicious and vindictive lie." Lowe asked Logan to withdraw the offensive words. Logan made no reply, and declined to receive a sealed message, supposed to be a challenge from Lowe. The latter threatens to post Logan as a coward.

Gen. Butler offers 20,000 acres of Wisconsin land for the use of freedmen.

Col. Ingersoll will go to New York to raise a fund to help the refugees to accept Butler's offer.

The Herald says it is thought certain that the President will veto the army bill and that this will shorten the discussion on the legislative bill, which will also be vetoed.

The Democratic programme is to pass the joint resolution continuing last year's appropriation until January, and adjourn till December. All this ought to be accomplished within two weeks.

A Cabinet session decided yesterday not to expend a dollar on the river harbor appropriations until the beginning of the next fiscal year. The amount appropriated is $8,000,000, but only $4,000,000 will be expended.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, April 26.—The Pall Mall Gazette believes that England and France addressed to the Khedive an identical note, which will probably put a new complexion on affairs. The Sultan has already informed the Khedive that persistence in his present course will probably involve him in disastrous consequences.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 26.—The Legislature adjourned without passing appropriations. A called session is probable.

Extraordinary heavy rains throughout the State are reported, causing the streams to overflow. Railroads are washed, and traffic entirely suspended. At Hamilton the water rose 18 feet in three hours, and carried away all the railroad bridges and many warehouses.

LONDON, April 26.—The spectators at the walking match yesterday numbered 11,000. Corkey, the previous champion, last night handed Brown the key of the champion belt, which the latter carried around the hall in triumph. At 10 o'clock this morning the score for Brown was 503. Brown is fresh. Hazael is going wearily. Corkey is very stiff. Weston is resting. Brown's time is now over eight hours ahead of any previous record. The match terminates at half-past 10 o'clock to-night.

Further adhesions of the Durham colliery owners to the proposed arbitration on the whole are announced; men are resuming work on that basis. It is believed that the strike is partially ended.

PARIS, April 26.—The demand for the prosecution of Monsignor Forcade, Archbishop of Aix, for issuing a pastoral attacking Ferry's Education Bill is the first overt act in what promises to be a culturkampf. It was foreshadowed by the Minister of the Interior at a banquet at Auxerre two days ago, when he stated he would make the concord respected by all clergymen of whatever rank, that if a priest instead of simply giving religious teaching from the pulpit, attacked the institutions of the country or insulted State functionaries or private individuals, his deviations must be repressed. Ferry, speaking at Epinal on Wednesday, declared the resolution of the Cabinet not only to press the University Bill, but to enforce respect for the law both on irreconciliables of the left and irreconciliables of the right.

BALTIMORE, April 26.—The funeral of Bishop Ames takes place on Monday, at 4 o'clock. Bishop Edwards conducts the services and Bishop Simpson will take part.

CLARKSTON, Mich., April 26.—Wm. Dunstan, farmer, was fatally gored by a Durham bull. Mrs. Dunstan ran to his assistance. She is probably fatally injured.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Arrived, State of Alabama from Glasgow.

HAVRE, April 26.—Arrived, Amerique.

QUEENSTOWN, April 26.—Arrived, Republic.

From observation under the microscope, of the Blood of patients (using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites) taken from time to time, positive proof has been obtained of the steady removal of diseased and dead blood particles, and the substitution of vitalised discs, so necessaay to the construction of healthy muscles.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 26.

City and Vicinity.

Police.—There were no prisoners in the cells last night—only two tramps.

Sugar Making.—It is stated that Mr. John Potter, of Ameliasburg, made 4,100 pounds of maple sugar this spring.

Mill Point.—The big saw mill is running, and Mr. Rathbun is making preparations for the erection of a grist mill.

Chancery Spring Sittings.—For the balance of the proceedings before the Chancery Court see last page.

Police.—A meeting of the Police Commissioners was to be held this afternoon to decide upon the case of Constable Rankins.

Auction.—An auction sale of the household effects of Mr. Bowell will be held at his residence, William Street, next week. Particulars will be given on Monday.

Appointment.—Mr. Walter J. Ross, Collector of Customs at Picton, has been authorized to transact the business of the Inland Revenue department in that section.

Picton Statistics.—The assessor's returns for the Town of Picton show that the total assessed value of property and income in the municipality is $934,975, and that the number of inhabitants is 2,818.

The Covert Drowning Case.—A large number of the people of Shannonville wil to-morrow make an effort to recover the body of Jacob Covert, who was drowned in Big Bay on Wednesday.

$25 a Ton.—A correspondent of the Madoc Review, writing from Faraday, on the Hastings Road, says that on account of the long winter, fodder is very scarce, and hay is $25 a ton, with very little to get at that price.

Licenses.—The License Commissioners for the West Riding were to meet this afternoon to determine upon the applications for tavern and shop licenses. The Commissioners for the East Riding will meet on Friday next for the same purpose.

The Grand Junction.—The work of ballasting the Grand Junction proceeds rapidly, there being a large gang of men engaged in the labor. Ballast is now laid as far south as Emily Street, below which there is some heavy work in the swamp.

St. Paul's Church, Marmora.—At the Easter Vestry Meeting of St. Paul's Church, Marmora, Mr. David Fitchett was appointed Churchwarden on behalf of the congregation, and Solomon Johns, Esq., by the clergyman, Rev. Chas. M. Harris. Mr. Fitchett was appointed Lay Delegate.

Henry Ward Beecher.—Mr. Brock, the photographer, has gone to New York, not we believe purposely to see the eminent divine, whose good advice he quotes in his advertisement, but to look up the newest styles and designs in photographing, and give his customers the benefit of his investigation.

For the aged, whom it refreshes and soothes, Sanford's Jamaica Ginger.

The Great Cornet Player.—It is said that Leroy, the great cornet player, has been engaged for a tour of the principal cities and towns of the Dominion, with a select concert party. He will be in Montreal on May 12th, 13th and 14th, and will visit Kingston, Ottawa, Belleville, Hamilton, Guelph, St. Catharines and London.

A Relief.—A contemporary feelingly says:—"One thing the Canadian farmer will be glad to hear:—The Yankee 'lightning-rod man's' occupation is done. Copper tubing pays 10 per cent, but if made into lightning-rods, 30 per cent. Even the most inveterate free trader must join us in congratulating Mr. Tilley upon this protection."

Runaway.—A horse belonging to Mr. Horace Yeomans, attached to a buggy in which were seated Miss Yeomans and Mrs. Jacob Wilson, ran away yesterday. Near the corner of Front and Bridge Streets the buggy collided with a coal cart, the effect of the shock of the meeting vehicles being that both ladies were thrown to the ground. Mrs. Wilson received some severe bruises on shoulder and side, but Miss Yeomans escaped almost unhurt.

New Factory.—The new building which Mr. A. S. Brown is erecting on the corner of Pinnacle and Foundry Streets, for occupation by Mr. Geo S. Tickell as a furniture manufactory, will be 75 feet by 33 feet, and three stories in height. Mr. Tickell will, probably now that his business receives encouragement from the National Policy, go into manufacturing more extensively, and manufacture some articles which have heretofore been imported from the United States.

Too Soon to Predict.—A good deal is written just now about the appearance of fall grain. One author tells us that fall wheat is completely destroyed, another that it promises fairly, and another that it is likely to be a good crop. The fact is, it is not yet time to form a correct opinion as to its condition. The snow and ice have only just left the fields, and where there are yellow patches and apparently no top, there may spring up a thrifty growth under the influence of a genial rain. Let the grain prophets wait a week or two before making further predictions.

The North Townships.—In a letter to the Madoc Review a correspondent on the Hastings Road says:—"Lumbering has been brisk not only here but in most of the back townships, and there has been a good market for hay, oats and other produce. A large number of new settlers have located land within the last year, and these and others who have cast their lots among us during the last two or three years are thriving and well satisfied with the country. A considerable amount of chopping has been done during the past winter, and a larger amount of grain will be shown than in any previous year."

The Oddfellows' Celebration.—The Madoc Review, referring to the Oddfellows celebration in that village on Monday, says the members of Madoc Lodge will meet at their Hall at 10 o'clock, a.m., after which they will march to the station, escorted by the Madoc Brass Band, to meet their Belleville brethren, who are expected to arrive about noon. The procession will then march back to the village, headed by the splendid uniformed band of the Belleville Oddfellows. After dinner, at 1.30 o'clock, the procession will be reformed at the Hall and march through the principal streets to the Masonic Hall, where a sermon will be delivered by Rev. R. W. Marsh. The entertainment in the evening promises to be a grand success, the best vocal and musical talent in the village, assisted by a number from Belleville, will take part.

Seasonable Topics.

Considering the fact that farmers are busily engaged in spring work, the market to-day was well attended. Inside it was crowded, and on the outside the space allotted for farmers' waggons was well filled.

Garden stuff in the shape of lettuce, radishes, rhubarb, onions, &c., was in plentiful supply this morning.

Butter sold readily to-day at 15 to 17 cts, and eggs went off freely at 10 cts.

Navigation opens thirty days later this year than it did last.

The National Policy has caused greater activity in some lines of manufacture in this city.

Those who have empty houses will find it profitable to invest 25 cents in an advertisement in the Intelligencer. It is the surest and quickest way to secure good tenants.

The dust on Mill Street and Railway Station Street was something awful before the rain of yesterday. Can't anything be done to abate the nuisance, in the interest of the travelling community, if not of that of the residents on those streets?

The Oddfellows' excursion to Madoc on Monday, per the North Hastings Railway will be a novelty, and ought to attract a crowd.

Business on the Street Railway seems to be improving.

It is expected that the time table on the North Hastings Railway will be about as follows: Leave Madoc at 7 a.m., arriving in Belleville at 9, and leaving Belleville at 4 p.m., reaching Madoc at 6. Two hours will thus be occupied in the journey, giving an average speed of 14 miles per hour. There are six stations on the road.

If you want a maid-servant or a man servant, the best and cheapest way to obtain them, is to advertise in the Intelligencer. It will only cost 25 cents.

The Madoc Review says it is a common occurrence there for cows to have twin calves, and mentions three cases having taken place during the past week.

A complimentary dinner was given on Friday evening, the 25th inst., to Thomas Cross, Esq., of Madoc, on the occasion of his leaving that village for California, where he is to take up his future residence.

Horse bills printed at an hour's notice at the Intelligencer office. Call and examine cuts and prices.

The grass struggles bravely to put in an appearance, and you can soon use your lawn more. Then bring forth the croquet set, as your neighbors are anxious to come in and use it for you.

Probably no place in Canada has as many shade trees in proportion to its size as Belleville. Still there are several streets which look bare, the property on which would become much more valuable, if they had shade trees. Now is the time to plant, and the small outlay will be amply repaid by the beautifying of the streets and enhanced value of the property.

How sadly true it is that boots will squeak more on Sunday than on any other day of the week, and that the man who wears them always hires a seat in the front of the pulpit, and must needs walk the whole length of the church!

Pike spearing is indulged in by the boys.

All kinds of book and job printing done at the office of the Intelligencer in the best style and at the lowest price.

The Street Surveyor's men will have a good opportunity to scrape the streets so soon as the mud dries a little. In fact they have already begun work on Mill street.

The cow nuisance is as bad as ever. They roam through the streets, make the sidewalks disgusting, break into yards and gardens, and destroy a great deal of valuable property. Why is the By-law relating to these animals not enforced?

Don't advertise—that is if you are afraid you'll get more business than you can attend to.

If it be as fine to-morrow as it was last Sunday, the churches will doubtless be as well filled. It would be charitable to ascribe the crowded state of the churches on these fine days to penitence and reformation, but when perfect Sundays and new spring fashions are concurrent, there is more than one kind of grace that tends to churchgoing. Still whatever kind of grace it may be that impels you to go, stand not upon the order of your going, but go and you may obtain the right kind of grace.

At length the long looked for, long-hoped for rain has come to bless the earth and gladden the heart of man. It came in warm, gentle showers, and already the green sward presents a greener hue, the lilac buds are swelling, the willows grow yellower, the buds of the maple are almost ready to unfold, the birds sing more joyously and all nature rejoices in the welcome change.

Aquatic Notes.

But little is doing amongst the local yachtsmen and oarsmen at present, it being as yet too early in the season for the development of much activity in matters aquatic.

The two new yachts built by Messrs. Tisdale for Montreal parties have been completed, the one being rigged as a sloop and the other as a "cat." They will be forwarded to their destination by the first steamer.

The five-ton Wideawake will be rigged as a sloop and given a new fit-out. She will undoubtedly prove very fast.

Of the ten-ton yachts, the Gracie is receiving some needed attention to her hull; the Kathleen will probably be supplied with a lighter spar; the Enid will not be fitted out until the season is well advanced; and the others will get all requisite attention.

The Madcap will have some necessary work put upon her, and the Dauntless will again be placed in commission.

The Bay of Quinte Yacht Club will hold its annual meeting on the date provided in the By-laws, and the Rowing Club will hold theirs after due notice.

Rowing will likely be more popular than ever this season, and sailing will certainly hold the high position which it has won in public estimation.

The idea of holding the opening regatta of the season on Her Majesty's birthday will probably be abandoned, owing to the race at Picton on that day for the Queen's Plate, which will draw a very large number of sporting men away from town on that day.

The famous schooner yacht Idler, of New York, has been sold to parties in Chicago. Her appearance there will give a great impetus to yachting on Lake Michigan.

Hanlan and Hawdon continue to practice steadily for their match on May 5th. The success of the Canadian champion is looked upon as a foregone conclusion.

R. W. Boyd having refused to row against Elliott, the English champion, in the match Elliott vs. an unknown, on June 16th, the backers of the unknown must now name Hanlan, as they limited their choice to Hanlan and Boyd.

English oarsmen are adopting the swinging rowlock introduced by Ross and Hanlan. It will be used by Hawdon in his match with the Canadian champion.

Warren Smith, of Halifax, and Evan Morris, of Pittsburg, have been matched to row—distance not stated—at Silver Lake, Massachussets, on the 1st of July, for $500 a side. Smith has received a new shell from Elliott, of New York.

The famous Showaecanrette (yclept "Shoemaker") four of Monroe, Michigan, who were defeated at Henley last year, intend to measure themselves against the English oarsmen again at the same place this season.

Marine Notes.

On Tuesday the schooner Jane Maw arrived here from Napanee.—Mill Point Echo.

On Tuesday the Flight, Pilgrim, passenger steamers, and the tug Sherwood were taeen from the dry-lock, preparatory to beginning the work of the season in their respective lines.—Ib.

The passenger steamer Pilgrim took up her route between here and Napanee on Tuesday.—Ib.

The Picton Gazette states that a small army of men are engaged in fitting out the vessels in the harbor of that place. The steamer Alexandra was expected to leave for Belleville on Monday next.

Matters about the harbor were very dull to-day, none of the steamers moving as yet.

The City of Belleville was expected to make a start for Picton to-day, but will not probably go until Monday afternoon.

There is a large amount of freight at Campbell & Co's., awaiting shipment.

A steamer left St. John, N.B. for Fredericton on the 23rd and navigation throughout is expected to be open in a day or two.

The str City of Winnipeg will leave Collingwood on Monday night with a full load and a large number of men for the Canada Pacific railroad.

Pain Killer is a purely vegetable preparation, safe to keep and to use in every family. The simplicity attending its use, together with the great variety of diseases that may be entirely eradicated by it, and the great amount of pain and suffering that can be alleviated through its use, make it imperative upon every person to supply themselves with this valuable remedy, and keep it always near at hand.

WEATHER REPORTS.

Toronto, April 26.—Probabilities for next twenty-four hours: For the Lower Lake region moderate to fresh winds, cloudy to partly cloudy weather, with local rains. For the St. Lawrence moderate to fresh winds, partly cloudy weather. For the Maritime Provinces, moderate to fresh winds, partly cloudy weather.

Washington, April 26.—Indications:—To-day, lightly cooler, partly cloudy, possibly light rains. To-morrow partly cloudy, warm with rain in early portion, followed by clear, cooler.

The Sole Objection Removed.

The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile source of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed by the fact that Scott & Browne's Palatable Castor Oil is odorless, and has a most agreeable flavor. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

Special Notice.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a recipe that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Inman, Station D, New York City. 1y

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is Acute Catarrh or Cold in the Head. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of Chronic or Ulcerative Catarrh.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that Sanford's Radical Cure is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.
Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.
Manchester, Mass.

A Boston Physician says:—

"Since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

A LITTLE GIRL'S WONDER.

What do the birds say, I wonder, I wonder,
With their chitter and chatter? It isn't all play.
Do they scold, do they fret at some boggle or blunder,
As we fret, as we scold, day after day?

Do their hearts ever ache, I wonder, I wonder,
At anything else than the danger that comes
When some enemy threatens them over or under
The great, leafy boughs of their great, leafy homes?

Do they vow to be friends, I wonder, I wonder,
With promises fair, and promises sweet,
Then, quick as a wink, at a word fall asunder,
As human friends do, in a moment of heat?

But day after day I may wonder and wonder,
And ask them no end of such questions as these,—
With chitter, and chatter, now over, now under,
The big, leafy boughs of the big, leafy trees,

They dart and they skim, with their bills full of plunder,
But never a word of an answer they give,
And never a word shall I get, though I wonder
From morning till night, as long as I live.

"I'll be hanged if I patronize that line!" said a traveller to a steamboat runner. "Then, sir," replied the runner, "patronize some other line, and be hanged.

Listening to a lady who was pouring out a ceaseless stream of talk, Jerrold whispered to his friend: "She'll be coughing soon and then we can strike in a word."

"What has been your business?" said a judge to a prisoner at the bar. "Why, your honor, I used to be a dentist—now I am a pugilist; then I put teeth in—now I knock 'em out."

MR. GEO. SEWELL, of Memramcook, N. B., writing from Moncton, N. B., under date of May 7, 1878, says:—

Dear Sir—In January last I came to Moncton from Memramcook to consult a physician as I was in the last stage of consumption. When I arrived here I had at once to go to my bed and was so low I never expected to leave it. A physician was called (who pronounced my case as hopeless; that I might live a week or two, but certainly not more. As a last resort he recommended Robinson's Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. I purchased a bottle and after taking the first dose I commenced to improve. It seemed, after taking a dose, as if I had eaten a good, hearty meal. I have continued taking it ever since and am rapidly improving. I am confident had it not been for your Oil I would have been in my grave to-day. You are at liberty to use this in any way you wish as I am anxious to let others, who are afflicted in the same way, know, in hope they, too, may receive the same benefit.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours respectfully, &c. Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. For sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

A Judge who went back on a School-mate.

Beverly Smith walked from Cell No. 6 with with the greatest promptness, and as he arnged before the desk and smiled, he said:

"Well, this is indeed a surprise. Why, I hadn't the remotest idea of finding you here. Shake, old fellow."

His Honor wouldn't.

"Don't you remember your old schoolmate, Bev. Smith?" inquired the prisoner. "Don't you remember how we used to steal melons together—how we both went over the mill dam in an old boat—how we read novels under the lee side of haystacks?"

A strange smile crept into his Honor's eyes as he replied:

"Ah! I remember you now. So you are Bev. Smith?"

"I am—I am. I thought you'd remember me. I'm awful glad to see you, Judge. Are you well?"

"Quite well, thank you."

An awkward silence followed; Mr. Smith heard the boys chuckling, and he at length said:

"Glad to hear it—yes—yes. I should like to call on you and talk over old times."

"Beverly Smith! said the court in a voice resembling the distant explosion of a coal cart, "you are about to call on the superintendent of the House of Correction, there to remain for ninety long days."

"What! sentence an old companion!"

"All the same, Beverly—all the same. The friends of my childhood are few in number. They are falling down stairs, being drowned, blown up and run oyer, and I am going to put you where you will be safe from accident."

"Don't Judge!"

"But I will! I prize you Beverly. When night comes, I want to know that you are in, out of the wet, and when morning dawns, I want to feel that you are safe from ahe clutch of ice waggons. The sentence is recorded."

"Judge, I—I—don't think I ever knew you!" stammered Beverly, but there was a light in the window for him.

The African King,

Who listened to the white man's story of travelling upon an ice bound river, was incredulous. How could such things be? It was all a lie. But if that same ebony ruler had visited our country in the cold weather, he would have seen many a gay, dashing team of animals drawing huge sleighs, full of happy people, for miles and miles upon the frozen water. In fact, Winter is our carnival season for out door romps and flirtations. There are some oldtime doctors in our remote villages who let people die according to prescription, and if one of their patients should tell them that he knew a neighbor who had been cured by using DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS, he would, like "King Niger." look incredulous. "All bosh and nonsense" would be his assertion. But the king might just as well deny a frozen river as for a doubting novice to deny the benefits of these pills. Oh, King! come to Canada and learn that there can be ice! Oh, sufferer, try Dr. Herrick and know that they will cure you!

BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP can now be purchased right at home, it is the most successful preparation ever introduced to our people. It works like a charm in all cases of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhages, Asthma, severe Coughs, Croup and all other Throat and Lung Diseases. No person has ever used this medicine without getting immediate relief, yet there are a great many poor, suffering, skeptical persons going about our streets with a suspicious cough, and the voice of consumption coming from their lungs, that will not try it. If you die, it is your own fault, as you can go to your Druggist and get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try it; three doses will relieve any case. Regular size only 75 cts. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

Mr. Fellows is daily in receipt of letters of enquiry, from various parts, respecting his Syrup of Hypophosphites. One recently received, leads to the belief that the public mistake his meaning in reference to its effect in imparting superior energy to the mind. Where the intellect has been impaired by overwork or by kindred causes, the use of the Syrup, together with proper precautions in the use of food, clothing, exercise and rest, will restore full power to the brain and nerves. Superiority of genius consists in great capacity of brain for assimilating material from every quarter, and of developing in proportion, but as by far the greater number are not well endowed by nature, consequently lacking this capacity, it would be quite impossible to find cranium space for material necessary to constitute the brilliant genius. Hence, although the Syrup will assist in restoring the mind which is lost, it cannot change a natural born idiot into an intelligent man.

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—For three years I was afflicted with a scaly eruption on the face, and pimples. I tried every physician, and every remedy that I could hear of, but to no purpose. At last I tried your Golden Medical Discovery, and was happily astonished with the result. In one month's time my face became smooth and well, and every pimple and blotch entirely disappeared. I regard it as the best remedy in the world for diseases of the blood.

Yours truly,
A. DIAMOND.

When the Doctors Don't Disagree.

The Doctors usually let a novelty in medicine or any change in existing remedies, work its way to recognition through a long period of neglect or antagonism, but with unprecedented unanimity they have accepted and prescribed SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL WITH THE HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA, and universally declare it to be in consumption, wasting disorders of children, and all scrofulous affections, the finest remedy known. It is also perfectly agreeable to the taste.

Read the following:

SALT RHEUM CURED.—I had salt Rheum on my hand for two years; I tried every doctor I could hear of. The salves, ointments and soaps without number; nothing benefitted me. A 50c. bottle of Gile's Liniment Iodide Ammonia cured me in less than a week.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

WONDERFUL DISCOVERY.

EMPRESS RELIEF.

THE FRIEND OF MANKIND.

AN INTERNAL AND EXTERNAL REMEDY.

BALM FOR EVERY WOUND.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

IT CURES

Toothache, Earache, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Sprains, Swellings, Inflammation, Burns, Cuts, Bruises, Pain in Side, Pain in back, Pain in chest, Pain in shoulder, Coughs, Colds, Frost-bites, Chilblains, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Summer complaints &c., &c.

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

Physicians of the highest respectability recommend it as a most effectual "domestic remedy" for the relief of Pain in cases of sudden emergency.

Carry it to your homes, and it will prove a blessing to your families and afflicted friends.

Druggists are selling enormous quantities of it wherever introduced.

I challenge the World to produce its equal.

Price. 25 cents per Bottle.

The Turkish Finance Minister proposes, says a German newspaper, to divide the creditors of the State into three categories first, get nothing; second, get nothing; third, get nothing.

A deficit of $5,000,000—such is the balance of account of the Paris Exhibition; about double what the originators expected. The expenditure was considerably larger than the estimate, and amounted to $10,000,000.

A Plymouth correspondent states that the English Admiralty have issued regulations that all candidates for the naval service, whether efficient men, boys or marines, must produce a certificate that they are able to swim, or they will be ineligible.

After having passed through sundry vicissitudes, the project for erecting a memorial statue in London to Lord Byron is at length in a fair way of being carried out successfully. At the second competition of designs for the statue, held in June, 1877, that by Mr. Richard Belt was selected by the committee. The clay model of the statue is completed.

The Moscow cruiser committee, now that there is no immediate project of a war between Great Britain and Russia, are employing their time in preparing charts, showing the exact position of ocean cables so that, in the event of hostilities, a privateer captain might be able to pick up either the Atlantic, Indian, or Australian cables and cut them, and thus inflict inestimable injury to England.

Pawchey and Elychia Letiaway are the elegant and euphonious names of two dusky daughters of a powerful South African chief, who, having been freed from captivity among the Zulus, are playing to the Westminster Aquarium in London to illustrate, for the amusement and instruction of the English, "the customs of the country."

The following advertisement is in the Vienna papers. Prince Lichtenstein is looked upon as one of the richest princes on the Continent:—"By these presents, I declare that under no pretence will I pay the debts of my son Karl, a minor; and I advise every one to refuse him credit.—Phillippe, Prince of Lichtenstein. Vienna, March 29, 1879."

London World:—"A correspondent points out that the generosity and magnanimity of Lord Beaconsfield in supporting Lord Chelmsford are more noteworthy when it is remembered that the first Lord Chelmsford, father of the present peer, assailed the Premier with bitterest invective when his claim to be Lord Chancellor was put aside in favor of Lord Cairns."

"Atlas," in the World, says:—"A forthcoming trial for money lent, amounting to between £7,000 and £8,000, in which a lady well known in various circles of society is defendant, promises to be a most sensational affair. Subpœnas have been served upon Mr. Gladstone, the Duke of Sunderland, Chief Baron Pollock, Mr. Cunliffe Brooks, Lord Campbell and Mr. Burcham.

The collection of funds instituted by the Dutch Central Committee for Arctic Exploration for the renewed outfitting of the Willem Barernts, which vessel is shortly to start on another expedition of some eighteen months' duration, is (says Nature) progressing so favorably that it may be reasonably expected that the 50,000 florins which are required for the expedition will soon be completely subscribed.

Henri Rochefort, since his escape from New Caledonia, where he was sent after his sentence to transportation for life, has lived in Geneva. He is said to write incessantly, but seldom to indite a line that is worth perusal. As a journalist, we are told, he is almost played out; as a statesman he is entirely so. He may again find a constituency to elect him, but he can never more be the people's hope and darling, as he once was.

London World:—Count Andrassy, who is known to be very close about politics, was lately asked by a witty Viennse journalist, who had interviewed him for twenty minutes without getting anything worth putting in his paper out of the Chancellor, "What is the difference between your Excellency and myself?" Answer:—'While Your Excellency, who knows so much, will tell nothing, I, who know nothing, must tell so much!

Frank Buckland, the English naturalist, gives an account of a splendid live beetle, which Mrs. Randolph Clay wears as a personal ornament. The beetle has been in captivity seven months, but does not eat. He is attached to his mistress by a chain of gold, and will move about the drawing-room table when the room is quite warm. The insect was brought from Yucatan. The wing-sheaths are of dead gold color, with ebony-black markings.

Marshal MacMahon will be the guest of his relation, Baroness Sina, during the festivities in celebration of the Emperor of of Austria's silver wedding this month. This will be the tenth silver wedding which has taken place in the reigning house of Austria during the last six hundred years. The members of the Imperial Family will present His Majesty with a diadem in precious stones representing Edelweiss. The first present His Majesty ever made his young bride, twenty-five years ago, was a bunch of Edelweiss from the Tyrol mountains.

The anniversary of the proclamation of Greek independence was celebrated in Athens on the 6th of April. The King and Queen, accompanied by the members of the diplomatic body in Athens, and the principal civil and military authorities, attended a Te Deum in the cathedral. In the afternoon a number of Epirotes made a demonstration before the palace, calling upon the King to insist on the cession of Janina to Greece. A banner was carried at the head of the demonstration, inscribed with the words "Union or Death." An aide-de-camp of the King having announced that His Majesty was absent from the palace, the people dispersed quietly.

The pernicious effect of much of the sensational literature circulating among the rising generation has been shown in the case of two lads, Charles William Cross and Thomas Hicks, of Yeovil, England. The prisoners, who are only about seventeen years old, had been studying the life of Dick Turpin and similar characters, and had resolved to become highwaymen. On Thursday, Cross was sent to the bank by his master, Mr. Knight, chemist, Wincanton, to deposit £25, and he decamped with the money, Hicks accompanying him. They purchased riding whips, spurs and revolvers and the same night, near Milborne Port, made an attempt to stop Mr. Dyke, glove maker, who was riding into that town on horseback. They fired two shots at him, one of which struck him on the leg. They were apprehended at West Stroud, Dorset, and conveyed to Wincanton. They were remanded.

The London correspondent of the Dublin Express says: "Rumors have been current regarding the Queen's health, and frequent interchange of visits between the Prince of Wales and Earl of Beaconsfield. These speculations have been rather stimulated by recent events. On Saturday last the Earl of Beaconsfield was for some time with the Prince of Wales, and it is now announced that he is going to spend a portion of the Easter recess with the Prince at Sandringham. These facts naturally point to the conclusion that the Prince, in the absence of the Queen, is taking a share in the conduct of affairs, and this is regarded as the prelude to other and greater changes."

The English Railway News says that the days of putty are over, at any rate for windows. The window sashes under the new system are to be so arranged that the glass may be fixed into the grooves prepared for it, and, coming in contact with a strip of vulcanite attached to the frame, the glazing is perfect and complete. Any unskilled workman can fix the glass, and, when fixed, there is no putty to perish under the action of the atmosphere. Broken squares may be easily replaced by sound ones, and even painting is unnecessary, as galvanized iron frames can be used instead of the more perishable wood. If such a system had been known and adopted in the days when the Crystal Palace was built the saving in that portion of the working expenses which consists in repairing and painting the outside roof might almost have sufficed to pay a good dividend on the ordinary stock of the company. For large surfaces, such as the roofs of railway stations, and for conservatories and greenhouses, the invention should be one of great value.

Ludwig Kossuth, in a letter with which he accompanied a donation for Szegedin, gave a striking example of the truth that in the presence of misfortune all party strife and personal rancour should be forgotten. He spoke in appreciating terms of the Minister President, and wrote as follows of Francis Joseph I.:—"The nation has unanimously exclaimed, 'Szegedin must live; Szegedin must not be lost!' In this exclamation the Hungarian nation has taken an oath before God and the world that she will recall Szegedin from her watery grave to a new and more beautiful life, as in the Bible Lazarus was raised from the tomb by Him who said, I, am the resurrection and the life,' and a similar reply to the interrogation was granted by the sovereign, when, having hastened to acquaint himself personally with the extent of the catastrophe, he gazed with tearful eyes on the stream choked with ruins and on the fearful devastation it had wrought. That which comes from the heart goes to the heart. I, who refuse my homage to the might of your King, who regard the splendor of the purple as childish finery, I bow in reverence at the sight of a monarch in whose eyes the tears of human sympathy glisten. May those tears be the source of Szegedin's resurrection to a new life; they may perchance throw a ray of light on the dark memories of the past."

An extraordinay statement in regard to the introduction of automatic machinery into some factories not far from Low Moor, near Bradford, England, has appeared in the Warehousemen and Drapers' Trade Journal. The writer says: "We have visited Oak Mills by night in company with Mr. Burns and a friend. The building itself was in darkness, but we could hear the rumbling of machinery as we approached. The door was unlocked, and a couple of candles were lighted By the dim light we saw the machines all at work, and passing from one to another we noticed also what they were producing. There was no possibility of deception and no room for doubt. We were not there to examine the construction of the machinery; it was sufficient to be able to verify the main fact,—which is, that when the working hours of the mills are over the lights are put out, the building is locked up, and the machines are left working all through the night, producing large quantities of beautiful articles in great variety of pattern, in silk, cotton and wool." The method by which this result has been attained remains a secret. The only night attendant at the factory appears to be an engineer, inasmuch as the engine and boiler cannot be left to themselves.

A Child's Opinion.—A Fact.

STANLEY ——— had recovered from a serious illness, brought on by a too close application to his books, in his earnest endeavors to outstrip his little schoolmates in the race after knowledge.

His little brother, Percy, a youth of three summers, as was quite natural, held a very high opinion of the medicine (Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime) that had produced such gratifying results—but, at the same time had a very warm affection for it on his own private account. "After having enjoyed sundry "refreshers" from the nearly empty bottle, which by common consent had descended to him, he critically holds it up between his eyes and the light, and with the air of a Chief Justice, remarks: "Momma, I like 'zat better'n lobster."

Little Percy's just appreciation is a very general one among the children who have once taken the Emulsion, and mothers would have less cause for anxiety on account of the ceaseless drain upon the too frail constitutions of their fast growing little ones did they but fully estimate the marvellous strengthing and vivifying properties of this medicine, and its adaptability to the wants of GROWING STRUCTURES. Try it! Prepared solely, by J. H. ROBINSON, St. John, N. B. and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 26.

WEST HASTINGS.

The Conservative Convention which on Saturday met to select a candidate for the Ontario Legislature, fully met the expectations of the party. It was a thoroughly representative body, being composed of many of the leading members of the party, and included a fair representation of all the varied interests of the Riding, whilst its spirit was so harmonious as to demonstrate that there is no danger of any division in the ranks in the approaching contest.

The action of the Convention in choosing as their standard bearer Alexander Robertson, Esq., Mayor of Belleville, was as wise as the unanimity of feeling was commendable. Mr. Robertson is undoubtedly the strongest candidate whom the party can place in the field, as he is not only highly popular with all classes of the people in the city, but being a native of the village of Trenton, he is well known and popular there, whilst in Sidney he is widely known and highly esteemed. Possessed of excellent abilities, a good speaker, and with a kindly disposition and courteous demeanor, Mr. Robertson is well fitted to serve his constituents and to adorn the position in the Legislature to which he will certainly be elected. Mr. Robertson's health has of late been delicate, but has of late shown much improvement, and we have no doubt that his many able friends will do all that lies in their power to assist their candidate in the arduous labors of the campaign.

Mr. Charles Francis, Reeve of Trenton, who was the other nominee before the Convention, is also a gentleman of excellent parts, and would make an efficient representative. The considerable vote which he received is an indication that at some future day his party friends will place him in nomination as their candidate, for this or some other important public position, should he desire it.

It is to be regretted that Mr. Wills, the late able representative of the constituency, has made up his mind to retire from Parliamentary life. Thoroughly informed as he is in municipal law, Mr. Wills made an excellent representative. Several important measures which were calculated to enhance the public interests were originated and introduced into the Legislature by him; but with that narrow, contemptible spirit which has actuated the members of the Ontario Government, these measures, because emanating from a member of the opposition, were nearly all slaughtered. In spite of this, however, some of Mr. Wills' propositions were so valuable that the Government paid him the high compliment of afterwards taking them up and passing them off as their own. Mr. Wills has ably represented West Hastings, and it is to be regretted that the duties of his office as County Treasurer so fully occupy his time as to have strengthened his previously formed determination not to seek elction again.

Mr. Baltis Rose, the worthy President of the Bay of Quinte Liberal Conservative Association, who was for a length of time past looked upon as likely to be a candidate, also declined, and for a reason which will excite general sympathy, namely domestic affliction. Mr. Rose was for a number of years Reeve of the Township of Sidney, served for a year in the high and honorable position of Warden of the County, and would have made a creditable member of the Legislature. As a citizen he is highly respected and honored by all who know him, and we deeply regret the cause which prevented the submission of his name to the Convention.

Having placed in the field a most popular and acceptable candidate, it now becomes the duty of the Conservative party of West Hastings to elect him, and by a large majority. Mr. Robertson has always been true to his party, and deserves this service at their hands in return. From the enthusiasm which the nomination has caused we have no doubt of the result, but at the same time advise Mr. Robertson's friends to use every legitimate exertion to make his majority as large as possible.

COLLISION AT SEA.—The steamer City of Rio de Janeiro reports that on April 26th, in a dense fog, she came into collision with the barque Velocity, from Hull, sinking her in five minutes. The captain and ten of the crew climbed on board the steamer by the anchor chain, but the steward, Gabriel Wilson, and a boy, Axtel Johnson, went down in the vessel.

THE CAMPBELL DIVORCE BILL.—The Campbell Divorce Bill received its third reading in the Senate on the 25th inst., by a majority of nine. It is stated that, after the Senate Committee had agreed to report the bill, another conference was held between Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, at which the former expressed his willingness to restore the latter to all rights and privileges. Mrs. Campbell, however, insisted on a written certificate that the charges made against her were false, and this, it is said, led to the failure of the negotiations.

The counterfeits are all upon the bills payable in Toronto, known as the "D" issue. The note number figure in the genuine notes of Toronto issue are red, those in the Montreal issue are blue, and those in the Halifax and St John are black. The way the counterfeit is detected is by the quality of the paper, which is thin and uneven in feeling, having evidently been submitted to some process with acids to give it an old and genuine look. Besides the red figure numbers of the bill are slim and of a darker red than the genuine figures, which are also much more plump in shape."

FAMINE IN MOROCCO.—A London cable special of the 27th gives the following particulars of the fearful ravages of famine in Morocco:—"A correspondent writing from Mizpah Mocador, Morocco, states that more than 13,000 persons had perished in that town from hunger. There were dead or dying lying in every street in and out of town. The dead were buried not more than one span deep, and dogs soon uncovered the earth and fed on the bodies. Small-pox, measles, cholera and typhoid fever prevailed. The latter is now raging. Every house has been turned into a hospital. The starvation was not confined to men. The cattle, camels, horses, asses, sheep and the poultry have all, or nearly all, perished, but a few dogs have survived, and in their insatiable hunger finding no food in the town and abandoned by their masters, who either died or left their villages in search of food, fed on human bodies.

WEST HASTINGS.

Pursuant to notice a meeting of delegates was held in the rooms of the Liberal Conservative Association on Saturday the 26th inst., for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the Ontario Legislature. The representation from Trenton, Sidney and Belleville was large, nearly all the delegates appointed at the respective mass meetings being present. The delegations were subsequently made complete by the appointment of reserves, and shortly after three o'clock the meeting was called to order, and BALTIS ROSE, Esq., President of the Liberal Conservative Association, was appointed to preside.

Previous to nominations being made, a resolution pledging each of the delegates present to support the nominee of the Convention was presented and unanimously adopted.

The following gentlemen were then nominated as candidates:—

ALEX. ROBERTSON, Esq., nominated by Mr. Daniel Murphy, of Trenton, seconded by Mr. R. Sampson Young, of Sidney.

CHAS. FRANCIS, Esq., by Mr. Clement Armstrong, of Sidney, seconded by Mr. Wm. Jeffs, of Trenton.

BALTIS ROSE, Esq., by Mr. E. Read, of Sidney, seconded by Mr. E. B. Fraleck, of Belleville.

THOS. WILLS, Esq., by Mr. Geo. D. Dickson, seconded by Mr. Thos Kelso.

A few minutes were allowed for further nominations, after which THOS. WILLS, Esq., briefly addressed the meeting, thanking his mover and seconder for the honor they had done him, as also other prominent gentlemen who had urged him to become a candidate. But he had some time since made up his mind to retire from public life, and would not again solicit their suffrages. He heartily thanked the party for the manner in which he had been sustained during the four years he occupied a seat in the Local Legislature. He had endeavored faithfully to do his duty—he had carefully looked after the interests of the constituency as well as the interests of the whole country, and was grateful to find that in resigning his trust into their hands, he retained the good will and confidence of his constituents. He had no doubt the Conservatives would select as their candidate a gentleman who would carry the Conservative cause to victory.

BALTIS ROSE, Esq., in a brief speech also declined a nomination. He was grateful to his friends for the support they had given him. He had for many years occupied a public position in his Township and in the County, and felt satisfied that if he was their choice, he would obtain the cordial and united support of the party who had always given him their generous aid. But on account of troubles he need not mention, but which were familiar to most of them, and for other reasons, he had concluded to decline a nomination. He thanked his mover and seconder for the kindly manner in which they had spoken of him, and had no doubt a gentleman would be chosen who would win the election.

CHAS. FRANCIS, Esq., briefly addressed the meeting. It had long been felt by the residents of Trenton and Sidney that Belleville had a monopoly so far as public positions were concerned. They had two Senators and two members of Parliament, and he as well as many others thought that the western part of the constituency was entitled to consideration. At the request of a number of prominent members of the party, he had consented to be a candidate, and if he was the choice of the Convention to-day he would endeavor to prove himself worthy of their confidence, and had no doubt with the united strength of the party, could be easily elected.

ALEX. ROBERTSON said he had no desire to enter into this contest. He agreed with Mr. Francis that Trenton was entitled to consideration in the choice of a representative, and if Mr. Francis was the choice of the Convention he could be assured of his hearty support. But he was a party man, and if the Convention thought that he (Mr. R.) was the strongest man and the man to save the Riding, he felt it to be his duty to step into the breach, though it might be much against his personal inclination. He had always been a consistent Conservative, a humble follower of his great leader the Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, and as a party man he could not ignore the demands which party exigencies might make upon him.

After Messrs. Francis and Robertson had concluded the ballot was taken, with the following result:

Robertson	50
Francis	22
Majority for Robertson	28

The nomination of Mr. Robertson was then made unaminous, and that gentleman having previously left the room to attend another meeting, was sent for and informed of the result. Meanwhile a number of persons who were waiting outside until the close of the delegate's meeting, flocked into the hall, completely filling up the room.

Mr. ROBERTSON, on entering the rooom, was received with loud applause. He thanked the delegates for the expression of their confidence, and stated that he was a native of the constituency, having been born in Trenton, and resided for some years on a farm in Sidney. The people of Belleville had always given him a generous support. At the Mayoralty election two years ago, which was one of the hardest ever fought in Belleville, he was opposed by a Conservative and the party was split in consequence. An earnest appeal was made to the Reform electors by Messrs. Holden and Clute to vote for his opponent, as if it were themselves, but notwithstanding this he was elected by a majority of 168 votes. Subsequently the people had again declared their confidence in him by electing him for a second term by acclamation. The contest before them would doubtless be strongly contested, as all elections are now-a-days; but although his health was not very good he had sufficient strength to enter into the campaign with all the necessary vigor. Of course he could not do all the necessary work alone, but he knew that he had good and able and true friends at his back, and felt assured of their active assistance. He believed that the Province would repeat the verdict of last year; at all events it was their duty to use all their efforts to place the Provincial Government in the hands of their party. This he believed they could do, as West Hastings was a Conservative constituency. He should do all that lay in his power to win the election, and for the rest he depended upon the efforts of his friends.

Mr. Robertson's speech was frequently applauded, and cheers greeted him at its close.

Cheers were given for the candidate; for the Chairman, Mr. Francis and Sir John A. Macdonald.

HANLAN.—The Globe has a special cable from its correspondent dated London, 26th, which says:—"I proceeded to Newcastle on Wednesday and found Hanlan quite despondent. He had a hard time training, and is suffering from the effects of a billious attack. His friends and backers are alarmed. A conference was called and those present were anything but pleased at present appearances, but they say we hope for the best. If Hanlan is well he can defeat Hawdon; if not, better we shall pay a forfeit, as we will not allow Hanlan to row when he is physically unfit. We still hope that all will come right, but the present prospects are gloomy. Bad weather, cold and indispositions have not been encouraging."

GERMAN AND FRENCH ARMIES.—The French military journal, Le Journal des Sciences Militaires, has recently made a comparative statement of the strength of the French and German armies. According to this statement, the French army has a total of 2,400,000 men, who have received training, and 1,330,000 who, though nominally belonging to the army, have never received training; the German army has 2,511,000 who have been trained, 3,345,000 untrained; or an aggregate of 5,856,000 for Germany, against 3,730,000 for France. In cavalry the Germans have the advantage, the figures for the two countries being 91,000 against 70,000. In artillery, however, the French are the stronger, claiming 2,442 guns against 2,124 guns for Germany.

THE U. S. WHEAT CROP.—The April returns to the Department of Agriculture at Washington show that the acreage of winter wheat is about one and one-half per cent greater than last year. This increase is due mostly to the transfer of spring sowings to fall sowings in the West and Northwest. Unless the spring sowings increase beyond present expectation there will be a reduced aggregate of wheat acreage in 1879. The wheat in the ground, taken as a whole, is about two per cent below the average. The crop in some sections was unfavorably affected by fall drought, and in others by the absence of snow during the extreme winter cold. With average growing conditions, however, it will make a very large crop of winter wheat.

TRAFFIC ON THE INTERCOLONIAL.—A return of the traffic between Reviere du Loup and the Maritime Provinces shows that in 1878,9, 172 carloads of freight were forwarded into and 3,230 carloads were received from the Lower Provinces via the Intercolonial Railway. The principal items received are: 996,999 pounds iron, 26,970 bushels potatoes, 23,339 lbs. butter and cheese, 613,301 lbs. dried fish, 791,290 lbs. canned fish, 1,152,814 lbs. fresh fish, 7,822 bbls. oysters, 88,516 pounds fresh pork, 23,831 lbs. meat, 302.820 hides, 313,223 lbs. leather; among the principal items forwarded to the Lower Provinces are: 86,958 feet lumber, 533,177 bbls. flour, 56,477 bags meal, etc., 2,033,345 bags flour, oats, corn, rye and buckwheat meal, 194,594 bushels oats, 826,030 lbs. butter and cheese, 272,900 lbs. fresh pork, 2,035,371 pounds meat, and 80,215 pounds leather.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.—Messrs. Hickson Manager, and Mr. Bell, Solicitor, of the Grand Trunk Railway, were in Ottawa last week trying to effect arrangements so that American cattle can be carried from the Western States per G. T. R. to Montreal, and shipped to England via Canadian steamships. An Ottawa report says:—"It is stated that they are willing to contribute towards the salaries of an experienced staff of veterinary surgeons, to be stationed at Windsor, to examine all the cattle before they are sent through Ontario. The Minister ef Justice and Minister of Agriculture are understood to favor the proposition, and the probabilities are that some such arrangement will be effected. By removing the present embargo, it is claimed that the through carrying trade of cattle to the ocean ports will be of immense advantage to Canada.

MR. GEO. SEWELL, of Memramcook, N. B., writing from Moncton, N. B., under date of May 7, 1878, says:—

Dear Sir—In January last I came to Moncton from Memramcook to consult a physician as I was in the last stage of consumption. When I arrived here I had at once to go to my bed and was so low I never expected to leave it. A physician was called who pronounced my case as hopeless; that I might live a week or two, but certainly not more. As a last resort he recommended Robinson's Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. I purchased a bottle and after taking the first dose I commenced to improve. It seemed, after taking a dose, as if I had eaten a good, hearty meal. I have continued taking it ever since and am rapidly improving. I am confident had it not been for your Oil I would have been in my grave to-day. You are at liberty to use this in any way you wish as I am anxious to let others, who are afflicted in the same way, know, in hope they, too, may receive the same benefit.

I remain, Dear Sir, yours respectfully, &c.
Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime is prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B. For sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six bottles for $5.

NEVADA CITY, Nevada County, Cal.,

R. V. PIERCE, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—For three years I was afflicted with a scaly eruption on the face, and pimples. I tried every physician, and every remedy that I could hear of, but to no purpose. At last I tried your Golden Medical Discovery, and was happily astonished with the result. In one month's time my face became smooth and well, and every pimple and blotch entirely disappeared. I regard it as the best remedy in the world for diseases of the blood.

Yours truly,
A. DIAMOND.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 26.

City and Vicinity.

PRINCE EDWARD RAILWAY.—Upwards of one hundred men are employed on this road near Trenton.

ARRIVED. — The steamship Circassian, the first of the Allan line to arrive at Quebec this season, passed Fox River, this morning at 5.40.

HIGH SCHOOLS. — The examination of pupils for admission into High Schools and Collegiate Institutes will take place on Tuesday and Wednesday, the 8th and 9th of July.

POLICE.—The Commissioners met on Saturday, but postponed judgment in Rankin's case until to-day. There were fourteen tramps in the cells on Saturday night and two last night.

DECLINED.—At the meeting of the Grit Convention for East Hastings on Saturday, Mr. Patrick Murphy, of Stoco, Deputy Reeve of Hungerford, was nominated for the Ontario Legislature, but wisely declined the proffered "honor."

ILLEGAL FISHING.—It is reported that some fisherman has been setting gill nets across the mouth of the river, and that others have been catching pickerel with scoop nets lately. We commend the matter to the attention of Overseer Wilkins, to whom the Government ought to give assistance at this time of year, as the duty of watching the poachers is more than any one man can perform.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—The most notable feature of the new weights and measures act is the abolition of the deputy inspectors. There will be provincial inspectors, who will have the power of appointing assistants and setting apart inspection districts for them as may be deemed fit. Penalties are provided for having false or unjust weights or measures or using unstamped ones.

THE COVERT DROWNING CASE.—The intention of a number of residents of Shannonville to make a search for the body of Jacob Covert, yesterday, was not carried out. A steamer passed several times over the spot where the body is supposed to be, on Saturday and did not raise it, hence those who have interested themselves in the matter considered it useless to make a search with the insufficent appliances at their command.

RUFFIANISM.—At about 10 o'clock on Saturday night as Mr. William Connors, contractor for lighting the street coal oil lamps, was proceeding homeward, he was set upon when near the Bank of Montreal by two men, who knocked him down and beat him. He at once shouted "police !" and constable Downs quickly made his appearance, when the ruffians ran, and succeeded in escaping. Mr. Connors is an inoffensive man and gave no provocation to his assailants, who it is to be hoped will be found out and punished as they deserve.

EXCURSION TO MADOC.—The rain which fell this morning seriously interfered with the success of the Oddfellows' excursion to Madoc to-day, the attendance being much smaller than it otherwise would have been. The train, which left shortly after the appointed hour, still conveyed a considerable party, whose departure was witnessed by a large crowd, and a large number of fog signals were exploded as the train started on its way. The engine was nicely decorated for the occasion, and should the weather at Madoc have proved as favorable as here, the excursionists will no doubt have enjoyed a pleasant trip.

A WARM SUMMER.—An unusually warm summer is predicted by Professor Smith, the Astronomer Royal for Scotland. He bases his predictions on the records of the temperature at Edinburgh as registered during the last forty years by the earth thermometers at the observatory of that city. These observations show that a great heat-wave comes upon the earth from without, presumably from the sun, about every eleven years; and it appears that the next heat-wave of this sort may be expected in the summer and autumn of this year. Professor Smith thinks these seasons are likely to be glowingly hot, and the following winter exceptionally mild.

A NEW PEST.—One more seems to have been added to the numerous insect pests which are so detrimental to the agricultural interests of the country. The Peterborough Review says:—"We have been shown a specimen of a new insect pest, whose ravages will probably soon spread through Ontario. In the United States the pea crop has been suffering from a fly or beetle, which is supposed to lay its eggs in the pea blossom, the grub occupying the seed when grown, and there developing into the perfect insect. The specimen shown us came from near Whitby, the pea having a perforation almost through it, and containing the destructive insect. Probably our farmers will soon have to give up growing peas, as in some parts of the States."

MONDAY, April 28.

HOUSE OF ILL-FAME.

Sarah Cronkwright, charged with keeping a house of ill-fame, and Joseph Cataract, charged with frequenting the same, were acquitted.

It is easy to pick flaws in other people's work, but more profitable to do better work yourself.

ACCIDENTAL POISONING.—Not a little sensation was created on Church Street, between Bridge and Dundas Streets, shortly after 8 o'clock last night, by the announcement that Mr. John Connors, blacksmith in the employment of Alderman McIninch, and his wife, had accidentally poisoned themselves. The report proved to be true, and Dr. Willson, who was sent for, and who arrived in a short time, found Mrs. Connors in a very low state, having vomited freely and being almost unconscious, whilst the husband was also very ill and rapidly growing worse. The proper remedies were at once given, and fortunately in time to save the lives of both patients, who exhibited considerable improvement this morning. It seems that Connors had prepared, from a prescription in a so-called medical work, a medicine for colds, in which there was a strong infusion of aconite, and this it was which had wrought the mischief. This is a lesson to all concerned to be very careful in following out prescriptions contained in books published by quack doctors. The only safe course is to consult a properly qualified medical man, or to take some simple medicine, which can do no harm. It ought also to form an admonition to druggists to be very careful in selling poisons, and to the unskilled to be careful in their use.

Seasonable Topics.

The frog band is now in full practice in the marshes and ponds.

Farmers and gardeners wish for more rain.

The odor of burning rubbish fills the air.

One may catch trout the first of next month.

Grading on the Grand Junction is being pushed forward energetically.

To make or not to make – a garden; that is purely a question of domestic economy. If you want to go to war with bugs and weeds, it is your affair, but just count the cost before you begin.

Marine Notes.

The steamer Hastings, which arrived at about 8 o'clock on Saturday night, was the first steamer to reach here this season. She passed through several miles of ice below Stone Mills, but found Picton Bay and the remainder of the route clear of ice. The Hastings is under command of Capt. Geo. Crawford, who is an efficient and courteous officer, and the boat has been neatly painted throughout. She commenced her regular trips this morning.

The steamer City of Belleville, which looks as neat as paint can make her, left this morning for Picton, with a large quantity of freight. She will run on the same route as last year.

The steamer Utica made her first appearance this morning. Like the other boats on the bay she has been thoroughly fitted out and will run on her old route under command of her popular owner, Capt. Porte.

All the Lake Ontario ports are now open.

Steamers have commenced to run between Ottawa and Montreal.

The schooner Garibaldi arrived at Kingston on the 26th inst., from Toronto with 12,000 bushels of wheat. This is the first grain arrival of the season.

The schooner Nellie P. Downey arrived this morning from Napanee and is loading rye at Campbell & Co's. storehouse.

The Ounce of Prevention and the Pound of Cure.

Death reaps his richest harvest in the spring. Then is [the time for cold catching, for developing consumption, and for contracting malarial fevers, and the system requires proper food and tonic to prevent the development of disease. SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA contain just these properties. It is not only a delightlul food but a splendid tonic for the brain and nervous system, and at the same time perfectly agreeable to the taste.

—A comet is signalled from the Arcetri observatory of Salzburg. At present it is said to resemble a star of the 8th size. Astronomers calculate that it will be large enough to be seen with the naked eye about the end of May.

An English cockney at the Falls of Niagara, when asked how he liked the falls, replied: "They're 'andsome—quite so; but they don't quite hanser my expectations; besides I got vetted and lost me 'at. I prefer to look at 'em in a hingraving, in 'ot weather, and in the 'ouse."

Regulus says that the first time he took Peruvian bark was in Lima, when a dog put after him for serenading a senorita with crescent-shaped eyebrows. The only reason the bark did not become a bite was because he was capable of leaping over a five-foot fence. Served him right. Let him leave eyebrows alone.

"It is very unclerical practice, and, I must say, a very uncleanly one. Tobacco! Why, sir, even a hog would not smoke it!" "Doctor C—," replied his amused listener, "do you smoke tobacco?" "I? No, sir," he answered, gruffly, with such indignation. "Then, pray, which is most like the hog, you or I?"

He who would proceed too fast is liable to take very false steps. It matters not at what time, but on what terms a negotiation is concluded. It is much better to conclude matters later than to ruin them by precipitation; and it often happens that we even delay, by our impatience, that which we were too anxious to push forward.

RICHES.—Riches oftentimes, if nobody takes them away, make to themselves wings and fly away; and truly, many a time the undue sparing of them is but letting their wings grow, which makes them ready to fly away; and the contributing a part of them to do good only clips their wings a little, and makes them stay the longer with their owners.—Leighton.

The Sole Objection Removed.

The irregular habits of business and working men, as shown by their neglect of the necessary functions of the body in their feverish haste to get through with what they have in hand, are the fertile source of a pestilent brood of evils. Chronic constipation, piles, dyspepsia, with a long train of aches and diseases extending through all the other organs, are the natural consequences. The only prevention of these ills is the constant use of small doses of Castor Oil. The sole objection to this regimen is removed by the fact that SCOTT & BROWNE'S PALATABLE CASTOR OIL is odorless, and has a most agreeable flavor. Price, 25 cents a bottle.

PAIN KILLER is a purely vegetable preparation, safe to keep and to use in every family. The simplicity attending its use, together with the great variety of diseases that may be entirely eradicated by it, and the great amount of pain and suffering that can be alleviated through its use, make it imperative upon every person to supply themselves with this valuable remedy, and keep it always near at hand.

SUICIDES.

RAVING MANIACS.

Keely's Motor a Success.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio, April 28.—J. H. Donaldson, conductor of musical conventions, was arrested on a charge of seducing a child aged 13.

EDENTOWN, N. C., April 28.—During a colored school exhibition on Friday night in the Court House, overturned lamps caused a fire and stampede. A number of children were crushed. Some probably fatally.

ZANESVILLE, Penn., April 28.—Supervisor Levi Marsteller suicided by shooting yesterday. His official accounts were several hundred short.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Mrs. Young, who attempted to shoot Stephens, the condemned murderer of his wife, Mrs. Young's daughter, on Saturday, has become a raving maniac.

Mark Gray has been indicted for attempting to kill Booth. Gray's mother says he never saw Booth, and that Mark is crazy.

NORTH ADAMS, Ms., April 28.—A. C. Fessenden, a wealthy citizen, shot himself dead in a barn yesterday. Cause, depression over ill health and business troubles.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The World's Philadelphia special reports that Keeley's motor now works a vibratory engine of a new design with perfect success.

Washington specials:

The Tribune's special says that among the reasons which the President will assign for the veto of the army bill are the following: Disapproval of attaching extraneous legislation to appropriation bills; belief that the proposed repeal goes further than to prevent the presence of troops at polls for political purposes and tends to cripple the executive in the enforcement of the laws. That proposed legislation forms part of an avowed purpose to defy and coerce the executive to approve legislation limiting his constitutional powers, and which is an initial step to undo the essential legislation growing out of the war and affecting the southern freedmen.

The Times says that the Secretary of the Senate removed several union soldiers on Saturday serving as clerks.

The Herald says whatever blustering there may be on both sides the Appropriation Bill will be passed this session in regular order without riders, if that is made necessary by vetoes, and that if this is not done by Democrats as a body it will be done by the Democratic and Republican votes together. The cry of revolution need not be heeded by anybody.

CROUP.—This disease is caused by the formation of a false membrane lining the windpipe, and obstructing the passage of the air, and is known by the shrill, croup-sounding cough and rattling in the throat. This membrane must be removed by expectoration. Take a double dose of ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM every ten or fifteen minutes, which will reduce it, after taking a few doses. THE BALSAM WILL AND HAS SAVED THE LIVES OF THOUTANDS OF CHILDREN ATTACKED WITH CROUP, where it has been taken in season.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, April 28.—The three medical students sentenced to imprisonment for disturbing public order and maintaining secret connections in Berlin recently, were Gerewitz, Ahronson and Liebermann, all Jews. Liebermann, under alias, Arthur Freeman, is connected with the leading Socialists in Europe and America, and was on his way to Switzerland from Vienna, whence he has been expelled after a month's imprisonment, when seized in Berlin on account of his communications with Gerewitz and Ahronson. His letters showed a plan for the establishing in Berlin of a section of Nihilists, to act as a sort of way station for the communications between the London and St Petersburg revolutionists.

A Peshawur correspondent says that everybody from the General down is tired of the war, which brings endless discomforts and little glory. It is stated that the Czar no longer goes out without a military escort. Many high dignitaries who have been threatened also have escorts.

LONDON, April 28.—Six to four on Hanlan is now freely offered and freely taken.

LONDON, April 28.—Telegrams from India speak of a complete break-down of the Quarter Master and Commissiariat Departments of the Khyber column now at Jellalabad and Gandamak owing to the lack of transportation. The column is said to be incapacitated for offensive operations. The garrison of Candahar is in a similar position. The control of the transport has been transferred from the Commissariat to the commander of the column. This effects a radical change in the Indian military system.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 28.—In Bristol, this morning, the wife of postmaster Pearce made an ineffectual attempt at suicide. Her husband was mysteriously shot while in bed last week. He will probably recover.

Another incendiary attempt in Newport last night causes uneasiness.

SANFORD'S
RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is ACUTE CATARRH OR COLD IN THE HEAD. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of CHRONIC OR ULCERATIVE CATARRH.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives *universal satisfaction. Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

Planning Work in Advance.

It is of importance to plan out the spring work, so that with the opening of the season you shall know just what fields you wish ploughed, and just where the manure is coming from, and how much you shall apply, and what crops you shall plant. Such a course will serve to make you more certain of your course, and more reliant, and will in many cases absolutely save labor and cost. It is this preliminary thinking and arranging which is so serviceable towards educating into the best courses and which utilizes past experience as an aid in helping you to avoid future wastes. It is also well to think over in advance the amount of labor you shall need by the month, and just what you expect this labor to be worth to you, and how much you can afford to pay for labor towards carrying out you plans. It is also well to think out what you can save by buying implements or machinery, and justify a ready decision the one way or the other. A horse possesses five times the power of a man, and, if rightly combined, a horse and a man should accomplish six men's labor. If now the spring farming is planned on the basis of horse labor, much more can be efficiently accomplished than hand labor is capable of, or haphazard labor which a crop may chance to receive. There is a wide difference between the agricultural productiveness of adjoining farms oftentimes, and to be accounted for by the difference between the men who farm them—the prompt, careful thoughtful, planning man excelling, in production of crops, the slack, hard-working, laborious, less careful-thinking neighbor. In farming accurate thinking tells; forethought is an important factor of success. Careful planning and prompt execution can bring success from almost any farm, or out of conditions usually deemed very unfavorable.—Scientific Farmer.

Turkeys as Chicken Incubators.

France is a prolific producer of poultry and eggs. "In Normandy," says an old paper, "where the Crevecoeurs are principally raised, they have a curious fashion of hatching eggs. As the hens are not inclined to sit, and are at best only ordinary mothers, the good women of the peasantry have a fashion of pressing young turkeys into the service. This they do in the following way: Take a female Turkey of the preceding year that has never laid, and put her in a basket containing plaster eggs. Cover this basket with a strong linen cloth. It will be from four to six days before she will overcome her natural disinclination to sit, and will become attached to the eggs, or, as the French have it, 'take an affection' for them. When the prejudice is entirely overcome, they place the real eggs under—she easily covering 18 or 20 of them. The covering is removed, and the innocent turkey accomplishes the task assigned her without further trouble, save that it is necessary to remove her once a day that she may partake of refreshments. If this is not done, these 'sitters' sometimes starve to death rather than voluntarily leave their charge, so great is the forced affection. After hatching, the little chicks are placed in charge of another turkey, and the mother is supplied with a new lot of eggs and continues her mission." Turkeys are the very best incubators, not only for their own young, but for the common fowls. They have larger, stronger bodies, and have a greater attachment for the nest than the common hen. They impart greater strength to the vitality of the egg by the steady, equalized degree of warmth. A turkey never keeps her eggs so warm as the common hen, neither does she allow them to receive the opposite extreme of chilliness that they often get from the absence of the barnyard hen. Her body is not only larger and warmer, but is generally cleaner, with a larger freedom from vermin. As a mother, she is unexcelled, with the single drawback of her disposition to ramble at a distance.—From the Country Gentleman.

Obesity in Fowls.

It is a mistake, often made with serious results, to feed hens reserved for laying purposes on grain that produces an excess of fat. This practice causes disease. As soon as she has attained her full growth and plumage, she should soon commence secreting eggs. If over-fatness occur before this, the oviduct is crowded and injured, consequently there is not sufficient room for the full-formed egg. It is crowded in its passage, remains too long in the egg-sack, which is weakened by the heat caused from the presence of so much fat, and cannot discharge its duty, consequently the egg remains in the sack, and is followed by another and another, until the hen is weighed down with a load from which she can obtain no relief. At length disease and inflammation set in, and if not relieved, death follows. All this is brought about by injudicious feeding. Pullets are seldom affected by it, but yearling and two-year old birds suffer most, and require the greater care on this score. Some birds take on fat more than others. State corn produces more fat than the same quantity of western, and the latter is to be preferred for the production of eggs, particularly with the larger breeds. The Asiatics have a proneness for producing flesh, and after that is obtained, of making a soft oily fat, like that made by water fowls. Hence their deficient egg production. I do not say that the Asiatics are any more liable to disease than others when handled aright. It will not do to treat all breeds alike. With the Spanish there is seldom danger of over-fatness, and corn is a standard grain for their consumption, while the case is the reverse with the Leghorns. The former manufacture the surplus matter into eggs, and give perhaps the largest egg of any breed of domestic fowls. I here refer to the red-faced black Spanish or Minorcas. The white-faced may perhaps be a handsomer bird to look at, but not so closely connected with utility as her progenitor.—Country Gentleman.

Farm and Garden.

Six bushels of peas are equal to ten bushels of corn for fattening hogs, and peas yield a larger number of bushels per acre than corn.

If potatoes are planted in hills they should be about three feet and ten inches apart each way, and if in drills from fifteen to twenty inches apart.

Window boxes containing vegetable plants, may be set out during mild days, and, when it may be done without risk of frost, be left out all night.

If salt and charcoal be fed to hogs every week, it will be a great benefit in preserving their health. If this matter was attended to, and clean styes provided, there would be less "hog cholera."

A top dressing should be given to lawn each spring. Ashes, plaster, guano, fine bone, or nitrate of soda may be applied in successive years, or a fertlizer containing all the essentials may be used.

Those who wish the very earliest, start their potatoes in a warm room in boxes of earth; they require very careful cutting at planting time, to not break the shoots. Plant as early as possible to be ahead of the beetle.

A farmer makes a great mistake than in supposing he must be wealthy to have a nice lawn in front of the house planted with flowers and evergreens; or that he cannot have pear trees and grapes, and an abundance of small fruits.

From 50 to 60 bushels of oats should be the least satisfactory yield, and the aim should be to have the ground in a condition to produce this instead of the 25 or 30 which is now a usual harvest. The whole secret is in the fertilizing of the soil.

Jugs, kegs, or cans that have become stale or mouldy in the inside, wash them out clean and fill up with warm water; drop in a little carbolic acid and let it stand a few hours; empty the water and rinse thoroughly, and it will as sweet as if it had been never tainted.

The African King.

Who listened to the white man's story of travelling upon an ice bound river, was incredulous. How could such things be? It was all a lie. But if that same ebony ruler had visited our country in the cold weather, he would have seen many a gay, dashing team of animals drawing huge sleighs, full of happy people, for miles and miles upon the frozen water. In fact, Winter is our carnival season for out door romps and flirtations. There are some oldtime doctors in our remote villages who let people die according to prescription, and if one of their patients should tell them that he knew a neighbor who had been cured by using DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS, he would, like "King Niger," look incredulous. "All bosh and nonsense" would be his assertion. But the king might just as well deny a frozen river as for a doubting novice to deny the benefits of these pills. Oh, King! come to Canada and learn that there can be ice! Oh, sufferer, try Dr. Herrick and know that they will cure you!

Read the following:

SALT RHEUM CURED.—I had salt Rheum on my hand for two years; I tried every doctor I could hear of. The salves, ointments and soaps without number; nothing benefitted me. A 50c. bottle of Gile's Liniment Iodide Ammonia cured me in less than a week.

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

To the Electors of
NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN:—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals: Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

It cures Rheumatism and Neuralgia, and kills all pain instantly, "Deny it who can." It is the only known remedy for Rheumatism on the "American Continent proved by thousands." As soon as applied it gives instant ease to the unfortunate sufferer. It is rapidly absorbed, penetrates to the very bone, enters the circulation, neutralizing all "Rheumatic Poison" circulating in the blood, and expels it from the system through the natural outlets."

It will cure the most agonizing Pain internal or external, in one instant of time. Pocket your prejudice and give it a trial; the investment is small and relief certain. The great secret of its success with all classes is owing to the fact it is safe and harmless, pleasant to take, gives instant ease, and can be applied to a wider range of disease in every day life, with greater success, than any preparation which research, skill, and "Medical Science" has yet produced.

As a proof of its great power over disease, any person, no matter who it may be, Rich or Poor, Old or Young, who is suffering from any of the above painful complaints, will call at the Office in Toronto, any day of the week, will get practical proof, "Free of Charge" of its magical power over pain in one application.

Testimonials from all parts of the Dominion are constantly coming to hand, giving expression to the most grateful gratitude for astonishing cures which it has performed, and we would be pleased to receive testimonials from all others who use it successfully.

The Glasgow Bank.

Decision of the House of Lords.

GLASGOW, April 7th.—The unfortunate shareholders of the City of Glasgow Bank—or those, at all events, who were not exhausted by the first call of £500 per share—now know their fate. This afternoon the liquidators issued a second call for the crushing amount of £2,250 per share. It has been understood here for some little time that the liquidators were prepared to take this step in the event of the decision in the trustees' appeal case going in their favor. What the call would have been had the House of Lords relieved the trustees from personal liability, it is impossible to say. In some quarters it has been estimated that the amount would have been close on £5,000 a share. But the liquidators have not been called on to face such a result. The final court of appeal yesterday decided that trustees are as much liable, to the extent of their own means, as if they had been ordinary shareholders of the bank, and as this was all the liquidators had been waiting for, they have now issued their big call. Even although the amount is no more than was expected, it is only after the demand has been made that people are beginning to realize what it means.

It means, simply, ruin to every shareholder of the bank. The extent of the suffering which this call will entail can be made very clear by the use of a few simple figures. The stock of the bank, which amounted to £1,000,000 sterling, was held by 1,250 shareholders. But the first call of £500 per share has completely exhausted 450 of these shareholders, who held stock amounting to upward of £600,000. The following figures show at a glance an approximate estimate of the different amounts already practically exhausted by the fiscal call:—

Stock held by shareholders against whom decree has been obtained for failure to pay the first £250 of the first call of £500	£279,972
Stock held by shareholders who have granted trust deeds or made a complete surrender of their property	152,433
Stock held by sequestrated shareholders	56,867
Stock held by the City of Glasgow Bank	153,536
Total	£642,108

This being the result of the first call, the question naturally suggests itself, how many of the remaining 800 shareholders can be expected to meet the further demand of £2,250 per share? Or, to put it in another way, How many men holding £1,000 of stock, who have already paid £5,000, will be able to pay £22,500 more? The only answer that can be returned is that, except in a very few cases—so few that they might be numbered by holding up the fingers of both hands—none of them will be able to meet it to the full extent.

The City Bank capital, held by these shareholders, and which, in the case of the majority of them, cost two and a half times more than its stated value, is all gone. Then they have met the call of £500, and, as their other investments must have suffered a heavy depreciation, it is not too much to assume that since October last the shareholders have lost £1,000 for every £100 they held of City Bank stock. Even to the wealthiest of them—and it ought to be remembered that the stock was principally held by the respectable middle class—this reverse of fortune has been a severe blow. To the additional call, which is nearly five times as great as the first, the greater part of the remaining shareholders will undoubtedly succumb.

But even if every contributor were squeezed dry it seems open to question whether the required sum can be raised. The liquidators want something like £4,000,000 sterling to meet all the claims against the bank. Can such a sum be obtained from those who remain liable? In the opinion of those best able to form a correct judgment in the matter it cannot. That is to say, that the call will crush all but a very few shareholders, if not the whole of them, yet fail to realize what is required. People are asking themselves whether any remedy can be found to avert the fearful amount of human misery which must follow from this gigantic call. Various schemes have been suggested to assist the shareholders to meet the sum required to pay the debts of the bank. The most feasible was that of a lottery, but the law officers of the crown put their foot on that plan just as it was on the point of being launched. Other schemes have also fallen to the ground, and the only thing left is an appeal to the creditors to accept less than their due. This is of course a great falling off from the heroic spirit which animated the shareholders when the crash first came upon them. At the meeting, which has now become historical, held in this city after the report of the investigators was published, showing a deficiency of £6,000,000 sterling, great admiration was excited by a speech made by a clergyman of the Church of Scotland, the Rev. F. Lockhart Robertson, who declared that, come what may, the creditors of the bank would be paid to the uttermost farthing. But this noble policy is now seen to be no longer possible, and proposals for a compromise are being made with the creditors.

As yet these have had little success. It is with the London creditors that the greatest difficulties have been experienced. A letter written last week by the Chairman of the London Committee of shareholders announces that after the most careful inquiry not a single London creditor has been found who is disposed to accept anything less than 20 shillings in the pound. These creditors are determined to have their bond and nothing less. Much of course may be said in support of this demand. Many of the creditors are themselves poor and struggling—small depositors to whom the denial of a few shillings in the pound may mean severe privation or bankruptcy. But in the long run even these people will be forced to accept the inevitable. It is thus evident that the area of direct suffering must be greatly extended, and that it is impossible as yet to estimate all the misery entailed in this country by the catastrophe which came with so startling effect in October last.

The only way out of the difficulty, so far as the shareholders are concerned, is to be found in the above scheme, which has just commenced its operations. The object of this association is to purchase the debts of the bank at prices varying from 15s. to 16s. 8d. per pound. Immediate payment is of course given, and this inducement is having its legitimate effect with many of the creditors of the bank. Applications for compromise are being daily made to this association, the members of which, it may be mentioned, entirely exclude the object of personal gain from their consideration. Much may be done in this way to lessen the force of the blow on the shareholders, but many people are expecting that the other Scotch banks will yet come forward and take part in the efforts to obtain a compromise with the larger creditors. The banks themselves are creditors for City Bank notes and other obligations to the extent of about one million sterling, and as they are all admittedly in a prosperous condition, they have an opportunity of showing a noble example of generosity, and of retrieving much of the discredit which has fallen on Scotch banking through the failure of the City of Glasgow Bank.

The North West.

From the Saskatchewan Herald (Battleford), March 24th.

On dit that Mr. St. John, lately Sheriff of the North-West Territories, has been appointed Indian Agent at Edmonton.

A flock of seventeen common barnyard fowls was sold here the other day for $28 cash. A good inducement to come west and raise chickens.

The appointment of Mr. Edouard Richard as Sheriff of the North-West having been confirmed, that gentleman will leave Winnipeg for Battleford, where his headquarters will be, about the first of May.

It will perhaps surprise our friends in the East who always think of everlasting winter when they hear the North-West mentioned, to learn that the Sturgeon River water mill has been working uninterruptedly all the winter.

At Prince Albert wheat is worth $1 cash and $1.50 trade. Oats $1 cash. Barley scarce, but can be had at 75c. Potatoes nominally $1 a bushel, but cannot be got. They are going to be very scarce, as will also be barley, oats and hay. Hay is worth $10 cash.

NEWS FROM THE PLAINS.

Father Lestanc, in a letter from Red Deer Forks, written on the 25th of February to Mr. W. J. Scott, of Battleford, amongst other things states in substance that as the winter is coming nearer to its end the Indians express their minds more freely. All the tribes—that is the Sioux, Blackfeet, Bloods, Sarcees, Assiniboines, Stoneys, Crees and Saulteaux—now form but one party, having the same mind. Big Bear, up to this time cannot be accused of uttering a single objectionable word, but the fact of his being the head and soul of all our Canadian plain Indians leaves room for conjecture.

Traders who have visited the camps along the river report that the Indians consider the treaties concluded with the Government are of no value, and that Indians should not be imprisoned for offences against the law. They also seem desirous of securing Sitting Bull's assistance to obtain another and better treaty.

The reverend gentleman further says that there is great uneasiness among the non-treaty Indians, and a part of the treaty Indians as well. During the whole winter there had been a great deal of distress among the Indians near Cypress. He says: "We have had a very severe winter. Since New Year's Day I cannot say that we have had a fortnight of good weather. My people here, Half-breeds and Indians, are pretty well provided with provisions, but they begin to feel a little anxious for the spring. Assiniboines, Blackfeet and Sarcees are coming in this direction, and all are in great want; but the Half-breeds cannot afford to shut their doors against their starving fellow men.

Writing again on the 10th of March Father Lestanc says that five or six days ago a party of thirty-three policemen under Major Irvine came from Cypress and arrested two Indians, whom they took to Fort Walsh on the following day, but does not mention the offence of which they were guilty.

Mr. Joseph Sayers, who came in on Thurday, says that trade is dull for everything except flour, tobacco and tea, and that the horses being poor and the snow deep it was hard to catch buffalo. Red Deer River was open, and ducks and geese had begun to arrive.

A Bird That Turns Somersaults.

There's a prettty little bird that lives in China, and is called the Fork-Tailed Parus. He is about as big as a robin, and he has a red beak, orange-colored throat, green back, yellow legs, black tail, and red-and-yellow wings. Nearly all the colors are in his dress, you see, and he is a gay fellow.

But this bird has a trick known by no other birds that ever I heard of. He turns somersaults! Not only does he do this in his free life on the trees, but also after he is caught and put into a cage. He just throws his head far back, and over he goes, touching the bars of the cage, and alighting upon his feet on the floor or on a perch. He will do it over and over a number of times without stopping, as though he thought it great fun.

All his family have the same trick, and they are called Tumblers. The people of China are fond of keeping them in cages and seeing them tumble. Travellers often have tried to bring them to our country, but a sea voyage is not good for them, and they are almost sure to die on the way.

"Jack-in-the Pulpit," St. Nicholas for May.

A Child's Opinion.—A Fact.

STANLEY———had recovered from a serious illness, brought on by a too close application to his books, in his earnest endeavors to outstrip his little schoolmates in the race after knowledge.

His little brother, Percy, a youth of three summers, as was quite natural, held a very high opinion of the medicine (Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime) that had produced such gratifying results—but, at the same time had a very warm affection for it on his own private account. "After having enjoyed sundry "refreshers" from the nearly empty bottle, which by common consent had descended to him, he critically holds it up between his eyes and the light, and with the air of a Chief Justice, remarks: "Mamma, I like 'zat better'n lobster."

Little Percy's just appreciation is a very general one among the children who have once taken the Emulsion, and mothers would have less cause for anxiety on account of the ceaseless drain upon the too frail constitutions of their fast growing little ones did they but fully estimate the marvellous strengthing and vivifying properties of this medicine, and its adaptability to the wants of GROWING STRUCTURES. Try it! Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers, Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 29.

The "Globe" on Sugars.

The Globe of the the 24th has an article headed "The Sugar Robbery." For falsification of facts it should get a prize medal. It says, referring to Redpath:

> "As they cannot overstep the two cents per pound of profit which the new tariff allows them to levy without opening the market to American refiners, they have, no doubt very unwillingly, consented to furnish sugars at about the same prices as those which prevailed before the drop in values came about."

We would like to ask the Globe what were the prevailing prices for American standard granulated Sugars for the past three months in Canada, and we will then look to the New York market. These goods in Canada, under the old tariff, sold at from 8⅝c. to 8¾c. They are to-day worth in New York $5.25. To this we will add the old tariff, 25 p. c. ad valorem and 1c specific, freight, 25c commission, and charges say 2 per cent, making $7.91. To this we must add 10 per cent, duty put on for revenue purposes, making $8.43. It must be borne in mind that the 10 per cent has to be paid on the raw material as well as refined and is no protection to the refiner. Redpath's price for a better article is 8½c, less 2½ per cent, or 4c per 100 lbs. lower than American granulated could be laid down at if there was no protective duty, in other words duty on the long price.

The above are facts that no honest man who knows the markets will dare to deny. But hear what that moral sheet goes on to say:—

> "It cannot be long concealed from Conservatives that Redpath's prices are a clear cent and more per pound higher than the price at which American sugars of the same grade and quite as good in quality could now be laid down. Thanks to indiscretion on the part of somebody, we can now give the price at which Redpath's granulated is offered—or rather forced upon—the people. That price is 8½ cents per pound. American standard granulated could now be laid down in Toronto, at old tariff rates, for less than 7½ cents per pound."

A more barefaced and misleading falsehood than the above quotation cannot be found outside the Globe. So much for white sugars.

Now let us look at Yellows. Low American Yellow at the lowest known quotations, cost and would now cost say under the old tariff 6½c. Instead of these we are now getting splendid Raw Barbadoes and Cuba sugars at the same price. Medium and bright Yellow inferior to Redpaths in every respect sold at 7½ to 8c. Redpath's prices are 7½c to 7⅞c less 2½ per cent, bringing these grades lower than American sugars of like quality could be laid down.

The Globe forgets to tell the people, whom it must take for know-nothings, that the English and Clyde refiners have our markets open to them, also that good raw sugars can be laid down low from the West Indies. These are sufficient to keep Redpath in check, and just as soon as he dares to overcharge a fraction orders will go to Scotland and England—two markets that the tariff does not discriminate against. Then we are to have other refineries which will keep prices at the lowest living profit. The fact is this, the tariff is having the desired effect, and no wonder the poor Kadi of all the Grits feels so sore. Sugars are manufactured in Canada too cheap to please the Globe, and the people are well satisfied, notwithstanding the insane ravings of that sheet.

The Electric Light.—The New York Herald prints a complete description of Edison's latest researches and experiments on the subject of illumination by electricity, and says it begins to look as if the vast capital of the gas companies of all the cities of the world is to be annihilated by this new invention. The burning of coal gas vitiates the air of an apartment, whereas the electric light does not impair its purity. It has no other effect on the atmosphere of a room than that of heating it. The problem of expense, the Herald asserts, has been completely solved, and it has been demonstrated that the electric light can be produced at a mere fraction of the cost of illuminating gas.

Sitting Bull.—Hon. Mr. Schultz has given notice that on Wednesday next he will enquire of the Ministers if they have any official knowledge of the facts alleged in the following telegram to the St. Paul Pioneer Press:—

> Washington, April 21.—It has been decided, after repeated conferences between the Secretaries of State, War, and Interior, that the troublesome individual on the northern frontier, known as Sitting Bull, is a British subject; that he, with his followers, voluntarily left the country of the United States, and placed themselves under the protection of Her Majesty, who will hereafter be held responsible for their good conduct. The Secretary of War has written a letter to General Sherman to this effect, and the Secretary of State will notify the British Government. This may become a serious international question if Sitting Bull makes a raid on the frontier during the coming summer. General Ruger, who has gone north of Dakota, four miles south of where Sitting Bull's camp lies, with the 18th Infantry, who will build a military post in that locality, has been notified of this decision, and will govern himself accordingly.

The East Riding.

That was a cunning dodge of the Grits of East Hastings in having the Roman Catholics of the constituency nominate Mr. Patrick Murphy, of Hungerford, for the Legislature on Saturday. As everybody is aware, the Roman Catholic wing of the party have been restive of late. They wanted a share of the good things, which they held had not been fairly divided; so they resolved to nominate a candidate of their own, in order to secure a fair share of the favors at the disposal of the Provincial Government.

Knowing that without the assistance of their Catholic allies they were powerless to elect even a pound-keeper in the riding, and that they had kept all the good things to themselves, the Grit managers bestirred themselves to devise means to prevent the threatened breach, hence Mr. Fraser, the Commissioner of Public Works, and who "runs" the Government just as he likes, appeared on the scene to placate his co-religionists and reunite the almost disrupted party. A pow-wow was held at O'Brien's hotel in this city, the result of which was the arrangement which was carried out on Saturday. The principal actors, being previously well instructed, the farce of nominating Mr. Murphy was gone through with, without a hitch; that gentleman declined the proffered honor; and the offended Catholics are supposed to be pacified and brought into the traces again by the offer of a nomination, by an irresponsible body, to a gentleman who it was perfectly well understood would not accept it, owing to the demands of his business upon his time! The Grits must certainly have a thorough contempt for the intelligence of their Roman Catholic supporters in East Hastings, otherwise they would never have dared to insult them by playing so shabby a farce and pretending that it was reality. Everybody understands perfectly well that had Mr. Murphy accepted the so-called "nomination" of his fellow Roman Catholics and appeared before the regular Convention for the constituency, he could not have received the nomination of that body, which would have been worth something; but this poor compliment, which they allow their allies to pay to themselves, is the peace-offering of the Grits. It is to pay the discontented ones for years of unrequited service, to atone for past neglect and to compensate for support in the present and in the future. The trick is, however, too transparent to deceive, and we cannot believe that it will have the desired effect. Were the Grits sincere in their professed desire to give a Roman Catholic a fair opportunity to win the seat, their Convention would nominate a candidate of that religious denomination and support him with all their strength. Their opportunity for doing so is excellent, as the late member for the Riding, who is a candidate for re-election, publishes a non-committal address, in which he promises to support the Government of the day. Thus they are without a candidate, and if they really desire to reward the largest section of their party, whose exertions have hitherto been entirely unrewarded, they will follow the course which we have above indicated, otherwise their hypocrisy will be too apparent to hoodwink any one.

On Friday next, the Conservatives of the constituency will hold a mass meeting at McLaren's, in Tyendinaga, for the purpose of choosing a candidate. We hope that they will then nominate the strongest man in their ranks, and use every legitimate effort to elect an efficient and reliable representative. The Province is about to mete out to the Grit Government of Ontario the same measure of justice as was given to that of the Dominion, and we have strong hopes that East Hastings will do her part towards accomplishing that most desirable end.

Mr. Joly's Mission.—It having been stated that Mr Joly's sudden departure for England was at the instance of the Dominion Government, the Montreal Gazette says: "We are authorized by the very best authority to say that this statement is untrue. No such representation from the Dominion Government was made to Mr. Joly. Whatever motive may have prompted him to the course he has seen fit to adopt, the Ministry at Ottawa had no hand in it."

Westward Ho!—The Winnipeg Times of the 24th inst., says:—"Mr. George Lindsay, Immigration Agent, intends leaving to-day, with a number of immigrants, for Rapid City, on the Little Saskatchewan, whither a party of sixty went last week. Mr. Lindsay intends starting a store at Rapid City. While returning from White Horse Plains he passed forty-seven teams all bound for the Little Saskatchewan. It is surprising the number going west and so few returning.

The Chinese Question.—In the Chinese question before the Commons Committee on the 28th inst., Mr. Dewdney, M.P. for Yale, B.C., gave evidence directly opposite to that of the previous witnesses. He admitted there was a great deal of vice among them, but did not consider them any worse in that respect than a great many white men. He preferred Chinese servants to white ones, and expressed himself strongly in favor of their being allowed to settle in the country, and have equal rights with other classes of the population.

From Magdalen Islands.—A despatch from Halifax says: "The steamer Albert arrived at Pictou to-day from the Magdalen Islands, with the first mail of the season. The winter at the Islands has been moderate and fine. The ice left early. No wrecks are reported at any of the Islands since last fall. The seal hunting on the shore ice has been very good. About fifteen thousand young seals have been captured and landed on the different islands. Fifteen schooners fitted out for the Gulf seal fishery, and six returned with 3,400 large seals and reported the others doing well. Provisions of all kinds are very scarce. The herring fishery has not yet commenced, nor have any vessels arrived for this fishery. Very little ice is to be seen from the Islands in the Gulf."

HANLAN AND HAWDON.

Out for a Spin.

HANLAN ROWS FREELY.

6 to 4 on Hanlan.

New York, April 29.—The Herald's special from Newcastle on the 28th says:—Hawdon is suffering from a cold and did not take his usual amount of river practice to-day; supposed to be only a temporary ailment and that he will resume work to-morrow.

In the morning Hanlan went down the river two miles. Easing up three times on the journey, he turned and came back against the tide 30 strokes a minute all the way home. In the afternoon on a good tide he did fine work. He went down two miles against the tide without a stop, returning at a 30 stroke movement for a mile and a quarter and then quickened to 34 for a quarter of a mile, finishing strong and well.

Hawdon's backers have taken one thousand three hundred pounds to eight hundred pounds, and do not want any more. Betting at present is six to four on Hanlan.

LATER.

Toronto April 29.—The evening Telegram has the following special despatch dated Newcastle-on-Tyne April 29th, 11a.m.: Hanlan is better and feels confident. Hawdon has a bad cold. The weather is disagreeable. Everything is running well.

The Wilkesbarre Miners.

Their Rescue After Five Days' Confinement.

GALLANT WORK OF THE RESCUING PARTY.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., April 26.—An opening was effected at 8 o'clock. Mine Superintendent Smith was the first to enter. He found a portion of the men cooking a breakfast of mule steaks, taken from the mule which the boy who was sent to warm them had taken with him, and which was killed on the second day of their confinement. The balance of the party were engaged in changing the direction of the air course. The entire party reached the surface shortly after 9 o'clock. The crowd cheered the rescued men and their plucky deliverers repeatedly. The men state that during Saturday and Sunday they could hear the rescuing party firing blasts, and when the blasting ceased they believed they had been abandoned. They could have subsisted two weeks longer upon their supply of jerked meat. Too much praise cannot be awarded to the brave men who accomplished the great work of driving and timbering a passageway 1,200 feet through rock, slate and coal in four days and nights. The men had been confined five days and a half.

The sum of one hundred dollars was presented to each of the rescued miners to-day by the stockholders of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company. A concert for the benefit of the men will be given to-morrow.

Hot!—The Melbourne Argus of the 21st of February says:—"The weather we have had during the past month has been something terrific. Persons who have some little knowledge of temperature declare that with a few more degrees of heat we should all have been roasted alive. This appears very feasible when we find the thermometer at the Observatory on the 26th of January showing 106° in the shade and 146° in the sun. This is comparatively cool to what it is said to have been at Yarrawonga, a small township on the River Murray, where it is said to have been 126° in the shade on the hottest day we have had."

Croup.—This disease is caused by the formation of a false membrane lining the windpipe, and obstructing the passage of the air, and is known by the shrill, croup-sounding cough and rattling in the throat. This membrane must be removed by expectoration. Take a double dose of Allen's Lung Balsam every ten or fifteen minutes, which will reduce it, after taking a few doses. The Balsam will and has saved the lives of thousands of children attacked with Croup, where it has been taken in season.

Trenton Correspondence.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Trenton, April 28.

At last, after one of the hardest winters experienced in this locality for some time, spring has made her appearance in real earnest. Already I see the gardener at work in the early dawn destroying the last traces of winter's touch. I hear him as he chants the songs which seek his breast unsought, and his rude emotion adds another evidence to the fact that all nature rejoices when this season returns.

The other morning your correspondent took a stroll around the head of the bay to the Carrying Place. The waters which kissed the shores in fetterless freedom, were free from their great burden of ice, and save the occasional appearance of an iceberg, nothing could be seen of the congealed bridge which had spanned the waters but a short time ago. Here and there a sail boat put out from the land, and responding to the voice of the breeze, danced over the separating swell, and was lost to view. In the distance a crowd of water-birds held their airy dances, throbbing the atmosphere with their feathered power; while near the land, in a large scow, a number of fishermen dangled their lines, laughing at each other in their fruitless endeavors to lure the finny tribe to destruction. Upon the shores the leafless trees rose high and proud, as if they envied the water of its nameless play. "Never mind, ye wooden giants," I thought, "spring will soon attend to you; soon your limbs will wave in heaviness from their sheltering leaves; soon the Dryads will hold their banquets 'neath your cooling shades, and soon the feathered bands will seek your branches when the day is done."

In this village there resides a matron who is very zealous in the care of her three daughters. She is not a believer in summum jus sæpe summa injuria, and therefore never allowed them to hold tete-a-tetes with "those naughty men." A week or so ago these young ladies "kicked" over the maternal traces by inventing an "apparatus" in which they could hoist their Romeos into their boudoirs at eve. The "apparatus" was constructed a la hammock, and was capable of hoisting 200 lbs. avoirdupois 18 feet. The affair was a great success, and for a time all went as "merry as a marriage bell." Every eve the model "elevator" was let down and pulled up, and the amount of sottise indulged in by these fair girls unknown to their stern parent would have made Methuselah wish for youth again. But alas for human plans. One evening quite recently, the mother in question had occasion to go into the garden at twilight, and seeing the hammock proceeded to inspect it. During the inspection the lady fell into it, and the fair ones above, imagining it to be one of a different sex, immediately hoisted the net towards them. When even with the window, the eldest daughter sprang forward to assist their burden to alight, when to the consternation of the three they beheld their mother. In the excitement which followed the discovery all ropes were let go, and the accidental visitor, who had not been fairly landed, fell ad imum. How shall I tell you the feeling of these ladies as the result of their ruse de guerre dawned upon them? They were too dumbfounded to hasten to the assistance of their mother, and so the old lady had to gather herself up and proceed to the room she had so recently and so suddenly left. Fortunately for all she had alighted on a straw mattress left there by the girl, and was therefore enabled to "walk into" her disobedient daughters in splendid style. After her wrath had somewhat subsided she counselled her daughters to keep the accident a secret, and the affair will therefore not appear in the public press.

Just at present the Village Council and Mr. Manning of the P. E. R., are having a "high old time" in coming to an agreement on the railway question. The Council are willing to concede to the P. E. R. the right of way through the village (besides the bonus) if the latter will grade and keep the streets in repair. This Mr. Manning refuses to do, and it now remains to be seen whether Mr. Manning will "come down" or our Village Fathers concede to his propositions. Your correspondent is of the opinion, however, that Trenton is far too cognizant of the benefits to be derived from a railroad in its immediate vicinity, to let the chance slip, through a mere quibble, and therefore predicts that an amicable arrangement will no doubt soon be arrived at by the Council and the above named gentleman.

The business outlook of this village, if I am to judge from surrounding indications, is very fair, and will contrast favorably with the spring of 1878. On last Saturday quite a throng came in from the country, and the sidewalks were crowded during the greater part of the afternoon. A great deal of grain found sale upon the market, at a flattering price, and the store-keepers informed your correspondent that their trade for the day above named, was far ahead of any day during the month of April last year. There seems to be a greater confidence in financial circles than has existed for some years, and all seemed impressed with the belief that we are rapidly leaving the uninviting shades of depression and approaching the sunny lands of commercial prosperity.

By the way, the Trenton Amateur Company leave here on Wednesday for Belleville. They play the "Octoroon." A most ridiculous puff is given to them in the Trenton Courier of this week, in which they are all spoken of in a most exaggerated manner, some of them being credited with "transcendent" talent, and others with "exhibiting a higher order" of dramatic art. Of course their entertainment is good and should be spoken of favorably, but when a column of the above bosh is given to them it damages rather than aids them. As amateurs they are very good, and those who witnessed their production of the "Octoroon" in Trenton, were satisfied with the return they received for their money. They have mounted the play very creditably, and I trust Belleville will give them a good house. Go and hear them.

The firemen of Trenton will shortly have a hop.

An apple social will be held in the C. M. Church on next Wednesday evening. Proceeds for Sunday School. Admission 25c a couple.

The Masonic Conversazione was a grand success.

Last week the proprietor of the Wingham Times was in town endeavoring to organize a lodge of Foresters. It was a failure.

The new ferry, to run from the Bay Side Cheese Factory to the landing a little below the Cemetery at Belleville, on the Sidney shore, will be launched and christened next Thursday.

The annual Missionary Meeting of the Presbyterian Church, Trenton, will be held on Tuesday evening next. Collection in aid of the Mission fund.

To the Electors of
EAST HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN,—At the request of many of the Electors of the Riding I am a candidate for your suffrages at the coming election to the Provincial Assembly. If elected I will give the measures of the admininistration of the day a candid and liberal consideration and support, or oppose them, as I shall believe to be in the public interest, yet holding myself free to support at any time other legislation which may seem to me better calculated to meet the wishes of the people of East Hastings and promote their general prosperity.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
N. S. APPLEBY.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, APRIL 29.

City and Vicinity.

On Duty.—Police Sergeant Snider, who has been ill, is on duty again.

The Cells.—There were six tramps in the cells last night.

City Council.—A special meeting of the Council will be held to-morrow night.

Vestry Meeting.—The adjourned meeting of the Vestry of Christ Church will be held this evening.

The "Alexandra."—This steamer will resume her trips between the head of the bay and Montreal on Monday next. She will arrive up on Saturday.

Dismissed.—At the meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday, decision was given in the case of Constable Rankin, dismissing him from the force.

Serious Accident.—We are informed that a team of horses belonging to Mr. John Clapp, of Thurlow, ran away with him in the field where he was at work. Mr. Clapp's injuries are stated to be so severe that his recovery is doubtful.

City Tin Shop.—It will be seen by advertisement that Messrs. S. Stocker & Co. have opened a new Tin Shop in the store lately occupied by the late E. Chandler. They have a large stock, are practical workmen, manufacture their own stock, and guarantee satisfaction.

Teachers' Examinations.—The examinations of candidates for teachers' certificates will be held in the Central School, Belleville, and in the Model School, Madoc. Those for second class will be held on the 8th of July and those for third class on the 14th of that month.

Entertained at Ottawa.—The Ottawa Citizen of Monday says:—"Ex-Ald. Falkiner, of Belleville, left on Saturday evening for home. Previous to leaving, Mr. Falkiner was entertained at a complimentary dinner in the House of Commons Restaurant, by a number of his old friends."

Worth Trying.—There is good reason to believe that a large yearly saving could be effected by saturating the under sides of planks used for sidewalks with a coating of some tarry perservative, as it has been found that the decay arising from moisture underneath the sidewalks is far greater than the wear and tear occasioned by the traffic over the sidewalks.

Cricket.—Mr. Richard Daft, of Sheffield Eng., has just arranged for the visit of an English cricket team to America, to leave England on August 15th next. The following will be the eleven:—Richard Daft, F. Morley, J. Selby, Arthur Shrewsbury, William Oscroft, Ephraim Lockwood, George Ulyett, William Mycroft, R. G. Barlow, and probably Alfred Shaw.

The Excursion.—The Oddfellows' excursion to Madoc yesterday is said to have been a very pleasant one, the visitors having been most hospitably received by the Madoc brethren, and enjoying themselves very much during their stay. The trip out was made in one hour and forty minutes, the road being in excellent condition, and quite up to the average of Canadian railways.

Cricket Club.—The forty-first anniversary of the Belleville Cricket Club will be celebrated on Friday evening with an entertainment in the Opera House. The Trenton Amateur Dramatic Society will then perform Boucicault's favorite drama, "The Octoroon," which the ladies and gentlemen in question lately presented in a very superior manner in Trenton. We hope that the attendance will be large, and that the result will be a substantial benefit to the organization in whose behalf it is to be given.

The Fisheries.—At 3 o'clock this morning Mr. Wilkins, Fishery Overseer, made a thorough inspection of the mouth of the river and places adjoining, but found no nets set. He found a few mullets and suckers which had been captured with a scoop net, but the pickerel have just commenced to run, being rather later than usual, so that none of those fish can as yet have been captured here. Mr. Wilkins has appointed officers to watch the fisheries at various points within his jurisdiction during close time, and seems determined to enforce the law with vigor, as he usually does. We repeat, however, that no one or even two men, however, active and determined, can prevent altogether illegal fishing here, and for experience in regard to such a matter we have only to go to the English and Scotch salmon rivers, notably to the Tweed, where a large force of water bailiffs and the crew of a gunboat cannot prevent altogether the slaughter of salmon in close time. If the fisheries here and in other rivers in this section are to be efficiently protected, more men must be employed during close time.

Canadian Methodist Magazine for May.—The illustrated articles for the month are "Rome" with ten fine engravings, "Canadian Colleges," with 4 engravings, including a good portrait of Rev. Dr. Rice. "Bayard Taylor," with two engravings; and "Methodist Churches," with 3 engravings. The "Story of the War of 1812." The Editor tells the tragic story of "John of the Golden Mouth." Alderman Clarke continues his "Impressions of France, Switzerland, and Italy;" and Dr. Carroll records "The Early History of Methodism in British North America." The poetic gem of the number is a noble "Elegiac Ode on the Death of the Princess Alice." The Editor discusses the "Letellier affair;" the "Lessons of the Census;" "Revivals," etc. An excellent number.

Mankind are not like grains of wheat, all to be ground down by the same pressure. Some minds will be hardened by the force others yield to, and some spirits will be broken by what is only a welcome correction to others.

Mops and scrub brushes are ripening, in season for general house-cleaning time.

The chief business just now relates to preparations for moving, also to house, back-yard and street cleaning.

Preparations are already being made by many for the season's gardening, and the various hot-houses for growing flower and other plants have been prepared for some time.

'Tis flaked with wood violets,

Marine Notes.

The steamer City of Niagara commences her trips from Toronto to Niagara on the 2nd of May.

It is said that a daily line of steamers will be established shortly between Toronto and Oswego.

150 feet of warehouse has been added to the Grand Trunk buildings at Port Huron.

The Chicago Vessel Owners' Association has established the rates for corn and wheat to Buffalo at 5 and 5½c, and on wheat to Kingston at 8 to 10½. This is the result of some owners cuting rates.

Capt. Pender, formerly of the steamer Kincardine, left for Toronto last night to take charge of the steamer Oswego Belle, which will ply this season between Oswego and Toronto.

The Kincardine is now being painted.

The little steamer Flight arrived this morning on her first trip from Napanee.

The schooner Nellie P. Downey cleared to-day with a cargo of rye.

From the Cradle to the Grave.

From earliest infancy until childhood returns with the return of old age, in all disorders of the stomach and the bowels there is no medicine that so nearly approaches the character of a specific as Castor Oil. No other laxative or cathartic so thoroughly and yet so mildly purges the system of morbid humors and strengthens the alimentive functions in carrying on the process of nutrition. All reason for repugnance to the oil on account of its objectionable taste and smell, has been removed by the manufacture of Scott & Bowne's Palatable Castor Oil which is perfectly tasteless and as pleasant as sweet milk. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Pain Killer is a purely vegetable preparation, safe to keep and to use in every family. The simplicity attending its use, together with the great variety of diseases that may be entirely eradicated by it, and the great amount of pain and suffering that can be alleviated through its use, make it imperative upon every person to supply themselves with this valuable remedy, and keep it always near at hand.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

The Negro Exodus.

Unprovoked Murder.

PUBLICLY CHASTISED.

LARGE EMIGRATION.

Tour of Railway Magnates.

Albany, N.Y., April 29.—The Superintendant of Insurance has called upon the Atlantic Insurance Co., of Brooklyn, to make up the impairment of its capital, amounting to $56,000.

Boston, April 29.—The "Principia," a club which has played an important part in inducing negroes to emigrate from the South to the West, is sending out its tenth circular advising negroes to emigrate somewhere and get out of the south before the next census is taken.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 29.—James O. Reed, residing near Elizabeth, called a stranger named John Williams into his house yesterday and coolly beat him to death without provocation. Reed alleges that Williams put on airs.

New York, April 29.—The Times' St Louis special reports that 8,600 colored emigrants have arrived since the beginning of the exodus. A strife concerning the control of the relief fund has arisen. It is reported that the funds have been misappropriated.

Charles Tugman, a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, was arrested yesterday for publicly chastising agent Hurst, of the National line of steamers. Tugman alleges that he has a judgment of $4,200 against the National line, and is prevented by litigation from securing its payment.

Yesterday 1,032 emigrants arrived. The "City of Richmond" brought 758, the largest number carried in one steamer since '76.

The Sun says it is understood that Vanderbilt and the officers of the Lake Shore road will start to-day on an extended tour through the west on matters connected with Vanderbilt's railroad interest. The party will go as far as St. Louis and not return until after the Lake Shore election.

Vergennes, Vt., April 29.—The manufactory of the Vermont Shade Roller Co. was burned this morning. Loss $30,000.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

London, April 29.—A despatch from the Marquis of Lorne is published, in which he justifies the Dominion protective tariff on the ground that the action of the United States is invariably hostile to Canada on all matters relative to tariffs, and that the manufacturers in the United States can disorganize and destroy any special Canadian industry, by combining to flood the Canadian market with a similar product, sold below actual value. The absence of duty thus has the same effect as that produced by a Government bounty.

The Canadian Minister of Finance appends a memo. saying that if the tariff materially alters the volume of trade with Great Britain it must be on the side of an increase, and that in several branches this result will certainly follow.

London, April 29.—Sir Garnet Wolsely comes to England at the request of the War Office to a service upon the Military Commission.

An official report to the Persian Government of an earthquake at Mianeh in March says that 21 villages were destroyed, and 922 persons, 2,660 sheep, 1,125 oxen, 124 horses and 55 camels were killed.

Capetown, April 8.—The Ekowe garrison reached Tugela yesterday. Chelmsford and staff are now on their way to Durban. It is stated that the Zulus are now occupying Ekowe, but King Cetewayo himself retired beyond the Black Umvolosi river. The rumor that Boers intended to detain Sir Bartle Frere is unfounded.

Paris, April 29.—A St. Petersburg correspondent says that the police are openly arresting people by batches at all hours of the day, whereas apprehensions were hitherto made at night. On the slightest suspicion against a person the whole family are arrested and domiciliary visits paid to all acquaintances, leading to further apprehensions on the most frivolous grounds. Eighty-three furnished lodging keepers are in prison for not reporting within twenty-four hours the latest arrivals. Jakovleff, a Government official living in the winter palace, and his son, an officer in the Guards, are in custody.

Baron Bistrom, deputy commandant of the St. Petersburg garrison, and Gen. Gildenstube, commandant of the Moscow garrison, has been superceded for insufficient enthusiasm towards the new order of things.

Few pedestrians or carriages are in the streets, but an endless line of porters are seated on stools at every door with stout sticks. Covered prison vans frequently pass with a police officer mounted by the side of the driver, and Gen. Gourko drives around in an open droskey, escorted by Cossacks, cracking their whips. The inhabitants are not accomplices of Nihilists, but apathetic spectators.

It is stated that the action of the Privy Council has so alarmed the German agriculturists that they are getting up a petition praying the Government to absolutely prohibit the importation of American cattle.

Constantinople, April 29.—Germany and France are strongly urging the Porte to concede to Greece the territory indicated in the 13th protocol of the Berlin Congress. The intimation has been conveyed to the Porte that the powers exercising the right of mediation therein conferred intend to instruct their ambassadors at Constantinople to settle the boundary question.

Berlin, April 29.—Capt. Zembsch, of the German navy, was appointed Consul General at Samoa partly to push the German Commercial interests in that quarter and partly to establish a coaling station for German steamers as provided by special treaties.

Madrid, April 29.—The death of Princess Christina, sister of the late Queen and cousin of the present King of Spain, occurred yesterday morning. King Alfonso goes to Seville to-day. The infanta's remains will be placed near those of the Queen, in the Escurial. The Court will go into three months mourning.

Harkville, Miss., April 29.—On the 24th inst. a large barn belonging to Jordan Moore was burned. Johnson Spencer, a negro in the employ of Moore was arrested, but acquitted. Last night another mammoth barn was burned. The incendiary proved to be a negro named Nevlin Porter. He implicated Johnson Spencer and others. About one hundred men heard the confession and then hanged them. The mutilated and decomposed remains of a negro were found in a swamp north of here. It is is supposed to be that of Bill Gilwer, a negro who shot Attorney Wood six weeks ago, with two bullet holes in his breast.

RADICAL CURE
For
CATARRH

Sneeze! Sneeze!! Sneeze!!!

Until your head seems ready to fly off, until your nose and eyes discharge excessive quantities of mucus, thin, acrid and poisonous, until, unfit for business or pleasures you number yourself among the most afflicted of mortals, destined to suffer periodically the greatest distress, without relief or consolation. Every draught, every breath of air seems an enemy in disguise. This is Acute Catarrh or Cold in the Head. It arises from constitutionally weak or diseased nasal organs, and enfeebled action of the pores of the skin. In the permanent cure of this distressing trouble, Sanford's Radical Cure is a never-failing specific. Instant relief follows the first dose. Its use destroys that morbid sensitiveness to atmospheric changes which predisposes people to this disease, and is sure to prevent an attack of Chronic or Ulcerative Catarrh.

UNIVERSAL SATISFACTION.

FROM A WELL-KNOWN DRUGGIST.

Gentlemen,—I am happy to inform you that Sanford's Radical Cure is the best remedy for Catarrh I have ever sold. It gives universal satisfaction. I have not found a case that it did not relieve at once, and in many cases a cure is performed by the use of one bottle. It must soon lead all others in the market. Please send me another supply.

Respectfully yours,
ANDREW LEE.
Manchester, Mass.

A Boston Physician says:—

"Since I received so much relief from the use of it myself, after a thorough trial of the usual remedies, I have privately advised its use, and presume I have sent to your store no less than one hundred of my patients for it."

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

A Fight With a Bear.

A TRUE STORY.

We make the following extract from a hunting story entitled "The Big Bear of Wanneola," in ST. NICHOLAS for May. The incident took place in the back country of Arkansas, in the year 1860, and the hunters were Harvey Richardson and the narrator. They were after a big bear, whose depredations had made him the chief topic of conversation; and they started out with their dogs early one November morning:

Just at day-break, we came to a crossing of the bayou where we felt sure the bear must pass on the way to his den. Harvey placed me, the dogs, and himself. A fallen tree was in my front, and through its interlaced roots I could see in every direction. Hardly had we completed our ambush when a quick movement of one of the dogs startled me. But, in a moment, noticing that his looks were directed toward the crossing, I, too, looked thither and heard the sound of a heavy animal sauntering slowly over the sodden ground and approaching my lair. In an instant a pair of yellow eyes glared at me, and with as wide a look of surprise as there was in mine. Recovering myself I fired at the monster, which appeared like a huge, animated black cloud as he rose up before me. The brute disappeared with the smoke of my gun, but in a moment I was startled by the report and shock of a second discharge. The other load of my gun had been accidentally exploded. Looking in the direction that the bear had taken, I saw he had run along the other side of the fallen tree and met at the farther end the two dogs, when he turned about and came toward me at his most rapid speed and in savage humor. Then there was a fearful crash and rush. The black mass came on, with eyes gleaming, and bewildering me with the reflection of their glare in the sunlight.

I was conscious that my gun was useless, and so instinctively grasped my pistol, but found it hopelessly entangled in my belt. For a second, despair came upon me, but a sudden revulsion aroused every sense and prompted me to defence for life. Quickly drawing my knife, it was presented at a thrust as the dark mass sprang at me.

At this moment, one of the huge dogs leaped at him so fiercely as to divert the monster's attention from myself and make him miss his bite. He reared, and as he again came down on his fore-feet and was in the act of going over the back, I plunged the knife to the hilt into his body, in the region of his heart. He turned and made a terrible snap at my legs, but at the moment I fell backward over a bush, and so we all went into the bayou together, floundering in the water and mud.

I scrambled to the edge of the slough, and watched with intense anxiety the result of the battle. In another moment, and when the bear had nearly reached the further side of the pool, desperately fighting with the dogs every inch of the way, I heard a rushing sound and the whirring flight of more of the pack as they sprang over me. In the same instant a flash shot out from the brown barrel of Harvey's rifle, and the bear rolled over, though he still feebly fought the pack, and kept on fighting to the last moment of his existence. To my mortification, an examination of the huge carcass showed that my shot had not made any visible mark on the animal, and that my knife had not quite reached his heart. Harvey's shot had killed him. The weight of the savage animal was over five hundred pounds.—Dr. I. E. Nagle; St. Nicholas for May.

The Attachment of Germans to Their Emperor.

Germans abroad are affectionately mindful of their aged Sovereign, whose successive birthdays for many years past have witnessed the arival at his modest town-house Under-the-Linden, of oddly-shaped cases and mysterious packages adorned with strange inscriptions, from all manner of countries to which the German idiom is unfamiliar, but in which the children of Teut have found a home. Germans settled in Russia annually despatch tanks full of living sterlet to the Emperor, who is known to be partial to that delicate fish, which, to be eaten in perfection, must reach the cook's hands in a condition of healthy vitality. Consignments of fresh caviare are forwarded from Astrachan, by German merchants there established, and arrive at their destination punctually upon the 22nd of March, to be served up at his Majesty's 'Imbiss,' or luncheon. From America came artistically cured hams, cases of terrapin, of canvas-back duck and prairie fowl. Tea and cunning preserves from China, vases and ornaments from Japan, rare stuffed birds from the tropics converge from the Imperial Palace during those breezy birthdays, together with thousands of telegrams and letters from all parts of the world conveying to the emperor the loyal felicitations and hearty good wishes of German-born men, women, and children too, for the Kaiser is adored by the growing generation, and the effusions of juvenile hero worship received by him on these occasions may be numbered by hundreds. His faithful subjects at home overwhelm him with presents, many of which would be deemed singularly inappropriate to royalty in countries where simplicity of feeling and unconsciousness of incongruity are less prevalent than they still are in Germany. Sausages, seven feet long and as thick as a paviour's rammer, huge carved casks of beer, cases of Dantzig strong water, Pomeranian smoked goose-breasts and black puddings, bottles of rare old wine with their histories appended in masterpieces of caligraphy, glass aquaria full of fish fixed in transparent jelly, instead of swimming in water, come to hand in bewildering variety, chiefly from the older provinces of the strictly Prussian realm. Bavarian, Saxon, Wurtemberg, and Baden congratulants are not so familiar with their Emperor as the Prussians are with their King, and restrict their offerings for the most part to poems, patriotic songs, military marches, and real or artificial flowers.—London Telegraph.

Dr. Giles offers to cure, free of cost, lame and sick horses pronounced incurable, thus giving a practical test of the value of his preparation. It is sold by all druggists, and is highly recommended by the entire veterinary community.

Sold by all druggists. Send for pamphlet.

Trial size 25 cents.

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

The African King.

Who listened to the white man's story of travelling upon an ice bound river, was incredulous. How could such things be? It was all a lie. But if that same ebony ruler had visited our country in the cold weather, he would have seen many a gay, dashing team of animals drawing huge sleighs, full of happy people, for miles and miles upon the frozen water. In fact, Winter is our carnival season for out door romps and flirtations. There are some oldtime doctors in our remote villages who let people die according to prescription, and if one of their patients should tell them that he knew a neighbor who had been cured by using DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS, he would, like "King Niger," look incredulous. "All bosh and nonsense" would be his assertion. But the king might just as well deny a frozen river as for a doubting novice to deny the benefits of these pills. Oh, King! come to Canada and learn that there can be ice! Oh, sufferer, try Dr. Herrick and know that they will cure you!

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

To the Electors of NORTH HASTINGS.

GENTLEMEN:—At the urgent request of a large number of the Electors of North Hastings, and having received the nomination of the Conservative Convention, at Madoc, on the 20th inst., I again beg to announce myself a candidate for the Ontario Legislature at the approaching Election.

Having been your representative for the last twelve years, and made myself familiar with your wants and necessities by frequent visits to the Northern Townships, I have been able to press successfully upon the Governments of the day the necessity of making liberal grants and improvements in favor of settlers; and have been pleased to mark the following results of these appeals: Several Townships have been surveyed and opened up for settlement. Large grants of money have been annually expended upon colonization roads and bridges. A Free Grant territory of nine townships established within the riding. A resident Crown Land Agent appointed to assist in locating settlers. The arrearages due the Government by old settlers in the Free Grant Townships have been cancelled. The dues for timber cut upon the road allowances have been annually returned to the Municipalities by the Government for local improvements. A Division Court has been established. And by the perseverance and industry of the settlers very many happy and comfortable homes have been created, and the people now enjoy the privileges and blessings of the common school, judicial and municipal laws.

Should you again elect me your representative, I shall advocate a further concession to the people in regard to the pine timber upon the lands of actual settlers, a continuation of grants upon colonization roads and bridges, with an economical expenditure of the money, a liberal grant by the Government either in money or lands towards railway extension into the Free Grant lands, in order that the products of the forest, the farm and the mines may be profitably brought into the markets of the world. By such improvements I believe many of our farmers' sons in the frontier Townships would not emigrate to the United States, but seek homes and become happy, contented and prosperous setttlers upon the fertile and unsettled lands of this Province, under the good old flag of their fathers.

I shall to the utmost of my ability endeavor to deal out justice to all classes, creeds, parties and persons, and oppose, as heretofore, whitewashing by Acts of Parliament political or other offenders against the laws of the country.

Ever mindful of the interests of this Riding, while assisting to enact such laws as will be beneficial to the Province at large, I will at all times endeavor to keep the controllable expenditure as low as is consistent with the public service, and the whole expenditure within the annual revenue.

LAW REFORM.—I believe in a system of equity in all our Law Courts, and that the procedure of the present Court of Chancery should be so simplified that common suitors would not so frequently find their estates ruined with law costs.

Thanking you for all past support, and if satisfied with my past conduct and the principles above enumerated, I shall be pleased to receive your hearty support at the approaching election.

I am, Gentlemen,
Your obed't servant,
G. H. BOULTER.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

Old Times in the North-West

In a recent number of Harpers' Magazine, General A. L. Chetlain, of Chicago, has a very interesting paper on the colonization of the Red River in 1821 by Swiss emigrants. He shows that the effect of the Napoleonic wars in Europe was to produce great commercial depression and the disastrous ruins of 1816 so damaged the crops that in many countries the poorer classes suffered for want of bread. The distress was greater in Switzerland than in other parts of Europe. Thos. Dundas, Earl of Selkirk, a distinguished nobleman, a few years earlier than the period of distress had purchased a large tract of land in British America from the Hudson Bay Company, with the intention of settling it with emigrants from Scotland, but in consequence of the determined opposition of the Hudson Bay Company and the North-West Company at Montreal, the scheme of colonization was only very partially carried out, and having failed at home Earl Selkirk turned his attention to the distressed Swiss. He prepared and caused to be published in the French and German languages a pamphlet giving a full but somewhat exaggerated description of the new country, its climate, soil, and productions, and offered to all heads of families, or those who were unmarried and over 21 years of age, land free of cost, with seeds, cattle and farming implements, all on a credit of three years. The pamphlet was freely distributed by Lord Selkirk's agents in the French-speaking Cantons of Neuchatel, Vaud and Geneva, and in the German-speaking Canton of Berne. Many young and middle-aged men in these cantons, having become weary of the condition of affairs at home, decided to emigrate to British America under the auspices of Lord Selkirk, and formed a colony for that purpose. In the May of 1821 the colonists assembled at a small village on the Rhine, near Basle, and were floated down the river on two flat-bottomed barges. At the end of ten days they reached a village near Rotterdam, where a staunch ship, the Lord Wellington, was in readiness to take them to the New World. They had a distressing voyage of nearly four months, during which their provisions, which were at no time of the quality promised, fell short. Falling in with two English vessels in Hudson Bay, they had their stock replenished, and at length landed at York Fort. The colonists were embarked in batteaux, and commenced the ascent of Nelson River. Propelling their heavy laden boats by rowing, often against a strong current, at the end of twenty days Lake Winnipeg was reached, and here new troubles awaited them. The season was advanced, the fall storms had set in, and their progress along the west shore of the lake, 260 miles in length, was slow and laborious. After a day's hard laboring, often against head winds, the little fleet of boats would put into some sheltered spot, where the weary voyageurs, perhaps drenched with rain or benumbed with cold, would kindle fires, and all be made as comfortable as possible for the night. In addition to these discouragements and discomforts, their supply of provisions gave out, and the few fish they were able to catch were barely sufficient to keep them from starving. At the end of three weeks, much time having been lost by reason of high wind and storms, they arrived, half famished, at the mouth of the Red River, where, to their dismay, they learned that the locusts or grasshoppers had passed through the country the summer before, literally destroying all the crops. With heavy hearts they proceeded up the river some 35 miles to Fort Douglas, situated on the west bank of the river, near the site of the present Fort Garry, then the principal trading-post and headquarters of the Hudson's Bay Company. Gov. Alexander McDowell and the other officers of the Company, by their cordial welcome and earnest efforts to supply their wants and make them comfortable, not only gladdened their hearts, but did much to make them forget the hardships of their long voyage. As, however, there was not sufficient provisions to last during the winter, some seventy-five of the younger and more hardy of the colonists were sent to Pembina, where some jerked Buffalo meat and pemmican were obtained, but not nearly enough to supply the wants of the colony. The winter was long and intensely cold, with unusually heavy falls of snow, and great distress was suffered by all; but the health of the colonists continued good, despite the severity of the winter and the insufficiency of food. The opening of spring found them ready to enter on the lands allotted to them at La Fourche. Lord Selkirk had died at Pau, France, the autumn before their departure from Switzerland, but the fact had been withheld from them until after their arrival at Fort Douglas. Consequently no provision had been made to supply them with seeds and farming implements, as promised them before their departure from the Old World. They were therefore compelled, with few exceptions, to use the ordinary hoe and spade in turning over the sod, and in preparing the soil for planting and sowing the seeds obtained in limited quantities from the Canadian farmers. However, as the result of a hard summer's work, the women assisting the men, and the soil being remarkly productive, the crops raised, with what they obtained from the oldest settlers carried them through the succeeding winter very comfortably. In the spring of 1822, a herd, of cattle, mostly cows, was distributed amongst the Swiss settlers. This distribution of cattle, which had been contracted for by Lord Selkirk before his death, was all that had been done for the colonists in fulfilment of the pledges made before their departure from Europe. As a consequence dissatisfaction became general, and a determination was made by a large part of the colonists to depart the first practicable moment for the United States, a country of which they had learned much since their arrival at Red River. In the spring of 1823 thirteen families set out for the United States, five families having previously left with the drovers of the herd of cattle that was sent them. The journey of four hundred miles to Lake Traverse, was accomplished in rough wooden carts, constructed without irons, the tires being of raw hide drawn tightly around the wheel. They suffered severe privations on this journey, and were frequently menaced by danger from roving tribes of Indians. At length arrived at Lake Traverse, preparations were made for descending the St. Peter's River. Cottonwood trees were felled, and canoes or "dug-outs" were made—one for every two adults of the party. The work was slow and difficult, for the want of proper tools. Being in a country through which roamed hunting parties of unfriendly and thieving Indians it was necessary to keep guard over the camp at night. That duty devolved on the women, for the men needed the sleep of night in order to be able to work by day on the canoes. The canoes having been finished, they were launched, and the party floated down stream, arriving about the middle of September at Fort St. Francis, where they were kindly received by the officers of the garrison, and warmly welcomed by their countrymen who had preceded them two years before. After a few week's rest, they started for St. Louis. Arrived at that city, then containing 6,000 inhabitants, they were welcomed, and the greater part of the emigrants leased lands near the city and cultivated them. They proved industrious, temperate and thrifty citizens. The climate of that region, however, was evidently unfavorable for them, and the larger part fell sick. The process of acclimatization was slow and difficult, and by the end of the second summer most of them decided to remove to a cooler and more healthful climate. The opening of the lead mines of the North-West gave the wished-for opportunity, and in the spring and autumn of 1826 the majority of the emigrants removed to the Indian Agency at Gratiot's Grove, fifteen miles north-east from La Pointe, and engaged in mining and smelting lead ore. The spring of 1826 was noted for the great rise of water in the Red and Assiniboine Rivers, caused by unusually deep snow of the preceding winter. The lands of La Fourche were completely inundated. The loss sustained by the Swiss who remained was very heavy, and at the earliest opportunity they left and joined their compatriots at the head mines. About six years later, when the Indian troubles began which culminated in a war known as the "Black Hawk War" and volunteers were called for, nearly all the men, without regard of age, enlisted, and, having been accustomed to the use of firearms, rendered the country of their adoption valuable service. The descendants of these colonists are numerous, and are found scattered throughout the North-west, the greatest being in the region of lead mines. Most of them are thrifty farmers and stock breeders. A few have entered the professions and trade. All, as far as known, are temperate, industrious, and law abiding citizens.

The contrast between what those early settlers had to suffer, and the facilities provided for those seeking the Northwest at the present time is very marked. The ocean passage, which then occupied four months, can now be performed in a few days, and the railways, whose length is increasing every year, render the remainder of the journey easy of accomplishment, and when the Pacific Railway is completed, the discomforts and hardships of the long journey will be reduced to a minimum. The soil of the Red River district is wonderfuly rich and fertile, and with facilities of travel, a few years ought to see a large and prosperous Province in our North-West.

Dominion Parliament.

FOURTH PARLIAMENT—FIRST SESSION.

MONDAY, April 28.

In the House of Commons, the Minister of Public Works introduced a Bill to amend and consolidate the Railway Act of 1863, and the Act amending the same.

The resolutions relative to the adoption of a national currency system were then moved by Mr. Wallace (South Norfolk), who spoke in advocacy of the principles with which his name has become somewhat associated. He opened his remarks by referring to the ridicule with which his efforts had been met. All monies, in his opinion, was fiat, and the epithet had no special application to paper money. Gold was only made money by the fiat of a Government. Paper could be the same. He claimed that a national currency based on the labour and public works of the Dominion, had a sounder basis than the promises to pay now in circulation, only 25 per cent. of which could actually be redeemed by the banks of the Dominion. If the public works could be considered as assets in borrowing money in the markets of the world, then they should be considered as assets with which to redeem a national currency. Proceeding, he claimed it was to the issue of prper money more than protection that the prosperity of the United States was due, and he continued his remarks for some length, advocating the details of his scheme.

Mr. CHARLTON criticised at length the arguments advocated by the mover of the resolution, and referred in detail to the history of paper money in the various countries which had made the experiment. He contended that the experiment in each instance had been a signal failure, and more especially in that country (the United States) in which the experiment had within the present generation been made on a large scale. There the people had discovered the fallacy of the proceeding, and passed an adverse verdict on their previous action by a resumption of specie payment. The major portion of his speech was occupied in defining the nature of money, and the facilities which gold offered as a medium of exchange. He claimed that instead of a Government making money, as Mr. Wallace claimed, it only placed an impress upon the money in circulation, and regulated it. In concluding his remarks he moved that the resolutions be read that day six months.

Mr. BOULTBEE addressed the House briefly, in favor of the spirit of the resolutions, if not exactly favorable to the substance. His remarks were drawn to a close by the Speaker declaring it six o'clock, and leaving the chair.

After recess,

A number of public Bills were read the third time or advanced a stage.

Mr. MCCARTHY'S Bill to repeal the Act to regulate the construction and maintenance of marine electric telegraphs was read the third time on a division.

Messrs. MACKENZIE and HOLTON both entered a protest against such a proceeding.

Mr. MACDONNELL'S (Inverness) Bill to provide for the defendant's costs in certain actions at the suit of the Crown was opposed by Sir John A. Macdonald and withdrawn.

On the question of the second reading of Mr. Methot's Bill to fix the rate of interest in Canada and prohibiting usury, the Minister of Finance requested that the Bill be withdrawn, but Mr. Methot refused.

Mr. PLUMB moved the six months hoist, which was carried on a vote of 97 Yeas, 68 Nays.

The Minister of Public Works brought down the report of the Engineer-in-Chief on the Canada Pacific Railway, and the House adjourned at 11 p. m.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30.

THE WRITS.

We understand that the writs for a general election for the Ontario Legislature have been received by the usual officials here. The nomination has been fixed, as previously announced, for Tuesday, the 29th of May, and the polling for Tuesday, June 5th.

There is but little time left for preparation, consequently we urge upon the Conservatives of Hastings and the Bay District generally to proceed at once with the work of organization. Our opponents are already working actively in most of the various divisions, and it will not do to let them steal a march upon us. The issues to be decided are of the most important character, and it is now full time to open the campaign and carry it on with vigor until the polls have closed on the day of election, when we fully believe a glorious triumph will reward the exertions of the Conservative party.

A Campaign of Falsehood.

It is evident, from all the signs of the times, that in the coming campaign for the Ontario Legislature, as in many another political contest in years past, the Grit party do not intend to limit themselves to the truth. For instance, Mr. Mowat is reported as saying a few days ago, in the course of a speech which he addressed to his constituents in North Oxford:—

> "One fact that went far to show that the annual expenditure did not exceed the revenue was that, while the Sandfield Macdonald Government had left a surplus of about $4,000,000, the present Administration had distributed about $5,000,000, and had still $2,000,000 of the original surplus on hand."

Mr. Mowat, being a gentleman whose as of a high order, therefore the incautions and those who are not well acquainted with the facts of the case might be disposed to accept his statement as being correct. But it is not so, as the statement, although correct to a certain extent, is yet delusory, contains only a portion of the truth, and therefore conveys a false impression. Whilst it may or may not be true that of the surplus left in the treasury by the Sandfield McDonald Government, one-half remains after $5,000,000 have been expended in aid to railways, etc., Mr. Mowat should have stated that his administration had, during their term of office, received upwards of $5,000,000 from increase of subsidy from the Dominion Government, sales of timber lands and other sources which were not open to their predecessors.

It is thus apparent that Mr. Mowat has set a very bad example, which his followers, who are not troubled as a rule with many scruples, will not be slow to follow and improve upon.

The Insolvent Act.

The insolvency law question seems to have been settled in a summary manner by the House of Commons, which body determined at its yesterday's sitting, by a majority of 24 votes, to repeal all existing bankrupt laws. This action, in face of the recommendations of the large and influential Committee to whom the subject was referred, is certainly calculated to create astonishment. The die has been cast, and the result of the action of Parliament will be watched with the greatest interest.

THE FALL WHEAT.—The Hamilton Spectator says:—"From various quarters a report has been circulated that the fall wheat in many sections has been considerably damaged and looks bad. We have just seen a gentleman who is intimately acquainted with the state of the crop in Wentworth and adjoining counties, and he assures us that the prospects of the crop in this neighborhood are all that can be desired. To be sure there is an occasional patch of inferior looking sprouts, but as a whole the crop looks well, and should no untoward weather be given us will turn out very satisfactory."

RAILWAY MEETINGS.—A cable to the Globe says:—"The meetings of the Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways of Canada were held to-day simultaneously. The attendance at each was consequently smaller than usual. Sir Henry Tyler advocated amalgamation. He said the course appeared more than ever desirable at present. He pointed out the advantage that would result from the two Companies uniting their forces, if only for the purpose of resisting the hostile action and influence of its late ally. The Grand Trunk had been long anxious to bring about an identity of interests and a unity of action between the two Companies. Hon. Mr. Childers, of the Great Western, opposed the idea of amalgamation. Both the meetings were quiet. The reports were unanimously adopted. Sir Henry Tyler will sail for Canada on Saturday, where he will remain for two months. Hon. Mr. Childers will also leave for Canada shortly."

A Sound View.

The following very sensible remarks were made during the tariff debate at the time of Confederation:—

> "With regard to the merits of the question before the House he did not believe in building up manufactures by a protective policy. But at the same time if the United States had adopted a policy whereby we lose them as a market we were bound to adopt such means as would make a market for ourselves. Under the policy of the Finance Minister manufactures had grown up in the country and it would be unjust to those who had embarked their capital in them that the protection should be withdrawn without a moment's warning. He admitted that the policy of the Government had not been in harmony with the tendency of public men towards free trade. But large interests had grown up under our system of incidental protection which he considered should not be destroyed. In reply to a question he said he was in favor of the protective system which had been the policy of the country for some years and under which interests had been created which the House should respect."

This is an extract from a speech delivered—not by Sir John A. Macdonald—but by Mr. Alexander Mackenzie.

AFGHANISTAN.—A cable special says:—"A Gundasck despatch says serious disturbances are reported at Badakashn. The negotiations with Yakoob Khan are progressing favorably. His decisive answer is expected in a few days. The British have asked the cession of Khyber and Kurum Passes and permission to maintain a resident at Cabul."

DEATH OF COL. NORTHEY.—The death of Col. Northey, of the 60th Rifles, is announced by cable. He was severely wounded, it will be remembered, in the recent engagement with the Zulus. In his death the British army loses a most gallant and accomplished officer. He was well known in Canada, having taken a prominent part in the Red River expedition. He was the son-in-law of Col. Gzowski, of Toronto, for whom deep sympathy is felt.

CONDITION OF U. S. FARM STOCK.—The April reports of the United States Department of Agriculture show that all classes of Farm animals came out of winter quarters in unusually good condition. Diseases were not of very great extent or virulence except among hogs in the south and west. Large losses from the so-called hog cholera are reported in some counties, but in most of these cases mortality can probably be traced to bad sanitary conditions. Four Counties in New Jersey, one in New York and one in Maryland note the presence of pleuro-pneumonia, but it is believed these cases nearly all originated in the dairy stations or cities.

THE ZULU SITUATION.—A despatch to the London Standard from Capetown, April 8th, says the Zulus appear to have recovered very rapidly from their defeat at Ginglelova, as large numbers are reported in the neighborhood of Ekowe. Sickness is more or less prevalent among the British forces. A despatch to the News from Capetown, dated the 8th inst., says a strong British force will be dispatched from Tugela for Cetewayo's Kraal in a fortnight. It is stated from Pretoria that 4,000 Boers have assembled near that place, and that hostilities between them and the British may arise at any moment. They are anxious to avoid firing the first shot.

THE MILITIA ACT.—Hon. Mr. Masson gives notice of resolutions to amend the militia act. The enrollment of the reserve is to be completed by the 28th of February 1881, and thereafter at the same date every five years, except in war or other emergency. Corps called out in aid of the civil power will be paid by the municipality requiring them at regular rates of pay—$1 for each horse, together with $1 to each officer, fifty cents to each non-commissioned officer and man, and fifty cents for each horse in lieu of subsistence, also lodging and stabling or value thereof. The Government may in the first instance advance the money required and afterwards recover from the municipality. The land now held for drill sheds and other militia purposes when found necessary may be sold, and if any portion of the cost thereof has been defrayed by municipalities may be returned to them or expended on other militia works in such municipalities.

MONTHLY BANK STATEMENT.—The statement of the banks acting under charter for February and March has been published. The figures would lead to the impression that business on the whole is quiet, and that the demand on the banks for business enterprises have not been increased to any perceptible extent. On the contrary, as compared with March of last year, there has been a decrease in notes in circulation of about $850,000. For Ontario and Quebec the notes in circulation in March were $17,221,088 as against $17,378,126 in February. There has been a material decrease in deposits, a portion of which is no doubt due to the putting of increased capital in manufacturing enterprises as well as to other less satisfactory causes. The deposits payable on demand have been reduced from $30,777,300 in February to $29,887,677 in March, and the deposits payable after notice have been reduced from $27,851,729 in February to $26,690,593 in March. There has accordingly been a decrease during the month of about $2,000,000 in deposits. Advances secured by bank stock have fallen from $1,634,992 in February to $1,382,922 in March. The notes and bills discounted and current have fallen from $107,563,177 in February to $106,532,228 in March. On the other hand, notes overdue and not specially secured have increased from $2,752,916 in February to $3,125,644 in March, while the overdue debts secured have declined from $3,327,217 in February to $3,235,287 in March.

DOMINION EXPORTS.—The Canada Gazette contains the following statement of exports of the Dominion for the first fourteen days in March:

Produce of the mine	$ 12,211
Produce of the fisheries	209,531
Produce of the forest	127,276

Large Libraries.

By far the largest library in the world is the National Library at Paris, which in 1874 contained 2,000,000 printed books and 150,000 manuscripts. Which the next largest is, it is difficult to say, for the British Museum and the Imperial Library of St. Petersburg both had in 1874 1,100,000 volumes. After them comes the Royal Library of Munich with its 900,000 books. The Vatican Library at Rome is sometimes erroneously supposed to be among the largest, while in point of fact it is surpassed, so far as the number of volumes goes, by more than sixty European collections. It contains 105,000 printed books and 22,500 manuscripts. The National Library at Paris is one of the very oldest in Europe, having been founded in 1350, while the British Museum dates from 1753, or a time more than 400 years later. In the United States the largest is the Library of Congress at Washington, which in 1874 contained 261,000 volumes. The Boston Public followed very closely after it with 260,500 volumes, and the Harvard University collection came next with 200,000. The Astor and Mercantile, of New York, are next, each having 148,000. Among the colleges after Harvard's Library comes Yale's with 100,000. Darmouth's is next with 50,000, and then come in order Cornell with 40,000; the University of Virginia with 36,000; Bowdoin with 35,000; the University of South Carolina with 30,000; Ann Arbor, 30,000; Amherst, 29,000; Princeton, 28,000; Wesleyan, 25,500; and Columbia, 25,000.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Attempted Wife Murder and Suicide.

The Negro Exodus.

THE INDIAN WAR.

TOLEDO, O., April 30.—A man going under the name of Mons. Florentine early this morning shot his wife, known as Miss Lillie Ellis, now playing at the Adelphi Variety Theatre, through the neck, and then killed himself. The physicians have hopes of saving the woman's life. Jealousy is supposed to be the cause.

ST. LOUIS, April 30.—A letter from Postmaster McMillan, of New Orleans, to a friend of President Hayes, published here, causes considerable comment. He writes deploring the negro exodus, and stating that he is interested in a new organization to induce the negroes to remain or secure Chinese labor.

SYDNEY, Neb., April 30.—Joe Smith, a noted horse thief, was fatally shot on Monday night while resisting arrest.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Advices report that the Indians depredating near Fort Ellis have been severely punished. Several small parties were attacked and a number of Indians killed.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Washington specials:

The Sun says that exclusive of the Greenbackers the Democrats will have a majority in the House of only half a dozen. Within the past few days it is thought that signs of weakening on the part of some of the Democrats have been visible.

The Tribune says it is reported that the proclamation of the President, with regard to the Indian territory, was not issued too soon, for an organized movement is on foot to invade the territory. The intelligence foreshadows the probability that the President will find it necessary to enforce obedience to his proclamation by the use of the army. The Republicans in Washington are unanimous in complimenting the vigorous tone of the veto.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

LONDON, April 30.—In the House of Commons to-night Sir Robert Peel will ask the Government whether, inasmuch as some years ago in the interests of humanity Gladstone, owing to an appeal made to the Government, took steps to mitigate the sufferings endured in consequence of a state of persecution in Neapolitan prisons, the Government will take steps in the interests of humanity to mitigate the horrors and atrocities amid which the reign of terror is now being carried on in Russia over 80,000,000 people.

PARIS, April 30.—The publisher of the Revolution Francaise has been condemned to three months imprisonment and a fine of 1,000 francs for publishing a letter justifying the commune.

At Corunna, Spain, the British steamer Nile was lost on the Linuela rocks. Three were only saved out of a crew of 23.

LONDON, April 30.—In the House of Commons to-day Sir Robert Peel complained that there was no Minister present to answer his question relating to the recent events in Russia, of which he gave notice publicly yesterday.

NEW YORK, April 30.—At the auction sale of a hundred thousand tons of Scranton coal to-day prices were from 10 to 20 cents per ton lower than last month.

FALL RIVER, Ms., April 30.—Spinners are demanding increased pay. A strike is threatened.

A Word to the Corpulent.

Instead of regarding obesity as an abnormal condition, many people have erroneously considered it as an evidence of health, and any agent that reduces fat is therefore at once suspected of being injurious. Starting to reason from the false position that fat is an evidence of health, it is not surprising that they should, very naturally, fall into the error of supposing that an agent possessing properties capable of reducing corpulency would prove injurious to the health. Reasoning, however, from the rational basis, that an undue deposition of fat, constituting obesity, is not a healthy but a morbid condition, it is quite as natural for us to arrive at the opposite conclusion, which is sustained by experience and observation, i. e., that the reduction of fat in cases of corpulency is invariably followed by an improvement of strength, spirits, and physical comforts. Allan's Anti-Fat will reduce a fat person from 2 to 5 pounds a week. Sold by druggists.

When you are down-hearted and the world looks black to you, you ought to be hospitable enough to entertain a hope of better days.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 30.

City and Vicinity.

CITY COUNCIL.—A special meeting of the Council will be held to-night.

THE CELLS.—There were two prisoners and five tramps in the cells last night.

FURNITURE SALE.—Remember the sale of furniture and household effects at the residence of Hon. Mr. Bowell, William St., to-morrow, commencing at ten o'clock. Purdy is auctioneer.

GRAND TRUNK.—Passenger traffic on the Grand Trunk continues active, but freight business is dull. There is no complaint however, as to local freighting, which is brisker even than usual at this time of year.

DEAD.—Harry Doney, a well-known employee of the Grand Trunk restaurant at Cobourg, died at that place on Monday from congestion of the lungs. His remains were yesterday taken to Kingston for interment. Accompanying the body were a number of Cobourg firemen.

A BEAUTIFUL FLOWER.—A prominent attraction in the windows of Messrs. Conger Brothers' store to-day was a large cactus covered with most beautiful flowers, the blooms numbering we were, informed, one hundred and sixty-four. The plant belongs to Mrs. J. W. Walker, and is certainly the finest of the kind that we have ever seen.

GOLD.—There were rumors to-day of a rich find of gold in the township of Madoc. The exact locality was not made known, but is is understood that a number of speculators were to-day endeavoring to purchase the lot upon which the discovery—which is said to excel anything heretofore known—was said to have been made.

IMPORTANT SALE.—It will be seen by advertisement that the household effects of the Hon. M. Bowell, which embrace a large number of articles of value and of general utility, will be offered for sale by public auction to-morrow. The sale, which will be without reserve, will commence at 10 a. m. Terms cash.

GRAND JUNCTION.—The ballasting of the south end of the road is rapidly approaching completion. One or two more train loads will supply a sufficiency of material, and the work will be finished by the close of the present week, as the men were to-day working a short distance south of Burrell Street. A ballast train passed down Pinnacle Street this afternoon.

NAPANEE ASSIZES.—The Lennox Assizes opened at Napanee on the 29th before Mr. Justice Cameron. Mr. Thos. Holden, of Belleville, conducts the Crown business. There are are thirteen civil cases on the docket and two criminal cases, one for stabbing and the other for perjury. The Grand Jury brought in a true bill against Walter Dennis for stabbing.

SCHOOL TRUSTEE ELECTION.—By the removal to Manitoba of Mr. Cephas Peterson, one of the Public School Trustees for Coleman Ward, a vacancy was created in the Board of Education. The Board met last night, and made arrangements for a new election. The nomination will take place on Wednesday the 7th of May, and the election one week later. Mr. Geo. Adams was appointed Deputy Returning officer.

ALDERMANIC.—The migrating fever seems to have struck the City Council with considerable force this season, as Alderman Bleecker has removed to Winnipeg and entered into business there in the hardware line, in partnership with a gentleman named Farley. Alderman Sherwood has been offered, and it is understood has accepted, the position of Deputy Sheriff for the County of Carleton, which situation was made vacant by the appointment of Mr. Sherwood's brother as Chief of Police at Ottawa.

MUSICAL.—Mr. Levy, the great English cornet player, is to give a concert here about three weeks hence. He will be assisted by Mme. Dora Gordon Steele, soprano; Mr. Tom Bullock, the English tenor; and Mr. Geo. W. Colby, pianist and accompanist—the whole under the management of Mr. Augustus Pitou, Manager of the Grand Opera House, Toronto. The Hartford Times says of a performance given by Mr. Levy in that city:—"As for the rest—Levy was Levy, incomparable in the handling, the mouthing, the tone of his instrument. He was encored again and again, and no wonder. People were anxious to hear those golden sounds as long as he would produce them. There is really the simple delight in beautiful sounds when he plays. His success is not to be wondered at, as he plays a trump every time."

PERSONAL.—Those who do business with the Merchants Bank here will, after to-day, miss a kindly, familiar face from behind the desk. Mr. JOHN G. CAMPBELL, who has reached that period of life when respite from never-ceasing toil at the grind-stone is essential to health and happiness, has retired from active duties in the Bank. For over eighteen years he has been in connection with the Merchants Bank in Belleville, and we need hardly say—for all business men know him—has been a most faithful, honored, and trustworthy official. We understand that when it was known he intended leaving the services of the Bank, the Head Manager of that Institution sent him a very kindly letter, referring in appropriate terms to his long and faithful service, and desiring his acceptance of a handsome bonus which the directors had, in consideration of those services, voted him. We join most heartily with his many friends in wishing Mr. Campbell that rest, contentment, and continued prosperity, for which he seeks, and which he so well deserves.

WALKING MATCH.—A match walking race, distance 25 miles, for a stake of $25 a side, is to take place in the Metropolitan Hall to-morrow night, between H. E. Beasley and W. P. Ferguson. The start is to be made at 6 o'clock p. m. sharp, and as the competitors are believed to be very evenly matched, an interesting race is anticipated. Good music will be furnished, and seats will be provided for the ladies. Admission 15 cents.

SEIZURE OF FISH.—Overseer Wilkins seized to-day a waggon load of pickerel caught out of season, which were in the possession of Mr. George Osborne, of Trenton, who was about to offer them for sale. The horse and waggon were released by orders from the Department, but the fish were sold by the Overseer, and Mr. Osborne was brought before the Police Magistrate and find $10 and costs. This case ought to prove a warning to those who dare to set the law at defiance by catching or offering for sale fish during the prescribed close time.

Seasonable Topics.

It is a curious fact, and one not very agreeable that the world will jog on just as well when you are gone as it does now. When people die you are too busy to think of them long. However, they may possibly be as independent as we if the following lines are true:—

Here lies the body of Gabriel John,
Who died in the year one thousand and one;
Pray for the soul of Gabriel John,
You may if you please, or let it alone.
For it is all one to Gabriel John,
Who died in the year one thousand and one.

Everything depends on the the way in which things are put Who could help having a tender feeling in his heart for the man who did not know how to advertise, but who made the following pathetic attempt:—

Here liv'th a man who dont refuse
To mend
Umberllases, bellowses, boots and shoes.

Those who have not rented their houses will find it profitable to invest 25 cents in an advertisement in the INTELLIGENCER.

It is said, and very truly and tenderly, that no one can measure the far reaching effects of a smile. It is an easy thing to give, and it may cheer and encourage more than you think. This is very beautiful, and yet even the word "smile" must be properly defined. There is a kind of "smile' which must not be indulged in too frequently. Its tendency is to so far decrease your income that you are compelled to depend on the cold charity of a lamppost for support, and to so confuse the brain that your words run together in a most "wunnerfle'n orfle kin' o' way." The former smile is honest and wholesome, but the latter "smile," in which the most ardent spirits are inclined to indulge, is anything but encouraging to the poor wife who is sitting up for you.

For all kinds of cheap, neat and tasty printing, call at the INTELLIGENCER office.

A number of trees are being planted on Taylor's Hill. In a few years, there will not be a street or avenue in the City but will be lined with handsome shade trees.

A SHOT.

Quoth a wise man to a youth one day;
"Tell your aim in life, I pray."
"A mighty general I'd be,"
Replied the youth ambitiously.

Then quoth the stripling to the age:
"Tell me your aim in your old age."
Then said the sage, a little tired.
"Aim? Oh! I have no aim; I've fired."

PAIN KILLER is a purely vegetable preparation, safe to keep and to use in every family. The simplicity attending its use, together with the great variety of diseases that may be entirely eradicated by it, and the great amount of pain and suffering that can be alleviated through its use, make it imperative upon every person to supply themselves with this valuable remedy, and keep it always near at hand.

Christ Church Vestry Meeting.

At the adjourned Vestry Meeting of Christ Church, held on the evening of the 29th inst., Mr. Alfred Ellis tendered his resignation as People's Church Warden, and Mr. Wm. Hamilton, Manager Consolidated Bank, was elected in his stead.

With a view to improve the interior condition of the Church, it was decided to remove the plastering and substitute stained wood therefor, repaint and otherwise improve its appearance.

The following resolution was adopted:

Moved by Mr. R. Newbery, seconded by C. L. Coleman, "That inasmuch as it has pleased Almighty God to remove from among us our late brother, Henry Wilkins, one who had identified himself with the Parish of Christ Church since it formation,

"Be it Resolved, That this Vestry desire to express to the family of the deceased their heartfelt sympathy in their bereavement, and at the same time to acknowledge the loss which Christ Church has sustained by his untimely removal from us,

"And that a copy of this resolution be furnished to the family of the deceased."

SUNDAY SCHOOL PAPERS.—We have before us two juvenile papers which we can heartily recommend. The first, Golden Hours for the Young, is a non-denominational publication, suitable for any Sunday School. The other, the Sabbath School Presbyterian, as its name indicates, is better adapted for Presbyterian Schools. Both are printed on fine paper, and are beautifully illustrated. From a somewhat careful examination we are constrained to say that these periodicals are better adapted to Canadian Sunday Schools than the American or even English publications of a similar character. Nor has the N.P. increased the price to the purchaser. Specimens sent free on application to the publisher, C. Blackett Robinson, 5 Jordan Street, Toronto.

BLACKWOOD FOR APRIL.—Blackwood's Magazine for April, republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York, opens with the first part of a new story, from which we may infer that "John Caldigate" is drawing to a close. "My Latest Experience" describes the treatment or "cure" prescribed at the Bath of Enghien, not far from Paris. "Hamlet." This is a long dissertation on the Hamlet of Shakspeare and that of Mr. Irving. The article on Contemporary Literature this month explains the difficulties encountered in writing biographies, adding brief notices of some of the latest of such works. The concluding article of an unusually good number considers "the character and import of the present depression of trade regarded from a commercial and national" as well as a political point of view. The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. (41 Barclay Street, N. Y.) are as follows: The London Quarterly Edingburgh, Westminister and BritishQuarterly, Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage prepaid by the Publishers.

A CONFIDENCE GAME.—The Globe of today says:—"On Monday night a man named Bartlett, on his way from Stirling, county of Hastings, to Bay City, Michigan, was the victim of confidence operators on the Grand Trunk late train going west. At the Union Station a couple of sharpers got into conversation with him, and on making representation that they had some payment to make on baggage at Weston station, got him to give change for what purported to be gold, but which turned out to be bogus coin. After receiving the money the sharpers disappeared, at what point is not exactly known, as they did not get off at Weston station, though they might have done so, as the train slowed up before stopping there. Bartlett subsequently discovered that he had been taken in to the tune of about $60, and stopping at Berlin, came back on an early train yesterday morning to try and procure the arrest of the men who had victimized him. Communicating with the detectives, he soon pointed out two men whom he declared positively to be the sharpers, but turned out to be well known as respectable persons, one being occupied in the city, the other a professional man in an eastern town. These soon established their identity, and Bartlett was assured of his mistake by the detectives, though he seemed very reluctant to believe he had blundered."

The Ounce of Prevention and the Pound of Cure.

Death reaps his richest harvest in the spring. Then is the time for cold catching, for developing consumption, and for contracting malarial fevers, and the system requires proper food and tonic to prevent the development of disease. SCOTT'S EMULSION OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA contain just these properties. It is not only a delightful food but a splendid tonic for the brain and nervous system, and at the same time perfectly agreeable to the taste.

FATAL SATURDAY.—The death of the Princess of Hesse on the same day of the month and week as that of the Prince Consort has attracted general attention in England to the fact that Saturday has been a fatal day to the royal family of England for the last 167 years. William III. died Saturday, March 18, 1702; Queen Anne died Saturday, August 1, 1714; George I. died Saturday, June 10, 1727; George II. died Saturday, October 25 1760; George III. died Saturday, January 29, 1820; George IV. died Saturday, June 26, 1830; the Duchess of Kent died Saturday, March 15, 1861; and the Prince Consort died Saturday, December 14, 1861; and the Princess Alise died Saturday, December 14, 1878.

HOUSE CLEANING.

AS all good housekeepers are now preparing for their spring house cleaning, we invite their special attention to our Carpets, Curtains and other house furnishings which they may require.

Our stock of Carpets in Tapestry, Wool and Union, is one of the largest in the city, and is acknowledged by those who have looked through it to be the cheapest. Our Lace Curtains are principally of this Spring's Importation, and as all our goods were in before the advance in the tariff, we have a decided advantage in being able to offer goods cheaper than those who were later with their purchases.

We offer our Brussels Carpets at cost price, as we wish to give up keeping them. The patterns are first class and the carpets were bought at less than importer's prices.

MY HEART IS FREE.

BY T. CLAUDE DEAN.

I

The fearless billow of the ocean deep,
 As loud it breaks against the pebbled shore,
Betrays its freedom in its buoyant leap,
 Then sounds its glory in its awful roar;
And as it surges back to where the foam
 Meets in the trackless blue of heaven's sea,
'Tis evident at will the sea-waves roam,
 Yet is my heart as fearless and as free.

II.

No woman fair can cast her magic spell
 Around its free born beat—no tear-dimmed eye
Or voice, though plaintive as the vesper bell,
 Can win from it the homage of a sigh;
No tender hands, soft touch, or burning kiss
 Can change the channel of its fearless glee,
Or cloud the sunny valley of its bliss,
 For like the ocean's swell, my heart is free.

III.

From it I keep afar the fickle bands
 Which bind us to love's goddess and her cares;
I wander free in life's sequestered lands,
 Where single blessedness and rapture reigns;
And though I let the fickle fair ones fill
 My ears with stories—uttered brokenly—
I crush all thought of woman's love at will,
 For like the ocean's swell, my heart is free.

Justice in a Quandary.

HOW THE CHANGES ON "SLANG" PUZZLED THE JEFFERSON MARKET MAGISTRATE.

The envoy that came from Patsy Burns' saloon yesterday to get a warrant for its proprietor was hoarse, squat and bull-necked. He leaned across the bar of the Jefferson Market Court and whispered, confidentially, "Say, Judge, Patsy Burns wants to shut down on a kid that's bin skinning him."

"A kid! skinning him? Impossible," said His Honor. Where is the animal?"

"He's a young rooster," the applicant went on, "what dishes out the booze in Patsy's drum."

His Honor look perplexed. "Oh, its poultry you're complaining about," he remarked. "I thought you said it was a kid just now. Well, what of the rooster?"

The applicant took a good long look at His Honor and fumbled his hat lining nervously. Then he began again with an air submissive, but reproachful.

"Say, Jedge, don't you play me. I'm givin' it to you straight; honor bright. Patsy feels dead sore over the thing and wants the young terror hauled up before you."

The Judge dropped the eyeglasses helplessly. "Look here, my friend," he blurted out, "if you come here to complain about a whole menagarie, say so; but this parade of flesh and fowl is distracting. Let us understand each other. Kid, rooster or dog—is Patsy's trouble with one or all?"

The applicant looked about him hopelessly. Then he said:—

"Judge, this looks like a dead open and shut. You don't seem to tumble to me at all. Here's the scheme. There's a jigger behind Patsy's bar that's crooked and he wants him taken in. See?"

"Oh, Patsy has a saloon. It is the person who dispenses the beverages he has trouble with."

"That's the racket, Judge," and the applicant stamped with delight. "You've got it dead to rights. You see, Patsy sets his bloke in his shebang a sending along the old stuff, and everything goes hunkeedoree till he sees his nibs sporting a supper and togged out to the Queen's taste. Well, Patsy's poorty fly, he is, and he dropped to the caper. So he spotted the feller, and to-day he catched him working the damper."

"Working the damper?"

"Yes, collaring the boodle."

"Collaring the—— My friend for Heaven's sake, be explicit," His Honor moaned "What do you mean?"

The applicant turned the quid in his mouth over and over again despondently, but made no reply. At last he blurted ont in despair:—

"Hang it jedge. It's clear enough. He was tapping the till."

"Tapping the till?" and his honor paused to reflect. Then his face brightened up. "Ah, I see." he said. "He was appropriating the receipts to his own use in the proprietor's absence."

"That's the talk," roared the applicant. "Appropiatin' the receipts is the go. You've got it down fine, Jedge. That's what the codger did—appropriatin' Patsy Burns' receipts. So Patsy sent me round to see as if you would'nt give him the collar and make him produce. He's a bad lot, he is, and you ought to give him a stretch."

"What?" cried His Honor, "would you be so barbarous as to have me hang the man?"

"Who's talkin' of hangin'?" asked the other. "What I said is he ought to get a nip."

"Get a nip?"

"Yes; go up the river."

"I see, I see," groaned the Justice. "Go to Sing Sing. My friend, we will try to accommodate you. But this conversation is trying to a man of my constitution. Go to Patsy Burns, I beg you. Tell him to bring his grievance here in person, and for Heaven's sake let him bring a little of the Vernacular along."

The applicant bowed his head sullenly.

"Maybe you're right, Jedge," said he, "an' maybe you ain't, but it does seem rough on a citizen and taxpayer if he can't get justice unless he's swallowed a lore dictionary and crammed down jawbreakers fit to bust him. So long," and he stalked gloomily away in quest of Patsy Burns.—New York Herald.

A Child's Opinion.—A Fact.

STANLEY ——— had recovered from a serious illness, brought on by a too close application to his books, in his earnest endeavors to outstrip his little schoolmates in the race after knowledge.

His little brother, Percy, a youth of three summers, as was quite natural, held a very high opinion of the medicine (Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime) that had produced such gratifying results—but, at the same time had a very warm affection for it on his own private account. "After having enjoyed sundry "refreshers" from the nearly empty bottle, which by common consent had descended to him, he critically holds it up between his eyes and the light, and with the air of a Chief Justice, remarks: "Mamma, I like 'zat better'n lobster."

Little Percy's just appreciation is a very general one among the children who have once taken the Emulsion, and mothers would have less cause for anxiety on account of the ceaseless drain upon the too frail constitutions of their fast growing little ones did they but fully estimate the marvellous strengthing and vivifying properties of this medicine, and its adaptability to the wants of GROWING STRUCTURES. Try it! Prepared solely by J. H. ROBINSON, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.

An Arkansas Cow.

Judge Grant was in Little Rock, Arkansas, in attendance at the United States Court. One morning he saw a farmer, with a slouch hat, and a genuine butternut suit, trying to sell a cow in the market there. It was a large, long-horned animal, and the planter was informing a man that the cow would give four quarts of milk a day if fed well.

Up stepped the judge. "What did you ask for the cow?"

"About $30. She'll give five quarts of milk a day if you feed her well;" replied the planter, and he proceeded to describe her good qualities.

Said the judge: "I have cows on my farm, not much more than half as big as your cow, which give twenty to twenty-five quarts of milk a day."

The planter eyed the judge sharply for a moment as if trying to remember whether he had ever seen him before or not, and then asked?" Where do you live, stranger?"

"My home is in Iowa."

"Yes, stranger, I don't dispute it. There was heaps of sogers from Iowa down here during the war, and, stranger, they was the all-fireds fibbers in the whole Yankee army. Mebbe you mout be an officer in some of them regiments?"

The judge slid for the court house.

From observation under the microscope, of the Blood of patients (using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites) taken from time to time, positive proof has been obtained of, the steady removal of diseased and dead blood particles, and the substitution of vitalised discs, so necessaay to the construction of healthy muscles.

The African King,

Who listened to the white man's story of travelling upon an ice bound river, was incredulous. How could such things be? It was all a lie. But if that same ebony ruler had visited our country in the cold weather, he would have seen many a gay, dashing team of animals drawing huge sleighs, full of happy people, for miles and miles upon the frozen water. In fact, Winter is our carnival season for out door romps and flirtations. There are some oldtime doctors in our remote villages who let people die according to prescription, and if one of their patients should tell them that he knew a neighbor who had been cured by using DR. HERRICK'S SUGAR COATED PILLS, he would, like "King Niger," look incredulous. "All bosh nnd nonsense" would be his assertion. But the king might just as well deny a frozen river as for a doubting novice to deny the benefits of these pills. Oh, King! come to Canada and learn that there can be ice! Oh, sufferer, try Dr. Herrick and know that they will cure you!

A GENTLE HINT.—In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill, and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you. German Syrup is now sold in every town and village on this continent. Sample bottles for trial, 10c.; regular size, 75cts. d&w

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately favored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disase. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Eng." d&w

THE PEOPLE WANT PROOF.

There is no medicine prescribed by physicians, or sold by Druggists, that carries such evidence of its success and superior virtue as BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP for severe Coughs, Colds settled on the breast, Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs. A proof of that fact is that any person afflicted can get a Sample Bottle for 10 cents and try its superior effect before buying the regular size at 75 cents. It has lately been introduced in this country from Germany, and its wonderful cures are astonishing everyone that uses it. Three doses will relieve any case. Try it. Sold by all Druggists. d&w

SCOTT'S EMULSION

PURE COD LIVER OIL

WITH

HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME AND SODA.

This preparation combines the two best remedies ever discovered for Consumption, Colds and Chronic Coughs, Scrofula, Rheumatism and Diseases of the Blood, General Debility, and all Wasting Diseases of Children. It not only contains the well known and highly esteemed virtues of Cod Liver Oil in a form that is perfectly tasteless and acceptable to the most delicate stomach, but in addition, the wonderful tonic and life-giving properties of the Hypophosphites, so incorporated that the remedial powers of both are largely increased. Physicians universally acknowledge the vastly superior virtues of this combined food and medicine in all the above diseases. It is not only better tolerated, but much more readily assimilated by the system than plain Cod Liver Oil, and a better agent in enriching and purifying the blood, allaying the irritation of the throat and lungs, restoring the impaired functions and giving strength and vigor to the whole body. It is sweet and palatable to the taste, never separates, deposits or spoils. Be sure and ask for Scott's Emulsion. For sale by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle.
